

elementary schools, two middle schools and a high school projected to open in the near future.

Mr. Mikolajcik was a strong proponent of American Canyon during his tenure on the Napa City Council, where he served two terms from 1980 to 1988. Mr. Mikolajcik was at the forefront of the negotiations to integrate American Canyon into Napa County, and in 1992 that goal was achieved. He continued in his civic efforts and served one term on the Napa County Planning Commission, where he was involved in the formation of a volunteer fire department and a water and recreation district.

Madam Speaker, it is appropriate at this time that we thank John Mikolajcik for his years of dedication and service on behalf of the Napa Valley. He has been a model citizen and leader in American Canyon and his presence there has enriched the lives of everyone in our community.

COMMENDING DR. KHEM AGGARWAL FOR HIS CONTRIBUTIONS TO HIGHER EDUCATION

HON. RODNEY ALEXANDER

OF LOUISIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to commemorate Dr. Khem Aggarwal for his outstanding contributions to the field of higher education.

Dr. Aggarwal has been an educator in higher education for over 50 years, having served in his homeland, India, for 13 years, at the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater, Wis., from 1983 to 1986, Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., from 1981 to 1983, and currently serving as Professor of Mathematics at Louisiana State University at Alexandria, Alexandria, La., where he has been teaching since 1986.

Dr. Aggarwal has made a tremendous impact on the achievements and successes of students who have enrolled in his college courses. His first priority has and continues to be ensuring the academic development of his students, as evidenced by time spent with them both inside and outside of the classroom setting.

Throughout his tenure at Louisiana State University at Alexandria, alumnae as well as university graduates have consistently reported how Dr. Aggarwal contributed to their success in their chosen career fields. Moreover, his colleagues regard him as an excellent professor and deem him a gracious and grateful person deserving of recognition and honor for his active role in the advancement of higher education.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in commending Dr. Khem Aggarwal for his exceptional contributions and remarkable influence on the field of higher education.

TRIBUTE TO GULF COPPER & MANUFACTURING

HON. RON PAUL

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. PAUL. Madam Speaker, on February 27, the Galveston Chamber of Commerce will present its business of the year award to Gulf Copper & Manufacturing Corporation, Gulf Copper, in recognition of the many contributions that it has made to the Galveston community. I am pleased to join my friends from the Galveston Chamber of Commerce in paying tribute to Gulf Copper.

Gulf Copper is an employee-owned company that has been in existence for over 50 years. Originally specializing in the installation of copper tubing on marine vessels, Gulf Copper has since expanded into the offshore, military marine, petrochemical, and industrial markets with base services including full topside marine repair, steel fabrication, steel and mechanical repair, machining, painting, and blasting. These expansions of service are helping Gulf Copper achieve their objective of being the preferred provider of marine and industrial fabrication and repair services in the Texas gulf coast.

Gulf Copper's customer list includes most major U.S. commercial ship operators as well as the U.S. Government Maritime Administration, Coast Guard, U.S. Navy, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and the Military Sealift Command.

Gulf Copper's success has brought many benefits to Galveston. For example, Gulf Copper is responsible for pumping a seven-digit revenue stream into the Port of Galveston. Gulf Copper is also a source of employment for many residents of Galveston County. In June 2007, Gulf Copper Dry Dock and Rig Repair added an additional 683 employees to its already large staff. Gulf Copper has also helped attract London-based Rolls Royce Commercial Marine to the Galveston area.

Gulf Copper also benefits the people of Galveston by serving as a model of corporate civic involvement. The company has helped promote Galveston's Oceans of Opportunities Job Fair and works with Galveston College to promote Workforce Investment Act-funded welding and pipe fitting classes.

Gina Spagnola, president of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, said that Gulf Copper deserves this award because: "They are actively involved in the Galveston community and have made a positive impact on both employers and workers. This chamber and the City of Galveston are grateful for Gulf Copper's commitment to our community."

Madam Speaker, I am pleased to join the Galveston Chamber of Commerce in honoring the management and staff of Gulf Copper for all of their contributions to the economy and community of Galveston, Texas.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. TRENT FRANKS

OF ARIZONA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. FRANKS of Arizona. Madam Speaker, on rollcall No. 43, I was unavoidably detained. Had I been present, I would have voted "yes."

HONORING AN ADVOCATE FOR ARMY QUALITY OF LIFE, WILLIAM A. ARMBRUSTER

HON. SAM FARR

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. FARR. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor a tireless public servant who has dedicated much of his career to improving the quality of life for our soldiers and their families. William A. Armbruster shortly will be retiring from the Army as he steps down from his role as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army for Privatization and Partnerships.

