Highlights of just a few of Tim's many accomplishments at the Senate include a 2002 overhaul of the leadership's Intranet, known as the Trunk-Line. This successful redesign and restructuring of the Intranet enhanced the ability of staff members to find key information provided from the Leadership, which helps strengthen communication strategies and overall messaging. In 2004, the TrunkLine was recognized by a prominent Internet usability report as one the top 10 government Intranets in the world. Only 3 of the top 10 Intranets selected were from the United States.

In keeping with the vision of helping offices with their technology strategies, Tim led an initiative involving online database access that allowed all Senate offices to develop their own dynamic Web sites. Many offices are now able to more fully manage their own Web sites and share information as a result of this effort.

One of Tim's primary objectives over the past 2 years has been enhancing the conference's ability to utilize wireless communications. A year ago the Republican Cloakroom began posting key legislative updates to the TrunkLine which then generates notices to wireless devices instantaneously when a legislative bill is hotlined. Prior to this change, notifications were done through a telephone broadcast system.

Another technological communications tool Tim initiated for the conference is videoconferencing, which has allowed Senators to talk to State offices, meet with students in their classrooms, and to participate in conferences and meetings of constituents in real time.

Tim also recognized the value of blogging and has implemented a strategy to reach beyond the usual media to take advantage of reaching a new audience with the Republican message.

Tim's leadership in the area of technology strategy has been invaluable to our conference. I appreciate his enthusiasm and tireless efforts to help move an institution known for holding onto traditions into the 21st century. I wish him the very best in his new service.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO KATHLEEN M. FOLEY BARRETT

• Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the life and service of an inspiring trooper from the Massachusetts State Police, Kathleen M. Foley Barrett. Kathleen dedicated 27 years of her life to protecting the people of Massachusetts, and I join her colleagues and family in paying tribute to a career defined by compassion, professionalism, and a sustained love of police work.

A native of Cambridge, MA, Kathleen was raised and educated in Weymouth. Initially she considered nursing school, but Kathleen's passion for police work started her on a career path that few women were encouraged to follow at the time. Kathleen ultimately earned the chance to join the 62nd Recruit Training Troop in November 1980.

After working on the force for 5 years, Kathleen was promoted to the level of master trainer on the State Police K-9 Unit. She bonded instantly with the specially trained canine teams and rose to such prominence that her expertise was called upon to lead seminars and provide instruction on cadaver work. Beyond the borders of Massachusetts. Kathleen was called upon to help the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the rescue efforts following the September 11th terrorist attacks in New York. Two thousand four brought the unfortunate cancer diagnosis that would ultimately claim her, but even that news could not keep her from coming to the aid of her fellow citizens in the wake of Hurricane Katrina.

Kathleen loved police work, and her colleagues loved her. Over the course of her career she belonged to the State Police Association of Massachusetts, the North American Police Work Dog Association, and the International Association of Police Work Dogs. Her love of animals defined her private life as well as her professional one, and she enjoyed swimming with manatees and feeding bottleneck tigers at Florida's Amazing Exotics Education Center.

As the cancer progressed and the end approached, law enforcement officers from around the Commonwealth and across the country made sure Kathleen knew how much she was valued and respected. State Police Colonel Thomas G. Robbins honored her at her bedside with the Colonel's Award of Excellence, a tribute bestowed on only seven troopers in Massachusetts history. Officers of every stripe bowed their heads upon news of her death on March 23, 2006.

Mr. President, Kathleen's characteristic perseverance stands as an inspiration and challenge to us all. She lived an American life, one of service and struggle, and throughout it all she was guided by an unshakable commitment to her family, her job, and her colleagues. We are thankful for her time with us, we are better for her time here, and I join every Massachusetts State trooper in serving witness to the loss of an exemplary law enforcement officer.

HONORING THE COLORADO UNIVERSITY SKI TEAM

• Mr. ALLARD. Mr. President, I am honored to recognize the University of Colorado—CU—ski team for claiming their 17th national ski championship title at the 53rd Annual NCAA Championship. I am also extremely proud that the CU ski team has been invited to participate in the National Student-Athlete Day activities at the White House on April 6. This is an incredible honor for these young athletes, their coaches, their parents, and the University of Colorado.

