

PAYING SPECIAL TRIBUTE TO AN
HIV/AIDS ACTIVIST

HON. CHARLES B. RANGEL

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2008

Mr. RANGEL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge Debra Fraser-Howze, a constituent and HIV/AIDS activist, for her many years' of dedication and hard work to find ways to test, educate, and treat those that have HIV/AIDS.

The November 11, 2008, CARIB News article, "Debra Fraser-Howze: Making a Difference," points out her more than 20 years' commitment to helping the fight against HIV/AIDS in New York where she resides, across America, and around the world. Since the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief, PEPFAR, passed, which will allocate $48 billion in Federal money towards fighting this epidemic in Africa, she is now pushing to have some of the money go towards battling HIV/AIDS in the Caribbean. There are 14 Caribbean nations that could get some of the money, including Jamaica where her mother is from. This is a great initiative that Debra Fraser-Howze has made. With her leadership, I am confident that she will be able to get funds from PEPFAR to go towards fighting this epidemic in the Caribbean.

Again, I commend Debra Fraser-Howze for her determination to find cures, provide funding and to educate people about HIV/AIDS around the world.

DEBRA FRASER-HOWZE: MAKING A DIFFERENCE
(By Causewell Vaughan)

There's growing optimism for fighting AIDS in the Caribbean region as billions of dollars become available to fund programs aimed at preventing and containing the disease.

With $48 billion in federal money being set aside to battle the disease in Africa, the Caribbean is actively seeking to qualify for a share.

The funds will be allocated through a U.S. foreign aid program known as the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR). It is the largest commitment in history by any nation to fight a single disease.

"It's going to open doors to a new stream of funding where those doors were not open before," said Debra Fraser-Howze, a longtime HIV/AIDS advocate.

"The Caribbean will have the same positioning as some of those African nations with whom they share a similar AIDS situation."

Fraser-Howze has been helping to lead the fight against HIV/AIDS for more than two decades. She founded the National Black Leadership Commission on AIDS in 1987 and subsequently advised two presidents while she served on the Presidential Advisory Council on HIV/AIDS.

In 2003 she was appointed to the New York City Commission on AIDS and last year to the New York State Governors Advisory Council.

Fraser-Howze is now vice president of External and Government Affairs for OraSure Technologies, a medical diagnostics company. While her responsibilities with the company focus on domestic matters, she remains an active advocate for anti-AIDS funding for the Caribbean.

"It's a personal issue with me," Fraser-Howze said, "because I know the numbers, and I see the rising rate of infection."

That's why she's resolute about the funding, especially since the Caribbean did not receive any of the initial PEPFAR money, which became available in 2003. "The Caribbean islands to which Americans travel all the time need to get the same focus as Africa," she said.

There are 14 Caribbean nations that could get some of the new money. They are Antigua and Barbuda, the Bahamas, Barbados, Belize, Dominica, the Dominican Republic, Grenada, Jamaica, Montserrat, St. Kitts and Nevis, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, St. Lucia, Suriname and Trinidad and Tobago. Any PEPFAR money they receive will be for AIDS testing, prevention, treatment and care.

Fraser-Howze is quick to credit U.S. Rep. Donna Christiansen of the U.S. Virgin Islands for taking the lead in getting those nations included in the PEPFAR funding. "I've known her for more than 25 years, and I've worked with her and her staff on this issue. We understand that it is imperative that the Caribbean have a robust testing initiative," Fraser-Howze said.

But, she added, even with funding the battle against AIDS is truly difficult in the Caribbean because the region's culture is almost an ally of the disease. Fraser-Howze's mother is from Jamaica so she has knowledge of the cultural barriers to AIDS testing.

"Sex and drugs are very taboo topics in the Caribbean, and there is a lot of homophobia because the disease is very much focused on gay men," she said. "That is why the key to testing in the Caribbean is to have those barriers broken down by the community itself."

"I've seen government send in different people and different groups who are not culturally competent. The best approach is for Caribbean nations to develop their own plan. We want them to craft their own proposals to PEPFAR."

Fraser-Howze cited Barbados as already having "a major HIV/AIDS initiative."

She said she's "extremely optimistic" the Caribbean will get PEPFAR money and, she added, "I'm humbled at playing some small role in opening up this opportunity."

HONORING REP. JIM MCCRERY

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2008

Mr. STARK. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor the service of my colleague JIM MCCRERY of Louisiana who is retiring after over 20 years as Member of the U.S. House of Representatives. JIM and I have also served together on the Committee on Ways and Means for 16 years.

Though we are from opposite sides of the aisle—and we frequently take opposite perspectives on issues—he is a colleague I admire greatly and a friend I will miss.

One of the many downsides to the increased partisanship in Congress is that many Members do not take the time to develop personal relationships across the aisle. JIM has never adhered to that philosophy. Maybe that's because he started in Congress on the staff of a Democratic Member of Congress. But I believe it's because JIM values the array of opinions to be had in Congress and is willing to look at the data and listen to others' thoughts before he makes up his mind—not necessarily always toeing a straight party line.

As the Ranking Member on the Committee on Ways and Means during this session of Congress, JIM and our Chairman CHARLIE RANGEL restored civility and respect to the proceedings of our Committee—something that didn't exist under the leadership of the previous Chairman.

For JIM, the title "Honorable" is truly representative of him. He's served his constituents and this country well. His leadership and service will be missed. I wish JIM and his family all the best.

