

in helping their students understand and appreciate history.

I commend Ryan, Ashley, and Shannon for their hard work and commitment to sharing our national history. They are models of student excellence not only for their peers in New Mexico, but for students nationwide.●

TRIBUTE TO LIEUTENANT COLONEL DAREL LEETUN

● Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, on Saturday July 7, Hettinger, ND, population 1,574, a town near where I grew up, will celebrate its centenary. In honor of that historic date, the entire community is hosting a week of parades, speeches, dances, picnics, concerts and all kinds of entertainment.

Along with all the other centenary events, Hettinger has set aside time with a choir and a band to honor America's veterans. During the program the community will recognize the service of LTC Darel Leetun, a local son who earned the Air Force Cross and lost his life in Vietnam.

Darel Leetun's service is typical of the dedication and sacrifice that American veterans have exhibited throughout our history. But his individual story is remarkable. And I would like to spend a few minutes to tell you some of it.

Darel Leetun was born in Hettinger on December 24, 1932. He was raised in North Dakota and graduated from Steele High School and North Dakota State University. He served as a county agent, spent a year in India and then joined the Air Force and became a fighter pilot. He was sent to Vietnam.

On September 17, 1966, then-Captain Leetun took off on his 96th mission, leading a flight of F-105 Thunderchiefs against a high priority target near Hanoi. It was heavily defended and Captain Leetun had to lead his flight through intense and accurate flak, surface-to-air missiles, and MiG fighters.

On the bomb run, Leetun's Thunderchief was hit by ground fire. According to witnesses, his F-105 became a flaming torch and nearly uncontrollable. But Leetun remained in formation and delivered his high-explosive ordnance directly on target.

After releasing his bombs, Captain Leetun's plane went out of control and was seen to crash approximately 10 miles from the target area.

Other pilots in the flight saw the jet crash, but did not receive emergency beeper signals or see a parachute.

For a long time, his family did not know what had happened to him. They didn't know if he was killed in the crash or if he was a prisoner of war.

The Air Force declared Darel Leetun missing in action and promoted him twice. But finally, in 1975, the U.S. Government declared Lieutenant Colonel Leetun dead.

In 1995, remains that were believed to be Leetun's were found on a hillside by a joint U.S.-Vietnamese search team. It wasn't until 2005 that they were positively identified by American forensic experts in Hawaii.

Darel Leetun was buried with full military honors on July 8, 2005, at Arlington National Cemetery. I attended his funeral.

Darel's grandchildren Joni, Jack, and Jane sang "America the Beautiful" at the memorial ceremony in the Arlington chapel. Then eight Army horses drew his caisson down a twisting road to the grave site, where MG Charles Baldwin presented Darel's son Keith with the American flag that covered the casket.

The service ended with a 21-gun salute, followed by the playing of "Taps."

Darel Leetun was awarded 14 medals for his military service, including the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Bronze Star, the Air Medal and the Purple Heart. He is the only North Dakotan from the Vietnam war who received the Air Force Cross for extraordinary heroism, which is the second highest medal for valor in combat.

Keith Leetun was only six when his father was shot down. He barely knew his father and he didn't know much about how he died.

But one day in 1992, Keith met his father's wingman on the golf course, completely by accident. They happened to be the only golfers on the first tee at 7 a.m. No one was around except the greens keeper. They started chatting and learned of their mutual connection to Darel Leetun.

When he found out that Keith was Darel's son, the wingman said, "Your father was my mentor, best friend and the 'heart and soul' of the squadron. He was the life of the party and we called him 'Gravel'. He was a substitute pilot the day he got shot down. He went the extra mile and hit his target as his jet was on fire!"

Since then, Keith Leetun has been driven to share his father's story with other Vietnam veterans and to get them to share their own stories.

After the main veterans program in Hettinger, Keith and the rest of Darel Leetun's family will host a smaller program about Darel's life and military service called "My Way Back." They are doing that not just to commemorate Darel, but to honor all Vietnam veterans and to encourage them to share their stories and experiences with each other and with the public.

Most Vietnam veterans were drafted into service. But they served honorably. Nearly 60,000 of them didn't come home.

