to develop a national foreign language strategy.

Some of our proposals have become law. Others were passed by the Senate, but the House refused to consider them. The Intelligence Reform Act of 2004 established two things promoted in our legislation. First, a rotation program to help mid-level Federal employees in the intelligence community improve their skills; and second, a scholarship program for individuals who possess critical skills, especially those in science, math, and foreign language, in exchange for service with the Federal Government.

Still, America should rightly ask: why has it been so hard to make even these modest improvements? Especially when there have been numerous national studies and commissions that conclude we need to do better at educating Americans.

In 2001, the Hart-Rudman Commission said that America needs a workforce skilled in science, math, computer science, and engineering. They said that the failure to foster these skills was jeopardizing America's position as a global leader. The commission also found that the maintenance of American power in the world depends upon the quality of U.S. Government personnel. It requires employees with more expertise in more countries, regions, and issues. This includes a commitment to language education.

Legislation that I introduced along with my colleagues, some of which dates back to 2001, contains vital components that should be considered as we debate the President's proposed education initiatives.

Some of these programs include: Funding the Federal Government's student loan repayment program for positions critical to national security and for staff with science and foreign language skills; providing financial incentives, including subsidized loans, for students earning degrees in science, mathematics, engineering, or a foreign language; establishing grant programs for local educational agencies that engage in public-private partnerships to improve science and math education; awarding fellowships to students who agree to work for the Federal Government and to Federal workers who wish to develop skills in critical national security fields; encouraging early foreign language study in our elementary and secondary schools by establishing foreign language partnerships for teacher training; promoting innovative foreign language programs through grants to higher education institutions; and establishing a National Foreign Language Coordination Council and language director to develop and oversee the implementation of a national language strategy that reflects input from all sectors of society.

The intent of these programs is to support a revitalized, re-energized educational system in these critical areas from elementary through graduate school and improve the skills of our current labor force.

Some of the programs would enhance certain skills of our Nation's teachers at all levels while providing them with the tools they need to sustain the development of our Nation's youth.

For example, one program would develop foreign language partnerships between local schools and higher education foreign language departments to enhance teacher training and develop appropriate foreign language curricula.

If we want to ensure America's future competitiveness in global markets, we need to engage America's industry in assisting our youth to develop the skills industry needs to compete.

Another program proposed in our legislation establishes public-private partnerships to encourage the donation of scientific laboratory equipment, provide internship and mentoring opportunities, and to award scholarship funds for students in critical areas.

To survive in a diverse world, Americans need to harness their natural diversity and expand linkages to their larger community. Education must be seen as a community effort.

We must think more broadly when it comes to foreign languages. The program that Senator Durbin and I envisioned includes immersion programs where students take a science or technology related class in a non-English speaking country, or a cultural awareness program in which foreign language students study the science and technology issues of that country. It is important to understand what other countries are doing in science and technology before foreign innovations surpass our own.

I am glad that President Bush has recognized that action must be taken to improve education in these critical areas by calling for increasing the ranks of advanced placement and international baccalaureate teachers and expanding access to AP and IB classes. I also thank him for finally taking steps to strengthen foreign language education in the U.S. with the National Security Language Initiative.

However, real commitments need to be made.

If we do not see education as a continual process for both the student and the teacher, a process designed to engage younger and older generations alike, then we will have created a product of only limited duration—a bandaid for our intellectual security.

We need to think beyond high school and college level work. We need to engage all levels of schooling and, beyond that, we need to enhance our current workforce. We cannot afford to neglect today's workforce if we want to be successful building our future.

I yield the remainder of my time. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I understand there is 12 minutes remaining on our side in morning business and then we will go to the bill itself.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is correct.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I yield 12 minutes, and then I ask for recognition because I intend to speak on the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Morning business is closed.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

- (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:
- (1) Millions of Americans have been exposed to forms of asbestos that can have devastating health effects.
- (2) Various injuries can be caused by exposure to some forms of asbestos, including pleural disease and some forms of cancer.

- (3) The injuries caused by asbestos can have latency periods of up to 40 years, and even limited exposure to some forms of asbestos may result in injury in some cases.
- (4) Asbestos litigation has had a significant detrimental effect on the country's economy, driving companies into bankruptcy, diverting resources from those who are truly sick, and endangering jobs and pensions.
- (5) The scope of the asbestos litigation crisis cuts across every State and virtually every industry.
- (6) The United States Supreme Court has recognized that Congress must act to create a more rational asbestos claims system. In 1991, a Judicial Conference Ad Hoc Committee on Asbestos Litigation, appointed by Chief Justice William Rehnquist, found that the "ultimate solution should be legislation recognizing the national proportions of the problem . . . and creating a national asbestos dispute resolution scheme . . . Court found in 1997 in Amchem Products Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 595 (1997), that "[t]he argument is sensibly made that a nationwide administrative claims processing regime would provide the most secure, fair, and efficient means of compensating victims of asbestos exposure." In 1999, the Court in Ortiz v. Fibreboard Corp., 527 U.S. 819, 821 (1999), found that the "elephantine mass of asbestos cases . . . defies customary judicial administration and calls for national legislation." That finding was again recognized in 2003 by the Court in Norfolk & Western Railway Co. v. Ayers, 123 S. Ct. 1210 (2003).
- (7) This crisis, and its significant effect on the health and welfare of the people of the United States, on interstate and foreign commerce, and on the bankruptcy system, compels Congress to exercise its power to regulate interstate commerce and create this legislative solution in the form of a national asbestos injury claims resolution program to supersede all existing methods to compensate those injured by asbestos, except as specified in this Act.
- (8) This crisis has also imposed a deleterious burden upon the United States bankruptcy courts, which have assumed a heavy burden of administering complicated and protracted bankruptcies with limited personnel.
- (9) This crisis has devastated many communities across the country, but hardest hit has been Libby, Montana, where tremolite asbestos, 1 of the most deadly forms of asbestos, was contained in the vermiculite ore mined from the area and despite ongoing cleanup by the Environmental Protection Agency, many still suffer from the deadly dust.
- (10) The asbestos found in Libby, Montana, tremolite asbestos, has demonstrated an unusually high level of toxicity, as compared to chrysotile asbestos. Diseases contracted from this tremolite asbestos are unique and highly progressive. These diseases typically manifest in a characteristic pleural disease pattern, and often result in severe impairment or death without radiographic interstitial disease or typical chrysotile markers of radiographic severity. According to the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry previous studies by the National Institutes of Occupational Safety and Health document significantly increased rates of pulmonary abnormalities and disease (asbestosis and lung cancer) among former workers.
- (11) In Libby, Montana, exposure pathways are and were not limited to the workplace, rather, for decades there has been an unprecedented 24 hour per day contamination of the community's homes, playgrounds, gardens, and community air, such that the entire community of Libby, Montana, has been designated a Superfund site and is listed on the Environmental Protection Agency's National Priorities List.

- (12) These multiple exposure pathways have caused severe asbestos disease and death not only in former workers at the mine and milling facilities, but also in the workers' spouses and children, and in community members who had no direct contact with the mine. According to the Environmental Protection Agency, some potentially important alternative pathways for past asbestos exposure include elevated concentrations of asbestos in ambient air and recreational exposures from children playing in piles of vermiculite. Furthermore, the Environmental Protection Agency has determined that current potential pathways of exposure include vermiculite placed in walls and attics as thermal insulation, vermiculite or ore used as road bed material, ore used as ornamental landscaping, and vermiculite or concentrated ore used as a soil and garden amendment or aggregate in driveways.
- (13) The Environmental Protection Agency also concluded, "Asbestos contamination exists in a number of potential source materials at multiple locations in and around the residential and commercial area of Libby... While data are not yet sufficient to perform reliable humanhealth risk evaluations for all sources and all types of disturbance, it is apparent that releases of fiber concentrations higher than Occupational Safety and Health Administration standards may occur in some cases ... and that screening-level estimates of lifetime excess cancer risk can exceed the upper-bound risk range of 1E-04 usually used by the Environmental Protection Agency for residents under a variety of exposure scenarios. The occurrence of non-occupational asbestos-related disease that has been observed among Libby residents is extremely unusual, and has not been associated with asbestos mines elsewhere, suggesting either very high and prolonged environmental exposures and/or increased toxicity of this form of amphibole asbestos.".
- (14) According to a November 2003 article from the Journal Environmental Health Perspectives titled, Radiographic Abnormalities and Exposure to Asbestos-Contaminated Vermiculite in the Community of Libby, Montana, USA, Libby residents who have evidence of "no apparent exposure", i.e., did not work with asbestos, were not a family member of a former worker, etc., had a greater rate of pleural abnormalities (6.7 percent) than did those in control groups or general populations found in other studies from other states (which ranged from 0.2 percent to 4.6 percent). "Given the ubiquitous nature of vermiculite contamination in Libby, along with historical evidence of elevated asbestos concentrations in the air, it would be difficult to find participants who could be characterized as unexposed."
- (b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to—
- (1) create a privately funded, publicly administered fund to provide the necessary resources for a fair and efficient system to resolve asbestos injury claims that will provide compensation for legitimate present and future claimants of asbestos exposure as provided in this Act;
- (2) provide compensation to those present and future victims based on the severity of their injuries, while establishing a system flexible enough to accommodate individuals whose conditions worsens;
- (3) relieve the Federal and State courts of the burden of the asbestos litigation; and
- (4) increase economic stability by resolving the asbestos litigation crisis that has bankrupted companies with asbestos liability, diverted resources from the truly sick, and endangered jobs and pensions.

 - (4) EFFECT OF MULTIPLE INJURIES.-
- (A) IN GENERAL.—A claimant who receives an award for an eligible disease or condition shall not be precluded from submitting claims for and receiving additional awards under this title for any higher disease level for which the claimant becomes eligible, subject to appropriate setoffs as provided under section 134.
 - (B) LIBBY, MONTANA CLAIMS.-
- (i) In General.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), if a Libby, Montana claimant worsens in condition, as measured by pulmonary function tests, such that a claimant qualifies for a higher nonmalignant level, the claimant shall be eligible for an additional award, at the appropriate level, offset by any award previously paid under this Act, such that a claimant would qualify for Level IV if the claimant satisfies section 121(f)(8), and would qualify for Level V if the claimant provides-
- (I) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos related nonmalignant disease,
- (II) evidence of TLC or FVC less than 60 percent: and
- (III) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a substantial contributing factor in causing the pulmonary condition in question, and excluding more likely causes of that pulmonary condition.
- (ii) Subsequent malignant disease.—If a Libby, Montana, claimant develops malianant disease, such that the claimant qualifies for Level VI, VII, VIII, or IX, subparagraph (A) shall applu
 - (b) STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS.-
- (1) IN GENERAL.—[Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, if an individual fails to file a claim with the Office under this section within 5 years after the date on which the individual first-

 - (3) Claims for additional awards.—
- (A) NON-MALIGNANT DISEASES.—If a claimant has previously filed a timely initial claim for compensation for any non-malignant disease level, there shall be no limitations period applicable to the filing of claims by the claimant for additional awards for higher disease levels based on the progression of the non-malignant

- MALIGNANT DISEASES.—Regardless whether the claimant has previously filed a claim for compensation for any other disease level, a claim for compensation for a malignant disease level shall be filed within 5 years after the claimant first obtained a medical diagnosis and medical test results sufficient to satisfy the criteria for the malianant disease level for which the claimant is seeking compensation.

- (A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall prescribe rules identifying specific industries, occupations within such industries, and time periods in which workers employed in those industries or occupations typically had substantial occupational exposure to asbestos as defined under section 121(a). Until 5 years after the Administrator certifies that the Fund is paying claims at a reasonable rate, the industries, occupations and time periods identified by the Administrator shall at a minimum include those identified in the 2002 Trust Distribution Process of the Manville Personal Injury Settlement Trust as of January 1, 2005, as industries, occupations and time periods in which workers were presumed to have had significant occupational exposure to asbestos. Thereafter, the Administrator may by rule modify or eliminate those exposure presumptions required to be adopted from the Manville Personal Injury Settlement Trust, if there is evidence that demonstrates that the typical exposure for workers in such industries and occupations during such time periods did not constitute substantial occupational exposure in asbestos.
- (B) CLAIMANTS ENTITLED TO PRESUMP-TIONS.—Any claimant who demonstrates through meaningful and credible evidence that such claimant was employed during relevant time periods in industries or occupations identified under subparagraph (A) shall be entitled to a presumption that the claimant had substantial occupational exposure to asbestos during those time periods. That presumption shall not be conclusive, and the Administrator may find that the claimant does not have substantial occupational exposure if other information demonstrates that the claimant did not in fact have substantial occupational exposure during any part of the relevant time periods.
- (C) CRITERIA REQUIREMENTS.—Nothing in subparagraphs (A) or (B) shall negate the exposure or medical criteria requirements in section 121, for the purpose of receiving compensation from the Fund.

- (B) Physicians panel.—A claimant filing a claim relating to Level VII under this paragraph may request that the claim be referred to a Physicians Panel for a determination of whether the claimant qualifies for the disease category and relevant smoking status. In making its determination under this subparagraph, the Physicians Panel shall consider the intensity and duration of exposure, smoking history, and the quality of evidence relating to exposure and smoking. Claimants shall bear the burden of producing meaningful and credible evidence of their smoking history as part of their claim submission.

If asbestos is not a substantial contributing factor to the particular cancerous disease under subsection (d)(6) subsection (d)(6)shall not apply with respect to that disease and no claim may be filed with, or award paid from. the Fund with respect to that disease under malianant Level VI.
- (f) INSTITUTE OF MEDICINE STUDY ON CT
- (1) In GENERAL.—Not later than April 1, 2006, the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences shall complete a study contracted with the National Institutes of Health of the use of CT scans as a diagnostic tool for bilateral pleural plaques, bilateral pleural thickening, or bilateral pleural calcification.

(2) FINDINGS.—The Institute of Medicine shall make and issue findings based on the study required under paragraph (1) on whether—

(A) CT scans are generally accepted in the medical profession to detect bilateral pleural plaques, bilateral pleural thickening, or bilateral pleural calcification; and

(B) professional standards of practice exist to allow for the Administrator's reasonable reliance on such as evidence of bilateral pleural plaques, bilateral pleural thickening, or bilateral pleural calcification under the Fund.

- (3) REPORT.—The Institute of Medicine shall issue a report on the findings required under paragraph (2), which shall be transmitted to Congress, the Administrator, the Advisory Committee on Asbestos Disease Compensation or the Medical Advisory Committee, and the Physicians Panels.

 - (4) REVIEW.-
- (A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall refer all applications and supporting documentation submitted under paragraph (2) to a Physicians Panel for review for eligibility as an exceptional medical claim.
- (B) STANDARD.—A claim shall be designated as an exceptional medical claim if the claimant, for reasons beyond the control of the claimant, cannot satisfy the requirements under this section, but is able, through comparably reliable evidence that meets the standards under this section, to show that the claimant has an asbestos-related condition that is substantially comparable to that of a medical condition that would satisfy the requirements of a category under this section.
- (C) ADDITIONAL INFORMATION.—A Physicians Panel may request additional reasonable testing to support the claimant's application.
- (D) CT SCAN.—A claimant may submit a CT Scan in addition to an x-ray.
 - (5) APPROVAL.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—If the Physicians Panel determines that the medical evidence is sufficient to show a comparable asbestos-related condition, it shall issue a certificate of medical eligibility designating the category of asbestos-related injury under this section for which the claimant shall be eligible to seek compensation.
- (B) REFERRAL.—Upon the issuance of a certificate under subparagraph (A), the Physicians Panel shall submit the claim to the Administrator, who shall give due consideration to the recommendation of the Physicians Panel in determining whether the claimant meets the requirements for compensation under this Act.

In reviewing the medical evidence submitted by a Libby, Montana claimant in support of that claim, the Physicians Panel shall take into consideration the unique and serious nature of asbestos exposure in Libby, Montana, including the nature of the pleural disease related to asbestos exposure in Libby, Montana.

- (B) CLAIMS.—For all claims for Levels II through IV filed by Libby, Montana claimants, as described under subsection (c)(4), once the Administrator or the Physicians Panel issues a certificate of medical eligibility to a Libby, Montana claimant, and notwithstanding the disease category designated in the certificate or the eligible disease or condition established in accordance with this section, or the value of the award determined in accordance with section 114. the Libby, Montana claimant shall be entitled to an award that is not less than that awarded to claimants who suffer from asbestosis, Level IV. For all malignant claims filed by Libby, Montana claimants, the Libby, Montana claimant shall be entitled to an award that corresponds to the malignant disease category designated by the Administrator or the Physicians Panel.
- (C) EVALUATION OF CLAIMS.—For purposes of evaluating exceptional medical claims from Libby, Montana, a claimant shall be deemed to have a comparable asbestos-related condition to an asbestos disease category Level IV, and shall be deemed to qualify for compensation at Level IV, if the claimant provides—

(i) a diagnosis of bilateral asbestos related nonmalianant disease:

(ii) evidence of TLC or FVC less than 80 percent: and

(iii) supporting medical documentation establishing asbestos exposure as a substantial contributing factor in causing the pulmonary condition in question, and excluding more likely causes of that pulmonary condition.

(9) STUDY OF VERMICULITE PROCESSING FACILITIES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—As part of the ongoing National Asbestos Exposure Review (in this section referred to as "NAER") being conducted by the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (in this section referred to as "ATSDR") of facilities that received vermiculite ore from Libby, Montana, the ATSDR shall conduct a study of all Phase 1 sites where—

(i) the Environmental Protection Agency has mandated further action at the site on the basis of current contamination; or

(ii) the site was an exfoliation facility that processed roughly 100,000 tons or more of vermiculite from the Libby mine.

