

REPUBLICAN DELAY TACTICS ON APPROPRIATIONS BILLS

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I was hopeful at the beginning of this week that we were finally going to address America's homeland security needs and also increase funding for our veterans' health care by a significant amount, more than has been done, I think, in over 50 or 70 years.

But instead what we saw was a concerted effort by the Republican minority to delay every one of these appropriations bills: the Homeland Security bill that deals with our local responders, in response to 9/11, and in the case of the Military Construction and Veterans bill, they constantly delayed our efforts to move a bill that was going to increase funding and benefits for our veterans.

It really is awful to see what they've been doing all week in trying to delay and delay. If you go back to when the Republicans were in the majority, they weren't even able to pass the appropriations bills. They weren't even able to get their work done because they constantly delayed until they actually lost the election and never finished the bills.

At the same time, they keep talking about spending. Well, every year when they were in the majority the amount of Federal spending continued to go up. The Democrats finally have gotten spending under control and at the same time trying to address the fact that we have this huge Federal debt, a legacy of the Republican majority over the last 12 years.

And what do the Republicans do? They constantly try to delay. I just hope that it's over today and we don't see more efforts to delay these important bills on the part of the Republican minority.

THEODORE OTTO HERMAN HILL

(Mr. POE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. POE. Mr. Speaker, Theodore Otto Herman Hill—with a nickname of "Thunderhead" because of his fiery red hair—was my mom's father. He was born in Texas in 1899 and his grandparents were early Texas settlers from Germany.

Theodore was a cotton farmer, raised bees, and raised cattle. He married young and had three daughters that he called "the boys" who were expected to help him pick cotton.

Papa, as we called him, was a hunter, a taxidermist and a Teddy Roosevelt conservationist. He found on his land hundreds of Apache and Comanche arrowheads that he organized, and his collection will soon be turned over to the Texas Ranger Museum.

He could tell the type of tree by looking at the bark or observing the leaves.

He predicted the weather by watching the animals.

One afternoon in the 1950s while he was laying asphalt as a foreman of a work crew for the Texas Highway Department, a drunk driver broke through the barricade and killed my grandfather. I was 5 years old. My grandmother lived another 50 years after his death.

What I know of my grandfather makes me proud of my heritage.

This Father's Day we remember our fathers and grandfathers and know that a lot of good men have made us who we are today.

And that's just the way it is.