The CU ski team overcame insurmountable odds to claim their 17th national ski championship. This year's ski team was the first team in U.S. history to win the national title without a full 12-skier team. This year's team broke and set the largest comeback record in NCAA ski team history-winning the title after being ranked sixth following the first full day of competition. Battling injury, illness, and an underdog status, the CU ski team went on to claim a national victory with a 98-point lead—the fourth largest margin of victory in NCAA ski team history. CU team skiers also claimed four individual titles and eight All-American honors. These team members deserve national recognition for their focus, determination, and spirit.

It is this team's spirit, leadership, and record of achievement that will be honored by President Bush on National Student-Athlete Day, this April 6th. The CU ski team is being honored for their excellence in academics and athletics as well as for their contributions to their community. National Student-Athlete Day also represents an opportunity to recognize the parents, teachers, and coaches who have helped mold and challenge these outstanding student-athletes. This honor is representative of the University of Colorado under the outstanding leadership and commitment of University president Hank Brown, CU athletic director Mike Bohn, and Colorado ski team head coach Richard Rokos. Due to the talent, dedication, and leadership of the CU athletes, coaches, and university leadership, the University of Colorado is back on top of the collegiate skiing world

Congratulations to the University of Colorado, the ski team, the coaches, and the community that has supported this team throughout this winning, landmark season.

On behalf of the State of Colorado, I am proud to honor and commemorate the University of Colorado's ski team and request that my colleagues join me in paying tribute to the University of Colorado and these outstanding young men and women.

LADY BULLDOGS

• Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I rise to honor the women's gymnastics team from Madison Central High School. In February, the Lady Bulldog gymnasts won their 12th straight South Dakota State championship.

The Lady Bulldogs already held the record for consecutive South Dakota Prep Team Titles in any sport with their win last year. The Madison gymnastics program is currently in second place nationally for most consecutive victories and is now just one win shy of the national record. The Lady Bulldogs is the only team in the top 10 nationally that have an active winning streak.

I would like to take this opportunity to recognize the hard work and dedication of so many in the Madison Central Coach Maridee Dossett: Athletic Director Bud Postma: Principal Sharon Knowlton; and Superintendent Dr. Frank Palleria. The efforts put forth by these individuals have made it possible for the students to participate and perform at the highest level. I would also like to commend the gymnasts' parents for all the support and time they have put into the program.

Most of all I would like to congratulate the women who won this years State Championship and the women who have been a part of this impressive program. You have created an atmosphere that is conducive to success and made the most of your opportunity. Again, congratulations and the best of luck as you look toward next season.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT CLEVERLY

• Mr. BURNS. Mr. President, I rise today to honor and recognize a man who has dedicated his life to education, Mr. Robert Cleverly. Bob was responsible for establishing the Close-up Foundation program at Ennis High School and has been involved in the program for over 20 years. During those years he has also been instrumental in establishing the Close-up program in numerous Montana schools. Bob was chosen by the Close-up Foundation in 1996 and 1997 and awarded the Linda Myers Chozen Award for Teaching Excellence in Civic Education. This award honors teachers and administrators who have demonstrated outstanding leadership, innovation, and commitment to the foundation's citizenship mission. In addition to his Close-up advocacy, Bob was a history teacher at Ennis High School for 38 years and is credited with organizing the first aid and CPR program. Bob was active in the school's extra curricular activities as a very successful football coach, taking several teams to statewide level competition and winning two State championships. As a result of his coaching abilities and team organization skills, Bob was inducted into the Montana Coaches Hall of Fame.

Education is crucial to the future of America, and it is teachers like Bob who make education their priority, devoting their life to the future of our youth. Bob has been taking students to Washington, DC, for over 20 years with the Close-up program, giving students of Montana a firsthand view on how our Federal Government works, while experiencing the history our Nation's Capital has to offer. At great loss to Montana's high school students, this will be Bob's last year in the Close-up program, but thanks to his hard work, many Montana students for years to come will be able to explore our Nation's Capital through the Close-up program. I personally thank Bob and acknowledge his dedication, for he has gone above and beyond his civic duty.

We are proud as well as fortunate to have educators like Bob Cleverly in Montana, who are willing to dedicate children for the future.

