

support though a variety of charitable works both domestically as well as internationally. For the past century, the Knights have provided an insurance program for widows and orphans of its deceased members. Additionally, the Knights have raised substantial funds to assist mentally challenged and disabled individuals. Most recently, they have worked along with Catholic Relief Services to raise funds for the victims of the devastating tsunami that hit Southeast Asia in December.

The patriotism and positive influence of the Knights is recognized every morning by students reciting the Pledge of Allegiance in classrooms across the Nation. In 1954, it was the Knights of Columbus who petitioned President Eisenhower and Congress to add the words "under God" to the Pledge of Allegiance.

Today, I would like to remember those committed men who organized Leo Council 100 years ago and those who have strived to maintain its membership's vigor and progress. I am proud to congratulate the members, their spouses and families on this momentous occasion.

HONORING CONTRIBUTIONS OF CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

HON. TIM RYAN

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mr. RYAN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of House Resolution 23, honoring the contributions and academic excellence of Catholic schools. The week of January 30–February 5 has been designated "Catholic Schools Week" by the National Catholic Educational Association and the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, to honor the educators, administrators, and over 2.5 million students at Catholic schools across the country for their continued dedication to the educational process.

Catholic Schools Week began in 1974, and has annually promoted a different theme to guide its message. The theme for this year's Catholic Schools Week is "Faith in Every Student," which demonstrates parochial educators' commitment to melding the invaluable process of learning with the guiding principles of Catholicism. And as important as the intellectual development is, it pales in comparison to the lessons of compassion and service to others.

As a beneficiary of a Catholic education, I deeply appreciate the role that the schools play. My Catholic educational experience gave me the desire to learn, the willingness to adapt, and the moral compass by which to lead. This education gave me the basis for the beliefs that continue to guide me today. Children in Catholic schools receive a good education from highly-qualified teachers and strengthen it with a daily commitment to faith, both in school and after the final bell rings.

I wish our nation's Catholic schools continued success, and pledge my support as they continue their ongoing commitment to quality education.

THE MILITARY FAMILIES
FINANCIAL SECURITY ACT OF 2005

HON. SUSAN A. DAVIS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mrs. DAVIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Military Families Financial Security Act of 2005. This bill will ensure the brave men and women who serve our country will not have to worry about losing critical services their dependent children need.

The men and women who serve in our Armed Forces are everyday heroes. I know about the valor of military families from my own experience as a military wife when my husband was stationed in Japan during the Vietnam War. As a wife and mother in a foreign country with two young children, I observed that many servicemembers were also mothers and fathers and were making the same sacrifices I was. Just as these brave men and women are working to protect our nation, we must likewise protect them and their loved ones through the laws and policies we enact.

In San Diego and around the country, some military families rely on the Supplemental Security Income program (SSI) for means-tested financial assistance. This safety net program is designed to protect qualifying families from poverty and provides access to valuable social services such as Medicaid. Without SSI, some special-needs families would not be able to cover their medical expenses.

Current regulations threaten some military families' eligibility. They face a unique risk of losing benefits due to the way military pay is treated under SSI rules. The Social Security Administration (SSA) considers anything outside basic pay as "unearned income." This method hurts servicemembers and their families since there are more than 30 types of military pay in addition to basic pay. These different pays, considered unearned income, result in higher countable income and affect eligibility. Just a few dollars can make all the difference in the world to these military families.

My legislation would change how the SSA calculates income for SSI eligibility by treating most military compensation as earned income. This simple change will keep families eligible for SSI benefits and simplify the administration of this program.

Last year, in testimony before the Human Resources Subcommittee of the Ways and Means Committee, Social Security Commissioner JoAnne Barnhart stated her support for such a proposal, which was part of the President's FY05 budget.

As Commissioner Barnhart stated, "The provision would treat cash military compensation and civilian wages alike, and thus eliminate the present unfair and disadvantageous treatment of cash military compensation other than basic pay under SSI. The proposal would increase SSI benefits for most military families with disabled children, which are currently about 3,000 families. It would be a significant program simplification in these cases and would have a relatively small program cost of only $2 million over 10 years."

