

This commanding building is a fitting tribute to Albuquerque balloonists Ben Abruzzo and Maxie Anderson who are recognized internationally for their first non-stop crossing of the Atlantic Ocean by gas balloon. Not only will this museum serve as a constant reminder of their legacies, but it will also offer extensive and educational exhibits that will inform and broaden ballooning enthusiasts for years to come.

The Anderson-Abruzzo International Balloon Museum will serve as an educational institution. The museum's innovative educational outreach plan includes field trip opportunities, lectures, and an emphasis on integrating the Balloon Museum into the Albuquerque Public Schools curriculum.

I am pleased to congratulate the Anderson-Abruzzo International Balloon Museum and all of those whose efforts and contributions have made this opening possible. I would like to especially thank the Anderson and Abruzzo families, whose vision and continued dedication have been the driving factor in the museum's completion. I would also like to thank the City of Albuquerque for embracing and financing this project. I am proud to join the community in celebrating this amazing new addition to New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, I ask that all my colleagues rise to congratulate the many professionals and volunteers who have helped to make this wonderful new museum a reality.

THE INTRODUCTION OF THE TEMPORARY AGRICULTURAL LABOR REFORM ACT OF 2005

HON. BOB GOODLATTE

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 22, 2005

Mr. GOODLATTE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce, along with my friend and colleague Representative MARION BERRY of Arkansas, the Temporary Agricultural Labor Reform Act of 2005, a bi-partisan bill to reform the H-2A guest worker program. As Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, I have traveled across the nation and seen first-hand that the H-2A temporary visa process is not working. I have talked face to face with producers who have to deal with participating in a costly, time-consuming and flawed program. For example, employers have to comply with a lengthy labor certification process that is slow, bureaucratic and frustrating. In addition, they are forced to pay an artificially inflated wage rate. My bill will streamline the cumbersome requirements of the current H-2A program to make it a more viable option for our nation's farmers.

Likewise, as a long-time Member of the House Judiciary Committee, I understand the immigration problems that currently face our country. Illegal immigration penalizes those legal immigrants and citizens who play by the rules. It is estimated that there are over 10 million illegal aliens currently living in the United States. This population grows by over 350,000 each year. Clearly, this situation has reached crisis proportions and cannot be allowed to continue.

Some believe that the only way to reform the guest worker program is by including amnesty provisions and allowing illegal aliens to adjust to Legal Permanent Resident (LPR) status. However, this would create the wrong incentive by encouraging foreign nationals to come into the country and break our laws. Amnesty is unfair to those foreign nationals trying to comply with our laws and encourages more people to come into the U.S. illegally with the thought that they, too, will get rewarded for their illegal actions in the future.

My bill would not grant an amnesty. Instead, it would require that anyone wishing to participate in the guest worker program must first return to their home country and apply from there to participate legally. This requirement will help us track who is entering our country and will create an incentive for those currently present illegally to return home and begin the process again while respecting our immigration laws.

In addition, this legislation would address a troublesome wage issue. Employers are required to pay an inflated wage called the Adverse Effect Wage Rate or AEWR. The AEWR was designed to protect similarly situated domestic workers from being adversely affected by guest workers coming into the country on a seasonal basis and being paid lower wages. However, the shortage of domestic workers in the farm workforce forces employers to hire foreign workers, and thus, is also forcing them to pay an inflated wage. My bill abolishes this unfair wage and creates a prevailing wage standard, under which, all workers are paid the same wage as workers doing similar work in that region.

The facts are simple. Agriculture needs a reliable guest worker program. Workers need access to stable, legal, temporary employment. It is in our national security interest to create a sensible way for workers to come in on a temporary basis, work, and go back to their home countries. My bill addresses problems in the guest worker program, and I look forward to working with Representative BERRY and all of the Members of this body to reform this program and make it a more viable process for everyone involved.

HONORING MR. BRUCE DE YOUNG ON THE OCCASION OF HIS RETIREMENT

HON. SCOTT GARRETT

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 22, 2005

Mr. GARRETT of New Jersey. The work of educating our youth is one of the highest callings to which an individual may aspire. The values and information imparted to the minds of our children remain with them throughout their lives helping to guide their decisions and consequently, the directions of their families, communities, state, and our nation.

In recognition of the outstanding dedication of one man to this noble calling, I am pleased to extend my warmest commendation to Mr. Bruce De Young on the occasion of his retirement as Superintendent of Schools in the Ramsey, New Jersey Public School District.

Since 1992, Mr. De Young has served in the position of Superintendent of Schools, yet his dedication to education extends over many more years. Indeed, Mr. De Young has devoted thirty-six years to the field of education. From his position as Mathematics Supervisor for the Ramsey Public School District, to his tenure as Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction, through his present position of Superintendent, Mr. De Young has enjoyed a career focused on providing the best education to his students.

