

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

IN RECOGNITION OF DR.
XIAODONG WANG

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 22, 2006

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Dr. Xiaodong Wang, of the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, for being awarded the $1 million Shaw Prize in Life Science and Medicine.

Dr. Wang, 43, will receive the international award in September from the Hong Kong-based Shaw Prize Foundation. A professor of biochemistry, Dr. Wang will receive the award for his discovery of the biochemical basis of programmed cell death which is a vital process that balances cell birth and prevents cancer. His scientific breakthrough marks a turning point in the history of medicine and will indeed benefit the lives of millions around the world.

The Shaw Prize in Life Science and Medicine is presented annually and sometimes referred to as the "Nobel Prize of the East," is awarded to those who have achieved significant breakthroughs in scientific research and applications. Dr. Wang has discovered mechanisms responsible for programmed cell death. As a doctor, I am honored to know that great scientific research continues and the heart of such work is being conducted at UT Southwestern.

I extend my sincere congratulations to Dr. Xiaodong Wang for his outstanding leadership. He is an excellent scientist who has greatly benefited his fellow man, and I hope that his research will act as a catalyst for others to strive for excellent and great achievements.

HONORING JACK WEATHERFORD ON HIS RETIREMENT

HON. BART GORDON

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 22, 2006

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor Jack Weatherford for his extraordinary service to the Smyrna/Rutherford County Airport Authority. Mr. Weatherford served on the task force that established the airport authority, and after many years of outstanding work, he is now retiring.

Today, I honor Mr. Weatherford for his achievements in Rutherford County's aviation industry, but his success has not been limited to that field. For 40 years, Mr. Weatherford led Mid-South Bank and Trust, which later merged with Sun Trust Banks. He served as President of the Tennessee Bankers Association, and in 1986, he was honored with the establishment of the Jack O. Weatherford Chair of Finance at Middle Tennessee State University.

A resident of my hometown of Murfreesboro, TN, Mr. Weatherford has been instrumental in Smyrna Airport's success. Under his leadership, the airport added ten new buildings and hangars and developed a 400 acre business park that included new infrastructure, a business center and a new terminal.

Smyrna Airport now is the State's third largest airport and its busiest general aviation airport.

During Mr. Weatherford's 14 years as Chairman of the airport authority, the airport received many accolades, including the Governor's Silver Star Award and the Tennessee Department of Transportation's Best Governing Body and Airport of the Year awards.

While the airport's growth has kept him busy, Mr. Weatherford has found time to remain active in the community. He helped found the Main Street Association and Leadership Rutherford, and he has been active with the Chamber of Commerce, MTSU Foundation and Rotary Club.

Mr. Weatherford's leadership has served Rutherford County well and will make it a better place for years to come.

DECLARING THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL PREVAIL IN THE
GLOBAL WAR ON TERROR

SPEECH OF

HON. ROBERT E. ANDREWS

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 15, 2006

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to oppose this resolution because the process under which it is being considered is deeply flawed and unfair to those with legitimate opposing points of view. There are Members in this chamber who want to offer specific plans on Iraq and they have the right to have these proposals debated and voted on.

This entire debate is a sham, Mr. Speaker. This resolution was brought to the floor to help Republicans win in November, not to help our country win the war in Iraq. Make no mistake about it; it is very important for this House to formally acknowledge our support for our troops, especially when they are in harm's way, fighting a difficult and protracted war. But this resolution is not a show of support. It is a political tool with little substance. In fact, the only provision of substance is the third Resolved clause which "declares that it is not in the national security interest of the United States to set an arbitrary date for the withdrawal or redeployment of United States Armed Forces from Iraq." I happen to agree that we should not set a public deadline for withdrawal. I don't think it makes sense strategically and, even worse, I think it puts our commanders on the ground at a disadvantage because it provides the resistance with a clear target of how long they need to hold out. If we withdraw our troops prematurely, we run the risk of the young Iraqi government folding and the vacuum being filled by a government friendly to terrorists.