I first came to know Bill through the Army's collaboration with myself and local officials over re-use issues at the former Fort Ord, which was closed in a BRAC action in 1991. More importantly, Bill was pivotal in shepherding plans to privatize Army housing at the Presidio of Monterey—now known as the Ord Military Community—in one of the most successful Residential Community Initiatives ever undertaken in the United States. In Monterey there is a strong military presence including the Army and Navy and related agencies. Both services were in dire need of upgrading their housing to accommodate growing numbers of personnel. Rather than expend millions of dollars in rehabbing inadequate barracks and family quarters for soldiers and their families who are attached to the Defense Language Institute, Bill helped craft a first-in-the-nation joint RCI project between the Army and the Navy using private capital to leverage new and improved housing stock. Now not only do both the DLI and the Naval Postgraduate School have premier housing for their personnel, they have it at minimal cost to the Federal government.

This is the sort of creative thinker Bill Armbruster is. He uses the power of his office to make positive changes in his department and for the men and women who serve our military.

Even more recently Bill has been front-and-center on negotiating a complicated land swap at the former Fort Ord that, again, will result in much needed housing for Army personnel and for the first time will make available this housing to essential personnel attached to the DLI and other Federal agencies. This deal, colloquially known as the Stilwell Kidney exchange, involves the Army, the City of Sea-side, the California State Parks system and the American Youth Hostel. It has taken 4 years to accomplish. But Bill stuck with it because he knew it was the right thing to do to advance the mission of the Army and the nation.

Madam Speaker, I will miss Bill Armbruster for his creativity, his dedication and especially his humanness. He was always looking out for our service men and women's quality of life. It has been a joy to work with a man of such integrity, and I wish him well in the years ahead.

THE KING LEGACY AWARD FOR INTERNATIONAL SERVICE

HON. JESSE L. JACKSON, JR.

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Madam Speaker, I rise today to bring attention to "The King Legacy Award for International Service." In January 2007, Greek Ambassador Alexandros Mallias received this coveted award for his contributions to peace in the Balkans, to Greek-American relations, and to efforts to prevent such abhorrent practices as human trafficking, which is a modern form of slavery.

Accepting the award, the Greek ambassador spoke of Dr. King's struggle for freedom and against discrimination in the context of the search for justice memorialized by classic Greek tragic playwrights, like Aeschylus in his play "Prometheus Bound" and Sophocles in his play "Antigone." He also highlighted the inspiration given by Dr. King to struggles for democracy worldwide, including Greece during military dictatorship in the late 1960s, and against discrimination, noting also that AHEPA, the largest and oldest Greek-American association, was founded in Atlanta, GA in 1922, precisely to defend Greek immigrants from persecution and segregation.

Below is an article Ambassador Mallias wrote on Dr. King and the Greek classics.

[From the Washington Times, Jan. 29, 2008]

DR. KING AND THE GREEK CLASSICS

(By Alexandros P. Mallias)

This year will mark the 40th anniversary of the death of Martin Luther King, Jr. His death on April 4, 1968, found my country in the midst of one of its darkest hours, as the one year anniversary of an oppressive military dictatorship neared.

With my fellow citizens living under military rule and deprived of the very basic freedoms, I was inspired by the people of Birmingham, Ala., of Memphis and Atlanta, who, in a most dignified way, poured into the streets, standing up for what was rightly theirs.

Across the Atlantic, the civil-rights movement reached us in the clarion voice of Martin Luther King Jr., and hope stirred in the hearts of many Greek people like myself that "We", too, "Shall Overcome."

Upon my arrival in Washington as Greece's ambassador, and influenced by what I call the current "Golden Age for the Classics" in the United States, I have gone back to the staples of my education with new appreciation—Sophocles, Plato, Homer, Heraclitus, Thucydides. And I realized that the Rev. King's speeches and homilies are fraught with references to the Greek classics.

I pored over his writings and speeches and realized his was no simple preaching. I began to sense he had a profound understanding of what we call the "classics." In his Nobel acceptance speech, he spoke of Greek literature, of Homer and the temptresses Sirens, of Orpheus—not in dry academic fashion, but as part and parcel of his understanding of the world.

As the beneficiary of a classical education, as were most young Greeks of my generation, the words of Dr. King brought to mind great orators of ancient Greece—Demosthenes, for one, who had to overcome his own particular limitations.