(B) STUDY BY ATSDR.—The study by the ATSDR shall evaluate the facilities identified under subparagraph (A) and compare—

(i) the levels of asbestos emissions from such facilities;

(ii) the resulting asbestos contamination in areas surrounding such facilities;

(iii) the levels of exposure to residents living in the vicinity of such facilities;

(iv) the risks of asbestos-related disease to the residents living in the vicinity of such facilities; and

(v) the risk of asbestos-related mortality to residents living in the vicinity of such facilities, to the emissions, contamination, exposures, and risks resulting from the mining of vermiculite ore in Libby, Montana.

(C) RESULTS OF STUDY.—The results of the study required under this paragraph shall be transmitted to the Administrator. If the ATSDR finds as a result of such study that, for any particular facility, the levels of emissions from, the resulting contamination caused by, the levels of exposure to nearby residents from, and the risks of asbestos-related disease and asbestos-related mortality to nearby residents from such facility are substantially equivalent to those of Libby, Montana, then the Administrator shall treat claims from residents surrounding such facilities the same as claims of residents of Libby, Montana, and such residents shall have all the rights of residents of Libby, Montana, under this Act. As part of the results of its study, the ATSDR shall prescribe for any such facility the relevant geographic and temporal criteria under which the exposures and risks to the surrounding residents are substantially equivalent to those of residents of Libby, Montana, and therefore qualify for treatment under this paragraph.

(10) NATURALLY OCCURRING ASBESTOS.—A claimant who has been exposed to naturally occurring asbestos may file an exceptional medical claim with the Fund.

- (B) 30 percent of the total amount in year 2; and
- (C) 30 percent of the total amount in year 3.
 - (3) EXTENSION OF PAYMENT PERIOD.
- (A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall develop guidelines to provide for the payment period of an award under subsection (a) to be extended to a 4-year period if such action is warranted in order to preserve the overall solvency of the Fund. Such guidelines shall include reference to the number of claims made to the Fund and the awards made and scheduled to be paid from the Fund as provided under section 405.

 - (4) [ACCELERATED] LUMP-SUM payments.-
- (A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall develop guidelines to provide for [accelerated payments] 1 lump-sum payment to asbestos claimants who are mesothelioma victims and who are alive on the date on which the Administrator receives notice of the eligibility of the claimant. [Such payments shall be credited against the first regular payment under the structured payment plan for the claimant.

- extended to the shorter of—
 (i) not later than 6 months after the date the claim is approved by the Administrator; or
- (ii) not later than 11 months after the date the claim is filed.

- (2) The amount received by the Fund from defendant participants, excluding amounts rebated to defendant participants under [subsection (d)] subsections (d) and (m), equals the maximum aggregate payment obligation of section 202(a)(2).
- (b) SMALL BUSINESS EXEMPTION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subtitle. a person or affiliated group that is a small business concern (as defined under section 3 of the Small Business Act (15 U.S.C. 632)), on December 31, 2002, is exempt from any payment requirement under this subtitle and shall not be included in the subtier allocations under section 203.
- (c) PROCEDURES.—The Administrator shall prescribe procedures on how amounts payable under this subtitle are to be paid, including, to the extent the Administrator determines appropriate, procedures relating to payment in installments.
 - (d) Adjustments.
- (1) IN GENERAL.—Under expedited procedures established by the Administrator, a defendant participant may seek adjustment of the amount of its payment obligation based on severe financial hardship or demonstrated inequity. The Administrator may determine whether to grant an adjustment and the size of any such adjustment, in accordance with this subsection. A defendant participant has a right to obtain a rehearing of the Administrator's determination under this subsection under the procedures prescribed in subsection (i)(10). The Administrator may adjust a defendant participant's payment obligations under this subsection, either by forgiving the relevant portion of the otherwise applicable payment obligation or by providing relevant rebates from the defendant hardship and inequity adjustment account created under subsection (j) after payment of the otherwise applicable payment obligation, at the discretion of the Administrator.
 - (2) Financial Hardship adjustments.
- (A) IN GENERAL.—A defendant participant may apply for an adjustment based on financial hardship at any time during the period in which a payment obligation to the Fund remains outstanding and may qualify for such adjustment by demonstrating that the amount of its payment obligation under the statutory allocation would constitute a severe financial hardship.
- (B) TERM.—Subject to the annual availability of funds in the defendant hardship and inequity adjustment account established under subsection (j), a financial hardship adjustment under this subsection shall have a term of 3 years.
- (C) RENEWAL.—After an initial hardship adjustment is granted under this paragraph, a defendant participant may renew its hardship adjustment by demonstrating that it remains justified.

- (D) REINSTATEMENT.—Following the expiration of the hardship adjustment period provided for under this section and during the funding period prescribed under subsection (a), the Administrator shall annually determine whether there has been a material change in the financial condition of the defendant participant such that the Administrator may, consistent with the policies and legislative intent underlying this Act, reinstate under terms and conditions established by the Administrator any part or all of the defendant participant's payment obligation under the statutory allocation that was not paid during the hardship adjustment term.
 - (3) Inequity adjustments.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—A defendant participant—
 (i) may qualify for an adjustment based on inequity by demonstrating that the amount of its payment obligation under the statutory allocation is exceptionally inequitable—
- (I) when measured against the amount of the likely cost to the defendant participant net of insurance of its future liability in the tort system in the absence of the Fund:
- (II) when compared to the median payment rate for all defendant participants in the same tier; or
- (III) when measured against the percentage of the prior asbestos expenditures of the defendant that were incurred with respect to claims that neither resulted in an adverse judgment against the defendant, nor were the subject of a settlement that required a payment to a plaintiff by or on behalf of that defendant:
- (ii) shall qualify for a two-tier main tier and a two-tier subtier adjustment reducing the defendant participant's payment obligation based on inequity by demonstrating that not less than 95 percent of such person's prior asbestos expenditures arose from claims related to the manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products. so long as such person's manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products is temporally and causally remote, and for purposes of this clause, a person's manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products shall be deemed to be temporally and causally remote if the asbestos claims historically and generally filed against such person relate to the manufacture and sale of railroad locomotives and related products by an entity dissolved more than 25 years before the date of enactment of this Act: and
- (iii) shall be granted a two-tier adjustment reducing the defendant participant's payment obligation based on inequity by demonstrating that not less than 95 percent of such participant's prior asbestos expenditures arose from asbestos claims based on successor liability arising from a merger to which the participant or its predecessor was a party that occurred at least 30 years before the date of enactment of this Act, and that such prior asbestos expenditures exceed the inflation-adjusted value of the assets of the company from which such liability was derived in such merger, and upon such demonstration the Administrator shall grant such adjustment for the life of the Fund and amounts paid by such defendant participant prior to such adjustment in excess of its adjusted payment obligation under this clause shall be credited against next succeeding required payment obligations.
- (B) PAYMENT RATE.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the payment rate of a defendant participant is the payment amount of the defendant participant as a percentage of such defendant participant's gross revenues for the year ending December 31, 2002.
- (C) TERM.—Subject to the annual availability of funds in the defendant hardship and inequity adjustment account established

- under subsection (j), an inequity adjustment under this subsection shall have a term of 3 years.
- (D) RENEWAL.—A defendant participant may renew an inequity adjustment every 3 years by demonstrating that the adjustment remains justified.
 - (E) REINSTATEMENT.—
- (i) IN GENERAL.—Following the termination of an inequity adjustment under subparagraph (A), and during the funding period prescribed under subsection (a), the Administrator shall annually determine whether there has been a material change in conditions which would support a finding that the amount of the defendant participant's payment under the statutory allocation was not inequitable. Based on this determination, the Administrator may, consistent with the policies and legislative intent underlying this Act, reinstate any or all of the payment obligations of the defendant participant as if the inequity adjustment had not been granted for that 3-year period.
- (ii) TERMS AND CONDITIONS.—In the event of a reinstatement under clause (i), the Administrator may require the defendant participant to pay any part or all of amounts not paid due to the inequity adjustment on such terms and conditions as established by the Administrator.
- (4) LIMITATION ON ADJUSTMENTS.—The aggregate total of financial hardship adjustments under paragraph (2) and inequity adjustments under paragraph (3) in effect in any given year shall not exceed $300,000,000, except to the extent that—
- (A) additional monies are available for such adjustments as a result of carryover of prior years' funds under subsection (j)(3) or as a result of monies being made available in that year under subsection (k)(1)(A)[.]; or
- (B) the Administrator determines that the $300,000,000 is insufficient and additional adjustments as provided under paragraph (5) are needed to address situations in which a defendant participant would otherwise be rendered insolvent by its payment obligations without such adjustment.
- (5) Bankruptcy relief.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—Any defendant participant may apply for an adjustment under this paragraph at any time during the period in which a payment obligation to the Fund remains outstanding and may qualify for such adjustment by demonstrating, to a reasonable degree of certainty, evidence that the amount of its payment obligation would render the defendant participant insolvent, as defined under section 101 of title 11, United States Code, and unable to pay its debts as they become due.
- (B) INFORMATION REQUIRED.—Any defendant participant seeking an adjustment or renewal of an adjustment under this paragraph shall provide the Administrator with the information required under section 521(1) of title 11 of the United States Code
- (C) LIMITATION.—Any adjustment granted by the Administrator under subparagraph (A) shall be limited to the extent reasonably necessary to prevent insolvency of a defendant participant.
- (D) TERM.—To the extent the Administrator grants any relief under this paragraph, such adjustments shall have a term of 1 year. An adjustment may be renewed or modified on an annual basis upon the defendant participant demonstrating that the adjustment or modification remains justified under this paragraph.
- (E) REINSTATEMENT.—During the funding period prescribed under subparagraph (A), the Administrator shall annually determine whether there has been a material change in the financial condition of any defendant participant granted an adjustment under this paragraph such that the Administrator may, consistent with the policies and legislative intent underlying this Act, reinstate under terms and conditions established by the Administrator any part - or all of the defendant participant's payment obligation under the statutory allocation that was not paid during the adjustment term.

 - (5) ADVISORY PANELS.—
- (A) APPOINTMENT.—The Administrator shall appoint a Financial Hardship Adjustment Panel and an Inequity Adjustment Panel to advise the Administrator in carrying out this subsection.
- (B) MEMBERSHIP.—The membership of the panels appointed under subparagraph (A) may overlap.
- (C) COORDINATION.—The panels appointed under subparagraph (A) shall coordinate their deliberations and advice.
- (e) LIMITATION ON LIABILITY.—The liability of each defendant participant to pay to the Fund shall be limited to the payment obligations under this Act, and, except as provided in subsection (f) and section 203(b)(2)(D), no defendant participant shall have any liability for the payment obligations of any other defendant participant.
- (f) CONSOLIDATION OF PAYMENTS.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of determining the payment levels of defendant participants, any affiliated group including 1 or more defendant participants may irrevocably elect, as part of the submissions to be made under paragraphs (1) and (3) of subsection (i), to report on a consolidated basis all of the information necessary to determine the payment level under this subtitle and pay to the Fund on a consolidated basis.
- (2) ELECTION.—If an affiliated group elects consolidation as provided in this subsection—
- (A) for purposes of this Act other than this subsection, the affiliated group shall be treated as if it were a single participant, including with respect to the assessment of a single annual payment under this subtitle for the entire affiliated group;
- (B) the ultimate parent of the affiliated group shall prepare and submit each submission to be made under subsection (i) on behalf of the entire affiliated group and shall be solely liable, as between the Administrator and the affiliated group only, for the payment of the annual amount due from the affiliated group under this subtitle, except that, if the ultimate parent does not pay when due any payment obligation for the affiliated group, the Administrator shall have the right to seek payment of all or any portion of the entire amount due (as well as any other amount for which the affiliated group may be liable under sections 223 and 224) from any member of the affiliated group;
- (C) all members of the affiliated group shall be identified in the submission under subsection (i) and shall certify compliance with this subsection and the Administrator's regulations implementing this subsection; and

- (g) DETERMINATION OF PRIOR ASBESTOS EXPENDITURES.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of determining a defendant participant's prior asbestos expenditures, the Administrator shall prescribe such rules as may be necessary or appropriate to assure that payments by indemnitors before December 31, 2002, shall be counted as part of the indemnitor's prior asbestos expenditures, rather than the indemnitee's prior asbestos expenditures, in accordance with this subsection.

- (2) INDEMNIFIABLE COSTS.—If an indemnitor has paid or reimbursed to an indemnitee any indemnifiable cost or otherwise made a payment on behalf of or for the benefit of an indemnitee to a third party for an indemnifiable cost before December 31, 2002, the amount of such indemnifiable cost shall be solely for the account of the indemnitor for purposes under this Act.
- (3) Insurance payments.—When computing the prior asbestos expenditures with respect to an asbestos claim, any amount paid or reimbursed by insurance shall be solely for the account of the indemnitor, even if the indemnitor would have no direct right to the benefit of the insurance. if—
- (A) such insurance has been paid or reimbursed to the indemnitor or the indemnitee, or paid on behalf of or for the benefit of the indemnitee: and
- (B) the indemnitor has either, with respect to such asbestos claim or any similar asbestos claim, paid or reimbursed to its indemnitee any indemnifiable cost or paid to any third party on behalf of or for the benefit of the indemnitee any indemnifiable cost.
- (4) Treatment of certain expenditures.— Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act. where—
- (A) an indemnitor entered into a stock purchase agreement in 1988 that involved the sale of the stock of businesses that produced friction and other products; and
- (B) the stock purchase agreement provided that the indemnitor indemnified the indemnitee and its affiliates for losses arising from various matters, including asbestos claims—
- (i) asserted before the date of the agreement; and
- (ii) filed after the date of the agreement and prior to the 10-year anniversary of the stock sale.

- (h) MINIMUM ANNUAL PAYMENTS.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—The aggregate annual payments of defendant participants to the Fund shall be at least $3,000,000,000 for each calendar year in the first 30 years of the Fund, or until such shorter time as the condition set forth in subsection (a)(2) is attained

The methodology may include 1 or more allocation formulas to be applied to all insurer participants or groups of similarly situated participants. The Commission's rule shall include a methodology for adjusting payments by insurer participants [to make up, during any applicable payment year, any amount by which aggregate insurer payments fall below the level required in paragraph (3)(C). 1 to make up, during the first 5 years of the life of the Fund and any subsequent years as provided in section 405(e) for any reduction in an insurer participant's annual allocated amount caused by the granting of a financial hardship or exceptional circumstance adjustment under this section, and any amount by which aggregate insurer payments fall below the level required under paragraph (3)(C) by reason of the failure or refusal of any insurer participant to make a required payment, or for any other reason that causes such payments to fall below the level required under paragraph (3)(C). Every insurer participant not licensed or domiciled in the United States shall, upon the first payment to the Fund, submit a written consent to the Commission's and Administrator's authority under this Act, and to the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States for purposes of enforcing this Act, in a form determined by the Administrator. Any order denying relief that would facilitate prompt compliance with the transfer provisions of this subsection shall be subject to immediate appeal under section 304 of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2005. Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph, for purposes of implementing the sunset provisions of section 402(f) of such Act which apply to asbestos trusts and the class action trust, the bankruptcy court or United States district court having jurisdiction over any such trust as of the date of enactment of such Act shall retain such jurisdiction."

(g) NO AVOIDANCE OF TRANSFER.—Section 546 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(h) Notwithstanding the rights and powers of a trustee under sections 544, 545, 547, 548, 549, and 550 of this title, if a debtor is a participant (as that term is defined in section 3 of the Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2005), the trustee may not avoid a transfer made by the debtor under its payment obligations under section 202 or 203 of that Act."

- (h) CONFIRMATION OF PLAN.—Section 1129(a) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

- (i) EFFECT ON INSURANCE RECEIVERSHIP PROCEEDINGS.—
- (1) LIEN.—In an insurance receivership proceeding involving a direct insurer, reinsurer or runoff participant, there shall be a lien in favor of the Fund for the amount of any assessment and any such lien shall be given priority over all other claims against the participant in receivership, except for the expenses of administration of the receivership and the perfected claims of the secured creditors. Any State law that provides for priorities inconsistent with this provision is preempted by this Act.
- (2) PAYMENT OF ASSESSMENT.—Payment of any assessment required by this Act shall not be subject to any automatic or judicially entered stay in any insurance receivership proceeding. This Act shall preempt any State law requiring that payments by a direct insurer, reinsurer or runoff participant in an insurance receivership proceeding be approved by a court, receiver or other person. Payments of assessments by any direct insurer or reinsurer participant under this Act shall not be subject to the avoidance powers of a receiver or a court in or relating to an insurance receivership proceeding.
- (j) STANDING IN BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS.—The Administrator shall have standing in any bankruptcy case involving a debtor participant. No bankruptcy court may require the Administrator to return property seized to satisfy obligations to the Fund.

- (A) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to preempt, bar, or otherwise preclude any personal injury claim attributable to exposure to silica as to which the plaintiff—
- (i) pleads with particularity and establishes by a preponderance of evidence either that—
- (I) no claim has been asserted or filed by or with respect to the exposed person in any forum for any asbestos-related condition and the exposed person (or another claiming on behalf of or through the exposed person) is not eligible for any monetary award under this Act; or
- (II)(aa) the exposed person suffers or has suffered a functional impairment that was caused by exposure to silica; and
- (bb) asbestos exposure was not a substantial contributing factor to such functional impairment; and
- (ii) satisfies the requirements of paragraph(2).
- (B) PREEMPTION.—Claims attributable to exposure to silica that fail to meet the requirements of subparagraph (A) shall be prempted by this Act.
 - (2) REQUIRED EVIDENCE.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—In any claim to which paragraph (1) applies, the initial pleading (or, for claims pending on the date of enactment of this Act, an amended pleading to be filed within 60 days after such date, but not later than 60 days before trial, shall plead with particularity the elements of subparagraph (A)(i)(I) or (II) and shall be accompanied by the information described under subparagraph (B)(i) through (iv).

- (ii) notice of any previous lawsuit or claim for benefits in which the exposed person, or another claiming on behalf of or through the injured person, asserted an injury or disability based wholly or in part on exposure to asbestos:
- (iii) if known by the plaintiff after reasonable inquiry by the plaintiff or his representative, the history of the exposed person's exposure, if any, to asbestos; and
- (iv) copies of all medical and laboratory reports pertaining to the exposed person that refer to asbestos or asbestos exposure.

