

TRIBUTE TO FORTSON LEE
CHANDLER

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 30, 2003

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise before this body of Congress and this nation today to pay tribute to a great citizen from my district. Reverend Fortson Lee Chandler of Pueblo, Colorado is a man of devotion, hard work, and humility who inspires those around him. His dedication to his friends and neighbors shows a spirit of charity all too rare in today's society. After years of service, Reverend Chandler has announced his retirement from the Bethlehem Missionary Baptist Church in Pueblo. For his tireless work and commitment to the community, I am honored to rise and honor Reverend Chandler here today.

Reverend F.L. Chandler was ordained fifty-one years ago at the Union Baptist Church in Atlanta. He worked as an associate minister at St. John Baptist Church in Colorado Springs prior to moving to Pueblo to take over as pastor at the New Hope Baptist Church. Reverend Chandler devoted several years of service to New Hope Baptist before going to Bethlehem Baptist Church. At Bethlehem Baptist, F.L. forged strong ties to the community that he loves and has served so well. He made it a point to reach out to those who have had fewer opportunities in life. Reverend Chandler has guided Bethlehem Baptist for thirty-four years and will be greatly missed.

Mr. Speaker, Reverend F.L. Chandler is a kind and devoted spiritual leader who our community turns to for inspiration and guidance in their daily lives. He has devoted over fifty years to guiding his parishioners. I am honored to join with my colleagues today to thank him for his tireless work and to wish him the best of luck as he embarks upon his retirement.

IN HONOR OF GOLD STAR
MOTHER'S DAY

HON. TIMOTHY H. BISHOP

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 30, 2003

Mr. BISHOP of New York. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of the Gold Star Mothers of America, a Congressionally chartered organization, and the celebration of Gold Star Mother's Day. This event was held on Sunday to commemorate the significant sacrifices and contributions of the Gold Star Mothers.

In 1936, by proclamation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the Congress concurring, the last Sunday of every September is dedicated to "the greatest source of the Country's strength and inspiration", the American mother. I am proud to honor these women who have shown the utmost courage in supporting the goals of this Nation. Each member of the American Gold Star Mothers has dealt valiantly with the overwhelming suffering that accompanies the loss of a son or daughter, yet they continue to believe in the good of America, our veterans and the armed forces.

As our country continues to engage in struggle overseas, we are increasingly dependent on the good works of organizations like the Gold Star Mothers. Wherever they exist, the Gold Star Mothers perpetuate the ideals for which, their sons and daughters fought and died. They strive to assist veterans and veterans' organizations across the country while offering support to each other and a newly grieving nation.

This past Sunday, government buildings and individuals across the world showed their true appreciation for the Gold Star Mothers by flying the U.S. flag and holding public gatherings. At America's preeminent resting-place for American soldiers, Arlington National Cemetery, a solemn gathering and wreath laying ceremony was held at the Tomb of the Unknowns.

The dedication and triumphs of the Gold Star Mothers stem from a shared bond. As they describe it, "The success of our organization continues because of the bond of mutual love, sympathy, and support of the many loyal, capable, and patriotic mothers who while sharing their grief and their pride, have channeled their time, efforts and gifts to lessening the pain of others. We stand tall and proud by honoring our children, assisting our veterans, supporting our nation, and healing with each other."

It is important that we take time to recognize such a laudable organization as the American Gold Star Mothers. I am consistently impressed with their dedication to our Country, Armed Services, veterans and of course, to their own children.

Through only the greatest hardship can membership in the American Gold Star Mothers be accorded. Our country is forever indebted to them for their ability to transform their grief into positive action and undying dedication to the past, present and future heroes of this Nation.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE
APPROPRIATIONS ACT FY 2004

SPEECH OF

HON. LAMAR S. SMITH

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, September 29, 2003

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I commend the Leadership and Members of the Committee on Appropriations for bringing the FY 2004 Defense Appropriations Conference Report to the House floor.

