HONORING THE STUDEBAKER NATIONAL MUSEUM

• Mr. BAYH. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to a community landmark in northern Indiana. The Studebaker National Museum is home to more than 114 years of automobile history, including four presidential carriages and several vehicles from the original Studebaker collection.

The Studebaker name has been a significant part of the South Bend community since 1852 when the Studebaker brothers founded their blacksmith business. For more than a century, the Studebaker Corporation helped form the economic and social fabric of the area, employing tens of thousands of Hoosiers and providing classic affordable cars to thousands more.

In 1966, the Studebaker Corporation donated its collection of rare and antique vehicles, beginning the automobile collection at the Studebaker National Museum. The collection has continued to grow since then, demonstrating both Studebaker's famous craftsmanship and innovative design, as well as the evolution of the automobile industry. The collection now tells the story of America's Industrial Age, bringing the era to life for Hoosiers and Americans from across the country.

In addition to the educational and historical services it provides, the Studebaker National Museum is a committed leader in the development and growth of South Bend's vibrant economy and the revitalization of the Historic West Washington District.

Soon, the Museum will be relocating into the Historic West Washington District. On the occasion of this move, I commend the Studebaker National Museum on their impressive service to the community thus far and wish them well in their new location.●

DETROIT-WINDSOR TUNNEL'S 75TH ANNIVERSARY

• Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, November 3 marks the 75th anniversary of the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel. Since it first opened to vehicle traffic in 1930, the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel has made a tremendous contribution not only to my home State of Michigan, but to our Nation as a whole. On the occasion of this historic milestone, I know my colleagues join me in recognition of the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel, the hard-working men and women who keep it operating, the thousands of Americans and Canadians who pass through it each day, and the critical role it plays in our economic relationship with Canada.

The Detroit-Windsor Tunnel serves as much more than a conduit for travel, it is a critical socioeconomic link between the United States and Canada. The idea for a tunnel to connect the cities of Detroit and Windsor was first conceived in the 1870s. After a number of failed attempts, Windsor Mayor Edward Blake Winter proposed a new tunnel project in 1919. Mayor Winter believed a tunnel would foster greater unity between the two countries and would serve as a memorial to the soldiers who were killed in World War I. After 11 years of planning and construction, this vision finally became a reality on November 1, 1930. On that day, President Herbert Hoover pressed a golden button in the U.S. Capitol officially opening the mile-long tunnel and forever changing and strengthening the relationship between the United States and Canada.

Today, the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel remains the only underwater international tunnel open to vehicular traffic in the world. Its construction in the late 1920s was unparalleled by any other tunnel in the world and took only 26 months to complete, nearly a year ahead of schedule. Amazingly, the tunnel allows four full lanes of traffic to cross the U.S.-Canadian border at a depth of 75 feet below the surface of the water.

However, it is not simply the marvel of the tunnel's engineering that we celebrate on its 75th anniversary. We must also recognize its continuing contributions to trade and travel between the United States and Canada. Approximately 29,000 vehicles pass through the tunnel each day, making the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel one of the 15 most heavily traveled border crossings in the United States.

Everyday, untold numbers of workers, manufacturers, and suppliers on both sides of the border depend on the Detroit Windsor Tunnel to get to jobs and transport products. Thousands of families also use the tunnel. This movement of people and goods has an immeasurable impact on the economic health of Detroit and Windsor alike. In addition, the cross-border transit reinforces U.S.-Canadian relations.

It is with great pride that I honor the 75 years of valuable contributions made by the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel. I would like to extend my sincerest wishes of thanks and good luck to the people of Detroit and Windsor and the people who keep the tunnel operating as they work to make its future as productive and beneficial as its past. ●