- (A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in section 202(f), nothing in this Act shall abrogate a binding and legally enforceable written settlement agreement between any defendant participant or its insurer and a specific named plaintiff with respect to the settlement of an asbestos claim of the plaintiff if—
- [(i) before the date of enactment of this Act, the settlement agreement was executed directly by the settling defendant or the settling insurer and the individual plaintiff, or on behalf of the plaintiff where the plaintiff is incapacitated and the settlement agreement is signed by an authorized legal representative;]
- (i) before the date of enactment of this Act, the settlement agreement was executed by—
- (I) the settling defendant or the settling insurer; and
- (II)(aa) the specific individual plaintiff, or the individual's immediate relatives; or
- (bb) an authorized legal representative acting on behalf of the plaintiff where the plaintiff is incapacitated and the settlement agreement is signed by that authorized legal representative;
- (ii) the settlement agreement contains an express obligation by the settling defendant or settling insurer to make a future direct monetary payment or payments in a fixed amount or amounts to the individual plaintiff; and
- (iii) within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, or such shorter time period specified in the settlement agreement, all conditions to payment under the settlement agreement have been fulfilled, so that the

- only remaining performance due under the settlement agreement is the payment or payments by the settling defendant or the settling insurer.
- (B) BANKRUPTCY-RELATED AGREEMENTS.— The exception set forth in this paragraph shall not apply to any bankruptcy-related agreement.
- (C) COLLATERAL SOURCE.—Any settlement payment under this section is a collateral source if the plaintiff seeks recovery from the Fund.
- (D) ABROGATION.—Nothing in subparagraph (A) shall abrogate a settlement agreement otherwise satisfying the requirements of that subparagraph if such settlement agreement expressly anticipates the enactment of this Act and provides for the effects of this Act.
- (E) HEALTH CARE INSURANCE OR EXPENSES SETTLEMENTS.—Nothing in this Act shall abrogate or terminate an otherwise fully enforceable settlement agreement which was executed before the date of enactment of this Act directly by the settling defendant or the settling insurer and a specific named plaintiff to pay the health care insurance or health care expenses of the plaintiff.
 - (d) Exclusive Remedy.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided under paragraph (2) and section 106(f), the remedies provided under this Act shall be the exclusive remedy for any asbestos claim, including any claim described in subsection (e)(2), under any Federal or State law.

 - (e) BAR ON ASBESTOS CLAIMS.—

 - (2) CERTAIN SPECIFIED CLAIMS.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to section 404 (d) and (e)(3) of this Act, no claim may be brought or pursued in any Federal or State court or insurance receivership proceeding—
- (i) relating to any default, confessed or stipulated judgment on an asbestos claim if the judgment debtor expressly agreed, in writing or otherwise, not to contest the entry of judgment against it and the plaintiff expressly agreed, in writing or otherwise, to seek satisfaction of the judgment only against insurers or in bankruptcy;
- (ii) relating to the defense, investigation, handling, litigation, settlement, or payment of any asbestos claim by any participant, including claims for bad faith or unfair or deceptive claims handling or breach of any duties of good faith; or

- (iv) by any third party, and premised on any theory, allegation, or cause of action, for reimbursement of healthcare costs allegedly associated with the use of or exposure to asbestos, whether such claim is asserted directly, indirectly or derivatively.
- (B) EXCEPTIONS.—Subparagraph (A) (ii) and (iii) shall not apply to claims against participants by persons—
- (i) with whom the participant is in privity of contract:
- (ii) who have received an assignment of insurance rights not otherwise voided by this Act: or
- (iii) who are beneficiaries covered by the express terms of a contract with that participant.

- (4) DISMISSAL.—Except as provided under subsection (d)(2), no judgment other than a judgment of dismissal may be entered in any such action, including an action pending on appeal, or on petition or motion for discretionary review, on or after the date of enactment of this Act. A court may dismiss any such action on its motion. If the court denies the motion to dismiss, it shall stay further proceedings until final disposition of any appeal taken under this Act.
 - (5) REMOVAL.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—If an action in any State court under paragraph (3) is preempted, barred, or otherwise precluded under this Act, and not dismissed, or if an order entered after the date of enactment of this Act purporting to enter judgment or deny review is not rescinded and replaced with an order of dismissal within 30 days after the filing of a motion by any party to the action advising the court of the provisions of this Act, any party may remove the case to the district court of the United States for the district in which such action is pending.
- (B) TIME LIMITS.—For actions originally filed after the date of enactment of this Act, the notice of removal shall be filed within the time limits specified in section 1441(b) of title 28, United States Code.
- (C) PROCEDURES.—The procedures for removal and proceedings after removal shall be in accordance with sections 1446 through 1450 of title 28, United States Code, except as may be necessary to accommodate removal of any actions pending (including on appeal) on the date of enactment of this Act.
 - (D) REVIEW OF REMAND ORDERS.-
- (i) IN GENERAL.—Section 1447 of title 28, United States Code, shall apply to any removal of a case under this section, except that notwithstanding subsection (d) of that section, a court of appeals may accept an appeal from an order of a district court granting or denying a motion to remand an action to the State court from which it was removed if application is made to the court of appeals not less than 7 days after entry of the order.

- (ii) TIME PERIOD FOR JUDGMENT.—If the court of appeals accepts an appeal under clause (i), the court shall complete all action on such appeal, including rendering judgment, not later than 60 days after the date on which such appeal was filed, unless an extension is granted under clause (iii).
- (iii) EXTENSION OF TIME PERIOD.—The court of appeals may grant an extension of the 60-day period described in clause (ii) if—
- (I) all parties to the proceeding agree to such extension, for any period of time; or
- (II) such extension is for good cause shown and in the interests of justice, for a period not to exceed 10 days.
- (iv) DENIAL OF APPEAL.—If a final judgment on the appeal under clause (i) is not issued before the end of the period described in clause (ii), including any extension under clause (iii), the appeal shall be denied.
- (E) JURISDICTION.—The jurisdiction of the district court shall be limited to—
- (i) determining whether removal was proper; and
- (ii) determining, based on the evidentiary record, whether the claim presented is preempted, barred, or otherwise precluded under this Act.
- (6) CREDITS.-
- (A) IN GENERAL.—If, notwithstanding the express intent of Congress stated in this section, any court finally determines for any reason that an asbestos claim is not barred under this subsection and is not subject to the exclusive remedy or preemption provisions of this section, then any participant required to satisfy a final judgment executed with respect to any such claim may elect to receive a credit against any assessment owed to the Fund equal to the amount of the payment made with respect to such executed judgment.
- (B) REQUIREMENTS.—The Administrator shall require participants seeking credit under this paragraph to demonstrate that the participant—
- (i) timely pursued all available remedies, including remedies available under this paragraph to obtain dismissal of the claim; and
- (ii) notified the Administrator at least 20 days before the expiration of any period within which to appeal the denial of a motion to dismiss based on this section.
- (C) INFORMATION.—The Administrator may require a participant seeking credit under this paragraph to furnish such further information as is necessary and appropriate to establish eligibility for, and the amount of, the credit.
- (D) INTERVENTION.—The Administrator may intervene in any action in which a credit may be due under this paragraph.

SEC. 404. EFFECT ON INSURANCE AND REINSURANCE CONTRACTS.

- (a) EROSION OF INSURANCE COVERAGE LIM-
- ITS.—
 (1) DEFINITIONS.—In this section, the fol-
- lowing definitions shall apply:

- (B) EARLY SUNSET.—The term "early sunset" means an event causing termination of the program under section 405(f) which relieves the insurer participants of paying some portion of the aggregate payment level of $46,025,000,000 required under section 212(a)(2)(A).
- (C) EARNED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "earned erosion amount" means, in the event of any early sunset under section 405(f), the percentage, as set forth in the following schedule, depending on the year in which the defendant participants' funding obligations end, of those amounts which, at the time of the early sunset, a defendant participant has paid to the fund and remains obligated to pay into the fund.

(D) Remaining aggregate

- (D) REMAINING AGGREGATE PRODUCTS LIMITS.—The term "remaining aggregate products limits" means aggregate limits that apply to insurance coverage granted under the "products hazard", "completed operations hazard", or "Products—Completed Operations Liability" in any comprehensive general liability policy issued between calendar years 1940 and 1986 to cover injury which occurs in any State, as reduced by—
- (i) any existing impairment of such aggregate limits as of the date of enactment of this Act; and
- (ii) the resolution of claims for reimbursement or coverage of liability or paid or incurred loss for which notice was provided to the insurer before the date of enactment of this Act.
- (E) SCHEDULED PAYMENT AMOUNTS.—The term "scheduled payment amounts" means the future payment obligation to the Fund under this Act from a defendant participant in the amount established under sections 203 and 204
- (F) UNEARNED EROSION AMOUNT.—The term "unearned erosion amount" means, in the event of any early sunset under section 405(f), the difference between the deemed erosion amount and the earned erosion amount.
- (2) QUANTUM AND TIMING OF EROSION.—
- (A) EROSION UPON ENACTMENT.—The collective payment obligations to the Fund of the insurer and reinsurer participants as assessed by the Administrator shall be deemed as of the date of enactment of this Act to erode remaining aggregate products limits available to a defendant participant only in an amount of 38.1 percent of each defendant participant's scheduled payment amount.
- (B) No assertion of claim.—No insurer or reinsurer may assert any claim against a defendant participant or captive insurer for insurance, reinsurance, payment of a deductible, or retrospective premium adjustment arising out of that insurer's or reinsurer's payments to the Fund or the erosion deemed to occur under this section.
- (C) POLICIES WITHOUT CERTAIN LIMITS OR WITH EXCLUSION.—Except as provided under subparagraph (E), nothing in this section shall require or permit the erosion of any insurance policy or limit that does not contain an aggregate products limit, or that contains an asbestos exclusion.

- (D) TREATMENT OF CONSOLIDATION ELEC-TION.—If an affiliated group elects consolidation as provided in section 204(f), the total erosion of limits for the affiliated group under paragraph (2)(A) shall not exceed [59.64] 38.1 percent of the scheduled payment amount of the single payment obligation for the entire affiliated group. The total erosion of limits for any individual defendant participant in the affiliated group shall not exceed its individual share of [59.64] 38.1 percent of the affiliated group's scheduled payment amount, as measured by the individual defendant participant's percentage share of the affiliated group's prior asbestos expenditures.
- RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, nothing in this Act shall be deemed to erode remaining aggregate products limits of a defendant participant that can demonstrate by a reponderance of the evidence that 75 percent of its prior asbestos expenditures were made in defense or satisfaction of asbestos claims alleging bodily injury arising exclusively from the exposure to asbestos at premises owned, rented, or controlled by the defendant participant (a "premises defendant"). In calculating such percentage, where expenditures were made in defense or satisfaction of asbestos claims alleging bodily injury due to exposure to the defendant participant's products and to asbestos at premises owned, rented, or controlled by the defendant participant, half of such expenditures shall be deemed to be for such premises exposures. If a defendant participant establishes itself as a premises defendant, 75 percent of the payments by such defendant participant shall erode coverage limits, if any applicable to premises liabilities under applicable law
- (3) METHOD OF EROSION.—
- (A) Allocation.—The amount of erosion allocated to each defendant participant shall be allocated among periods in which policies with remaining aggregate product limits are available to that defendant participant pro rata by policy period, in ascending order by attachment point.
 - (B) OTHER EROSION METHODS.—
- (i) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), the method of erosion of any remaining aggregate products limits which are subject to—
- (I) a coverage-in-place or settlement agreement between a defendant participant and 1 or more insurance participants as of the date of enactment; or
- (II) a final and nonappealable judgment as of the date of enactment or resulting from a claim for coverage or reimbursement pending as of such date, shall be as specified in such agreement or judgment with regard to erosion applicable to such insurance participants' policies.
- (ii) REMAINING LIMITS.—To the extent that a final nonappealable judgment or settlement agreement to which an insurer participant and a defendant participant are parties in effect as of the date of enactment of this Act extinguished a defendant participant's right to seek coverage for asbestos claims under an insurer participant's policies, any remaining limits in such policies shall not be considered to be remaining aggregate products limits under subsection (a)(1)(A).
- (4) RESTORATION OF AGGREGATE PRODUCTS LIMITS UPON EARLY SUNSET.—
- (A) RESTORATION.—In the event of an early sunset, any unearned erosion amount will be deemed restored as aggregate products limits available to a defendant participant as of the date of enactment.

- (B) METHOD OF RESTORATION.—The unearned erosion amount will be deemed restored to each defendant participant's policies in such a manner that the last limits that were deemed eroded at enactment under this subsection are deemed to be the first limits restored upon early sunset.
- (C) TOLLING OF COVERAGE CLAIMS.—In the event of an early sunset, the applicable statute of limitations and contractual provisions for the filing of claims under any insurance policy with restored aggregate products limits shall be deemed tolled after the date of enactment through the date 6 months after the date of early sunset.
- (5) PAYMENTS BY DEFENDANT PARTICIPANT.—Payments made by a defendant participant shall be deemed to erode, exhaust, or otherwise satisfy applicable self-insured retentions, deductibles, retrospectively rated premiums, and limits issued by nonparticipating insolvent or captive insurance companies. Reduction of remaining aggregate limits under this subsection shall not limit the right of a defendant participant to collect from any insurer not a participant.
- (6) EFFECT ON OTHER INSURANCE CLAIMS.— Other than as specified in this subsection, this Act does not alter, change, modify, or affect insurance for claims other than asbestos claims.
- (b) DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCEDURE.—
- (1) Arbitration.—The parties to a dispute regarding the erosion of insurance coverage limits under this section may agree in writing to settle such dispute by arbitration. Any such provision or agreement shall be valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, except for any grounds that exist at law or in equity for revocation of a contract.
- (2) TITLE 9, UNITED STATES CODE.—Arbitration of such disputes, awards by arbitrators, and confirmation of awards shall be governed by title 9, United States Code, to the extent such title is not inconsistent with this section. In any such arbitration proceeding, the erosion principles provided for under this section shall be binding on the arbitrator, unless the parties agree to the contrary.
- (3) FINAL AND BINDING AWARD.—An award by an arbitrator shall be final and binding between the parties to the arbitration, but shall have no force or effect on any other person. The parties to an arbitration may agree that in the event a policy which is the subject matter of an award is subsequently determined to be eroded in a manner different from the manner determined by the arbitration in a judgment rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction from which no appeal can or has been taken, such arbitration award may be modified by any court of competent jurisdiction upon application by any party to the arbitration. Any such modification shall govern the rights and obligations between such parties after the date of such modification.
 - (c) EFFECT ON NONPARTICIPANTS.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—No insurance company or reinsurance company that is not a participant, other than a captive insurer, shall be entitled to claim that payments to the Fund erode, exhaust, or otherwise limit the nonparticipant's insurance or reinsurance obligations.
- (2) OTHER CLAIMS.—Nothing in this Act shall preclude a participant from pursuing any claim for insurance or reinsurance from any person that is not a participant other than a captive insurer.
- (d) FINITE RISK POLICIES NOT AFFECTED.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, except subject to section 212(a)(1)(D), this Act shall not alter,

- affect or impair any rights or obligations of—
- (A) any party to an insurance contract that expressly provides coverage for governmental charges or assessments imposed to replace insurance or reinsurance liabilities in effect on the date of enactment of this Act: or
- (B) subject to paragraph (2), any person with respect to any insurance [or reinsurance] purchased by a participant after December 31, 1990, that expressly (but not necessarily exclusively) provides coverage for asbestos liabilities, including those policies commonly referred to as "finite risk" policies
- (2) LIMITATION.—No person may assert that any amounts paid to the Fund in accordance with this Act are covered by any policy described under paragraph (1)(B) purchased by a defendant participant, unless such policy specifically provides coverage for required payments to a Federal trust fund established by a Federal statute to resolve asbestos injury claims.
- (e) EFFECT ON CERTAIN INSURANCE AND REINSURANCE CLAIMS.—
- (1) No coverage for fund assessments.—[No] Subject to section 212(a)(1)(D), no participant or captive insurer may pursue an insurance or reinsurance claim against another participant or captive insurer for payments to the Fund required under this Act, except under a [contract] written agreement specifically providing insurance [or reinsurance], reinsurance, or other reimbursement for required payments to a Federal trust fund established by a Federal statute to resolve asbestos injury claims or, where applicable, under finite risk policies under subsection (d).
- (2) CERTAIN INSURANCE ASSIGNMENTS VOID-ED.—Any assignment of any rights to insurance coverage for asbestos claims to any person who has asserted an asbestos claim before the date of enactment of this Act, or to any trust, person, or other entity not part of an affiliated group as defined in section 201(1) of this Act established or appointed for the purpose of paying asbestos claims which were asserted before such date of enactment, or by any Tier I defendant participant, before any sunset of this Act, shall be null and void. This subsection shall not void or affect in any way any assignments of rights to insurance coverage other than to asbestos claimants or to trusts, persons, or other entities not part of an affiliated group as defined in section 201(1) of this Act established or appointed for the purpose of paying asbestos claims, or by Tier I defendant participants.
- (3) Insurance claims preserved.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, this Act shall not alter, affect, or impair any rights or obligations of any person with respect to any insurance or reinsurance for amounts that any person pays, has paid, or becomes legally obligated to pay in respect of asbestos or other claims, including claims filed, pursued, or revived under section 405(g), except to the extent that—
- I(A) such person pays or becomes legally obligated to pay claims that are superseded by section 403;
- (A) such claims are preempted, barred, or superseded by section 403;
- (B) any such rights or obligations of such person with respect to insurance or reinsurance are prohibited by paragraph (1) or (2) of subsection (e); or
- (C) the limits of insurance otherwise available to such participant in respect of asbestos claims are deemed to be eroded under subsection (a).