This debate should have been about alternatives. That is a primary function of Congress. To debate our country's most important issues. I can think of no issue more important than whether we succeed or fail in Iraq. Rather than add to the vast amount of rhetoric being tossed around by both sides, I would like to present what I think needs to be done for us to succeed in Iraq. First, we must dramatically improve our intelligence operations. To be sure, the death of Abu Musab al-Zarqawi is a great accomplishment by our brave military in Iraq. But successes such as this one are too rare because most Iraqi civilians still do not feel secure enough to turn over valuable intelligence to American or Iraqi government officials. We desperately need an intelligence alliance in order to provide troops with the information they need to get the job done in Iraq.

The second thing we must do to succeed in Iraq is step up the training and readiness of the Iraqi Security Forces. Congress continues to fail in its oversight of Iraqi Security Force readiness. Because it is so difficult to get a straight and consistent answer out of the Administration regarding the readiness of Iraqi Security Forces, it is virtually impossible to determine when we will be able to begin bringing American troops home. As of this week, the Administration tells us there are 264,600 "trained and equipped" Iraqi Security Forces. Unfortunately the definition of "trained and equipped" has been elusive or not clear enough to replace American troops with Iraqi or international troops. I believe that for every fully trained Iraqi soldier, one American soldier should come home. Clearly, this isn't happening.

The third thing we must do to succeed in Iraq is to continue our support of the democratically elected Iraqi government. A strong Iraqi government will be able to provide incentives to its people to help quell the violence. This support cannot be merely military support. It must be comprehensive and include the full range of services of a functioning government. Iraq's leaders face a monumental task. Quelling the violence will not be enough to send them on the path to success. Make no mistake about it; their success is closely linked to whether our mission in Iraq will be considered a success.

In closing, I would like to comment on the Whereas clause in this resolution that states that it is "the steadfast resolve of the United States and its partners since September 11, 2001, helped persuade the government of Libya to surrender its weapons of mass destruction." Libya made the right decision to abandon its WMD programs. Our resolve in the Global War on Terror convinced Libya that the cost was too high to continue to pursue WMD. However, before this decision Libya was a primary state sponsor of terror. It now must honor its commitments to the victims of that terror, including the families of the victims of Pan Am 103. In taking responsibility for the bombing of Pan Am 103—an attack which took the lives of 189 Americans—Libya agreed to pay compensation to the families of those who died. While 80 percent of that agreement has been fulfilled, the remaining 20 percent was held back by Libya as long as it remained on the U.S. list of state sponsors of terrorism. They have now been removed from that list, and must now follow through on their agreements.

Libya has renounced its weapons of mass destruction and declared its intention to be a responsible member of the community of nations. It should now make good on the remainder of its promises to the families of victims of its terrorism. With these steps, Libya will be an example of a country that has not only changed its course but has recognized its responsibility for past acts. Until it completes this journey fully and completely, doubts will remain about the nature of this regime. These doubts will be impediments to its progress as a full actor in diplomatic exchanges with the world. The United States will watch Libya's actions as well as its words. This vigilance will ensure that we will prevail in the Global War on Terror.

Mr. Speaker, I will vote no on this resolution. I hope that the next time we have a debate on Iraq, it will be substantive and offer solutions. As a coequal branch of government responsible for the welfare of our courageous men and women in uniform, we should settle for no less.

IN HONOR OF FRANK BARROW,
MAYOR OF DENTON

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, June 22, 2006

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Frank Barrow for his admirable devotion to his family, friends, and his community. Mr. Barrow died at the age of 83; he was a model citizen to the City of Denton. He left in his wake a loving and adoring family.

Frank Barrows lived in Denton, TX, for 71 years. During his life, Frank was a successful businessman, a leader in his church and served his community as the Mayor of Denton. He helped craft the Denton which I know and love today.

One of the richest gifts Mr. Barrows left was the Denton Community Theater. Helping found the theater, and serving the organization for 30 years, Frank brought a rich culture to the neighborhood. His legacy in the theater and commerce will be remembered.

It was my pleasure to serve Frank Barrows. I extend my sympathies to his family and friends. May the example of this man, who enriched the lives of those around him, be inspiration to all who seek their dreams to serve their family and fellow man.

HONORING THE LIFE OF BILLY WALKER

HON. BART GORDON

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, June 22, 2006

Mr. GORDON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Billy Walker, a star on the stage of the Grand Ole Opry. A resident of Hendersonville, TN, Billy, his wife, Bettie, and two of his band members passed away late last month in a tragic car accident.

