LEARNING AN IMPORTANT LESSON FROM OUR CHILDREN

HON. BERNARD SANDERS

OF VERMONT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 1, 2005

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. Speaker, many thousands of American men and women are serving in Iraq under very dangerous conditions. Often, we at home go about our daily business and forget the deep loyalty and responsibility of our brave soldiers half a world away. And even more, we often forget what war means for the children in Iraq.

I want to tell you, today, about a community of young people who have not forgotten that our soldiers are in Iraq, or that their mission is, ultimately, to build peace. These first, second and third graders at Elmore Lake School in Vermont not only remember the larger mission of our soldiers, they have sent packages to reach out to the children of Iraq, who like themselves are students in schools.

These young students at Elmore Lake School also wrote letters to Iraqi school-children, made pictures for them, and then put the letters and pictures into parcels filled with school supplies that the Elmore children packed and weighed for mailing. They were assisted by their teacher, Annamary Anderson and parent Sarah Southall, and by Vermont National Guard Captain Dave Matzo, who distributed the packages when he returned to Iraq from a home leave. The contents of the packages were provided by the school's children and their families. The Lamoille Valley Chamber of Commerce found kind sponsors who paid the cost of postage.

The letters written by the children remind us, remind us all, that war is not something abstract, but a situation which involves human beings. Here is one example, a letter from a student named Sebastian that was reprinted in the News and Citizen of Morrisville. It is remarkably eloquent, not only in its ability to reach out across oceans and continents to children elsewhere, but in its reminder to all of us of just what war may mean to those who must live in its midst:

DEAR CHILDREN IN IRAQ, I feel bad for you because you are probably scared because you have a war going on in your country. I don't think it is right for kids to have to deal with this. I don't even know why people are fighting! I would definitely be very scared if I had a war going on close by! So my class in school thought we should give you kids school supplies. I hope the war stops soon, there is already enough bad things going on in your country! I wish you good luck!

Sincerely,

SEBASTIAN L.W.

I offer my deep respect, and that of my state and Nation, to these thoughtful and giving young students in Elmore, who have taught all of us to think deeply about war and about generosity.

IN HONOR OF ROSA PARKS, "MOTHER OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT"

HON. JIM COSTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 1, 2005

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor and memory of the civil rights icon Rosa Louise Parks. Almost half a century ago, Mrs. Parks' refusal to surrender her bus seat triggered the first organized actions in the civil rights movement. Because of her action that day, Mrs. Parks will always be remembered as the "mother of the civil rights movement."

Rosa Parks was born in Tuskegee, Alabama on February 4, 1913. As a girl, she wrote, "I had a very strong sense of what was fair." She led a life dedicated to improving civil rights and acted as an inspiration to many Americans.

On December 1, 1955, Mrs. Parks sat in an unreserved section of a city bus. When asked to give up her seat for a white man she politely refused. It is a common misconception that Rosa Parks was unwilling to give up her seat because she was tired from a long day at work. As she told it, "the only tired I was, was tired of giving in."

Mrs. Parks' act of civil disobedience is the popular inspiration that led to Martin Luther King Jr.'s decision to lead a bus boycott that lasted an amazing 381 days. On November 13, 1956, in an important victory for the civil rights movement, the Supreme Court outlawed segregation on buses. The civil rights movement would experience many important victories, but Rosa Parks will always be remembered as its catalyst.

Mrs. Parks was a shy, soft spoken woman who was uncomfortable being revered as a symbol of the civil rights movement. She only hoped to inspire young people to achieve great things. However, in 1996 her place in U.S. history was cemented when she was awarded the nation's highest civilian honor, the Presidential Medal of Freedom by President Bill Clinton. Mrs. Parks passed away October 24th at the age of 92, at her home in Detroit.

Rosa Parks will be remembered for her lasting contributions to society. Her legacy lives on in the continued struggle for civil rights around the world. She will be missed.

FEDERAL HOUSING FINANCE
REFORM ACT OF 2005

SPEECH OF

HON. NYDIA M. VELÁZQUEZ

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2005

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 1461) to reform the regulation of certain housing-related Government-sponsored enterprises, and for other purposes:

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to register my opposition to H.R. 1461 the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act, due to recently add provisions that restrict non-profit organizations from receiving affordable housing funds if they engage in nonpartisan voter registration activities.

On May 25, 2005, the Financial Services Committee reported the GSE bill with strong bipartisan support. I supported moving the bill because it took necessary steps toward expanding homeownership for American families.