She also mentioned how "determining the difference in the types of military pay is time consuming and error prone, and the guidelines for making such determinations covers 14 pages in SSA's operating instructions."

As a proud member of the House Armed Services Committee, I am committed to improving the quality of life of the men and women who serve our country. This legislation is fair, overdue and demonstrates our nation's appreciation. This legislation will give servicemembers peace of mind from knowing that their duties will not jeopardize their families' eligibility for SSI benefits and related services.

I urge you, Mr. Speaker, and all of my colleagues to pass this critical legislation into law.

A TRIBUTE TO BILL PRICE ON THE OCCASION OF HIS 90TH BIRTHDAY

HON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I invite my colleagues to join me in paying tribute to Mr. Bill Price, a lifelong supporter of the labor movement, a strong advocate for the rights of senior citizens, and a founding member of both the Senior Action Network and the California Alliance for Retired Americans. Mr. Price will be honored for his truly exceptional contributions to his community at his 90th birthday celebration on February 24, 2005.

Since his early years working in the hotel industry in Seattle, Mr. Price has been a dedicated union leader. In 1937, he helped to organize employees who voted to join the Building Service Employees, Local 6. After serving for two years in the U.S. Navy, Mr. Price moved to San Francisco in 1947 to work in his father's grocery store. There, he joined the Retail Clerks Local 648 and was an active member. By the early 1960s, Mr. Price was elected to the Executive Board of Local 648, in which he served first as Vice President, then Organizer, and eventually Business Agent until his retirement.

Mr. Speaker, after retiring, Mr. Price has been busy working to better the quality of life for seniors, families, and working people. A founding member of both the Senior Action Network (SAN) and the California Alliance for Retired Americans (CARA), Mr. Price currently serves as the President of SAN and as Vice President of CARA. Both of these organizations value his leadership, enthusiasm, and persistent efforts on behalf of senior citizens in the Bay Area. True to his selfless nature, Mr. Price asked that his birthday present be celebrated through the continued support of these two organizations that he has worked so hard to create and develop.

In addition to his commitment to the labor movement and the welfare of senior citizens, Mr. Price is also an avid sports fan. A season ticket holder for both the San Francisco 49ers and the Giants, he continues to find time to root for the local teams.

Mr. Speaker, as Mr. Price celebrates his 90th birthday, I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring his outstanding achievements and remarkable dedication to the well-being of his community. I look forward to celebrating many more milestones with Mr. Price in the future.

IN MEMORY OF K. PATRICK
OKURA

HON. MICHAEL M. HONDA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mr. HONDA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to remember and honor the life of K. Patrick Okura. Pat, as he was known to all who were fortunate enough to know him, led a long and accomplished career in the field of mental health and civil rights advocacy. My condolences go out to, Lily, his wife and life long partner who stood at Pat's side for more than 60 years.

Pat's own life spanned more than ninety years and was certainly intertwined with the historic events of those years.

Pat went to UCLA where he earned his a degree in psychology in the early 1930s. At UCLA he also played varsity baseball, which was unheard of for an Asian American at that time. He faced harsh protest from his teammates the entire two years he played at UCLA, but he became the first Asian American to play and letter in a major sport at a West Coast college or university.

Pat and his wife Lily had been married for just two months in December, 1941 when our government gave them just four days to pack only what they could carry and sent them to live in an internment camp.

While in an assembly center at the Santa Anita race track, Pat and Lily were able to avoid going to an internment camp when Father Flanagan of Boys' Town convinced federal officials that his orphanage in Nebraska needed someone with Pat's psychology background. Pat worked at Boys' Town for 18 years, providing counseling and administering psychological tests.

After Boys' Town, Pat was appointed chief probation officer of the Douglas County Juvenile Court and helped establish a separate juvenile court system for the state of Nebraska. The Nebraska Psychiatric Institute later recruited Okura to head up the Community Psychiatric Services division, where he became the state planner for mental health and launched five successful mental health centers in the state.

In 1970, Pat's work in Nebraska prompted then-National Institute of Mental Health, NIMH, Director Bertram Brown, to recruit Pat to become his executive assistant in Washington, DC. Pat saw this position as giving him an opportunity to help minorities and children and address delinquency. Pat worked at NIMH for 17 years, retiring in 1985.

