

National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) included $4 million for the Department of Defense's portion of the design and planning phase of its military treatment facility.

Additionally, recognizing the importance of cost savings and other efficiencies, the FY04 NDAA included report language directing that the Department of Defense and the Department of Veterans Affairs make every effort to share health care facilities. I have included this report language below:

TITLE XXIV: DEPARTMENTS OF DEFENSE AND VETERANS AFFAIRS HEALTHCARE SHARING

The committee continues to believe that significant efficiencies are possible if the Department of Defense and the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) share health care facilities. However, the Department and VA operate only 7 joint ventures, even though the 2 departments operate approximately 240 hospitals. Such incremental progress is representative of the significant bureaucratic challenges facing the health care sharing effort. Nevertheless, the committee believes that the Department and VA should take advantage of health care sharing opportunities whenever possible.

The committee understands that the Colorado University School of Medicine has begun relocation to the site of the closed Fitzsimons Army Hospital. The Department of Veterans Affairs is currently considering replacement of the Denver VA Medical Center, a 50-year-old structure now co-located with the Colorado medical school, as a part of that relocation. The committee understands that the Department is also considering participation in the VA Medical Center's new facility. As such, the committee believes that the Department of Defense should participate in design and construction of this facility, which would provide ambulatory and acute care medical services to military personnel attached to Buckley Air Force Base. Such an approach would allow the Department to leverage construction, operations, and maintenance costs of a joint facility with VA, and eliminate the Department's need to construct an additional medical treatment facility at Buckley Air Force Base. In this particular case, a joint facility would further benefit by sharing significant assets with the Colorado University School of Medicine Facility, resulting in further savings.

With the expectation that the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs will reach an agreement on sharing design and construction costs at levels representative of their medical requirements, the committee recommends authorization of $4,000,000 for planning and design of a DOD-VA medical treatment facility at the site of the closed Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

The funds included in the House-passed FY04 NDAA are a critical step toward ensuring that the VA and the DOD leverage their resources through joint projects that meet both of their requirements. Constructing a VA-DOD facility at Fitzsimons will serve as a model for future efforts to serve the medical needs of America's service members and veterans alike. And, I would like to point out that inpatient care for the veterans and the DOD will be located in the same federal tower as the veterans ambulatory care, but will be connected to the University of Colorado Hospital to share expensive facilities such as operating rooms and medical imaging.

Mr. Speaker, given the rising demand for veterans' health care, and the significant challenges of an aging and increasingly less-efficient Denver Veterans Medical Center facility, my interest and my efforts are aimed at continuing the collaboration between the Denver Veterans Medical Center, University of Colorado Health Sciences Center and University of Colorado Hospital. I believe that the opportunity to locate the Denver Veterans Medical Center with the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center and the University of Colorado Hospital at the Fitzsimons campus will meet the demand for veteran care in the VISN 19 area through 2020 and beyond; provide significant savings in both capital and operational costs for the Department of Veterans Affairs and the taxpayer; continue to meet the Denver Veterans Medical Center commitment to education and research; and potentially create a national model for the future of veterans' care dealing with both a new concept for facilities and collaboration with long-established partners. More importantly, this move will retain veteran "identity" while also providing optimum patient care:

To date, over 45 local, state and national Veterans' Service Organizations and the American Federation of Government Employees, Local 2241, have expressed their support for this proposal. We stand committed in the goal of providing the utmost modern, comprehensive and cost-efficient medical care that we as a nation owe our veterans. And I believe that co-locating the Denver Veterans' Medical Center with the University of Colorado Hospital will achieve these goals.

Mr. Speaker, Congress has a duty to provide the best medical care it can to our nation's veterans and we must always strive for the very best health care services it can by utilizing the most cost-effective measures available. The fact is, aging facilities, lack of funds, and the growing demands on the veterans health system are proving to be daunting obstacles in meeting Congress' responsibilities to our nation's veterans. However, the possibility for the Denver Veterans Medical Center to move to Fitzsimons and co-locate with University of Colorado Health Sciences Center and University of Colorado Hospital is a unique opportunity to provide solid and constructive solutions to these challenges.

WISCONSIN CITIZEN ACTION 20TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. TAMMY BALDWIN

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Wisconsin Citizen Action's 20th Anniversary as the state's leading public interest organization. I am honored to share with you today the accomplishments of this powerful Wisconsin organization.