The report shall include a description of changes in the diagnostic, exposure, or medical criteria of section 121 that the Administrator believes may be necessary to protect the Fund from compensating claims not caused by exposure to asbestos.
- (c) Claims Analysis and Verification of Unanticipated Claims.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—If the Administrator concludes, on the basis of the annual report submitted under this section, that—
- (A) the average number of claims that qualify for compensation under a claim level or designation exceeds 125 percent of the number of claims expected to qualify for compensation under that claim level or designation in the most recent Congressional Budget Office estimate of asbestos-injury claims for any 3-year period, the Administrator shall conduct a review of a statistically significant sample of claims qualifying for compensation under the appropriate claim level or designation: or
- (B) the average number of claims that qualify for compensation under a claim level or designation is less than 75 percent of the number of claims expected to qualify for compensation under that claim level or designation in the most recent Congressional Budget Office estimate of asbestos-injury claims for any 3-year period, the Administrator shall conduct a review of a statistically significant sample of claims deemed ineligible for compensation under the appropriate claim level or designation.
- (2) DETERMINATIONS.—The Administrator shall examine the best available medical evidence and any recommendation made under subsection (b)(5) in order to determine which 1 or more of the following is true:
- (A) Without a significant number of exceptions, all of the claimants who qualified for compensation under the claim level or designation suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor.
- (B) A significant number of claimants who qualified for compensation under the claim level or designation do not suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor.
- (C) A significant number of claimants who were denied compensation under the claim level of designation did suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor.
- (D) The Congressional Budget Office projections underestimated or overestimated the actual number of persons who suffer from an injury or - disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor.

- (3) RECOMMENDATIONS CONCERNING CLAIMS CRITERIA.—If the Administrator determines that a significant number of the claimants who qualified for compensation under the claim level under review do not suffer from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor, or that a significant number of the claimants who were denied compensation under the claim level under review suffered from an injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor, the Administrator shall recommend to Congress, under subsection (e), changes to the compensation criteria in order to ensure that the Fund provides compensation for injury or disease for which exposure to asbestos was a substantial contributing factor, but does not provide compensation to claimants who do not suffer from an injury or disease for which asbestos exposure was a substantial contributing factor.
- (d) RECOMMENDATIONS OF ADMINISTRATOR AND ADVISORY COMMITTEE.—
- (1) REFERRAL.—If the Administrator recommends changes to this Act under subsection (c), the recommendations and accompanying analysis shall be referred to the Advisory Committee on Asbestos Disease Compensation established under section 102 (in this subsection referred to as the "Advisory Committee").

 (2) ADVISORY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDA-
- (2) ADVISORY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDA-TIONS.—The Advisory Committee shall hold expedited public hearings on the alternatives and recommendations of the Administrator and make its own recommendations for reform of the program under titles I and II.
- (3) TRANSMITTAL TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 90 days after receiving the recommendations of the Administrator, the Advisory Committee shall transmit the recommendations of the Administrator and the recommendations of the Advisory Committee to the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives.
- (d) SHORTFALL ANALYSIS.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—
- (A) ANALYSIS.—If the Administrator concludes, on the basis of the information contained in the annual report submitted under this section, that the Fund may not be able to pay claims as such claims become due at any time within the next 5 years, the Administrator shall include in the report an analvsis of the reasons for the situation, an estimation of when the Fund will no longer be able to pay claims as such claims become due, a description of the range of reasonable alternatives for responding to the situation, and a recommendation as to which alternative best serves the interest of claimants and the public. The report may include a description of changes in the diagnostic, exposure, or medical criteria of section 121 that the Administrator believes may be necessary to protect the Fund.
- (B) RANGE OF ALTERNATIVES.—The range of alternatives under subparagraph (A) may include—
- (i) triggering the termination of this Act under subsection (f) at any time after the date of enactment of this Act; and
- (ii) reform of the program set forth in titles I and II of this Act (including changes in the diagnostic, exposure, or medical criteria, changes in the enforcement or application of those criteria, changes in the timing of payments, changes in contributions by defendant participants, insurer participants (or both such participants), or changes in award values).
- (C) INSURER SHORTFALL ASSESSMENTS.—Beginning in year 6 of the life of the Fund, if the Administrator determines that a shortfall in payment of the annual amounts required to be paid by insurer participants under section 212(a)(3)(C) is the substantial factor that would

- cause the Administrator to recommend the termination of this Act under subsection (f), then the Administrator may impose shortfall assessments on insurer participants in addition to the payments imposed under section 212, except that the Administrator shall not impose such assessments if the additional amounts would not be sufficient to permit the Administrator to avoid recommending termination of this Act. During any given year, the total of such shortfall assessments shall not exceed the amount by which, during the prior year, total payments by insurer participants fell short of the aggregate amounts required to be paid under section 212(a)(3)(C). Shortfall assessments shall be allocated among insurer participants using the methodology adopted by the Asbestos Insurers Commission under section 212(a)(1)(B).
- (2) CONSIDERATIONS.—In formulating recommendations, the Administrator shall take into account the reasons for any shortfall, actual or projected, which may include—
- (A) financial factors, including return on investments, borrowing capacity, interest rates, ability to collect contributions, and other relevant factors;
- (B) the operation of the Fund generally, including administration of the claims processing, the ability of the Administrator to collect contributions from participants, potential problems of fraud, the adequacy of the criteria to rule out idiopathic mesothelioma, and inadequate flexibility to extend the timing of payments:
- (C) the appropriateness of the diagnostic, exposure, and medical criteria, including the adequacy of the criteria to rule out idiopathic mesothelioma;
- (D) the actual incidence of asbestos-related diseases, including mesothelioma, based on epidemiological studies and other relevant data:
- $\left(E\right)$ compensation of diseases with alternative causes; and
- (F) other factors that the Administrator considers relevant.
- (3) RECOMMENDATION OF TERMINATION.—Any recommendation of termination should include a plan for winding up the affairs of the Fund (and the program generally) within a defined period, including paying in full all claims resolved at the time the report is prepared. Any plan under this paragraph shall provide for priority in payment to the claimants with the most serious illnesses.
- (4) RESOLVED CLAIMS.—For purposes of this section, a claim shall be deemed resolved when the Administrator has determined the amount of the award due the claimant, and either the claimant has waived judicial review or the time for judicial review has expired.
- [(e) RECOMMENDATIONS OF ADMINISTRATOR AND COMMISSION.—
- I(1) IN GENERAL.—If the Administrator recommends changes to this Act under subsection (c), the recommendations and accompanying analysis shall be referred to a special commission consisting of the Attorney General, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of Commerce, or their designees. The Commission shall hold expedited public hearings on the Administrator's alternatives and recommendations and then make its own recommendations for reform of the program set forth in titles I and II of this Act. Within 180 days after receiving the Administrator's recommendations, the Commission shall transmit its own recommendations to the Congress in the same manner as set forth in subsection (a).
- I(2) REFERRAL.—If the Administrator recommends changes to, or termination of, this Act under subsection (d), the recommendations and accompanying analysis shall be referred to the Commission. The Commission shall hold expedited public hearings on the Administrator's alternatives and recommendations and then make its own recommendations for reform of the program set forth in titles I and II of this Act. Within 180 days after receiving the Administrator's recommendations, the Commission shall transmit its own recommendations to Congress in the same manner as set forth in subsection (a).

- (f) SUNSET OF ACT.—
- (1) IN GENERAL.—
- (A) TERMINATION.—Subject to paragraph (4), titles I (except subtitle A) and II and sections 403 and 404(e)(2) shall terminate as provided under paragraph (2), if the Administrator—
- (i) has begun the processing of claims; and (ii) as part of the review conducted to prepare an annual report under this section, determines that if any additional claims are resolved, the Fund will not have sufficient resources when needed to pay 100 percent of all resolved claims while also meeting all other obligations of the Fund under this Act, including the payment of—
- (I) debt repayment obligations; and
- (II) remaining obligations to the asbestos trust of a debtor and the class action trust.
- (B) REMAINING OBLIGATIONS.—For purposes of subparagraph (A)(ii), the remaining obligations to the asbestos trust of the debtor and the class action trust shall be determined by the Administrator by assuming that, instead of a lump-sum payment, such trust had transferred its assets to the Fund on an annual basis, taking into consideration relevant factors, including the most recent projections made by the trust's actuary before the date of enactment of this Act of the amount and timing of future claim payments and administrative and operating expenses.
- (2) EFFECTIVE DATE OF TERMINATION.—A termination under paragraph (1) shall take effect 180 days after the date of a determination of the Administrator under paragraph (1) and shall apply to all asbestos claims that have not been resolved by the Fund as of the date of the determination.
- (3) RESOLVED CLAIMS.—If a termination takes effect under this subsection, all resolved claims shall be paid in full by the Fund.
- (4) EXTINGUISHED CLAIMS.—A claim that is extinguished under the statute of limitations provisions in section 113(b) is not revived at the time of sunset under this subsection.
- (5) CONTINUED FUNDING.—If a termination takes effect under this subsection, participants will still be required to make payments as provided under subtitles A and B of title II. If the full amount of payments required by title II is not necessary for the Fund to pay claims that have been resolved as of the date of termination, pay the Fund's debt and obligations to the aspestos trusts and class action trust, and support the Fund's continued operation as needed to pay such claims, debt, and obligations, the Administrator may reduce such payments. Any such reductions shall be allocated among participants in approximately the same proportion as the liability under subtitles A and B of title II.
 - (6) SUNSET CLAIMS.—
 - (A) DEFINITIONS.—In this paragraph—
- (i) the term "sunset claims" means claims filed with the Fund, but not yet resolved, when this Act has terminated; and
- (ii) the term "sunset claimants" means persons asserting sunset claims.
- (B) IN GENERAL.—If a termination takes effect under this subsection, the applicable statute of limitations for the filing of sunset claims under subsection (g) shall be tolled for any past or pending sunset claimants while such claimants were pursuing claims filed under this Act. For those claimants who decide to pursue a sunset claim in accordance with subsection (g), the applicable statute of limitations shall apply, except that claimants who filed a claim against the Fund under this Act before the date of termination shall have 2 years after the date of termination to file a sunset claim in accordance with subsection (g).

- (7) ASBESTOS TRUSTS AND CLASS ACTION TRUST.—On and after the date of termination under this subsection, the trust distribution program of any asbestos trust and the class action trust shall be replaced with the medical criteria requirements of section 121.
- (8) PAYMENT TO ASBESTOS TRUSTS AND CLASS ACTION TRUST.—The amounts determined under paragraph (1)(B) for payment to the asbestos trusts and the class action trust shall be transferred to the respective asbestos trusts of the debtor and the class action trust within 90 days.
 - (g) NATURE OF CLAIM AFTER SUNSET.-
 - (1) IN GENERAL.—
- (A) RELIEF.—On and after the date of termination under subsection (f), any individual with an asbestos claim who has not previously had a claim resolved by the Fund, may in a civil action obtain relief in damages subject to the terms and conditions under this subsection and paragraph (6) of subsection (f).
- (B) RESOLVED CLAIMS.—An individual who has had a claim resolved by the Fund may not pursue a court action, except that an individual who received an award for a nonmalignant disease (Levels I through V) from the Fund may assert a claim for a subsequent or progressive disease under this subsection, unless the disease was diagnosed or the claimant had discovered facts that would have led a reasonable person to obtain such a diagnosis before the date on which the previous claim against the Fund was disposed.
- (C) MESOTHELIOMA CLAIM.—An individual who received an award for a nonmalignant or malignant disease (except mesothelioma) (Levels I through VIII) from the Fund may assert a claim for mesothelioma under this subsection, unless the mesothelioma was diagnosed or the claimant had discovered facts that would have led a reasonable person to obtain such a diagnosis before the date on which the nonmalignant or other malignant claim was disposed.
- (2) EXCLUSIVE REMEDY.—As of the effective date of a termination of this Act under subsection (f), an action under paragraph (1) shall be the exclusive remedy for any asbestos claim that might otherwise exist under Federal, State, or other law, regardless of whether such claim arose before or after the date of enactment of this Act or of the termination of this Act, except that claims against the Fund that have been resolved before the date of the termination determination under subsection (f) may be paid by the Fund.
 - (3) VENUE.—
- (A) IN GENERAL.—Actions under paragraph (1) may be brought in—
- (i) any Federal district court;
- (ii) any State court in the State where the claimant resides; or
- (iii) any State court in a State where the asbestos exposure occurred.
- (B) DEFENDANTS NOT FOUND.—If any defendant cannot be found in the State described in clause (ii) or (iii) of subparagraph (A), the claim may be pursued only against that defendant in the Federal district court or the State court located within any State in which the defendant may be found.
- (C) DETERMINATION OF MOST APPROPRIATE FORUM.—If a person alleges that the asbestos exposure occurred in more than one county (or Federal district), the trial court shall determine which State and county (or Federal district) is the most appropriate forum for the claim. If the court determines that another forum would be the most appropriate forum for a claim, the court shall dismiss the claim. Any otherwise applicable statute of limitations shall be tolled beginning on the date the claim was filed and ending on the date the claim is dismissed under this subparagraph.

(D) STATE VENUE REQUIREMENTS.—Nothing in this paragraph shall preempt or supersede any State's law relating to venue requirements within that State which are more restrictive.

(4) CLASS ACTION TRUSTS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section—

- (A) after the assets of any class action trust have been transferred to the Fund in accordance with section 203(b)(5), no asbestos claim may be maintained with respect to asbestos liabilities arising from the operations of a person with respect to whose liabilities for asbestos claims a class action trust has been established, whether such claim names the person or its successors or affiliates as defendants; and
- (B) if a termination takes effect under subsection (f), the exclusive remedy for all asbestos claims (including sunset claims and claims first arising or first presented after termination of the Fund) arising from such operations will be a claim against the class action trust to which the Administrator has transferred funds under subsection (f)(8) to pay asbestos claims, if necessary in proportionally reduced amounts.
- (5) EXPERT WITNESSES.—If scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge will assist the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue in an action permitted under paragraph (1), a witness qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or education, may testify thereto in the form of an opinion or otherwise, if—
- (A) the testimony is based upon sufficient facts or data:
- (B) the testimony is the product of reliable principles and methods; and
- (C) the witness has applied the principles and methods reliably to the facts of the case.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I understand there is no time limit on speeches. Am I correct?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is correct.

Mr. KENNEDY. Many Senators on both sides of the aisle find the concept of a trust fund to compensate the victims of asbestos-related diseases appealing. I have consistently said that I would support a properly designed and adequately funded trust fund bill that would fairly compensate all the victims of asbestos-induced disease in a timely way. The problem is that S. 852 does not meet that standard. It is not properly designed and it is not adequately funded. Many seriously ill victims of asbestos disease are completely excluded from compensation under the fund. And the legislation does not even provide adequate revenue to ensure that all the victims who are eligible for compensation under the terms of the trust fund will actually receive what the legislation promises them. These are fundamental flaws that cannot be corrected by a few last minute amendments. They go to the heart of the bill.

The problem is that powerful corporate interests responsible for the asbestos epidemic have fought throughout this process to escape full accountability for the harm they have inflicted. As a result, the focus has shifted from what these companies should pay victims to what they are willing to pay them. That is preventing the Senate from enacting trust fund legislation that will truly help the workers who have been seriously injured by this industrial plague.

This legislation was constructed backwards. The first decision made was that the size of the trust fund could not exceed $140 billion over 30 years. Why? Because that was all the corporations whose reckless conduct created the asbestos problem were willing to pay. The Asbestos Study Group, the chief lobbyists for this legislation, began this process by promising "an evergreen fund" that would provide as much money as necessary over time to fairly compensate the victims of asbestos disease. But they soon reneged on that commitment. Instead, these companies are now insisting on an absolute cap on their liability—no matter how many victims are suffering from asbestos-induced disease or how serious their illnesses. Asbestos diseases take years, sometimes decades, to develop after the exposure to asbestos fibers. Thus, no one can say for sure how many victims there will be. The companies claim that they need financial certainty to plan for the future. What about the millions of victims of asbestos exposure who live every day under the cloud of asbestos disease? What about the ability of these workers and their families to plan for their future?

Each year, more than 10,000 of them die from lung cancer and other diseases caused by asbestos. Each year, hundreds of thousands of them suffer from lung conditions which make breathing so difficult that they cannot function at all. Even more become unemployable due to their medical condition. And, because of the long latency period of these diseases, all of them live with fear of a premature death due to asbestos-induced disease. These are the real victims. Aren't they entitled to the certainty of knowing that, should the worst happen, they and their families will be fairly compensated? All S. 852 offers them is an inadequately funded trust fund that most experts believe will be insolvent within a few years.

The real crisis which confronts us is not an "asbestos litigation crisis," it is an asbestos-induced disease crisis. All too often, the tragedy these workers and their families are enduring becomes lost in a complex debate about the economic impact of asbestos litigation. We cannot allow that to happen. The litigation did not create these costs. Exposure to asbestos created them. They are the costs of medical care, the lost wages of incapacitated workers, and the cost of providing for the families of workers who died years before their time. Those costs are real. No legislative proposal can make them disappear. All legislation can do is shift those costs from one party to another. Unfortunately, S. 852 would shift more of the financial burden onto the backs of injured workers. That is unacceptable.

Senators Specter and Leahy have devoted an enormous amount of time and effort to this asbestos trust fund legislation. They did not set the arbitrary $140 billion ceiling. The Republican leadership made clear that the trust fund could not exceed that amount regardless of the legitimate needs of asbestos victims. The sponsors were left with the unenviable task of deciding which worthy claims to exclude. As a result, the bill before us contains fundamental flaws, which make it both unfair and unworkable. It does not provide a reliable guarantee of just compensation to the enormous number of workers who are suffering from asbestos-induced disease.

The argument that there are serious inadequacies in the way asbestos cases are adjudicated today does not mean that any legislation is better than the current system. Our first obligation is to do no harm. We should not be supporting legislation that excludes many seriously ill victims from receiving compensation and that fails to provide a guarantee of adequate funding to make sure that these injured workers covered by the trust fund will actually receive what the bill promises them. This bill will do harm to these asbestos victims my remarks on several of the most egregious.