By the time the Vietnam conflict ended in the 1970s, the war had split the Nation. In the ugliness of it, the returning veterans were often derided for their part in it.

Many of them were treated horribly. Much of the general public spurned them, and their government ignored them.

Fortunately, times have changed.

In 1982 the Vietnam Memorial Wall was dedicated with the names of the fallen etched into black granite. That has gone a long way toward healing the wounds of Vietnam.

And with today's wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, our country is beginning to pay more attention to the needs of all veterans. It is ironic that the Vietnam veterans who were cheated of their welcome home parades have been loud advocates of seeing that today's veterans get theirs.

LTC Darel Leetun is an example of the courage and sacrifice of all those who have followed orders and gone into harm's way in defense of our country. This Nation's survival depends on present and future generations of Darel Leetun's kind of soldier.

I wish to join the citizens of Hettinger, ND, in thanking Darel Leetun and all of America's veterans for their service to our country.●

TRIBUTE TO BOB BARKER

● Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, Bob Barker has graced millions of living rooms with his warm presence and genuine manner. Sadly today airs his final episode hosting America's beloved "The Price is Right" on CBS, but today is appropriate to remember the impact this wonderful man had on all of us, as he became a piece of our history and a small part of our lives each day.

Bob Barker's name is synonymous with CBS's "The Price is Right," which he began hosting on September 4, 1972. It ends today as the longest running daytime game show in television history. He holds a plethora of longevity records, including a record for holding a weekday TV job continuously for 50 years as of 2006, the oldest person to receive an MTV movie award for his role in the comedy "Billy Madison," and he has hosted or appeared on a 5-day-a-week television program longer than anyone else in the history of television. Also on December 31, 2006, Bob Barker celebrated the anniversary of his 50th year on national television. He is truly a fixture in American culture and television legend. His grace and humor have truly contributed to his success, and will be missed greatly by his millions of loyal fans ranging from the young to the young at heart.

Bob Barker is also a strong advocate for animal rights, and brings that passion into his role as host of "The Price is Right." He credits his love of animals and awareness to animal rights activism to his late wife Dorothy Jo. He continued the work in her memory. Bob insisted the show stop giving away fur coats as prizes, and formed the DJ&T Foundation that contributes millions of dollars to fund animal rescue and park facilities across the country. His passion for the cause has even brought him here to Washington, DC, where he spoke on Capitol Hill on the issue of animal rights.

Barker has been recognized for his success and talent by receiving 17 Emmy Awards and the Lifetime Achievement Award for Daytime Television in 1999. Barker has also had the honor of being inducted into the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences Hall of Fame. In March of 1998, to commemorate the five thousandth episode of "The Price is Right," CBS dedicated the show's soundstage in his honor.

America will certainly miss being greeted by the smiling and vibrant face of Bob Barker each morning, however, his success in both his career and in life are indisputable. There is no doubt Bob Barker has positively impacted the lives of many, and on this day as we celebrate with Bob the airing of his final episode hosting "The Price is Right," we should also extend our thanks to Bob for the many delightful years and countless memories he has granted us.●

TRIBUTE TO CONGREGATION BETH EL

● Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, it is with great pride that I pay tribute to Congregation Beth El on its 120th anniversary. The congregation will celebrate this milestone with a weekend of events titled "May Ohr L'Ohr: From Light to Light" on June 22 through June 24, 2007. This celebration will highlight the congregation's rich history and recognize its special place in the Grand Traverse community.

Congregation Beth El was formed in the late 1800s by Jewish immigrants arriving from Poland and Russia. In 1885, the cornerstone was laid for the Beth El synagogue, a simple two-story gable-and-clapboard structure. Today, the building is the oldest synagogue in continuous use in Michigan and is featured on the State Register of Historic Sites. The synagogue, originally built to hold an Orthodox congregation, has evolved over the years to serve all members of the Jewish community, as well as to welcome those of other faiths.

The vitality of Congregation Beth El can be attributed to the hard work, dedication, and vision of the congregation. The congregation, led in large measure by the executive committee, has sought to make the synagogue the center of the Jewish community's religious and social life. One such example is the summer rabbi program. The program enables young rabbis to travel to Traverse City to share their enthusiasm for and commitment to Judaism with members of the congregation and community. This program has been greatly successful and eventually led to a year-round rabbi presence for Congregation Beth El.

