

on the production costs of new drugs, escaping participation in the astronomical cost of drug development.

In other words, Mr. Speaker, our trade laws which should protect us from this type of activity, are, in fact, asking our poorest individuals, our seniors without prescription drug coverage, to foot the cost of research and development of life savings pharmaceuticals for the rest of the world. And that is wrong. And that is what needs to change, not how we handle reimportation of drugs at the border.

Finally, I do want to, in the few minutes that are left, I want to address something else. We actually heard this this afternoon on the floor of the House from the individual on the other side of the aisle who was talking about health care, and was critical of the prescription drug plan passed by this Congress because of the cost of the prescription drug plan. $395 billion was the Congressional Budget Office estimate for 10 years. The White House Office of the Budget came back with a different figure that was some $500 billion over 10 years time. And that discrepancy has attracted a great deal of attention.

Mr. Speaker, the fact remains that it is almost impossible to precisely fix what the cost of this drug program is going to be over 10 years time. Chairman THOMAS, when he brought the conference report to us last fall, admitted that there was no attempt on the Congressional Budget Office to factor in any cost savings in the Medicare program by virtue of the fact that we were treating illnesses in a more timely fashion and that we were bringing disease management, we were going to be more aggressive about preventative care in the new Medicare with the new Medicare Modernization Act.

Mr. Speaker, in the few minutes, that are left I have to make this point. This House a year ago passed H.R. 5, which was the medical liability bill that would cap the medical liability awards for non-economic damages, pain and suffering at $250,000. We actually did this back in my home State of Texas. And medical liability rates have fallen dramatically. But, more importantly, more importantly, when you look at the cost of defensive medicine in this country, and, in fact, that was looked at in a study at Stanford University in 1996. And these are 1996 dollars, several years ago, the cost of defensive medicine for the Medicare program was estimated to be $50 billion a year.

Mr. Speaker, if we are concerned about the cost of the prescription drug program, we could pay for it by our savings in defensive medicine if we could simply pass that medical liability bill that is stuck on the other side of the capital that we got through this House a year ago. We need to get that bill passed and get it to conference and get on about the business of reducing this high tariff, this high cost of defensive medicine in this country.

Mr. Speaker, we have almost consumed a full hour of talk. And I just wanted to yield to my friend from New Mexico if he had any closing comments. I really appreciate his being here with me and staying in town late today so we could bring our good Republican message to the floor of this House, to the country at large. And I really appreciate him being here and helping me with this discussion this afternoon.

Mr. PEARCE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding one last time. Again, I want to talk in one sense if possible to say thanks to those people who work in our education establishment, those who are out there on the front lines of the education war, especially those success stories like Roswell High School in New Mexico. That is one of the 12 break-through high schools in the Nation. I think that this kind of outcome is exactly what we had hoped for when No Child Left Behind was passed.

If the administration in any school is dedicated to the changes that are allowed under No Child Left Behind, I believe that the program will be the success that each of our parents wants throughout the Nation.

So thanks again to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. BURGESS) for yielding time to me today.