The list of serious flaws in S. 852 is, unfortunately, a long one. I will focus

Experts tell us that the asbestos trust created by this legislation is seriously underfunded. The funding plan in this bill relies on very substantial borrowing in the early years as the only way to pay the flood of claims. The result will be huge debt service costs over the life of the trust that could reduce the $140 billion intended to pay claims by as much as 40 percent. The amount remaining would be far too little to pay the claims of all of those who are entitled to compensation under the terms of the bill.

In addition, there is a strong constitutional argument that the existing bankruptcy trusts cannot be forced to turn over all their assets, which will place $7.6 billion of the projected funding in jeopardy. Many companies are also likely to challenge their obligation to finance the asbestos trust. It is not at all clear how much money will actually be available to pay eligible victims what the legislation promises they will receive.

There is likely to be a serious shortfall in the early years, when nearly 300,000 pending cases will be transferred to the trust for payment. Studies show the trust will not have the resources to pay those claims in a timely manner. Payments to critically ill people may be delayed for years.

One way to reduce the enormous financial burden on the fund in the early years would be to leave many of those cases in the tort system, especially cases which were close to resolution. That would be fair to the parties in those cases and it would greatly improve the financial viability of the fund. Unfortunately, that proposal has been repeatedly rejected by the sponsors of the bill. As a result, there will be a serious mismatch between the number of claims the trust fund will face when its doors open and the payments coming into the fund. That will force major borrowing in the first 5 years. The debt service resulting from that borrowing will financially cripple the trust.

In its August report, CBO recognizes the seriousness of this debt-service problem, explaining:

Because expenses would exceed revenues in many of the early years of the fund's operations, the Administrator would need to borrow funds to make up the shortfall. The interest cost of this borrowing would add significantly to the long-term costs faced by the fund and contributes to the possibility that the fund might become insolvent.

In a response to inquiries from Judiciary Committee members last week, CBO issued an even more dire warning about the likelihood of insolvency:

There is a significant likelihood that the fund's revenues would fall short of the amount needed to pay valid claims, as well as debt-service and administrative costs. There is also some likelihood that the fund's revenues would be sufficient to meet those needs. The final outcome cannot be predicted with great certainty. Without a substantial increase in the resources available to the fund, there is no way to guarantee that the fund will not either revert to the court system or require additional funding.

That statement should trouble every Senator on both sides of the aisle. There is "a significant likelihood that the fund's revenues would fall short." While we may disagree on other issues regarding compensation for asbestos victims, each of us knows that it would be disastrous—for victims and businesses alike—to create a trust fund that cannot meet its financial commitment to victims and is destined for insolvency. None of us want to see that result. We cannot in good conscience ignore the warnings from the Congressional Budget Office and from other experts.

In addition to the concerns CBO has identified, there are other major problems with S. 852 related to the projections of pending and future claims that could push the trust fund even further out of balance.

For example, there has been a significant increase in the number of mesothelioma cases in recent years. The only known cause of mesothelioma is asbestos exposure. This new information suggests that the CBO cost estimate may understate the cost of the mesothelioma claims that the trust fund will incur by more than $15 billion. This is by no means the only instance where there is strong evidence to suggest that the number of eligible claimants will substantially exceed CBO estimates.

If S. 852 is enacted, the U.S. Government will be making a commitment to compensate hundreds of thousands of seriously ill asbestos victims, but will not have ensured that adequate dollars are available to honor its commitment. That will precipitate a genuine asbestos crisis, and this Congress will bear the responsibility for it. Since the trust fund will be borrowing extensively from the U.S. Treasury in its first few years of operation; if it does become insolvent, there will be a direct impact on American taxpayers.

The legislation before us would close the courthouse doors to asbestos victims on the day it passes, long before the trust fund will be able to pay their claims. Their cases will be stayed immediately. Seriously ill workers will be forced into a legal limbo for up to 2 years. Their need for compensation to cover medical expenses and basic family necessities will remain, but they will have nowhere to turn for relief.

Under the legislation, even exigent health claims currently pending in the courts will be automatically stayed for 9 months as of the date of enactment. An exigent health claim is one in which the victim has been diagnosed "as being terminally ill from an asbestos-related illness and having a life expectancy of less than one year."

By definition, these cases all involve people who have less than a year to live due to mesothelioma or some other disease caused by asbestos exposure. Their cases would all be stayed for 9 months. Nine months is an eternity for someone with less than a year to live. Many of them will die without receiving either their day in court or compensation from the trust fund.

The stay language is written so broadly that it would even stop all forward movement of a case in the court system. A trial about to begin would be halted. An appellate ruling about to be issued would be barred. Even the deposition of a dying witness could not be taken to preserve his testimony. The stay would deprive victims of their last chance at justice. I cannot believe that the authors of this bill intended such a harsh result, but that is what the legislation does.

The bill does contain language allowing an "offer of judgment" to be made during the period of the stay in the hope of producing a settlement. However, this provision is unlikely to resolve many cases because it requires the agreement of the defendants. There is no incentive for defendants to agree to a settlement when the case has been staved. Those who have tried cases know that it is only the imminence of judicial action which produces a settlement in most cases. Delay is the defendant's best ally; and under this bill, the case is at least delayed for 9 months and may never be allowed to resume if the fund becomes operational. If, however, these exigent cases were not stayed, and judicial proceedings could continue, there would be far more likelihood of cases settling under the offer of judgment process.

I strongly believe that, at a minimum, all exigent cases should be exempted from the automatic stay in the legislation. Victims with less than a year to live certainly should be allowed to continue their cases in court uninterrupted until the trust fund became operational. Their ability to recover compensation in the court should not be halted until the trust fund is open for business and they are able to receive compensation from that fund. It is grossly unfair to leave these dying victims in a legal limbo. For them, the old adage is especially true—justice delayed is justice denied.

Under the legislation, defendants would receive a credit against what they must contribute to the trust fund for whatever payments they make to these dying victims; so they would not be "paying twice," as some have claimed.

Allowing the exigent cases to go forward in the courts without interruption is a matter of simple fairness. Staying the cases of victims who have less than a year to live is bureaucratic insensitivity at its worst. Most of these victims will not live to see the doors of the trust fund open.

We should not deprive them of their last chance—their only chance—to receive some measure of justice before asbestos-induced disease silences them. They should be allowed to receive compensation in their final months to ease their suffering. They should be allowed to die knowing that their families are financially provided for. S. 852 in its current form takes that last chance away from them.

I intend to offer an amendment to allow these severely ill victims to have their day in court.

The way the legislation is written, victims will lose out at the back end of the process as well, should the trust fund run out of money after several years of operation.

If the trust fund does become insolvent, a very real possibility, workers will not have an automatic right to immediately return to the court system. The process outlined in the current bill could take years. Workers could end up trapped in the trust with reduced benefits and long delays in receiving their payments. There needs to be a clear, objective trigger—inability of the trust to pay a certain percentage of claims within a set period of time—that will automatically allow victims to pursue their claims in court if the trust runs out of money. The Judiciary Committee's 2003 legislation contained such a provision, but this bill does not. We cannot allow seriously injured workers with valid claims who are not paid in a timely manner by the trust to be denied their day in court. That would be a shameful injustice.

The asbestos trust is being presented as an alternative source of compensation for victims suffering from asbestos-induced disease. If that alternative runs out of money and can no longer compensate those victims in a full and timely manner, their right to seek compensation through the judicial system should be immediately restored with no strings attached. No principle is more basic. Yet this bill violates that principle.

I am particularly upset by the way lung cancer victims are treated in this bill. Under the medical criteria adopted by the Judiciary Committee overwhelmingly 2 years ago, all lung cancer victims who had at least 15 years of weighted exposure to asbestos were eligible to receive compensation from the fund. However, that was changed in S. 852. Under this bill, lung cancer victims who have had very substantial exposure to asbestos over long periods of time are denied any compensation unless they can show asbestos scarring on their lungs. The committee heard expert medical testimony that prolonged asbestos exposure dramatically increases the probability that a person will get lung cancer even if they do not have scarring on their lungs. Deleting this category will deny compensation to more than 40,000 victims suffering with asbestos-related lung cancers. Under the legislation as now drafted, these victims are losing their right to go to court, but receiving nothing from the fund. How can any of us support such an unconscionable provision?

Since we began considering asbestos legislation, no aspect has concerned me more than the treatment of lung cancer victims. My top priority has been to make sure that these severely ill workers receive just and fair compensation.

And I have not been alone. A number of other Members have spoken out about the importance of adequately providing for lung cancer victims who have been exposed to substantial amounts of asbestos over long periods of time.

Now we find that these victims, many of whom will have their lives cut short because of asbestos-induced disease, will not receive one penny in compensation from the trust fund. They are losing their right to go to court, but being denied any right to court, but being denied any right to compensation under the fund. They are, in essence, being told to suffer in a legally imposed silence with no recourse whatsoever.

One of the arguments we hear most frequently in favor of creating an asbestos trust fund is that in the current system, too much money goes to people who are not really sick and too little goes to those who are seriously ill. Well, lung cancer victims who have years of exposure to asbestos are the ones who are seriously ill. They are the ones this legislation is supposed to be helping. Yet they are being completely excluded.

The committee heard extensive testimony from distinguished medical experts—Dr. Laura Welsh and Dr. Philip Landrigan—that prolonged exposure to asbestos can cause lung cancer even if the victim does not also have markers of nonmalignant asbestos disease. They cited numerous medical authorities supporting their position. They even described treating lung cancer victims whose disease was clearly caused by asbestos but who had neither pleural thickening or asbestosis.

In a situation where people are undeniably severely ill and undeniably had 15 or more years of weighted exposure to asbestos, it is wrong to completely exclude them from compensation under the trust fund. Some of the proponents of S. 852 have attempted to justify excluding them by claiming that smoking probably caused their lung cancers. But, the evidence refutes this contention.

First, even those lung cancer victims with 15 or more weighted years of exposure to asbestos who had never smoked were removed from eligibility for compensation under the trust fund. So this is about more than just the relationship between asbestos and smoking.

Second, regarding the smoking issue, Dr. Landrigan testified that smokers who have substantial exposure to asbestos have 55 times the background risk of developing lung cancer, while smokers who were not exposed to asbestos have 10 times the background risk of developing lung cancer. Clearly, the asbestos exposure makes a huge difference.

There is a powerful synergistic effect between asbestos and tobacco in the causation of lung cancer. Both are substantial contributing factors to the disease. The smoker with substantial asbestos exposure should receive less compensation from the trust fund than the nonsmoker with lung cancer. That principle appears throughout the bill. But smoking is not a reason to exclude the smoker from all compensation.

Without prolonged exposure to asbestos, the smoker would have been far less likely to contract lung cancer. It is a gross injustice to completely exclude these severely ill workers.

Any person who was exposed to asbestos for 15 or more weighted years and now has lung cancer should be eligible for compensation from the trust fund. It would not be automatic. Their cases would be reviewed individually by a panel of physicians to determine whether asbestos was a "substantial contributing factor" to their lung cancer. These 40,000 victims of asbestos should not be arbitrarily excluded from receiving compensation. They were included in the original legislation, it was agreed to by medical experts for both business and labor, and that provision should be restored to the bill. I will be proposing an amendment to rectify this serious injustice.

This bill also tampers with the agreed-upon medical criteria carefully negotiated between representatives of business and labor by raising the standard of proof for each disease category. The language in S. 852 requires the workers to prove that asbestos was "a substantial contributing factor" to their disease, instead of just "a contributing factor." This is a major increase in the burden workers must overcome to receive compensation. It is significantly higher than most states currently require in a court of law. Rather than having to show that asbestos exposure contributed to their illness, they will now have to address the relative impact of asbestos and other potential factors. This change is a serious step in the wrong direction, raising the bar even higher on injured workers.

Another major shortcoming of this legislation is its failure to compensate the residents of areas that have experienced large-scale asbestos contamination. S. 852 simply pretends that this problem does not exist. It fails to compensate the victims of all asbestos-induced diseases, other than mesothelioma, whose exposure was not directly tied to their work. There is very substantial scientific evidence showing that the men, women and children who lived in the vicinity of asbestos-contaminated sites, such mining operations and processing plants, can and do contract asbestos-induced disease.

The reason that this legislation needs a special provision to compensate the residents of Libby, MT, is because it does not compensate victims of community contamination generally. The residents of Libby are certainly entitled to compensation, but so are the residents who lived near the many processing plants from Massachusetts to California that received the lethal ore from the Libby mine. The deadly dust from Libby, MT, was spread across America. W.R. Grace shipped almost 10 billion pounds of Libby ore to its processing facilities between the 1960s and the mid 1990s. One of the places it was shipped was to the town of Easthampton, MA, where the operations of an expanding plant spread the asbestos to the surrounding environment, into the air and onto the soil. I intend to discuss this problem in great detail as the debate moves forward.

I raise it now as a dramatic example of one of the major injustices caused by the arbitrary exclusion of a large number of asbestos victims from compensation under the trust fund. Nor is the problem of community contamination limited to the sites receiving ore from Libby. Community asbestos contamination can result from many different sources. For example, medical experts believe it may result from exposure to asbestos after the collapse of the World Trade Center. Because of the long latency period, we often do not learn about community asbestos contamination until long after it occurs. Certainly these victims of asbestos are entitled to fair treatment as well. They should not be arbitrarily excluded from compensation as if their suffering is somehow less worthy of recognition than the suffering of other asbestos victims. Yet that is what S. 852 does.

This is a bill that shifts more of the financial burden of asbestos-induced disease to injured workers by unfairly and arbitrarily limiting the liability of defendants. It does not establish a fair and reliable system that will compensate all those who are seriously ill due to asbestos. It lacks a dependable funding stream which can ensure that all who are entitled to compensation actually receive full and timely payment. These are very basic shortcomings.

We cannot allow what justice requires to be limited by what the wrong-doers are willing to pay. I intend to vote no and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. President, I yield the floor. The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GRA-HAM). The Senator from Utah.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I rise today to speak in favor of S. 852, the bipartisan Fairness in Asbestos Injury Resolution Act of 2005. I commend the majority leader and Chairman SPECTER and Senator LEAHY for seizing the bull by the horns and proceeding with this vitally important litigation. And it is bipartisan legislation.

Make no mistake about this—this bill is not perfect. There are some things in the act that I wish were different, but that is the nature of the legislative process. It is about compromise and negotiation.

In a moment, I will speak to specific aspects of this bill. But before I do, I would like to take a moment to respond to some of the allegations that my colleagues made on the floor yesterday.

Some of them spoke of corruption. They spoke of undue influence wielded by lobbyists. And they spoke of fairness.

The truth is, this legislation is badly needed. Personal injury lawyers—some personal injury lawyers—are profiting at the expense of asbestos victims and manufacturers alike.

This bill is about fairness, justice, and certainty. It has become a bill that has tried to do away with fraud because this situation is fraught with fraud—fraud on American businesses, fraud on American consumers, and, more importantly, fraud on asbestos victims.

Let me tell you what this bill does. This bill provides real compensation to real victims with real injuries. This bill stops a rampaging personal injury trial bar. This bill fixes a broken legal system that benefits personal injury lawyers at the expense of asbestos victims. And this bill provides certainty to everyone involved.

Some of my colleagues on the other side have called S. 852 special interest legislation. If helping sick people and preventing fraud constitutes special interest action, then maybe they could get away with that charge. But I am very proud—and I think anybody who supports this bill would be proud—to support legislation that assists those special interests.

I ask my colleagues: Do you know who opposes this bill? It is the personal injury lawyers involved. They are a small cadre of the total number of American Trial Lawyers Association members. These trial lawyers have fought this legislation the same way the old gunslingers fought the law in the Wild West. Some of my colleagues have spoken of bragging lobbyists. The only people I have ever heard bragging about the scams that are going on are some of these personal injury lawyers.

Do you know when I heard them bragging? Last Congress, when we failed to invoke cloture on this bill's predecessor. It was not lobbyists or manufacturers or asbestos victims who were having some celebratory steak and champagne dinners in 2004; it was the personal injury lawyers. Why would they celebrate? They were celebrating because they successfully preserved their 40-percent payout on massive class action lawsuits and the exorbitant transaction costs that raise the amounts taken from victims to almost 60 percent, with only about 40 percent given to the victims. They were celebrating because their meal ticket was not taken away from them. Not this time.

Before I continue, I wish to point out not all personal injury lawyers are bad, certainly not all trial lawyers. I was a trial lawyer in my younger days. I know most of them are good people with good intentions. However, as they say, it only takes one bad apple to spoil the whole bushel.

We face an asbestos litigation crisis of unparalleled magnitude. Real asbestos victims with horrific injuries are receiving pennies on the dollar, while people who are not sick, or at least their lawyers, are receiving millions of dollars. American companies, businesses both large and small, many of which never produced or used asbestos fibers, are being forced into bank-ruptcy by fraudulent lawsuits. These bankruptcies hurt all Americans. Pensions are destroyed, jobs are lost, and all because our current legal system is vulnerable to unscrupulous trial lawyers. We have had the Supreme Court ask the Congress three times to weigh in on this and stop this mess from continuing. That is what we are trying to do with this bill.

According to the RAND Institute for Civil Justice, the asbestos crisis has been called the worst occupational health disaster in U.S. history. The personal injury bar has compounded that disaster by filing countless meritless claims that deprive the truly injured of their just and deserved compensation. The RAND Institute has found that approximately 730,000 people have filed asbestos claims through 2002. Despite the fact that asbestos claims should decrease each year due to OSHA and, to some extent, EPA actions in the 1970s and 1980s which severely curtailed national asbestos exposure, we have seen a significant increase in the number of claims, particularly nonmalignant claims, during the last 15 years. It is a gravy train for some of these lawvers. That does not dismiss the fact that there are people who are hurt by this, many of whom are not going to get a dime because a large number of their companies are bankrupt.