I applaud Wisconsin Citizen Action's twenty year commitment to political activism for progressive change that benefits all of us in Wisconsin. They have helped pass twenty laws, trained and developed hundreds of citizen leaders, and organized tens of thousands of residents to work for social, economic and environmental justice. Just a few of their recent victories include SeniorCare, a vitally important program to provide seniors with prescription drug coverage, a mining moratorium protecting Wisconsin's precious northwoods against unsafe mining, a tough ordinance for lead poisoning prevention in Milwaukee, and they also obtained a five-fold increase in the funding for the SAGE program, which reduces classroom size for our Wisconsin school children.

As a former Wisconsin Citizen Action board member, I had the privilege of seeing firsthand the truly remarkable impact Wisconsin Citizen Action has had on our great state. Wisconsin Citizen Action has given Wisconsin residents the power to improve their communities. It is through people working together and sharing ideas that social change is achieved, and as these recent accomplishments demonstrate, Wisconsin Citizen Action does just this. I commend this group for their insight and their tireless action in joining the political power of a few with the voices and ideas of many.

Mr. Speaker, I join my fellow Wisconsinites in congratulating Wisconsin Citizen Action on their 20th Anniversary and for their many great achievements. I wish them continued success for another 20 years and beyond.

RECOGNIZING AUBREY DALE BELL

HON. MIKE ROGERS

OF ALABAMA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, Sgt. Aubrey Dale Bell, 33, of Tuskegee, Alabama, did this past Monday in Baghdad. Sgt. Bell was a member of the 214th Military Police Company based in Alexander City, Alabama, and was killed in an attack on the Iraqi police station he was helping guard.

Aubrey Bell was a quiet and unassuming person, Mr. Speaker, but he took pride in working hard for his country. When not serving in the National Guard, he worked in Alexander City at Russell Corporation. Like every other soldier, he dutifully left behind his family and loved ones to serve our country overseas.

Words cannot express the sense of sadness we have for his family, and for the gratitude our country feels for his service. Sgt. Bell died serving not just the United States, but the entire cause of liberty, on a noble mission to help spread the cause of freedom in Iraq and liberate an oppressed people from tyrannical rule.

We will forever hold him closely in our hearts, and remember his sacrifice and that of his family as a remembrance of his bravery and willingness to serve.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, for the House's remembrance on this mournful day.

RECOGNIZING ANOKA, MINNESOTA, AS THE HALLOWEEN CAPITAL OF THE WORLD

HON. MARK R. KENNEDY

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Mr. KENNEDY of Minnesota. Mr. Speaker, I would like to recognize the city of Anoka, Minnesota, as the "Halloween Capital of the World." Anoka has been holding Halloween festivities since 1920, when a group of business and civic leaders suggested the idea of a celebration to deter old-time Halloween pranks. The community planned a night parade that featured children in costume marching along with members of the fire department, Kiwanis Club, Commercial Club and the National Guard.

Anoka first called itself the "Halloween Capital of the World" in 1937, with a proclamation carried to Washington, D.C. by 12 year-old Anoka resident, Harold Blair. Since the first celebration, the festivities have expanded to include card parties, bingo, a 5K Grey Ghost Run and a parade that is the second largest in the state. This year's celebration marks the 81st annual festival and was bigger and better than ever.

I would like to congratulate and thank the city of Anoka, the more than 30 volunteers and all who work to make the Anoka Halloween celebration a yearly success and a family event for everyone to enjoy.

RON PICKERING: DEDICATED TO THE CAUSE OF LABOR

HON. BERNARD SANDERS

OF VERMONT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to recognize the contributions of Ron Pickering, an individual of great importance to the working people of America, and particularly my state of Vermont. For the past ten years he served with distinction as the President of the Vermont AFL-CIO. Ron was a remarkably effective and dedicated leader of Vermont's most important labor council.

He has also served most capably as the international representative for PACE [the Paper, Allied-Industrial, Chemical and Energy Workers International Union], in which capacity he serviced many contracts in New England.

I have known Ron for many years, both as a personal friend and as colleague in the struggle for workers' rights. It is with a sense of deep respect that I say that Ron Pickering reinvigorated the trade union movement in the state of Vermont and laid the groundwork for some of the most important labor victories in the state's history.

Ron has been one of the best and most influential advocates for working people the state of Vermont has ever seen. His effectiveness in the State House in Montpelier has meant that working men and woman have had a voice, and a most eloquent voice, in the deliberations of state government.

Together with his wife Gloria, who has time and again been at his side while he traveled throughout the state of Vermont, Ron Pickering has stood up for the labor movement, for the needs of working Americans, and for the rights of those who put in a hard day's work—every day—to see that America remains productive and strong.

