RECOGNIZING CONTRIBUTIONS OF PEOPLE OF INDIAN ORIGIN TO UNITED STATES AND BENEFITS OF WORKING TOGETHER WITH INDIA

SPEECH OF

HON. RAHM EMANUEL

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 11, 2004

Mr. EMANUEL. Mr. Speaker, today I rise in strong support of H. Con. Res. 352, honoring the contributions of Indian-Americans and the people of India to the United States. This important resolution recognizes the benefits of our two nations working together towards our common goals of promoting peace, prosperity, and freedom among all countries of the world.

I am proud to count among my friends and neighbors many people of Indian origin, and I have seen first-hand the contributions they have made to the well-being and prosperity of our community. Indeed, the Fifth District of Illinois is enriched by the presence of longtime residents and recent immigrants from India, who have contributed their talents and energy to small business development, health care, science and the fine arts. Through their hard work and commitment to public service, our Indian neighbors have proven that America is made stronger by the contribution of its immigrant communities.

I am also pleased to recognize the continuing and growing friendship between the nations of India and the United States. India is the most populous democratic country in the world and has historically been a steadfast ally and loyal friend of the United States. We have benefited from our close and mutual friendship with India, through cooperation on security, trade and technological advancements which improve lives in both countries and help promote safety throughout the world.

With this bipartisan resolution, the American people recognize that we will be more effective and successful with India as a strategic partner in achieving our mutual objectives to promote democracy, combat terrorism, pursue nuclear non-proliferation, strengthen the global economy and trade, and slow the spread of HIV/AIDS.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentle lady from California for introducing this concurrent resolution, and I urge my colleagues to support it, as well as to continue all of our efforts to promote peace and cooperation between these two great nations.

MILLER MOTION TO INSTRUCT
CONFEREES ON FY04 LABOR—
HHS BILL, H.R. 2660

HON. LYNN C. WOOLSEY

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 12, 2004

Ms. WOOLSEY. Mr. Speaker, I support the Miller motion to instruct conferees because it ensures that those making as little as $23,660 a year are able to retain the overtime privileges they currently receive.

Mr. Speaker, I was a human resources professional for 10 years in a manufacturing human resources company, and then for 10 years I had my own company, advising high tech companies on their personnel policies and practices, including wage and salary structures. I know a thing or two about work structures.

Under the new overtime rules a "Team Leader" would be ineligible for overtime. I'm going to tell you what a team leader is: First of all, a team leader is not a professional that has a whole group of professional people working as a team negotiating for some grand project in some community. That team leader is a professional period, not a person paid on an hourly rate or a salaried nonexempt person.

In reality a team leader is a senior employee who has the background and the experience to earn the top of their pay rate. And because they've been around, because they know something, they've been asked to show more junior workers how to do the work, and to give them confidence and to give them guidance.

But they're doing the work right alongside of the worker they are mentoring. Today this person earns the top of their pay grade plus overtime. Under the new rules, without that overtime, that "Team Leader" is probably going to earn less than the person that they're working and guiding. The person the "Team Leader" guides will still qualify for overtime for the same hours worked.

So what are we talking about here? We're talking about people at the top of their pay grade getting less because they happen to have institutional knowledge, even though they are doing the same job. And I just don't see how anybody here in this Chamber believes that any new rules that impact workers like these are good for most Americans.

These rules help big business plain and simple, such as the newspaper publishers who were standing up and cheering Secretary Chao when she announced how these rules would allow them to stop paying overtime to journalists. They knew they were going to save money, lots of money.

Well, a rule that works for a handful of business owners and against most of the workers can't be the rule that works for the people of this country. That's why I urge my colleagues to support the Miller motion to instruct conferees and prevent our hard working Americans from losing the overtime they have come to depend on.

RECOGNIZING THE VETERANS WHO SERVED DURING WORLD WAR II,
THE AMERICANS WHO SUP-PORTED THE WAR, AND CELE-BRATING THE COMPLETION OF
THE NATIONAL WORLD WAR II
MEMORIAL

SPEECH OF

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 11, 2004

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of House Resolution 409, recognizing with humble gratitude the more than sixteen million veterans who served in the U.S. Armed Forces during World War II, and all the Americans of that generation who supported the war effort at home. This resolution further celebrates the completion of the National World War II Memorial on the National Mall.