In 1988, when the U.S. government paid the Okuras and all other former internment camp prisoners $20,000 each, Pat and Lily used that money along with personal savings to start the Okura Mental Health Leadership Foundation, which helps Asian Pacific Americans overcome racial, language and other barriers.

Pat's lifetime involvement with the Japanese American Citizens League, JACL, was filled with major accomplishments as well.

After joining the JACL at the age of 25, Pat moved up through the leadership ranks, gradually assuming greater and greater responsibility in this civil rights organization. In 1937, at the age of 26, he served as the Executive Director of the Los Angeles JACL Office. Pat founded the Omaha JACL Chapter in 1947.

By 1962 he became JACL National President and remained in office for three years. As JACL national president, Pat had the JACL march with Martin Luther King, Jr. in 1963, resisting opposition from some JACL members, who did not want to get involved.

Even into his 90s, Pat was an active member of the Washington, DC chapter of the JACL.

Mr. Speaker, I have only touched on the eventful and accomplished life of K. Patrick Okura, but clearly this was a man whose life represented a large part of our collective history.

IN HONOR OF RALPH B. THOMAS
ON THE OCCASION OF HIS RE-TIREMENT

HON. SUSAN A. DAVIS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, February 2, 2005

Mrs. DAVIS of California. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pleasure that I rise today to congratulate Ralph B. Thomas of the San Diego Border Patrol Sector. Mr. Thomas celebrates his retirement after 28 years of service in immigration policy and operations. I am honored to have this opportunity to pay tribute to an exceptional public servant.

In 1960, after a long day of campaigning for the presidency, John F. Kennedy arrived at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor to find thousands of students waiting to hear him speak. He challenged the assembled students with the following immortal statement: "Ask not what America will do for you, but what together we can do for the freedom of man." These fateful words launched the Peace Corps.

A twenty-something Ralph Thomas learned of this challenge and answered it. In 1961, he joined the newly established international volunteer organization and traveled to the Philippines. He taught English as a Second Language in an elementary school and gave support to 35 volunteers in education and community development assignments as a volunteer leader.

Ralph Thomas completed his doctoral studies in Asian history and culture at the University of Pennsylvania in 1971, and taught Asian and American history at the University of Pennsylvania and Adrian College in Michigan.

His deep interest in urban and ethnic issues led to positions as Director of Black/White Curricula for the Education Development Center in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and as a process observer for the Detroit Education Task Force.

His involvement in immigration matters resulted from his friend and fellow Peace Corps/Philippines volunteer Leonel Castillo being named Commissioner of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in 1977. After working as a Special Assistant to the Commissioner for two years, Ralph became Deputy Director of the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy. The Select Commission recommended a number of the policy changes enacted as part of 1986 and 1990 immigration reform legislation. Ralph returned to the INS as a special assistant and consultant for the first two years of the Reagan Administration.

In September 1983, Ralph was selected as an appellate examiner for the new Administrative Appeals Unit. In 1984, he was transferred to an inspector position in the Office of Refugees, Asylum and Parole. From 1986 to 1991, he served as Deputy Assistant Commissioner. Ralph spent six more years in the INS Office of Congressional and Public Affairs before coming to the San Diego Sector.

Ralph's career spans the arenas of international development, education, immigration policy and border management. His sincerity, modest demeanor and community involvement make him a true public servant. For example, when impassable road conditions at Border Field State Park threaten to cancel a mass organized in memory of those who lost their lives crossing the border, Ralph stepped in. The mass took place as scheduled.

As Special Assistant to the Chief Patrol Agent of the San Diego Border Patrol Sector, Ralph has impressed me with his dedication to conveying the magnitude of the Border Patrol's work. I have experienced first-hand the rugged and steep terrain along the Imperial Beach-Tijuana border and flown over the expanse of the San Diego-Tijuana border with Ralph and Border Patrol Chief William Veal. Border Patrol agents are working hard to secure our borders.

On behalf of the people of San Diego, I would like to extend my sincere appreciation