The large number of claims—expected to burgeon to the million-plus mark in the not-so-distant future—has resulted in 77 bankruptcies, the loss of some 60,000 jobs, or workers' privileges, and the depletion of countless pension programs. Moreover, due to the nature and number of these claims, compensation for the truly ill is often arbitrary and inequitable. According to the RAND Institute study, only 42 cents of every dollar spent on asbestos litigation actually goes to the asbestos victims; 31 cents goes to defense costs, and 27 cents goes to plaintiffs' attorneys. The situation becomes all the more deplorable when one factors in the ghastly specter of fraud. One study has shown that 41 percent of audited claims of alleged asbestosis or pleural disease were found to have either no disease or a less severe disease than alleged by the personal injury experts. That is simply unacceptable. We are trying to solve that problem.

At present there are more than 300,000 asbestos-related claims pending before this Nation's courts. Company after company has plunged into bankruptcy with disastrous results. Some victims have gone without compensation and many have nowhere to turn.

Thousands have lost their jobs. The only winners in most cases are the personal injury lawyers. Asbestos trial lawyers have pulled in over $20 billion in attorney's fees. One actuarial firm estimates that personal injury lawyers are expected to filch another $40 billion before they run out of victims. I don't have any problem with lawyers getting contingent fees for legitimate cases. I don't have any problem with that. But the fact is, many of these cases are not legitimate. It is time to make a choice. That choice is between private jets for trial lawvers and meaningful compensation for asbestos victims.

Before I move on to the operational aspects of this legislation, I wish to take a moment to talk about the victims of asbestos exposure. Unfortunately, veterans comprise a large percentage of this group. I wish to make a plea on their behalf. This may be the last chance to help the men and women who served this country with such distinction and who, as a result of that service, were exposed to asbestos fibers. Time is rapidly running out for this group and many, if not most, of the companies they could turn to are now bankrupt, mainly because of these lawsuits. Even if they are not bankrupt, lawsuits take so much time and the verdicts are so uncertain that many will be cheated out of their just compensation. Even if some of these fine men and women manage to obtain a verdict against a company with sufficient assets to make good on the obligation, about 58 percent of the award would be consumed not by the victim but by trial lawyers. That is plain wrong.

Let me tell you how this bill works. S. 852 will compensate legitimate asbestos victims in a timely fashion on a no-fault basis. They are not going to have to go to court to prove their case. Claimants must demonstrate they meet certain medical criteria—and those criteria were agreed on in a bipartisan agreement—but once that threshold showing has been made, thereby assuring that only the truly sick are compensated, the claimants will receive timely compensation based upon the nature of the injury.

Some of my colleagues asserted that all claimants under this bill obtain a one-size-fits-all settlement if they meet the medical criteria requirements. As Chairman Specter has pointed out, that is plain wrong. There are nine tiers and corresponding awards under this bill, and it allows for further compensation if the condition worsens, meaning if a claimant had a level 2 injury that later developed into a level 8 injury or more serious injury, that individual can obtain compensation up to the level 8 or more serious tier. That makes sense to me.

It is worth pointing out that in addition to providing a no-fault and timely compensation system, the FAIR Act provides certainty to asbestos victims by taking away the whims of juries and the avarice of some of these personal injury lawyers. Under this bill, if you are sick, you will be compensated. Furthermore, this bill promotes economic stability and preserves jobs by taking the uncertain burden of direct and residual asbestos liability away from manufacturers, insurers, and others, and levying a measurable, known, and beneficial sum that will help those truly in need. In other words, they will have to pay, but it will be done on a reasonable, decent basis, so that those who are suffering will get paid in the end, where many of them will not under the current system.

For the victims, it provides meaningful compensation in a relatively short order. It is no-fault compensation for them. For the manufacturers and other defendant entities, it removes the parasitic personal injury bar from the picture and assures that asbestos dollars reach asbestos victims.

Finally, this bill contains an asbestos ban that will help lower asbestos exposure beyond what OSHA has achieved.

I was surprised to hear some opponents of this bill say S. 852 is not ready, that any action on this measure would be premature. Frankly, I am somewhat shocked by this. I will not go into the full history of the bill. In fact, I will limit my discussion of its development to the 107th Congress and beyond. But I must note that efforts in this area predate my efforts and the efforts of then-Chairman Leahy in the 107th Congress.

Now with tremendous effort, Chairman Specter and Ranking Member LEAHY have worked this through in a way that has greatly improved what we were trying to do back then. The Judiciary Committee has held at least a half dozen hearings on asbestos issues, and we have held several exhaustive markups over the years. In addition, I note that Chief Judge Emeritus of the Third Circuit, Edward R. Becker, and now-Chairman Specter held at least 36 meetings with stakeholders to reach the compromise before us. This was a monumental effort by Senator Specter and Former Chief Judge Edward R. Becker. I just saw Chief Judge Becker over in the Dirksen Building. I know the sacrifices he has made to try and help us on this matter. And to have this bill called special interest legislation, when we have had people such as Judge Becker work out these details by meeting with all concerned, including the trial lawyers, including businesses and individuals and groups and so forth, I don't know when anybody has made such an effort as both Chairman SPECTER and Judge Becker.

We are currently on the third asbestos bill since the beginning of the 108th Congress. We have moved from S. 1125, which was the subject of a 4-day markup over 2 months, to S. 2290, to S. 852. Finally, after a 6-day markup, which also spanned 2 full months, the Judiciary Committee reported the current bill with a bipartisan 13-to-5 vote. That doesn't sound like special interest legislation to me. And it isn't.

With that in mind, it is hard to understand how opponents of this bill can claim with a straight face that this bill is not ready for consideration by the full Senate. That is ridiculous. Can it be amended? Surely. That is why we debate. Can we change aspects of it? Surely. That is why we debate. That is why we have this debate on the floor, if we are ever allowed to debate it.

This brings me to some of the outstanding criticisms of this legislation. First, we have heard it hurts small businesses. Since it is unclear to me what the deleterious effects on small business may be. I find it difficult to even spend time trying to refute those types of baseless charges. I would ask my colleagues who hold this belief to expound upon the allegation so we can better understand their concerns. However, before they do so, I ask my colleagues to look at the small business exception contained within S. 852, specifically section 204(b) of this act. Small businesses do not have to contribute to the fund while at the same time they receive its benefits. I have a hard time understanding why this is bad for small businesses. After all, they do get something for nothing.

The next major objection focuses on the removal of pending cases from court. Such action is unfair, they say. Well, I am puzzled by this assertion as well. First, cases that have proceeded to the evidentiary stage of the trial are not touched by this act. Secondly, the underlying premise of this bill focuses on two things: one, the uncertainty of jury trials and the ability of defendants to pay; two, the parasitical impact some of these voracious trial lawyers have on the process. This bill will provide certainty to the process, ensure those who have been injured will receive compensation, and make sure compensation so awarded goes to the victims and not to the trial bar in such dimensions as we have had so far. In fact, the trial bar will be entitled to fees under this bill; they just won't be as high because the proof is a no-fault proof. It is like rolling off a log. I ask my colleagues, how is that unfair?

The next assertion focuses on the amount of the trust fund. It is not enough to say it is not enough. That is what they say. To that I say, the CBO seems to think the amount falls within the estimated range of claims and, further, that this amount was agreed upon by Majority Leader Frist and then-Minority Leader Daschle after extensive negotiation. Overall, it would seem some Members on the other side of the aisle want to prevent us from proceeding to this bill. While I am not surprised by obstructive tactics—we have seen them before; I saw a good deal of them during the last Congress and I know enough to be able to say with confidence that what looks like a duck and quacks like a duck is, in fact, a duck-it is obstruction. Why can't we debate this bill up and down? Why don't we get into it? If we have legitimate objections, I am sure the distinguished chairman and ranking member will consider them. That is why we debate these things. I am nonetheless disturbed by the tactics of some on the other side, given the tremendous importance of this legislation to our country.

As I say, the Supreme Court no less than three times asked us to do this—or at least to find some solution to this massive litigation crisis that is clogging our courts, hurting the country, and costing everybody an arm and a leg, without doing the justice to victims that this bill will do.

It is troubling when we consider that without the FAIR Act, more and more Americans are certain to lose their jobs, and more and more victims of asbestos exposure will go without compensation. This all goes to show that personal injury lawyers are a powerful force, and some on the other side of the aisle are willing to hear the voice of the personal injury bar over the voices of hard-working Americans who want to keep their jobs and pensions. Don't tell me about special interest legislation. We all know what special interest is driving the opponents of this bill.

The fact is that this bill continues to create a fair and efficient alternative compensation system to resolve the claims for injury caused by asbestos exposure. The fund is capitalized through private contributions from defendants and insurers, not the Government, and compensates victims under medical criteria that we reached on a bipartisan basis. I thought once we got the medical criteria, this bill should go forward. We had a lot of people on both sides saying they want to support it. Now we are here, and this is the chance to do it. If you don't like it, file amendments. I am sure the distinguished chairman and ranking member will give consideration to the amendments. The bill brings uniformity and rationality to a broken system so that resources are more effectively directed toward those who are truly sick.

I know the last asbestos bill contained no fewer than 53 compromise measures demanded by the Democrats last year. Moreover, I know this bill contains many more. Chairman SPECTER and Ranking Minority Member LEAHY are still working with the labor unions and others to improve the bill. This bill did not sneak up on anybody. It is not the instrument of a wayward group of influential lobbyists. The bipartisan FAIR Act is the product of years of negotiation and hard work—bipartisan people who are interested in solving problems, not creating them.

Not only does this bill guarantee fair compensation to victims, it guarantees faster and more certain compensation at that. We anticipate that claimants will not have to endure years of discovery battles and endless litigation before they get paid. Currently, whether some victims get paid depends on the solvency of businesses. But under the FAIR Act, these victims will no longer have to go without payment. It is time to end the current system of jackpot justice, where only some win and many lose.

Let me mention one group—the mesothelioma victims. Most of them have no chance at being fairly compensated because they work for companies that are now bankrupt. This bill takes care of them and helps them with their problem. Given that this bill is a clear net monetary gain for legitimate victims and provides payments faster and with more certainty, I am at a loss as to why anybody would object to this bill or object to a full and fair debate and a vote up or down. Quite frankly, the only entities that stands to lose under this bill are a handful of personal injury lawyers who have guzzled more than $20 billion of the costs incurred on this issue as of the end of last year. If the improved FAIR Act is passed, they will not be able to leverage unimpaired claims to squeeze a projected $40 billion more for themselves from remotely connected companies by abusing a broken system.

I support compensating attorneys for the value of their work, no question. Honest lawyers deserve to be paid. But when the lawyers get rich while diverting valuable resources away from sick victims and to people who are not victims, people who don't deserve compensation, which is going on here, something is wrong with the system. But you don't need me to tell you this; the Supreme Court, think tanks, and other nonpartisan commentators have been saying it for years.

We have a serious problem on our hands which demands this body's full attention. I applaud our majority leader, the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Senator SPECTER, and his ranking member, Senator LEAHY, for bringing this bill to the floor. The time to act is now. I would like to see us go forward in a legitimate, honest way to try to solve these problems. If people on either side have objections to the bill or have a reason to try to change it, they can bring amendments forward, and let's battle it out. The chairman has been very open to accepting good ideas. He has consistently done that throughout this process. I don't think anybody can find fault with our chairman for the way he has operated on this bill and how hard he has worked.

We have studied this asbestos problem at length, for decades. We have held numerous hearings, considered legislative proposals, and even underwent several marathon markups in the Judiciary Committee over the years. To the extent there are issues that remain unresolved, we can openly debate them on the floor of the Senate.

The time has come to stop talking about doing something and take decisive action. Every day that passes is a day we withhold meaningful recovery to truly sick victims. Every day that passes is a day in which hard-working Americans at companies that had little or nothing to do with asbestos face decreased pensions and an uncertain employment future. Every day that passes is a day that we deny consideration of a comprehensive solution to one of the most plaguing civil justice issues of our time.

This is step one. If we can get a bill out of the Senate, this would move forward so fast. The House would have to come up with its legislation, and we would then go to conference. I have no doubt, having watched the chairman and ranking member, that they would be working in good faith to try to accommodate and please all legitimate points of view on these very profound and difficult issues. I compliment them one more time. These folks deserve that we debate this bill fully, that we have a vote up or down on the bill in the end, and that we go through this process and hopefully continue to improve the legislation so that we can do justice in our society.

I vield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois is recognized.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, first, let me acknowledge the obvious. A lot of work has gone into this bill. Senator SPECTER, Senator LEAHY, and members of the Judiciary Committee, including Senator HATCH, have spent hours, days, weeks, and months preparing this bill. It is a bill that should have taken a long time because it is a bill that says something very basic and fundamental and, in many ways, revolutionary: It says we can no longer trust the court system in America. It says the court system is inadequate in America to compensate victims. That is a charge not made lightly, I am sure, by the sponsor of this legislation. It is one we should not take lightly on the floor of the Senate because we have established over the course of this Nation's history some things which are generally accepted by most Americans.

It is true that Congress and legislatures write the law. The President and executive branch enforce it. And when it comes to making decisions of how that law applies to our lives, we trust the courts. The decision has been made by those who are pushing this bill that we can no longer trust the courts. The decision has been made that we have to replace our court system with something else. If we are going to step away from a time-honored institution and tradition in America to create an alternative, it is a daunting task.

Those of us who have been critical of this legislation are going to hold the sponsors to some very fundamental questions. The first: Can you provide the same level of fairness and compensation in your new system that the courts of America provide today? The answer can be found in responses from victims groups around the country. The victims of asbestos have been writing to Members of Congress saying: Don't pass this legislation. The compensation you will give to the victims and their families is inadequate and unpredictable. Those families have come to see me. They have heartbreaking stories—stories of young men and voung women whose lives were snuffed out because of exposure to asbestos. In not a single case have I ever met somebody who said: I guess I knew I had it coming to me; I decided to expose myself to asbestos. I never ran into a person like that or heard a story like that.

The victims of asbestos are as surprised by the diagnosis as they can be. It is no surprise to us when we consider this insidious disease. These flaky fibers which are breathed into the lungs can sit there like a timebomb for decades. Do you recall the movie actor named Steve McQueen? He died from mesothelioma. He was exposed to asbestos at some point in his life, which later exploded into a fatal lung disease. Earlier this week on the floor, I talked about my former colleague, Bruce Vento, of Minnesota, a Congressman from St. Paul. He was a picture of health and was in the gym every morning, and then he didn't feel well. He went to the doctor, and after a chest xray, they said: You were somehow in your life exposed to asbestos. Now you have mesothelioma and just months to

Those stories are repeated over and over again about men who worked in asbestos mines who got off scot-free and never developed a problem, but their wives at home, who shook out their work clothes before putting them into the washer, breathed in the fibers and contracted asbestosis and mesothelioma and died. It is insidious.

I could spend more than an hour telling you that, since 1934, the companies which have been creating asbestos products have known how dangerous this product is. I could, and maybe I will at some point, go through the extensive evidence of deception and cover-up by these companies so that their employees did not understand the serious dangers they were exposed to in the workplace, and the dangers that many of them took home in their work clothes. These victims and their families come to visit me—lovely young women from the Chicago suburbs with beautiful children, and they show pictures of families whose husbands were lost in their early forties to mesothelioma.

This bill says that compensation for victims of asbestos is capped at $1.1 million. If you happen to be a mesothelioma victim, that's only $1.1 million for medical bills, lost wages, and to raise children. That is a figure which might have sounded pretty large to start with, but it begins to be very modest when you look at individual victims and their families. That is why the victims have come to us and said: Don't replace the court system in America with this approach. It is not fair to the victims.

Others have come to us as well and said that the way you put the money into the trust fund, which is supposed to pay the victims, is a mystery. We have repeatedly asked the chairman of the Judiciary Committee who is the sponsor of the legislation, to provide us with the documentation. Please show us how $140 billion will adequately compensate the victims of asbestos exposure over the 50-year life span of this bill. We are still waiting for the information. So we are going to replace the court system with a trust fund. We are going to say that $140 billion will be enough for 50 years, without any evidence of how that number was arrived at or whether that number will really meet the needs of the victims. I will speak in a few moments about those experts who have analyzed this bill and found that the numbers underlying the assumptions are totally wrong.

Another group that comes to us to discuss this bill are those being asked to pay into the trust fund that will be created by this bill. The argument has been made on the floor, thank goodness, that the taxpayers won't have to pay into this. These will be businesses and insurance companies which will put money in the trust fund so they don't have to pay out asbestos claims any longer in court. Well, it turns out that some businesses will do quite well. Some of them are going to receive a windfall in terms of what they have put into this fund as opposed to what they might pay in court.

U.S. Gypsum is a company that has a large legal exposure for asbestos. Because of corporate reports they made public in the last couple of weeks, we now know that, in order for the company to pay out all the existing claims filed against USG by victims of asbestos, they estimate it will cost them in the range of $4 billion. This chart is an excerpt ofa.n article from BusinessWeek dated January 27, 2006, which says, USG is willing to cough up $4 billion to settle victims' claims. That is $4 billion of asbestos exposure for this one corporation. So if they didn't pay that amount in court settlements, and instead came into this bill, what would they pay into this trust fund? That figure is $900 million, according to USG's own corporate report.

This is a windfall. They have to be smiling and praying this bill is going to pass because if it does, the company is off the hook for over $3 billion of legal liability that they even admit to in court. And who will make up the difference? Who is going to make up the $3.1 billion this company should be paying the victims? Other companies. Companies that may never have had many lawsuits filed against them because of asbestos, and companies that have never paid out a penny in terms of asbestos claims, even if they were sued. These smaller companies will be expected to pay millions and millions of dollars into this trust fund when larger companies are walking away with a windfall.

So we asked again to the sponsor of this legislation: If you cannot tell us how you arrived at the figure of $140 billion, can you at least give us the names of the companies and how much they are expected to contribute into this trust fund? And we are still waiting.

The chairman spoke yesterday about how he was going to subpoena these records. I hope they will be produced during the course of this debate. I hope we will have a list of all the businesses with—

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, will the Senator from Illinois yield for a question?