Before he found fame at the Opry, Billy honed his musical skills in his home state of Texas. Growing up, he drew his greatest inspiration from Gene Autry's music. And in 1947, he launched his own career.

Seven years later, Billy landed his first hit with "Thank You for Calling." Just six years later, he found his greatest success when he joined the Grand Ole Opry, playing alongside his wife. His single "Charlie's Shoes" hit No. 1 on the charts in 1962.

While he found fame in the Volunteer State, his Texas roots were always honored by his nickname, "The Tall Texan."

For more than 40 years, Billy continued performing at the Opry and on countless other stages. "The Tall Texan" lived an inspirational and admirable life. I know he will be deeply missed by his family, his friends and his fans.

DECLARING THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL PREVAIL IN THE
GLOBAL WAR ON TERROR

SPEECH OF

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 15, 2006

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, although the recent death of Zarqawi did not end terrorism in Iraq, it delivered a devastating blow to the al Qaeda network. Since June 4th coalition and Iraqi forces have killed 11 other leaders of the organization.

As progress continues in Iraq, a critical debate continues throughout the halls of Congress. We cannot afford to abandon our mission simply because certain politicians believe that waving a white flag of surrender will magically deliver peace. While a timeline for withdrawal might be politically popular, it is not a strategy for victory.

As Senate Democrats attempt to gain support for their latest proposal of retreat and defeat in Iraq, U.S. troops and Iraqi Security Forces remain committed to fighting terrorists who threaten the lives of American and Iraqi citizens.

Republicans will continue to support policies that enable these brave troops to complete their mission protecting American families.

In conclusion, God bless our troops and we will never forget September 11th.

IN HONOR OF L.A. NELSON,
MAYOR OF DENTON

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 22, 2006

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of L.A. Nelson for his admirable devotion to his family, friends, and his community. Mr. Nelson died at the age of 80; he was a model citizen to the City of Denton. He left in his wake a loving and adoring family.

Mr. Nelson was born in Hugo, OK. He served in the Navy during World War II. After the war, he went to Denton to attend college. Soon, Mr. Nelson became one of the city's leading lawyers and served on the City Council from 1966–1970 before being elected to mayor in 1969.

L.A. Nelson is best remembered for his dedication to the City of Denton. He was president of the Denton Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Flow Memorial Hospital. He was instrumental in the construction of a new City Hall and the creation of Ray Roberts Lake.

It has been my honor to serve Mr. L.A. Nelson. His tenure as the Mayor of Denton impressed me greatly, and today, I extend my sympathies to his family and friends. May the example of this man, who enriched the lives of those around him, be an inspiration to all who seek their dreams to serve their family and fellow man.

IN RECOGNITION OF DR. CHARLES M. CHAMBERS

HON. JOE KNOLLENBERG

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, June 22, 2006

Mr. KNOLLENBERG. Mr. Speaker, I want to recognize the extraordinary and diverse career and accomplishments of Dr. Charles M. Chambers. I extend my congratulations on his recent appointment as chancellor of Lawrence Technological University, and I recognize his dedication to education throughout Michigan and the world.

Dr. Chambers has already left an indelible mark on Lawrence Tech through his thirteen years as President, a trend that will certainly continue under his direction as chancellor of the University. Under his leadership, Lawrence Tech has set a number of records and has achieved national recognition as an institution dedicated to innovative and effective methods of education, often setting the standard to which other universities strive. Among the many accomplishments Lawrence Tech has made under Dr. Chambers' Presidency is its status as Michigan's first wireless laptop campus, contributing to Lawrence Tech's recognition as one of the top fifty unwired campuses in the country.

Throughout his service to Lawrence Tech, Dr. Chambers has demonstrated his dedication to the enhancement and expansion of education through the dramatic transformation of Lawrence Tech's campus, the enormous increase in student scholarships and community outreach, and the expansion of academic programs offered at Lawrence Tech, including its first doctoral programs. Additionally, Dr. Chambers has overseen the creation of learning centers and higher education partnerships worldwide.

Dr. Charles M. Chambers has served Lawrence Technological University and the State of Michigan with honor and pride throughout the duration of his career with the University. I congratulate him on his recent appointment, which is a direct result of his continued dedication to education and to the success of Lawrence Technological University.
