

I shall surely treasure this moment for the rest of my life. Thank you. (Applause)
HASTERT. Thank you, Bob Michel.

As somebody has said several times today, we do stand on the shoulders of giants. That's how we can make this a better place. I think we can all learn from lessons passed and those heroes that have gone before us.

I want to thank everyone, including all the families and friends who have joined us for today, as we honor John Rhodes and Lou Stokes and Don Edwards and Bob Michel. Please stand and join me in a very deserving round of applause for all recipients of the first-ever Congressional Distinguished Service Award. (Applause)

And now please welcome the House chaplain, the Reverend Daniel Coughlin.

COUGHLIN. Every blessing comes from our eternal father. May divine providence continue to guide this nation, hold this House together with clear ideals, civility toward all, aware of the deepest needs of the people.

May God grant all who have gathered here, especially the family and friends of the honorees, his continued blessings. And let the honorees assure them happiness and health in the future, with unwavering faith, constant hope and love that will endure to the end.

God, order all our days and grant us peace of heart, hear our every prayer and bring us all to everlasting joy and life forever. Amen.

Mr. HASTERT. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. PELOSI), Democratic leader.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Speaker for his very inspiring words about the people who were honored today and for having the idea along with the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. GEPHARDT), our former leader, recognizing the distinguished service of our former colleagues.

Today's ceremony was an opportunity to honor these individuals and to remind ourselves how the outstanding character of a few fine people through the sheer measure of their decency can elevate the institution for everyone. It was a sincere pleasure, Mr. Speaker, to see our friends and former colleagues today, and it was a moving occasion to thank them for their service and to rededicate ourselves to the ideals by which they lived. Those of us who served with them are indeed blessed to be able to have called John Rhodes, Louis Stokes, Don Edwards, and Bob Michel our colleagues. These former Members, as the Speaker indicated, were on different sides of the aisle, but they took a shared oath and recognized a greater obligation to serve the country together to find their common ground where they could and to stand their ground where they could not.

No one has come closer to the ideal of a perfect Member of Congress, a perfect public servant, than John Rhodes, Republican of Arizona, who could not be with us, but his son accepted the award for him, accepted the award and the very good wishes of all assembled. And let me say that the gentleman from California (Mr. LEWIS) had the opportunity of making the presentation on behalf of Congressman Rhodes, and moving it was indeed; Congressman Louis Stokes, who was presented by the gentlewoman from Ohio (Mrs. JONES), his successor, and with great pride; Congressman Don Edwards, who was presented by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. LOFGREN), his successor; and Congressman Bob Michel, who was presented by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. LAHOOD), his successor.

Any who have served with these people know what giants they were, and as individuals they are some of the finest people ever to pass through these halls. Together they are the welcomed reminder of what our country and what our Congress can be. These first recipients of the Congressional Distinguished Service Award call all of us to a higher standard.

Mr. Speaker, it is so appropriate that this ceremony took place in the days following July 4, because all of these people honored the memory and the sacrifice of our Founding Fathers, every one of them, in their service to this country. And in the course of these holidays, and July 4 being a great one for our country, we are all singing God Bless America, and we know that God in the service of Louis Stokes, Don Edwards, Bob Michel, and John Rhodes in their service to this country, God truly blessed America.

Mr. HASTERT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Democrat leader for her remarks, and I think in the spirit of Bob Michel, God Bless America was probably a very fine resemblance.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, I stand before the House today compelled to share the inspirational story of a most extraordinary constituent. At 75 years of age, Norma Kipnis-Wilson remains a dynamic philanthropic force in the wonderful Miami-Dade County community which I am proud to represent. Norma fondly recalls making flower wreaths for the USO