Mr. DURBIN. I will be happy to yield. Mr. SPECTER. Is the Senator from Illinois aware of the fact that the Judiciary Committee, on which he serves, issued a subpoena and has the names of the companies that are going to be contributing to the trust fund.

Mr. DURBIN. I know the chairman made that statement yesterday, and I am hoping he will share that information.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, I am advised by staff, since I posed the question, in a note to the effect that Senator Durbin's staff did come to look at the list. Is the Senator from Illinois aware of that?

Mr. DURBIN. May I respond to the chairman by stating that I understand this information on the list has been characterized as confidential information before the committee and cannot be shared publicly.

Mr. SPECTER. The pending question—and I will be glad to answer his—is, Does the Senator from Illinois know that his staff came to look at the list?

Mr. DURBIN. I am aware of the fact they reviewed it, but I am also aware of the fact this has not been made public as part of this conversation and part of this record.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, with all due respect, the issue isn't whether it has been made public, the issue is whether it is in existence, and the issue beyond being in existence is whether it is available to Members who have to vote on the bill. So when the Senator from Illinois asserts that you don't know who is making contributions, it is simply not so.

The issue of confidentiality is true. It has been raised by the companies because they are concerned that if it is disclosed how much they have contributed or are proposing to contribute that they may be targets for more litigation.

I don't wish to interrupt the Senator from Illinois further. I simply wish to make the point that he is wrong when he says we don't know who is going to contribute the money, and his own staffer has taken a look at the list.

Mr. DURBIN. Let me respond, if I may. Why is this cloaked in secrecy? Why is this a secret conversation? How can we have confidence that the $140 billion figure has any validity? How can we have confidence that the businesses that will be called on are going to be able to contribute to this fund if this is cloaked in secrecy and confidentiality? Most of these lawsuits are open, public record. It is hard for me to imagine that a business is going to be sued because someone has identified them as a potential contributor to this trust fund.

Nevertheless, if we are expected to replace the court system in America with this new trust fund system, how can we do it with any confidence if all the information is not on the table? Why the secrecy? What are we concealing? What we are concealing, frankly, is the most controversial elements of this bill: a question of whether $140 billion will actually pay the victims—and I doubt that it will—a question of whether companies are going to be asked to pay into this trust fund who shouldn't be asked to pay into the trust fund and, subsequently, may be forced into bankruptcy, closing their doors because of it. These are questions of great moment. To say a staff person can have access to secret files in an office hardly gives any comfort in the midst of a public debate about an issue of this magnitude.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, will the Senator from Illinois yield further? Mr. DURBIN. I will yield for a question.

Mr. SPECTER. Is the Senator from Illinois aware, putting it in the form of a question, that he has made a shift in positions, first asserting that we don't know who is going to contribute the money, then finding out that we do know who is going to contribute the money, that, in fact, his staffer has looked at that list, and he is now raising a different issue as to what is the need for secrecy?

That is not the point about which I raised the question. When he talks about litigation, there are many confidential matters in litigation which remain confidential on a showing of cause. So my question to the Senator from Illinois is, does he realize that he has shifted his position from objecting to the status where nobody knows who is contributing, changing to why the reason for the secrecy?

Mr. DURBIN. I say to the Senator from Pennsylvania—

Mr. SPECTER. As a couple of experienced trial lawyers and debaters, or at least he is an experienced trial lawyer and debater.

Mr. DURBIN. As the Senator from Pennsylvania is as well. In response, unless and until we put this information out to be reviewed in a comprehensive and honest way, I don't believe we can stand before the American people and say this is a good replacement for the courts of America.

Let me tell the Senator what happened. A member of my staff was invited to the Senator's office to view the secret list. He was warned ahead of time not to take any notes, not to make any copies, and not to disclose the nature and substance of the secret list because they were treated as committee confidential. My staffer went to view the list and reported to me the information wasn't very helpful in answering the most basic questions about the companies, their liability, and, of course, the impact on each company and whether they can survive the contributions to the trust fund.

Under the committee confidential rule the chairman has imposed on all staff members reviewing this list, I am not sure I can say much more about this secret list on the floor, but I will say this is a highly unusual process to have secret lists, secret information. and confidentiality, when we are literally talking about people's lives and health. I don't think the Senator can come forward and meet his burden of proof, to go back to the language of trial lawyers, that we should replace the court system in America based on secret lists kept in his office. That strikes me as a far cry from the kind of public debate which we should invite for this bill.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, will the Senator yield further for a question?

Mr. DURBIN. I have been more than happy to yield, and I will continue to yield.

Mr. SPECTER. How can the Senator call it a secret list when it is available for his inspection?

Mr. DURBIN. I say to the Senator, when he makes it available for the inspection of all Members and the American people, it is no longer a secret list. Mr. President, is the Senator prepared to do that? That is my question, without yielding the floor to the Senator.

Mr. SPECTER. I will review the matter with the view to see if we can make it public. I am open to any modification which is reasonable. I am not bound by any protocol, and I will go back to the providers of the list to see if it can be made available. But when the Senator from Illinois asserts that it is secret, he is simply wrong. It is not secret. He can look at it. I think he raises a good point when he says that nobody can make a copy of it.

Offhand, on horseback, on one foot, I think staffers should be able to make a copy of it. Take the copy and show it to the Senator. I think that is reasonable, with the agreement of the staffer and the Senator that if we decide to retain the confidentiality, they will respect that. I trust Senator DURBIN and I trust his staff to honor confidentiality if we stick with it.

As I say, I will review that as well. But Senator DURBIN has to make a decision. I am sure Senator DURBIN has an open mind on this question. Now that I reflect on it, I am not so sure he does have an open mind on this question, and he doesn't have to have an open mind on this question. I think he raises a good point when he says we ought to know who contributes the money. I raised hell to get the information and finally had to raise a subpoena to get the information. We have it so that it is available for those who have to make a decision.

When he carries the point further that he would like to see it made public, if I can accommodate that, I will.

Mr. DURBIN. I was happy to yield again to the Senator, whom I respect very much. I tell him, for the record, on May 25 of last year, we sent a letter to him about Goldman Sachs, asking that we have some information about the $140 billion figure, how it was arrived at, and how it will be paid for. So this is not the first time this issue has come up.

It is curious to me that we are writing a bill that is going to change the laws of all the States of America, and if we are going to close those courtrooms across America. Yet the Senator from Pennsylvania had to issue a subpoena to obtain a list of the names of the companies that are going to contribute to the trust fund. This is a very strange process.

Usually, legislation emanates from within Congress and affects the outside world. It appears that the secret list at issue emanated from the outside and whoever created it wasn't anxious to share it. So if there is skepticism by those of us critical of the bill, I think there is good reason.

We never received a reply to our May letter of last year. It is an indication to me that this whole process has been very unusual and very different from any process I have seen.

Somewhere, someone has come up with a number as to how much we need to compensate these victims, and someone has come up with a source on how that number will be arrived at, and the chairman had to go to the lengths of subpoenaing the information that was the basis for this bill that will affect hundreds of thousands of Americans and their lives.

Mr. SPECTER. Mr. President, will the Senator will yield further?

Mr. DURBIN. I will be happy to yield. Mr. SPECTER. When he says I haven't responded to his letter, I have responded to his letter by getting him the information. The Senator from Illinois is diligent, resourceful, and raises lots of questions. I would challenge him to say I haven't responded to all of them.

Mr. DURBIN. I say to the chairman, he is the most responsive Member I can think of, and I thank him for his service and friendship. I have shared with him my concerns on this issue, and he has gone so far as to issue a subpoena.

The point I wanted to make to the chairman is raising this issue was not sua sponte. I started asking this question long ago as to why we couldn't get the most fundamental—

Mr. SPECTER. Parliamentary inquiry: Does sua sponte apply to this discussion? I withdraw the parliamentary inquiry.

When the Senator from Illinois says the chairman had to issue a subpoena, I consider it a compliment. I have had to deal with stakeholders on all sides who have been recalcitrant. We haven't—I, we, Senator LEAHY and I—haven't left any stone unturned. If people who want this bill and are obligated to provide money won't give the information I want, if they are for the bill and they are for the position I am sponsoring, I am going to get tough about it. I am going to get a subpoena so that Senator DURBIN knows what is going on, and I think the American people, through their elected representatives, will know what is going on.

Does the Senator want me to yield? If I can get wider distribution, I will.

Mr. DURBIN. Let me reclaim my time but also say to the chairman, parenthetically, what we engaged in—yielding back and forth—draws perilously close to debate on the Senate floor, which we try to avoid at any cost. I will do my best to always yield to meaningful questions and comments as those made by the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. But I want to return to my comments.

This is a curious situation, where the chairman of the committee who wrote the bill had to issue a subpoena to get the information about what the bill meant. Now that is a curious situation. It leads one to believe that someone else, other than this committee, is writing the bill. Who could that possibly be? Who has enough interest in this matter to want to move forward with passing this bill outside of Capitol Hill? I gave one example earlier of one corporation which stands to gain $3.1 billion if this bill passes. Those are companies very interested in this bill.

There has been a lot of talk on the floor about the lobbying effort on behalf of this legislation. It has been huge.

(Ms. MURKOWSKI assumed the Chair.)

Mr. SPECTER. Madam President, will the Senator from Illinois yield for a question?

Mr. DURBIN. After I finish my sentence, I will yield. I concede this bill is a clash of special-interest titans on both sides. I think proponents of the bill have invested a lot more in its passage than those who oppose it. Maybe we will never know the true figures, but the interesting thing is that the first bill of this Senate session is not a bill to address the Medicare prescription drug crisis, it is not a bill to provide affordable, accessible health care to Americans, it is not a bill to deal with the energy crisis and the heating bills that are killing us in the Midwest and the Northeast, it is not a bill to deal with pension security for workers who are losing a lifetime of pension investment to a merger or a bankruptcy or corporate sleight of hand. It is a bill that is brought by lobby groups and special interests that have invested tens of millions of dollars trying to force this issue and bring this matter before us on the Senate floor.

Mr. SPECTER. Madam President, parliamentary inquiry: Has the Senator from Illinois finished that sentence?

Mr. DURBIN. I just finished. That was a period.

Mr. SPECTER. There are a lot of semicolons in that sentence, then.

Mr. DURBIN. I am not yielding the floor unless the Senator wishes to ask a question. Then I will be happy to yield.

Mr. SPECTER. There is a lot of competition for the floor. There are three of us on the floor. A lot of competition for it.

When the Senator from Illinois talks about special interest groups, there are others involved in this legislation and they are the victims. They are thousands, tens of thousands of victims who are suffering deadly diseases. Those are the people about whom this Senator is concerned.

Yesterday I put into the RECORD an article from the front page of the Hill about $3 million being spent by lobby-ists to defeat this bill. Today the New York Times has a detailed story about how much money is being spent to defeat this bill.

It is true there are some who want this bill—the manufacturers and some insurance companies. But the people who really want this bill are the victims.

I take just a little umbrage at one sentence, one statement made by the Senator from Illinois when he says that because I have to subpoena material, it raises a question about who is writing the bill, that somebody else is writing the bill.

Let me assure you, Madam President, and anybody who may be watching on C-SPAN—if we had anybody, we lost them a long time ago—no special interest has written this bill. It is a non sequitur. I have to respond in some way to sua sponte. It is a non sequitur to say that because it was necessary to subpoena information that somebody else wrote the bill.

Mr. DURBIN. Without yielding the floor, would the Senator please tell us what Government agency he subpoenaed for the information to produce the secret list?

Mr. SPECTER. I will be glad to respond. I didn't subpoena any governmental agency. We subpoenaed the companies who were obligated to provide the money.

Mr. DURBIN. Without yielding the floor, would the Senator please state for the RECORD the names of the nongovernment agencies, private companies he had to subpoena to understand the underlying basis for this trust fund and how $140 billion was arrived at?

Mr. SPECTER. I didn't have to subpoena anybody to understand the underlying basis for this bill. This is my bill. I understood it when I thought it through and when I wrote it. Will I provide the names of those who are to be contributors? I do not have them at my disposal, and I certainly don't have them in my mind. But the staffer from the Senator from Illinois has already seen them and I would be glad to personally take the Senator from Illinois to look at the list.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, if this were a courtroom I would say the witness is not responsive. I asked the Senator a very direct question: Who did you send the subpoena to if it wasn't a government agency? And the answer, he knows, is: A private company. The obvious question is: Why are private companies writing a bill we have on the floor of the Senate today? They are writing that bill because they have a deep, personal interest in this bill. They are going to do quite well, thank you. Some companies are going to end up, as a result of this legislation, walking away from their legal liabilities in court for asbestos injury and asbestos death. These are the companies that want to see us close down the court system for these victims and create something else because they are the winners.

I hope the Senator from Pennsylvania—I don't want to create any umbrage, or raise any questions about his integrity. I am not. But I hope he will at a later point in the day come to the floor and disclose the names of the private companies that created the secret list that suggests there may be thousands of corporations across America that will have to contribute to this trust fund.

I wish to go to the most basic questions about the $140 billion. Where did we come up with $140 billion? How can we suggest that over the next 50 years or more that will be enough? It is important that it is enough. Yesterday my friend, the Senator from Pennsylvania, addressed this issue. He came to the floor and this is what Senator SPECTER said about this $140 billion figure:

The figure of $140 billion was worked out by Senator FRIST and Senator Daschle about a year and half ago. It is a figure which rose from that which was originally put in the trust fund to that figure where CBO has given us the assurance that the range of cost will be somewhere between $120 billion and $135 billion. Under one contingency, it could go to $150 billion, but that is unlikely.

Senator SPECTER went on to say something else, and I think is a very important statement. It is a long sentence, but bear with me:

We have within the structure of the bill a provision that the administrator can make a reevaluation going through certain preconditions so that if it looks like we're going to exceed the $140 billion, we can make modifications in the medical standards and criteria to stay within the $140 billion.

End of quote from the Senate floor. A statement by the chairman of the Judiciary committee yesterday stating there will be modifications in medical standards and criteria. Make no mistake what that means. It means less money for victims. It means if this fund runs out of money, the victims will receive even less. So the winners will be winning more, the losers losing more. And the victims will be the ultimate all-time losers in this situation.

I think it was an honest answer. I believe Chairman Specter was very candid in what he said. He could have said that if we exceed $140 billion in claims, that we would return all the cases to the tort system and the court system. But he knows if he said that, it would be hard to explain how we get into this trust fund for a few years, close the courthouse door, cut off all the pending lawsuits, and then declare the trust fund doesn't work. He didn't say that.

He could have said the Federal taxpayers will have to step in at that point and take care of the victims. But he knew that would cause a problem, not just on his side of the aisle but across the Senate. A Federal bailout is not viewed very positively when our Federal budget is facing the deepest deficits in the history of the United States.

So he said, and I admire his candor, we will just reduce the amounts we pay the victims. That is how we will make $140 billion work. That is a very candid and straightforward, but harrowing answer.

To say to people, if you were in the midst of a lawsuit, if you have worked around asbestos and have asbestosis and you are limited in your activities and maybe in the span of your life, and you filed a lawsuit against the company that exposed you to this asbestos, and you worked-and I know this because I used to do this for a livingworked for years to get that case into court with great sacrifices and frustrations and motions and continuances. and you are finally there—when this bill passes, if you don't have your case before a jury, you are finished. Close the door. Take your file home. You get to start all over

Then what happens? You go into this trust fund, which on balance will probably pay you less, and you hope and pray there will be enough money there to pay you. If there is not, Senator SPECTER has said we will cut back your pay and your compensation for being injured by asbestos until we can hit this magic $140 billion number. That is the reality of this bill.

I think it is fair to ask, Is the $140 billion figure accurate? I have been through this on the Senate Judiciary Committee for several years. Senator ORRIN HATCH offered a version of this bill. He began by saying all we need is $90 billion over 50 years. Then we got into a committee debate and markups, and the figure moved up to $154 billion during the course of committee process. At that time the CBO, the Congressional Budget Office, estimated it would cost between $124 and $136 billion for anticipated claims.

Since this virtual endorsement of the trust fund bill from 3 years ago, the Congressional Budget Office has progressively but unquestionably expressed greater and greater reservations about that number, about the viability of the trust fund and whether the figure we are talking about today is an honest figure to compensate victims.

Let me share this report from the Congressional Budget Office. I will read it:

There is a significant likelihood that the fund's revenues would fall short of the amount needed to pay valid claims, as well as debt-service and administrative costs. There is also some likelihood that the fund's revenues would be sufficient to meet those needs. The final outcome cannot be predicted with great certainty. Without a substantial increase in the resources available to the fund, there is no way to guarantee the fund will not either revert to the court system or require additional funding.

That is an honest answer. When we ask this official organization of Congress that is supposed to assess whether $140 billion is enough, their honest answer is, we can't say either way, but we certainly can't give you a guarantee that $140 billion is all that will be needed.

The Congressional Budget Office went on to say, in analyzing the bill before us:

CBO expects the value of valid claims likely to be submitted to the fund over the next 50 years could be between $120 and $150 billion, not including possible financing (debt services) costs.

Remember those words. Because it turns out the money from companies will not come into the trust fund fast enough to pay the massive influx of claims right at the start, the trust fund is going to have to borrow that money. And in borrowing money, the trust fund has to pay interest and finance costs. And all of the lamentations on the floor here about attorney's fees notwithstanding, at the end of the day, we will find that substantial amounts of money in the trust fund will be paid in interest costs, from the borrowing to try to keep this fund afloat as legitimate asbestos victims ask for their fair compensation.

That is a reality. It is a reality that suggests the $140 billion figure cannot be substantiated. If this were an idea of Senator Daschle and Senator Frist a year and a half ago, as much as I respect both of them, and I respect them very much, I don't know that either one of them is actuaries, nor do I know that they have the expertise to come up with a magic figure to predict the cost of this trust fund over a 50-year lifespan.

Let's take some of these concerns directly.