In his sermon "Loving Your Enemies," delivered at Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 17, 1957, Dr. King expounded on the power and comprehensiveness of the Greek language, explaining how Greek "comes to our aid beautifully in giving us the real meaning and depth of the whole philosophy of love . . . for you see the Greek language has three words for love . . . eros . . . a sort of aesthetic love. Plato talks about it a great deal in his dialogues, a sort of yearning of the soul for the realm of the gods. Then the Greek language talks about philia . . . the intimate affection between personal friends. The Greek language comes out with another word for love. It is the word agape . . . the understanding, creative, redemptive good will for all men. It is a love that seeks nothing in return."

Erudite men and women have researched the education of Dr. King, concluding that he studied the ancient Greek classics at length and drew inspiration not only from the Bible, but also from ancient Greek philosophers, playwrights and political figures.

Dr. King's "Letter From Birmingham Jail" of April 16, 1963, was addressed to his fellow clergymen and expounded upon his own theory of civil disobedience: "I submit that an individual who breaks a law that conscience tells him is unjust and who willingly accepts the penalty of imprisonment . . . is in reality expressing the highest respect for law" brought to mind Antigone, a reluctant but inevitably brave heroine, in Sophocles' namesake play, who said: "I will not obey an unjust law, and if something happens because of it—so be it."

This was not wasted on classics professor Lewis Sussman of the University of Florida, who wrote extensively on this connection.

I need no further proof of the inspiration Dr. King imparted from the classics than his own words in the last speech of his life, "I've Been to the Mountaintop," which resounded around the world on April 3, 1968, just one day before his assassination in Memphis: "I would take my mental flight by Egypt through, or rather across the Red Sea, through the wilderness on toward the promised land. And in spite of its magnificence, I wouldn't stop there. I would move on by Greece, and take my mind to Mount Olympus. And I would see Plato, Aristotle, Socrates, Euripides and Aristophanes assembled around the Parthenon as they discussed the great and eternal issues of reality."

Dr. King's words continue to inspire me. And what I impart from him is similar to what I imparted from the ancient Greek tradition that the "good life" is the one in which the individual partakes in the responsibility and concerns of all society.

HONORING ALIPIO COCO CABRERA

HON. ALBIO SIRE

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. SIRE. Madam Speaker, I rise today in honor of Alipio Coco Cabrera on his 25th anniversary in radio and television broadcasting. Coco can be considered a communicator by nature. He was born in Villa Mella, Dominican Republic. He started his career as a journalist for "Noti Tiempo" commercial radio station as well as a writer for "El Nacional" newspaper. Coco immigrated to the United States in 1978, settling in New York City. He continued to work for Dominican Republic Media but also became a radio correspondent for "Radio Mil and Nacional."

Coco received a contract with Hispanic Broadcasting Association, HBC, to work on many of their projects. He is now part of the powerful radio and television chain known as Univision. He can be heard on various radio programs, "Coco and Gisela," "Coco Clasicos," and "The Coco and Celines Show" on 105.9 Latin Mix. This show is known as one of the most important morning radio shows in the New York area. He has also made guest appearances on Univision TV shows such as "Despierta America," "Al Despertar" and "Don Francisco Presenta."

Throughout his career, Coco has received numerous national and international awards, which include: "Cassandra Distinguished Radio Personality," presented by the Association of Arts & Journalism of Santo Domingo. He was the first Dominican to receive this award that lived outside the country. In 2007, Coco received the "Distinguished Journalist and Citizen Award" presented by Dr. Pedro Henriquez Ureña, director of Human Rights Organization of Santo Domingo.

Alipio Coco Cabrera is a veteran of radio and is best known for his unique style and electric personality. It is only fitting that on February 17, 2008, he will be honored for 25 years in the radio broadcasting business at a banquet to be held at the United Palace Theater in New York City.

Please join me in honoring Alipio Coco Cabrera for his outstanding achievements and in congratulating him, his children Jean Carols and Jacyra.

RECOGNIZING UNO, THE FIRST BEAGLE TO WIN "BEST IN SHOW" AT THE 2008 WEST-
MINSTER KENNEL CLUB DOG SHOW

HON. JERRY F. COSTELLO

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 14, 2008

Mr. COSTELLO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing Uno, the first beagle to win "Best In Show" at the 132nd Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show at Madison Square Garden.

Uno was bred and is co-owned by Kathy Weichert, of Belleville, IL. While Uno came into this competition with 32 previous best in show ribbons, he faced considerable competition at this year's Westminster event. Not only had no beagle ever won "Best In Show" at Westminster, no beagle had even placed first in the hound division since 1939.

Uno not only won the recognition of the judges at this year's Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show, but he was also the fan's favorite as was made evident by the rousing, standing ovation from the capacity crowd at Madison Square Garden when his victory was announced.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Kathy Weichert, owner of K-Run Kennels in Belleville, IL and recognizing Uno, this year's "Best In Show" winner at the 2008 Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show.