Mr. De Young's contribution, however, reaches even beyond the classroom. As a member of the Legislative Committee of the New Jersey Association of School Administrators and a member of the Bergen County Association of School Administrators, the Association for Supervisors and Curriculum Development, and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Mr. De Young has been willing to share his experience and knowledge for the purpose of bettering educational quality for countless students, both in New Jersey and across this great nation.

Moreover, through his willingness to mentor other Superintendents as they travel the path to permanent certification, Mr. De Young has ensured that his contribution to education will last not only throughout his career but also well into the future.

IN RECOGNITION OF THE RETIREMENT OF ROBERT MCEWAN AS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE HOUSING AUTHORITY OF THE COUNTY OF CONTRA COSTA

HON. ELLEN O. TAUSCHER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 22, 2005

Mrs. TAUSCHER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the career contributions of Robert McEwan to the Housing Authority of the County of Contra Costa and to the wider arena of affordable housing and redevelopment.

Bob has led the Housing Authority for 7 years as a director who values the knowledge and expertise of his employees, seeks their input, and earns their respect and loyalty for relating to them as he relates to everyone, fairly and sincerely.

During those 7 years, the Housing Authority faced and weathered a crisis of change in ways that the Federal Government compensates public housing authorities for the shelter and services they provide. Under Bob's leadership, at the prospect of shortfalls, the employees of the Housing Authority of Contra Costa did not retreat from their high quality standards of service to their customers and the community.

Bob has left his mark of professional excellence in the wider community of nonfederally funded affordable housing. The Bay Point 180-unit DeAnza Gardens Apartments, which he has served as corporation president, won the 2005 National Merit Award from the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials. Bob has also served as a leader in local, regional and State organizations of his peers.

Mr. Speaker, I honor Bob McEwan today for his qualities of leadership by example, commitment to professional standards, and genuine regard for the welfare of the people who live in the housing he has devoted his professional life to providing.

"What do we all want?" he asks about affordable housing. "A safe community for our kids, an attractive environment, a home we are proud of. That's what DeAnza is all about".

That's what Bob McEwan is all about. I wish him a blissful retirement in the company of his wife Jean, family, friends, fellow fishermen, and, on occasion, the surprised fish, fresh from a mountain stream, having an unexpected out-of-water experience.

RECOGNIZING THE 150TH ANNIVERSARY OF FLINT, MICHIGAN

HON. DALE E. KILDEE

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 22, 2005

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, it is with a tremendous sense of pride that I rise before you today to recognize the 150th anniversary of my hometown, Flint, Michigan. This milestone will be celebrated with a series of events, during Homecoming Weekend September 23–25. Activities include a commemorative parade, pedal boat rides on the Flint River, and the opening of the newly renovated Flint Institute of Arts, just to name a few.

Although incorporated in 1855, Flint was first founded in 1819 by fur trader Jacob Smith. The fledgling community, located on the banks of the Flint River, prospered under the trading, trapping, and lumber industries, which in turn brought more settlers to the area. In the 1840's, Flint became famous for its carriage production. One such group, the Durant-Dort Carriage Company, purchased a tract of land in Flint and used the site to create a network of factories with the intention of maintaining all aspects of carriage production in close proximity. Under the leadership of William C. Durant, and with the help of Robert J. Whaley and Flint's own Citizens National Bank, this company grew to become what we know today as General Motors. Since then, Flint's history has been perpetually linked with the auto industry. The 1937 Sitdowners Strike served as a defining moment in the creation of the United Auto Workers. The Buick factory, where my father worked, and the other General Motors facilities in the Flint area served as one of the nation's greatest contributors during both World Wars, producing engines, parts, tanks, and other materials used by Allied forces in defense of the Free World.

Over the years, Flint grew to become Michigan's fourth largest city, with a population of approximately 125,000 people. It is also home to a cultural center spanning 30 acres, institutions of higher learning such as Kettering University, C.S. Mott Community College, and the University of Michigan-Flint, outstanding medical centers, thriving commercial areas, and internationally renowned events such as the Crim Festival of Races.

New projects and developments help guide its progress toward the future, while at the same time honoring and preserving its rich past. Centuries-old homes and buildings stand side by side with modern works of architecture, chronicling a new chapter in the city's history. Residents and visitors are welcomed to the downtown area by majestic arches, just as they were 85 years ago. And then there is perhaps Flint's greatest treasure, its residents. From those who have lived here for a generation to those calling it home for the first time, it is the people of Flint—my friends and neighbors—that shall always serve as its true nucleus. As a lifelong resident of Flint, my memories of the city shall always remain with me. From growing up with my family, to serving as the Member of Congress for the city, I will always look upon the city fondly; it is my home.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to acknowledge the efforts of Mayor Don Williamson, the Flint City Council, the Sesquicentennial Committee, and all event sponsors for their vision in recognizing the need to acknowledge this occasion. Again, I ask my colleagues in the House of Representatives to please join me in congratulating Flint, Michigan on its 150th anniversary.