After years of devotion by numerous veterans, politicians, architects, actors, corporations, schools, and other individuals, the dedication of the National World War II Memorial serves as an honorable way to recognize the veterans and citizens who sacrificed so much for the cause of human freedom.

This extraordinary memorial at the heart of our Nation's Capital is a fitting reminder to us all that some of the most valorous and courageous moments in our history occurred when our Nation was unified in defense of liberty and democracy against the forces of fascism and barbarity.

I shudder to reflect on where our world might be without the exceptional courage and dignity displayed by the members of the U.S. Armed Forces in World War II. These veterans took it upon themselves to place their bodies in harm's way to defend against an evil that threatened not just our Nation, but all the world's nations. The men who stormed the beaches of Normandy, who flew hair-raising missions over Berlin, who fought beneath the surface of the ocean, and who weathered the Battle of the Bulge displayed the kind of selflessness that should be an inspiration to all who stand up against tyranny and aggression.

Mr. Speaker, World War II was won not just by soldiers alone but also by the nation that supported them. In the theater of war, men and women served as doctors, nurses, journalists, photographers, suppliers, drivers, and many other roles in direct support of the combat troops. Here at home, millions of women took to the factories to produce the material and machinery so vital to winning: planes, jeeps, ships, guns, radios, and thousands of other products used everyday by the troops in the field.

The new National World War II Memorial is an important and invaluable dedication to the men and women of the United States who stood up to the forces of tyranny and oppression. Their courage, dignity, valor, and sacrifice will inspire future generations to reflect on the meaning of our Nation and on the meaning of the values we hold so dear.

I urge my colleagues to give their full support to the passage of this legislation.

HONORING COMMANDER CHARLES
L. STUPPARD, UNITED STATES
NAVY AND THE OFFICERS, CHIEF
PETTY OFFICERS, AND CREW OF THE USS "ARLEIGH BURKE"
(DDG 51)

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 12, 2004

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Commander Charles L. Stuppard, United States Navy and the officers, Chief Petty Officers, and crew of the USS Arleigh Burke (DDG 51). USS Arleigh Burke was commissioned in Norfolk, Virginia, on July 4, 1991.

She is the first of the most powerful and survivable class of destroyers ever put to sea. She possesses the AEGIS Weapons System with multifunction radar, capable of detecting and tracking hundreds of targets simultaneously while conducting multiple engagements.

On March 5, 2004, in Norfolk, Virginia, Commander Charles L. Stuppard became the 9th Commanding Officer of this powerful navy vessel. Commander Stuppard graduated from Cornell University in 1982 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical and aerospace engineering. He worked for 3 years as a Design and Test Engineer for Fairchild Republic Corporation in the A-10A, T-46 and SF-340 Aircraft programs. In 1985 he joined the Navy as an aviation officer candidate. After commissioning and flight training, Commander Stuppard switched to Surface Warfare.

Commander Stuppard served successively on board the following ships, September 1987 to July 1990, as Boilers Officer and Advanced Combat Direction Systems/Computers Officer, USS Biddle (CG 34) in Norfolk, Virginia; November 1990 to May 1993, as Electronics Readiness Officer/Combat Systems Officer, USS Reeves (CG 24) in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; January 1993 to September 1994, as Combat Systems Officer, USS Sides (FFG 14) in San Diego, California; April 1995 to September 1997, as commissioning Combat Systems Officer, USS Gonzalez (DDG 66) in Bath, Maine and Norfolk, Virginia. From September 1997 to November 1998, Commander Stuppard attended the Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island where he earned a Masters degree in National Security and Strategic Studies. Afterwards, he served as Executive Officer of USS Nicholas (FFG 47) in Norfolk, Virginia.

After a 3-year tour of duty in the Pentagon as an Action Officer and then as an Executive Assistant to the Deputy Director for European Politico-Military Affairs, the Joint Staff Directorate of Strategic Plans and Policy, Commander Stuppard was selected as the Commanding Officer of the USS Arleigh Burke (DDG 51). Commander Stuppard's accomplishments and achievements are truly outstanding and serve as an example to all men throughout the country. Commander Stuppard is a fine citizen and an outstanding American. I congratulate Commander Stuppard and the crew of the Arleigh Burke for such a superb assignment.