However, in an effort to bring the bill to the floor, Republicans altered the language that created an affordable housing trust fund. Under the Republican language, controversial limitations were included to restrict the receipt of the funds by nonprofit organizations. Specifically, the language prohibits nonprofit organizations, including religious groups, from applying for and receiving grants if they engage in, or maintain an affiliation with any organization that engages in, nonpartisan voter registration within the 12 months preceding the application or during the duration of the grant.

This restrictive language has never been debated by the Financial Services Committee, despite the fact that its implications warrant careful study. For instance, the provisions raise significant constitutional questions because they place restrictions on the First Amendment right to affiliate. They also directly contradict current voter registration laws by discouraging civic participation in the democratic process.

Moreover, I am extremely concerned that this language will exempt qualified non-profit groups from providing much needed affordable housing services across the country. The Financial Services Committee had taken great strides in this bill to increase homeownership through the creation of an affordable housing trust fund. Yet, this language throws our bipartisan efforts aside, the impact of which will be felt by the low income, elderly and disabled.

As the Federal Housing Finance Reform Act moves forward through the legislative process, I hope that the Senate and conference committee recognize the harmful effects of these restrictions on non-profit organizations and remove the language that jeopardizes our democratic form of government.

IN HONOR OF THE CITY OF
MARINAHON. SAM FARR

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 1, 2005

Mr. FARR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the city of Marina on the 30th anniversary of its incorporation. Marina is a young city, particularly in contrast to its neighbor Monterey, founded in 1772. But young, in the case of Marina, is just another word for dynamic.

Marina is located on the shore of Monterey Bay near the mouth of the Salinas River. The area known today as Marina was once owned by David Jacks and James Bardin, who in the mid 1800s owned much of the acreage that now constitutes the Monterey Peninsula. In the early 1900s the area was designated as "Bardin," then "Locke-Paddon Colonies," then "Paddonville." It was at about this time that Southern Pacific Railroad, who had laid tracks through the area, was convinced by the then owner, William Locke-Paddon, to make a flag stop for his customers coming from San Francisco. Locke-Paddon, 1876-1972, is considered the father of Marina, and some of his relatives still live in the region. He renamed the area Marina to boost its attraction as a stop.

As the land was developed, areas were set aside for a school, church and other necessities of an organized city. Marina's first post office was established in April 1919. As with the rest of the Monterey Peninsula, Marina witnessed a tremendous amount of growth and development during the 1950s and 60s—schools, churches, businesses, our community center and residential homes. The area has changed from a quiet rural area into a very prosperous community. In 1956, the Marina Fire District was formed and Reservation Road began to develop as a commercial area. All through that time Marina served as a gateway to the very active U.S. Army base at Fort Ord.

Marina incorporated as a city in November 1975. At that time I had the pleasure of serving as a Monterey County Supervisor and chaired the County's Local Area Formation Committee, LAFCO, that oversaw the creation of new jurisdictions. I remember Marina civic booster Frank Vineyard coming before the commission in 1975 to argue the case for Marina's creation as a stand alone city. I am proud to have been able to cast a vote as LAFCO chair to form the city of Marina. Frank went on to serve as Marina's first mayor.

Marina has grown over the years and is now taking a leading role in the redevelopment of the former Fort Ord. It is also redeveloping its downtown and has a bright future as not only the gateway to the Monterey Peninsula, but as a destination unto itself. Mr. Speaker, Marina deserves the congratulations of this House for its success to date and best wishes for a future that will surely see the city continue to serve the needs of its diverse residents.

COMMENDING UPPER GREENWOOD
LAKE VOLUNTEER AMBULANCE
CORPSHON. SCOTT GARRETT

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 1, 2005

Mr. GARRETT of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I commend the Upper Greenwood Lake Volunteer Ambulance Corps in New Jersey's fifth Congressional district on 50 years of excellent service to our community. Located in West Milford in northern New Jersey, this brave group of selfless residents has been saving lives since being founded on June 2, 1955.

A great community effort, the Upper Greenwood Lake Volunteer Ambulance Corps was started with the assistance of a weekend resident and a loan from a local business owner. Residents helped maintain the first ambulance, a 1947 Cadillac, and cleared the land for the headquarters with assistance from local business.

Today, volunteers spend countless hours training in life-saving and learning how to use advanced equipment. Volunteers also raise money to defer the costs of ambulance care for needy residents,

For their great dedication to the cause of saving lives, I praise the Upper Greenwood Lake Volunteer Ambulance Corps and wish them another 50 years and beyond of outstanding response to medical emergencies.