TRIBUTE TO THE JAMES G.
SHAWGER SCHOOL NO. 4

HON. BILL PASCRELL, JR.

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Mr. PASCRELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call your attention to the James G. Shawger School No. 4 in Belleville, New Jersey, which celebrated its centennial on Sunday, November 2, 2003.

Over the past one hundred years, the James G. Shawger School has grown from a quaint four room school house into a modern twenty-five room school with well over 300 students. Built on the tradition of camaraderie, hard work, and dedication to quality education, the Shawger School has become a paradigm of learning, promoting personal integrity, excellence, and service in its students. It is thus only fitting that the James G. Shawger School No. 4 be honored, in this, the permanent RECORD of the greatest freely elected body on earth.

Founded in 1903 in the Silver Lake District of Belleville, the James G. Shawger School was not unlike other turn-of-the-century schools. Brothers, sisters, and cousins attended classes that intermingled all of its students regardless of age and educational background. While at school, students were encouraged to better themselves through strict discipline and a commitment to learning the three R's (Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic). Early teachers and principals who set out with the goal of attaining the "betterment of all concerned," succeeded in creating a spirited school community of which all could be proud.

The emphasis that these "pioneer" teachers placed on fostering the academic, moral and social education of Belleville's young men and women was closely paralleled by the spirit of solidarity that permeated the early community in Belleville as a whole. This spirit was evident in the aftermath of the tragic fire that swept through the four-room school in the early 1900s. In the days following the fire, neighborhood fathers worked side by side with carpenters, volunteering their time to rebuild and renovate the school.

Over the years, parents gradually increased their role in the school community. The 1950's and 1960's saw parents begin to assume an integral role in their children's education with the formation of the Parent-Teacher Association and, later, the Home and School Association. Members of these organizations dedicated themselves to staying abreast of new legislation affecting education, preparing by-laws and coordinating activities for the students and their families. By the 1970's and 1980's, these activities broadened to encompass assembly programs, family events, and scholarship programs. The hard work, dedication, and countless fundraising activities on the part of the students and their parents through these organizations have made the Shawger School a model of excellence among its surrounding communities.

Mr. Speaker, it has often been said that the true goals of education should be to build character and intelligence. The dedicated teachers and principals of the James G. Shawger School who have left an indelible mark on the lives of thousands of Belleville's young men and women are perhaps the greatest testimony to this. Their commitment to inspiring leadership, education, and service in the children of Belleville has long been a beacon of excellence—one that will shine well into the future.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you join our colleagues, the residents of the Township of Belleville, and me in paying tribute to the James G. Shawger School as it celebrates one hundred years devoted to molding the children of Belleville, New Jersey, into the leaders of tomorrow.

HONORING ELIZABETH
SCHROEDER

HON. JON C. PORTER

OF NEVADA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Elizabeth Schroeder, the executive director of the Mesquite Chamber of Commerce. In her seven years as executive director she has helped transform Mesquite into one of the premier resort and gaming communities in the United States. Her dedication to showcasing the community nationally, attracting new services, and creating a welcoming business climate will serve Mesquite well for decades to come. I want to thank Elizabeth Schroeder for everything she has done and wish her well in her future endeavors.

HONORING CONGRESSMAN BILL
CRAMER

HON. MICHAEL BILIRAKIS

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 4, 2003

Mr. BILIRAKIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with a heavy heart to honor Congressman Bill Cramer, one of our former colleagues who recently passed away.

William Cramer, or Bill as he was known, lived a life of public service. He served 18 months as a Naval gunnery officer during World War II and was among the brave young men who invaded France and liberated Europe. He returned to the United States following the war, and after graduating from Harvard Law School, served as a city and county attorney in Pinellas County, Florida. He also actively involved himself with local volunteer and charitable organizations.

Bill Cramer was a revolutionary in Florida politics. He was, when he won his seat in 1954, the first Republican from Florida elected to Congress since the Civil War. Congressman Cramer opened the door, so to speak, for Republicans seeking office in the Sunshine State. Before his election, many used to joke that Republicans could not get elected to anything in Florida, let alone a congressional seat. Congressman Cramer changed that and quickly became our party's standard bearer in the state.

Congressman Cramer, in just his fifth term, became the ranking member on the House Public Works Committee. In 1964, he became Vice Chairman of the House Republican Conference, the second ranking House Republican behind Michigan Congressman and future President Gerald Ford. He vacated his