HONORING LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS

HON. RODNEY ALEXANDER

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 12, 2004

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in the spirit of National Police Week to honor the 870,000 law enforcement officers who enforce our laws by risking their lives, and to remember the 145 officers who sacrificed their lives for our defense in 2003.

This week, law enforcement officers will gather with the families of officers killed in the line of duty to honor the commitment of our Nation's police forces and to remember those they have lost. Just as our soldiers are called to protect our interests overseas, we depend on our police forces to protect our freedoms, secure our communities and keep us safe and free from fear.

In this Chamber, we debate and pass laws to govern our country, to provide for the safety of our citizens. The laws we make are ineffectual without the selfless dedication of our police forces. Throughout history, these men and women have demonstrated strength and valor in protection and service on every level from local to national. From the routine task of guarding our neighborhoods to answering the call from terror on September 11, it is obvious that these men and women are heroes everyday.

It is with sadness that I recognize two heroes from my district. Patrolman First Class David Ezernack and Patrolman Jeremy Carruth were serving a routine search warrant on February 20, 2003, an attempted arrest that wounded three officers and cost Patrolmen Ezernack and Carruth their lives. Their families and friends, and several officers of the Alexandria Police Department, are in Washington this week to participate in the Candlelight Vigil and to see the names of these two officers unveiled at the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial. We will never adequately express our gratitude, and our sympathies, to the sacrifice of these two officers.

I stand in this Chamber grateful to all law enforcement officers, but also to give special recognition to officers who are especially challenged, serving in our Nation's rural areas. Though violent crime rates are lower in rural areas, these incidences are not decreasing over the years as rapidly as violent crime rates in urban areas. Most of the victims of violent crimes in rural areas are assaulted in their own homes, by people they know—friends, neighbors, family members—a setting more prevalent than in large cities. David Ezernack and Jeremy Carruth served a rural area, and their beat was no less dangerous than a street in a large city.

Congress has continued to afford law enforcement officers with advancements in resources, such as bulletproof vests and enhanced technology. We must continue our commitment to providing our police forces with the best training and protection, and recognize the additional resources that may be necessary for the security of rural areas.

This week, let us extend to these men and women our profound gratitude, for their exhibitions of bravery and the sacrifices they are called to make, and our sympathies to their families. As these noble men and women sacrifice for a pledge to protect and to serve, it is our duty to honor them, past, present and future, to the highest degree.

IN RECOGNITION OF SISTER MARY PAUL JANCHILL, D.S.W.

HON. NYDIA M. VELÁZQUEZ

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 12, 2004

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives to recognize the achievements of Sister Mary Paul Janchill, D.S.W., a tireless advocate for the rights of children and families, and one of the cofounders of the Center for Family Life in Sunset Park, Brooklyn.

For more than 50 years, Sister Mary Paul has been a pioneer and influential leader in child welfare. Sunset Park is a diverse, low-income neighborhood in Brooklyn, and almost a third of the population there is under the age of 18. Sister Mary Paul, a long-time advocate and leader in the fight for the rights of children and families, took her passion and strength, and cofounded the Center for Family Life.

Over the past 25 years, Sister Mary Paul has continued her work and dedication to meeting the needs of families that live in the financially distressed area of Sunset Park through her work at the center. She has continued the fight for low-income children and teenagers, especially those who are at risk of being swept into the social welfare system. The Center for Family Life offers services and advocacy to its clients, and already has two films, one of which received a 2003 Academy Award, that are based on its dedication and commitment to the community.

Sister Mary Paul, among her endless positive contributions, helped to modify the evaluation processes used by child welfare agencies and the family court system. She encourages people to view troubled teens as works in progress. Sister Mary Paul truly changes lives—individuals who have completed their programs later find themselves in leadership positions throughout the community. Her work is priceless, and is constantly felt by the significant number of youth, and families, that she reaches out to each and everyday.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Sister Mary Paul Janchill, and join with my colleagues in the House of Representatives to recognize her extraordinary work in helping New York City's less privileged children and families.