In addition to addressing the necessary and priority manpower and equipment needs of our armed forces, the bill provides critical resources for advancing the scientific, research and advanced technology initiatives that will insure that the United States maintains its military primacy in the years ahead.

As a Member of the House Science Committee's Subcommittee on Research, I continue to take a special interest in the emerging technologies that promise quantum breakthroughs in research and development efforts that will enhance our national security. These promising new technologies offer new dimensions to our military capabilities while also providing significant benefits to the civilian sector. Many of the programs in this legislation rely upon the transition of an enabling technology from the laboratory, R&D stage to viable military applications.

Special enabling technologies are currently being developed in Texas that have great potential for a broad range of military applications and offer significant advances to our future national security capabilities.

The House is bipartisan in its support for the increased resources devoted to DARPA and the RDT&E accounts. The DOD research portfolio is broad, comprehensive, diverse and focused on mission-related objectives to further assure U.S. security and international stability. I strongly urge Department of Defense policy and program officials to continue investing resources into innovative field technology.

TRIBUTE TO BRICE CARRUTH AND THE CORTEZ, COLORADO WAL-MART STORE STAFF

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 30, 2003

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise before this body of Congress and this nation to recognize a group of outstanding citizens from my district. The Associates of the Cortez, Colorado Wal-Mart Store and their Store Manager, Brice Carruth, acted with great generosity in the face of a devastating fire and recently helped save priceless artifacts from destruction. For their kind and selfless act, I am honored to pay tribute to Brice and the Cortez Wal-Mart Associates here today.

In June of 2002, facing severe drought conditions and the accompanying risk of devastating fires, the National Park Service decided that priceless and irreplaceable treasures from Mesa Verde National Park needed to be moved from their curatorial center to a safer location. It was agreed that the collection should be moved to the old Cortez Wal-Mart store. No sooner had the collection been safely relocated than the Long Mesa fire erupted and eventually descended on the Mesa Verde curatorial facility. The efforts of the Cortez Wal-Mart Associates to renovate and cleanup the old facility helped protect over three million irreplaceable artifacts, including numerous documents, pictures, and maps.

Mr. Speaker, Brice Carruth and the Cortez Wal-Mart Associates selflessly gave of their time to safeguard a national treasure. Their work to save the artifacts of Mesa Verde National Park ensures that these unique treasures can continue to be enjoyed by future generations. For their noble service, I am honored to recognize the Associates of the Cortez Wal-Mart and Store Manager Brice Carruth here today.

REGARDING THE DIABETIC FOOT COMPLICATION AND LOWER EXTREMITY AMPUTATION REDUCTION ACT OF 2003

HON. RICHARD H. BAKER

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 30, 2003

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, as the Federal Government seeks to provide better healthcare to more Americans while reducing healthcare expenses, we must look at the benefits of preventive care programs. Education, screening and preventive treatments can save patients and government significant heartache and expense. One area where preventive care shows tremendous promise is the treatment of diabetic foot complications.

There are an estimated 17 million Americans who have diabetes. This number represents an increase of 61 percent since 1990. As diabetes rates continue to rise, the cost of treating diabetes, already estimated at $132 billion, will certainly rise. One of the most serious complications diabetes patients face is poor circulation and infections in their lower extremities. In fact, diabetic foot infections are the most common reason for hospital admissions among persons with diabetes, accounting for one-quarter of all diabetic admissions in the United States. Loss of circulation and feeling present real challenges to people with diabetes and 15 percent of people with diabetes will experience a foot ulcer, and between 14 and 24 percent of those with a foot ulcer will require amputation.

There are tremendous costs associated with treating foot ulcers and with lower extremity amputations. In fact, lower extremity amputations cost Americans $2 billion a year and the average cost of a lower extremity amputation is $60,000. Although private insurance bears some of the cost of diabetic foot complications, Medicare is saddled with many of these costs since these complications disproportionately affect the elderly. For example, analysis of the 1995 Medicare claims revealed that lower-extremity ulcer care accounted for $1.45 billion in Medicare costs and contributed substantially to the high cost of care for diabetics, compared with Medicare costs for the general population. In fact, the Medicare costs for diabetes patients with foot ulcers is 3 times higher than for diabetes patients in general, and inpatient care accounts for 74 percent of diabetic ulcer-related costs.