On the celebration of the 120th anniversary of Congregation Beth El, I would like to extend my best wishes to all members of the congregation. I also commend the leadership of Congregation Beth El on maintaining a synagogue that has provided a place for those seeking answers in Judaism and a center of Jewish activities in northern Michigan. Once again, congratulations on 120 years of service and growth in the Grand Traverse area.●

TRIBUTE TO TODD BEUKE

● Mrs. MURRAY. Mr. President, I wish to recognize Todd Beuke, a great contributor to the education community in the State of Washington. Mr. Beuke is an exceptional teacher who has been honored this year as a finalist for the Richard T. Farrell Teacher of Merit Award for his outstanding success in teaching history.

As a teacher at Sequim Middle School, Mr. Beuke has been able to create excitement in the classroom by using creative teaching methods that resonate with his students. Students and teachers alike have praised Mr. Beuke for his supportive teaching style and the comfortable environment he has created in which students can explore history.

Mr. Beuke is an innovator in Washington State education, an inspiration to his students, and a teacher capable of making history lessons relevant and accessible. Mr. Beuke's work extends beyond the classroom as well. He has helped expand the National History Day program throughout Washington State.

The National History Day program is a national education organization that encourages professional development and active student learning. The program provides publications and education programs that help guide teachers in methods to engage students and bring history to life. Washington State teachers and students have benefited from the effort Mr. Beuke has made to share information about the History Day program. The National History Day awards are a valuable way to highlight positive role models in our education system. I am proud Mr. Beuke has been nominated for this award.

I thank Todd Beuke for his work in the classroom and for his commitment to education in my home State. I am sure he will continue to be successful in inspiring students to enjoy the study of history.●

RECOGNIZING BRISTOL, SOUTH DAKOTA

● Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize Bristol, SD. The town of Bristol will celebrate the 125th anniversary of its founding this year.

Located in Day County, Bristol was founded as a result of railroad expansion and named after the English city of Bristol by district railroad surveyor C.P. Prior. The town is a designated spot on the Yellowstone Trail, which once served as a route for covered wagons heading west. Found in the Glacial Lakes Region of northeastern South Dakota, Bristol offers excellent hunting and fishing opportunities. The town is also home to the Zucchini Festival, an annual summer event with games and activities centered on zucchini.

Bristol has served as home to famous residents throughout its abundant history. One such resident is longtime "NBC Nightly News" anchor Tom Brokaw. Mr. Brokaw's great-grandfather, Richard P. Brokaw, was one of the first families to settle in Bristol. He operated the Brokaw House, the first structure built in town. The hotel was built and rebuilt through the years to accommodate people attracted to Day County.

Since its beginning, Bristol has been a strong reflection of South Dakota's values and traditions. As they celebrate this milestone anniversary, I am confident that Bristol will continue to thrive and succeed for the next 125 years.

I would like to offer my congratulations to the citizens of Bristol on their anniversary, and I wish them continued prosperity in the years to come.●

RECOGNIZING AKASKA, SOUTH DAKOTA

● Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize Akaska, SD. The town of Akaska will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding this year.

Since its beginning in 1907, Akaska has been a strong reflection of South Dakota's values and traditions. As they celebrate this milestone anniversary, I am confident that Akaska will continue to thrive and succeed for the next 100 years.

I would like to offer my congratulations to the citizens of Akaska on their anniversary and wish them continued prosperity in the years to come.●

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

The following message from the President of the United States was transmitted to the Senate by one of his secretaries:

REPORT ON THE CONTINUATION OF THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY WITH RESPECT TO BLOCKING THE PROPERTY OF CERTAIN PERSONS UNDERMINING DEMOCRATIC PROCESSES OR INSTITUTIONS IN BELARUS AS DECLARED IN EXECUTIVE ORDER 13405 OF JUNE 16, 2006—PM 16

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent to the Federal Register for publication the enclosed notice stating that the national emergency
