

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

SALUTE TO HURRICANE VOLUNTEER MARC OBERLIN OF SAVE-A-LOT

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2005

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to salute those individuals and organizations that opened their hearts and dedicated both financial and emotional support to the evacuees of Hurricane Katrina and Hurricane Rita. All of the States along the gulf coast have endured terrible hardships during this hurricane season, and I know that the generosity of North Texans played a vital role in bringing some peace into their lives.

Today, I want to specifically thank one man, his store and his donation. Marc Oberlin, from Save-A-Lot donated $5,572 worth of various food and supplies for volunteers during hurricane Katrina.

Save-A-Lot is one of the Nation's leading extreme value, limited assortment grocery chains, operating value-oriented stores in all types of neighborhoods—urban, rural and suburban. Today the company's annual system-wide retail sales exceed $4 billion and are expected to grow as the company expands its store network.

I stand here today to sincerely thank Marc Oberlin for his donation. It is people like him that I am proud to call a fellow Texan. Through his contribution, he not only stands as a devoted and giving American citizen, but he serves as an inspiration to others.

HON. NICK J. RAHALL II

OF WEST VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2005

Mr. RAHALL. Mr. Speaker, it is with great pride that I honor Crescent Elementary School in Raleigh County, West Virginia for their remarkable academic achievements. Next month, Crescent will receive the highest national honor in education as a No Child Left Behind Blue Ribbon School. Out of 738 schools in West Virginia, Crescent is one of just three to receive the award, and one of only 295 in the United States.

Crescent Elementary School qualifies for this award because the school has dramatically improved student performance on the State assessment test. In light of the fact that 62 percent of Crescent's 284 students, are of low socioeconomic background, this accomplishment is even more commendable. On the State assessment test, the entire school tested in the 80th percentile in math and reading. Another great achievement for the school is a 98 percent attendance rate during the 2004-2005 school year.

At the November ceremony to honor the 2005 No Child Left Behind-Blue Ribbon Schools, United States Assistant Secretary of Education, Kevin F. Sullivan, will recognize

ESSAY ON THE PLEDGE

HON. MARK R. KENNEDY

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2005

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to submit for the RECORD, the text of an essay by Katelin Richter of Watertown, Minnesota, as published in the Minneapolis Star-Tribune on October 3, 2005.

Of course the pledge is still relevant. How does a trait such as loyalty cease to be relevant? How do liberty and justice for all cease to be relevant? How does God cease to be relevant? Just because our America is a little different than our Founding Fathers' America doesn't mean that the core values that built this Nation have changed. Deep down, we are still the same, members of the greatest democracy on Earth, where liberty and justice are truly for all.

We have to remember, when pledging, that our great Nation is not totally infallible, and will never be. We can only try our hardest, with the powers we have, to make our Nation live up to the pledge. Americans will constantly work to see this goal.