Fortunately, cost effective ulcer prevention and treatment interventions have proven effective at reducing foot complications and lower extremity amputations at only a fraction of the cost. There are a number of descriptive studies that show that a multidisciplinary approach, including preventive strategies, patient and staff education, and treatment of foot ulcers, can reduce amputation rates by 40 to 85 percent. Nationwide reductions of this size would save Americans between $800 million and $1.7 billion a year. Of note, the LSU Health Sciences Center Diabetes Foot Program in Baton Rouge, Louisiana enrolled over 2,300 diabetes patients with published research demonstrating their prevention and treatment program resulted in an 89 percent reduction in foot related hospitalizations, an 81 percent reduction in emergency room visits, and a 79 percent reduction in foot amputations at a cost of about 50 percent of standard care.

With sound research showing the benefits of preventive care for people with diabetes, now is the time to commission a large, authoritative study on the issue. The results of this study will serve as solid evidence to public and private organizations of the need for preventive care to aid in the reduction of diabetes foot complications and will help foster technical and policy changes to healthcare programs. In addition, thousands of Americans who participate in this study will benefit from the education and treatment provided by this grant program.

Mr. Speaker, I hope members will consider these facts and cosponsor the "Diabetic Foot Complication and Lower Extremity Amputation Reduction Act of 2003."

TRIBUTE TO PETER "TOM" SAVICH

HON. SCOTT McINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 30, 2003

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with a heavy heart that I rise before this body of Congress and this nation today to pay tribute to the life and memory of an extraordinary citizen from my district. Peter "Tom" Savich of Silverton, Colorado recently passed away at the age of eighty. Tom was an involved citizen and a fixture of his community, and I am honored to pay tribute to him here today.

Tom was a life-long resident of Silverton, living in the house in which he was born for his entire life. Like so many of his generation, Tom heeded his country's call and served in the Army during World War II. On D-Day, Tom fought with the troops that stormed Omaha Beach in Normandy. He fought with remarkable bravery and courage, which earned him the Bronze Star for bravery, the Medal for European-African-Middle Eastern Service, and the French Jubilee of Liberty Medal.

Upon returning home, Tom became very involved in his community. He helped found Silverton's American Legion Post 14. He was active in the rehabilitation of the Silverton Hillside Cemetery, and he took a leadership role in maintaining many gravesites that would have otherwise been neglected. Tom was especially concerned with the graves of bachelor miners and was instrumental in ensuring that their final resting places received proper care and attention. Tom also collected artifacts chronicling Silverton's history, which he organized into the Tom Savich Museum.

Mr. Speaker, Tom Savich was a humble, generous person who cared greatly about his fellow man. As his family and friends mourn his passing, I am honored to pay tribute to Tom's life and his dedication to his community here today.

TRIBUTE TO CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH IN MOUNT VERNON, IL

HON. JOHN SHIMKUS

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, September 30, 2003

Mr. SHIMKUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Central Christian Church in Mount Vernon, Illinois as the members celebrate the sesquicentennial of the church on October 4–5, 2003.

Central Christian Church became a part of the Mount Vernon and Jefferson County communities on October 3, 1853 with 21 members. The church came into existence due to the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey T. Pace, who organized the local church according to New Testament traditions. Today, the church boasts of a membership of over 1,200, with seven members on the pastoral staff. In January 2004, it will open a new 1,000 seat worship center.

Central Christian Church is a shining beacon for the community which it serves. I am proud to represent Central Christian Church as part of the 19th District of Illinois. My prayer is that God will continue to bless the church and the members that worship there. May Central Christian Church continue to be prosperous in their service to the Lord Jesus Christ.