TRIBUTE TO JAMES C. BARBIERI

• Mr. LUGAR. Mr. President, today I mark the passing of a great Hoosier newspaperman and civic leader, James C. Barbieri.

My condolences go out to his wife Barbara, his son Chuck, his daughter Cindi, and his four grandchildren and one great grandchild. They shared this remarkable man with the wonderful community of Bluffton, IN, which also mourns his passing.

Beginning in 1950, Jim Barbieri worked almost every job conceivable at the Bluffton, IN, News-Banner. He was a reporter, advertising salesman, and circulation director. He became general manager of the venerable Wells County publication in 1975 and then coowner, president, and publisher in 1986.

It was not unusual that on any given day he might write every page-1 story, the editorial, and if someone called in sick, he would pick up a delivery route, too. He was always available because he only missed 1 day of work over a 50year stretch.

Born and raised in Park Ridge, IL, he attended DePauw University in Indiana where he was editor of the student newspaper. After serving his country in the Army during the Korean War, Jim worked briefly at The Chicago American before coming to Bluffton.

In 2005, the Hoosier State Press Association awarded Jim the Charlie Biggs Commitment to Community Award.

Jim Barbieri had that venerable smalltown newspaperman ready opinion on virtually everything that passes us by in life. Whether it was roads, parks, or the time Indiana should set its clocks in the summer, Jim used his unique forum to editorialize. I knew he was always looking over my shoulder providing ready comment on anything I did in the State, national, or international arena.

On visits to Bluffton, Jim Barbieri would cover the community event I was attending and then, in an extensive interview, explore my thoughts on the issues of the day. He would then exhaustively report all of it in the newspaper astutely and accurately.

He did not cease to impress all with his indefatigability. At the celebration of his 50 years with The News-Banner, Jim wrote this poem:

So that the way I work may be out of date, But don't try to bend me and make me go straight.

Let me go on in my very old fashion

Covering the news with an old time passion. The style in which my career has been blest, To you may be faulty, but I (gave) it my

When God takes me home at the end of my

He'll not straighten me out and pop all my gears.

He'll say "you, reporter, for the sins that you bring,

We'll take you like you are with a bent angelic wing."

their lives to educate and prepare our And we all know that Heaven could not run well

> Without a journalist to give them all hell. So in the celestial press room we bid you to trod,

But don't ever misquote Peter or misspell God.●

RETIREMENT OF ANTHONY FELICIA, JR.

• Mr. CARPER. Mr. President. I rise today in recognition of Anthony Felicia, Jr., upon his retirement as vice president of R&D and clinical administration for AstraZeneca. Tony's dedication and ability have won him the respect of friends and coworkers alike. along with the gratitude of many in the first State. He has been, and remains, a trusted friend of Delaware.

A native of Syracuse, NY, Tony was born on August 26, 1950, to Anthony and Maryann Felicia. He received his bachelor's degree from the State University of New York and completed his master's degree at Syracuse University.

Tony has been with AstraZeneca and the former Zeneca Pharmaceuticals and ICI for 28 years and has worked in operations, quality assurance, supply chain management, facilities and engineering, production operations, and international planning. Prior to Tony's employment with ICI in 1978, he worked for Bristol Laboratories in Syracuse, NY, from 1973 to 1977, where he held various quality assurance and production positions.

Throughout his career, Tony has provided strong leadership and served as a role model to many. One of the numerous highlights of his outstanding career was the pivotal role he played in helping to bring AstraZeneca's U.S. headquarters to Delaware during my time as Governor. I will always remember how Tony's main concern was making sure that the move was the right decision for his fellow employees and their families, as well as for shareholders. His hard work and down-toearth personality made him a pleasure to work with during this critically important time. Both AstraZeneca and the first State are better off because of his efforts.

While his professional accomplishments are worthy of our admiration, it is within his personal life that Tony truly stands as an example to us all. Tony has volunteered a great deal of his time to support a number of nonprofit and business organizations within the Delaware community, including Easter Seals, Delaware Technology Park, and the American Heart Association. Tony is currently in his sixth year of service as the president of the board of trustees for the Delaware Museum of Natural History. He also served on the Newark City Council from 1992 to 1998.

His leisure interests include playing golf, helping his children, and enjoying the beauty of Delaware at his beach house in Bethany. Now that he has more free time, Tony plans to spend