The CBO states that the expected $120-$150 billion in qualified asbestos injury claims on the trust fund "does not include possible financing costs and administrative expenses. The interest cost of this borrowing [they say] would add significantly to the long-term costs faced by the fund. . . ."

What are the financing costs? We are talking about debt service, money the Federal Government has to expend in order to either lend on its own to the new trust fund or go to private capital markets. The debt service costs could reach $50 billion or more.

We would find, then, that more than a third of the money going into the trust fund would be used to pay out in interest costs, not in victim compensation. Why? Because the secret and maybe soon public list of contributions by companies and insurance companies indicates not enough will be coming into the fund to match all of the injured victims across America who are going to be turning to this new fund, which, at the same time, closes down the court system for hundreds of thousands of American citizens.

Here is more of the CBO's analysis:

Because expenses would exceed revenues in many of the early years of the fund's operations, the administrator would need to borrow funds to make up the shortfall. The interest cost of this borrowing would add significantly to the long-term costs faced by the fund and contributes to the possibility that the fund might become insolvent.

Is it worth the gamble? Is it worth the gamble for us to pass a fund to close down the court system, to tell people who have worked for months and years to bring their case to a judge or a jury that they are now out of the system, then close the courtroom doors? Is it worth the gamble to them and their families that our calculations are right? Should we replace the court system on the possibility that we have guessed right about $140 billion, that in fact it would not become insolvent? Or should we shrug our shoulders and say, well, if we guessed wrong, what is the worst thing that could happen? According to the author of this bill, the victims will receive less money.

So when the chairman of the Judiciary Committee suggests that the chorus of voices of victims is what brings us to the floor today, I would say to him I am sure there are some who are in that chorus, but it might not be much more than a small quartet. The larger choir of victims across America has told us about their opposition to this bill. I could read that list of victims, unions, and other groups into the record. They are telling us this is the wrong thing to do. It is unjust to close the courthouse door to thousands of people across America and to say to them: Trust us, we have an idea for a trust fund. It has never been tried before, we are not quite sure of the figure, the contributors to the trust fund are on the secret list which may become public, but trust us. It is well worth your life and your health.

There is a group called Bates White which testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee, a group that has represented businesses and various organizations.

In September 2005, this economic consulting firm issued a report about this bill. I don't know why they conducted this report, but I have read it and attended a Judiciary Committee hearing where Dr. Charles Bates of that firm testified. According to the author, the report examined the viability of the fund. They focused on two primary categories of claimants who posed the greatest threat to the fund's financial viability.

First, they conclude that the bill would create entitlements for many individuals with lung and other cancers who were not compensated in the historical tort environment. The Bates

White report states this entitlement likely will result in at least a tenfold increase in the number of other cancer victims relative to the cases being brought in our courts today.

Here is why. Based on epidemiological studies between 2000 and 2055, some 3.5 million people in the eligible population covered by this bill will develop lung or other cancers, not including mesothelioma. Asbestos is only one of the myriad of significant risk factors that may be causally related to lung and "other" cancers. But S. 852 would compensate all cancer claimants who have minimal pleural or lung changes based on subjective x-ray readings.

According to this study, the filing rates for the trust fund are also expected to increase substantially over the historical rates in the tort system due to the relative ease of the filing which is to be created by this trust fund bill. Thus, according to Bates White, the bill would compensate for a dramatically larger number of patients.

Second, the Bates White report concludes that the bill is going to revive what they call "dormant claims," which are asbestos injury lawsuits that have been settled with most but not all defendants. The bill allows some claimants who filed their lawsuits prior to 2000 to be eligible for payment in the trust fund if those claims have not been fully resolved. Thousands of such cases currently remain on court dockets.

This incremental entitlement for the differential between the amounts collected in such suits in settlement or judgments, and the amount awardable from the fund, they estimate, could total up to $26 billion. And if these victims seek to recover the difference, that would add significantly to the cost of the trust fund.

Let me say at the outset that I think the court system as well as the trust fund should be generous to victims. As I said earlier, I don't know of a single victim of asbestos exposure who knowingly and willingly exposed them selves. Many of them were duped by deception of corporate officers who insisted there was no danger involved.

I am not questioning the decision in the bill to extend such payments, but I do join Bates White in questioning whether the programs set forth in the bill can be paid for. What Bates White has said is, if you look at the bill as it is written, and the people who will be compensated, it is going to cost dramatically more than earlier estimates.

Based on these two factors and using very conservative economic assumptions, the Bates White study concludes the bill would create entitlement claims valued between $301 billion and $561 billion.

The bill's trust fund is capped at $140 billion. This study says the amount of payouts could be more than double, or as much as three times, or even more than that in actual payouts. That is how far we could have missed the mark when it comes to this economic analysis underlying this bill.

What this study found raises serious questions about the solvency of this fund: Saying to the thousands of victims, Close up your court case, stop working with your attorney, stop going to the courthouse, we are going to take care of you, and then we don't. We come up with a $140 billion trust fund that is inadequate to the needs of these victims

I also want to point out that Bates White updated their study yesterday. The economists at this firm announced this week that they found a $90 billion error in the Congressional Budget Office's analysis of this same bill.

This is a serious issue. It should be serious enough to take this bill off the calendar. If the CBO's estimate is wrong by $90 billion, we have to stop where we are. We shouldn't go forward. Bates White's new analysis demonstrates this oversight.

According to the numbers the Congressional Budget Office presents in its own report, CBO asserts that 1.5 million individuals will receive compensation for nonmalignant conditions, meaning they have bilateral pleural disease and 5 or more years of exposure. Under this bill, these victims are entitled to medical monitoring.

Yet, national cancer incidence rates establish that more than 200,000 of these claimants among the 1.5 million will eventually develop lung or other cancers.

This means, if we take the CBO numbers as the baseline, there could be an additional 200,000 claimants who will qualify for lung and other cancer claims, which are paid out much higher levels of compensation in this bill. Yet the Congressional Budget Office's current estimate takes into consideration only 28,000 people in this category.

So, the new information from Bates White presents a real concern that the Congressional Budget Office may have missed at least 170,000 potential victims who weren't considered in the CBO's earlier analysis.

The Congressional Budget Office relied on an arbitrary standard assumption that only 15 percent of the population will ever file for the higher claim. These additional claimants represent more than $90 billion in additional costs to the fund.

CBO's estimate currently assumes that 85 percent of qualifying claimants who took the trouble to sign up for medical monitoring under this bill would not file the paperwork to collect their entitlement if they ever developed a more serious illness down the road. This is not a credible scenario.

After all, isn't the purpose of medical monitoring to provide early detection of these and other diseases, which means that more people rather than fewer would have the opportunity to learn about such illnesses?

As late as yesterday, there are new, fundamental questions being raised about whether this trust fund at $140 billion gives us an honest figure to work with. If it is not an honest figure, it means as the years progress, we are going to have to reduce payments to victims

To suggest this is a victims bill is to overlook the obvious: the starting point of the bill is so flawed. Let me show you some charts about how this will be funded because I think they are a good indication of the problem that the fund faces in convincing a majority of the Senate to support this bill.

This is a chart which addresses the timing of this bill, comparing when the liabilities will arise for claims coming into the fund, versus when the revenues from the companies will come into the trust fund. As you can see, the red line shows liabilities which are very high in the earlier years, but you will notice the low green line is never adequate to meet the needs of liability. From the outset, the fund is falling behind. Simply stated, it is not collecting enough money to compensate victims.

One of the arguments being made is we have to replace the court system because it takes so long; there are delays. What is going to happen when this fund doesn't have enough money and hundreds of thousands of Americans who are sick and dying come for compensation?

At best, we will borrow money, adding more cost to the fund dramatically, or we will tell them to wait in line until we have received enough trust fund revenue to pay them. Or, I suppose, as the chairman said yesterday, we will just say we can pay them now, but we will have to pay them less than what we promised in this bill. That appears to be the range of options based on the way we are dealing with this issue.

Take a look at this chart which shows that liabilities will greatly exceed the assets of the trust fund from the very start, and the excess—the red line—continues to build over the years. This is a 50-year period of time. You can see even with the revenue coming in that it never matches the liabilities they anticipate. This chart doesn't even include the new information from the Bates White study, which could mean there is even a greater amount of shortfall in this trust fund.

Let's talk about interest costs for a moment. The fund borrows in its early years because, obviously, all the corporations on the secret list can't come up with all the money they are supposed to produce initially. Some of them will take a period of time. In fact, some of them have told us to forget it, that this bill will end up bankrupting them. So those companies will disappear.

But in the meantime, there are still needy victims and people who would otherwise go to courts for compensation. The fund starts to borrow in its first years to meet the shortfall but realizes barely half the value of future revenue, and the other half has to be used to pay interest.

Senator HATCH was here a few moments ago speaking about attorney's fees and how that is taking money away from victims. Some would argue that without an attorney, many victims would never have their day in court or a chance to succeed in court. What we have here is the fact that we will be paying into this trust fund and almost half of the revenues will be spent on interest and administration. Out of the $140 billion in the trust fund-which may not be enough-almost half of it is going to go to pay creditors, financial institutions, banks, maybe foreign governments. I don't know who will lend money to this trust fund. We will pay out interest to them, and we will have less to pay to the vic-

This was really supposed to be an upfront, no-fault system to help victims with $140 billion compensation over 50 years. It turns out that the real steady winners are creditors of the fund. According to one analysis, as little as 52 percent of the trust fund could be used to pay the claimants and 48 percent for interest, which is almost half of the amount of money during the life of this fund.

Some suggest that we are doing a great favor by creating this trust fund. Well, it is a great favor for sure to credit institutions but to the victims, it is not. As more money is paid out in interest, less is available for the victims.

What the Senator who authored this bill said yesterday is, We will just cut the compensation. That is the way we will make up the difference. For every dollar of interest paid, we pay one dollar less to someone who is dying of mesothelioma. That is how this is being conducted.

The sponsors have put a lot of time in this bill, and it was a Herculean task to try to address something 50 years in the future. I concede to all of that. But shouldn't the people who are pushing for a change have the burden of proving that change is an improvement over status quo? Shouldn't that be the starting point of a debate?

If you want to change the current system, shouldn't you have the burden of establishing that your change is a good one, and that $140 billion is the right figure, rather than to say that Senator Daschle and Senator FRIST thought it was a good figure? Shouldn't you have the burden of showing that the input of money into the trust fund from the secret list of corporations and insurance companies is going to be adequate to meet the payouts of the victims? Shouldn't you have the responsibility of showing that $140 billion is going to go to the victims rather than to creditors and financial institutions and interest and administrative costs?

Isn't that the starting point? I think it is. Once they have met that burden of proof, then we can say: All right, we will compare the court system to your trust fund and decide which is the better way to go. But they have not met that burden of proof. They have asked us to accept on faith that this trust fund is going to treat victims fairly on a timely basis. I think many people are concerned about that.

There will be enormous amounts of claims that are expected to flood into this trust fund on day one, and by that time all the cases in court will be shut down if they are not at the jury stage. Let me repeat that important fact. If the litigants are not presenting any evidence in court, all of those cases will be shut down, according to this bill.

You know those victims are going to turn around and say: My husband is dying. My husband has limited activity and can't work. Where do I go now?

They will be told: Come to the trust fund. Come to this $140 billion trust fund.

We can expect a flood of applications in the early stages if this trust fund is created. Will the Department of Labor be able to create this new office and new bureaucracy to manage this flood of claims?

For those of you who have any doubts about the efficiency of government and its ability to respond to millions of people in need, I would suggest the following words: the Medicare prescription drug bill. You know what I mean.

This system which was created 2 years ago by the Senate and the House and signed by the President was supposed to compensate some 40 million Medicare recipients for their prescription drugs. Ask any Senator in this Chamber what they have heard back home. This is a disaster. They had 2 years to be ready. And, unfortunately, this system is fatally flawed. One critic said it is an unsalvageable fiasco and lives are at stake. Senior citizens now wonder if they can get their prescription drugs filled, and for some of those it is critical for them to just keep going on a day-to-day basis.

Now they are being told in this bill to trust us again.

We are going to create a Federal trust fund where hundreds of thousands of claims may come in initially and ask that they be compensated on a timely basis, and they will be told by the Federal Government, trust us, we will give you the money right away.

That is cold comfort for someone who has been sitting for a year or two with medical records and lawyers getting ready to present their case in court. But if they aren't among the fortunate few who have brought their case to a jury or to a judge, presented their evidence, and ended up with a verdict or settlement, then, unfortunately, everything they have done is for naught. They are tossed out of the system.

These victims deserve better than empty promises in this bill. They and the Senate deserve solid information about how this bill will work and remain solvent throughout the entire lifetime. Without such information, the Senate should reject this bill.

TRIBUTE TO PROFESSOR THOMAS CROMBIE SCHELLING

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize Professor Thomas Crombie Schelling, distinguished university professor emeritus in the Department of Economics and the School of Public Policy at the University of Maryland at College Park, recipient of the 2005 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economics for his work in game theory analysis. Professor Schelling shares this prestigious award with Robert J. Aumann of Hebrew University in Jerusalem to whom I also offer my most heartfelt congratulations.

I had the privilege and the pleasure of being one of Professor Schelling's students at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University in the early 1970s. Having just graduated from West Point, I was pursuing a masters degree in public policy at the Kennedy School. The public policy program, then, was a new initiative to train recent college graduates for careers in public service. The Kennedy School had assembled a stellar collection of scholars in the fields of political science, economics, quantitative methods, and statistics. Tom Schelling was already recognized as one of the preeminent economists of his generation and was a leader in the economics instruction of the public policy program.

Professor Schelling's classes were fascinating discussions about topics ranging from social costs and externalities to the incentive structures necessary to diminish conflict. Rather than being couched in jargon and equations, he was able to talk in familiar terms and used familiar examples, such as cows grazing on common areas or an informal economy based on the trading of cigarettes in a POW camp. I must confess, I was not altogether prepared for his folksy but penetrating intellect. But on reflection over many years, I have come to see it as one of the most useful and powerful courses that I have ever been fortunate to take. I realize that his point was to make us think, not just to give us some techniques. His insightful framework of analysis has been extremely useful to me in all my endeavors.

Professor Schelling's professional standing was matched by the personal regard that his colleagues and students displayed for him. I was fortunate to associate with a gentleman whose integrity and decency and kindness left a lasting impression.

Professor Schelling received the Nobel Prize "for having enhanced our understanding of conflict and cooperation through game-theory analysis.' His first book: "The Strategy of Conflict," published in 1960, "set forth his vision of game theory as a unifying framework for the social sciences. Professor Schelling showed that a party can strengthen its position by overtly worsening its own options, that the capability to retaliate can be more useful than the ability to resist an attack. and that uncertain retaliation is more credible and more efficient than certain retaliation."

Professor Schelling's groundbreaking work laid the foundation for "new developments in game theory and accelerated its use and application throughout the social sciences. Notably, his analysis of strategic commitments has explained a wide range of phenomena, from the competitive strategies of firms to the delegation of political decision power."

As a result of Professor Schelling's work, the theoretical realm of game theory can now be applied to the real world. This real-world application is known as interactive decisionmaking theory and is used to explain why some individuals, organizations, and countries succeed in promoting cooperation while others suffer from conflict. His insights have proven extremely relevant in conflict resolution and efforts to avoid war.

Born on April 14, 1921, in Oakland, CA, Professor Schelling's distinguished career spans five decades. After earning a degree in economics at the University of California at Berkeley in 1944, Professor Schelling worked at the U.S. Bureau of the Budget and served in Copenhagen and Paris under the Marshall Plan. He received a Ph.D. in economics from Harvard University in 1951 and worked for the Truman administration. He later became a professor of economics at Yale University, held a position at the RAND Corporation, and, in 1958, joined the faculty of Harvard University as a professor of economics. In 1969, Professor Schelling also began to teach at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, where he held the chair as the Lucius N. Littauer Professor of Political Economy. He left Harvard in 1990 to teach at the University of Maryland

Professor Schelling has been elected to the National Academy of Sciences, the Institute of Medicine, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and was president of the American Economic Association, at which he is a distinguished fellow. He was the recipient of the Frank E. Seidman Distinguished Award in Political Economy and the National Academy of Sciences Award for Behavioral Research Relevant to the Prevention of Nuclear War. Professor Schelling has written 10 books and published extensively on military strategy and arms control, energy and environmental policy, climate change, nuclear proliferation, terrorism, organized crime, foreign aid, international trade, conflict and bargaining theory, racial segregation and integration, the military draft, health policy, tobacco and drug policy, and ethical issues in public policy and in business. His range of inquiry and his searching mind have covered a vast panorama of the issues of most concern to America over the last 50 years.

Professor Schelling is a member of a generation that has borne witness to many extraordinary events; however, in his own words "the most spectacular event of the past half century is one that did not occur. We have enjoyed fifty-eight years without any use of nuclear weapons." His work, and the work of Professor Aumann, has been guided by the desire to enhance the understanding of conflict and cooperation and deepen the world's understanding of human behavior, relationships, and motivation in an effort to prevent the catastrophe of nuclear war.

Professor Schelling, thank you for all of your contributions to the preservation of peace and, again, congratulations on your outstanding achievement.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Texas.

Mr. CORNYN. Mr. President, I want to spend the next 20 minutes or so talking about the asbestos reform legislation that is pending before the Senate.

During the 3 years I have been in the Senate, I have had the great honor and privilege of serving under two great chairmen of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Chairman Orrin Hatch and Chairman Arlen Specter. This bill that has come to the floor is the product of a Herculean effort, starting with committee, and now in the able hands of Senator Specter. Along with our ranking member, Senator Leahy, they are cosponsors of this bill.

I am one of 18 members of the Judiciary Committee who voted to get the product out of the committee and to the floor of the Senate because I believe it is imperative we find a solution to the scandal-ridden asbestos litigation crisis facing this Nation. But I was one of seven Senators who expressed some strong reservations about the bill in its current form, and I think I owe it to my colleagues to explain what we were thinking, what at least I was thinking, and what some of those reservations are.