HONORING THE DISTINGUISHED SERVICE OF DOLORES HUERTA

HON. JIM COSTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2008

Mr. COSTA. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the distinguished public service of community organizer Dolores Huerta. She has been selected as this year's honoree from the Center for Kern Political Education. For more than half a century, Dolores has devoted her life's work to ensuring economic justice for farm workers and their families as well as securing rights for women.

Dolores was born on April 10, 1930, in the small mining town of Dawson situated in northern New Mexico. She spent much of her childhood and young adult years in Stockton, graduating from Stockton High School. Dolores continued her studies at University of Pacific's Delta College where she received a provisional teaching credential. Soon after, she began a career in teaching where Dolores became acutely aware of the pressing need to address economic injustice.

During her post in leadership with the Stockton Community Service Organization (CSO), Dolores became christened as an organizer. In 1955, she encountered CSO Executive Director Cesar E. Chavez who shared in her vision of organizing farm workers, distinctively separate from the CSO mission. Thereafter, in 1962, Dolores and Cesar launched the National Farm Workers Association. In 1963, Dolores' lobbying and negotiating skills prevailed in securing Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and disability insurance for California farm workers. The Agricultural Labor Relations Act of 1975 was also enacted with her efforts.

Dolores wielded her powerful voice as the United Farm Worker's spokesperson to gain political power for farm workers. She helped in the election of many candidates: Robert F. Kennedy, President Clinton, Congressman Ron Dellums, Governor Jerry Brown, Congresswoman Hilda Solis, and, most recently, Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama. Currently, Dolores acts as President of the Dolores Huerta Foundation which principally serves to protect, organize and educate working poor immigrants.

In her honor, 5 elementary schools and a high school are named in recognition of Dolores Huerta. Among the countless prestigious awards received include the Eleanor Roosevelt Human Rights Award from President Clinton in 1998, Creative Citizenship Labor Leader Award from Puffin Foundation in 1984, Kern County's Woman of the Year by California State legislature, and the 100 Most Important Women of the 20th Century by Ladies Home Journal. Nine honorary doctorates from universities throughout the U.S. have also been granted.

Throughout her life, Dolores Huerta has proven to be a highly effective community leader whose commitment to justice and public service has proven beneficial for farm workers, working families and women throughout the nation. At the age of 78, Dolores' relentless work continues. We thank her for her noble service and wish her continued success for the future.

IN HONOR OF DR. CARL KOHRT

HON. DEBORAH PRYCE

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2008

Ms. PRYCE. Madam Speaker, on behalf of the citizens of Ohio, I want to recognize the accomplishments of Dr. Carl Kohrt, as he retires as president and chief executive officer of Battelle Memorial Institute.

Carl assumed the leadership of Battelle in 2001 after a long career at Kodak. He immediately put his experience from the private sector into practice at the world's largest non-profit independent research and development organization. Over the past eight years, Battelle has grown substantially in business volume and impact. Battelle has won competitions to manage and operate research and development laboratories for the Department of Energy, the Department of Homeland Security, and international organizations.

Battelle has also been selected for many projects in support of various national and homeland security programs. In fact, within a few weeks of Carl's arrival at Battelle in the summer of 2001, he was able to marshal Battelle's suite of capabilities to help the United States respond to the impact of the 9/11 attacks. Battelle was later asked by the White House to provide staff to help with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security.

Carl Kohrt has also enhanced Battelle's corporate role in the City of Columbus and the State of Ohio. He developed a strategic partnership with The Ohio State University. Battelle has supported many civic enterprises on behalf of the State of Ohio, the City of Columbus, Franklin County, and other organizations, such as COSI.

The son of schoolteachers, Dr. Kohrt, has left a major imprint on Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM) education in Ohio through the Metro School, which is a partnership with The Ohio State University and the school districts of Franklin County. Battelle has also joined with the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, as well as other educational entities in the State of Ohio, to develop additional schools with a focus on STEM education throughout Ohio. Carl's indelible imprint on Ohio will be a signature effort on behalf of STEM education.

The way to judge one's impact on an organization or community is to measure one's personal and corporate accomplishments. Through this lens, it is easy to conclude that Carl has been an outstanding leader for Battelle as an organization and an outstanding leader in the Columbus metropolitan area. Carl has made a significant difference, and we extend to him and his family best wishes and good health in his retirement.

IN RECOGNITION OF SHERYL
YOUNG AND COMMUNITY
GATEPATH

HON. JACKIE SPEIER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2008

Ms. SPEIER. Madam Speaker, I would like our chamber to recognize a giant in the non-profit community, Sheryl Young, Chief Executive Officer of Community Gatepath, which serves San Mateo, San Francisco and Santa Clara Counties.

Sheryl oversees one of the largest and oldest local non-profit organizations in our nation. Each year, the organization serves more than 8,000 children, adults, seniors and their families, as well as the countless professionals who support them. For close to 90 years, Community Gatepath, with a budget of $11 million, has provided programs, support services, education, and information to those most vulnerable in our society. Sheryl's staff of 150 employees are dedicated to making their motto more than just words. These good people have their hearts committed to Turning Disabilities into Possibilities.

Sheryl Young has more than two decades of managerial experience and her keen business sense has lifted Community Gatepath to new levels. She has an almost unnatural ability to build sustainable non-profit programs. Sheryl has drawn from the best of non-profit and for-profit management styles to craft the unique organizational model that works so well for Community Gatepath. Sheryl is a gifted administrator who leads by example and is always poised to attempt new programs or explore new tools to better service the developmentally disabled community. She is an inspiration to her staff, board of directors and the community leaders who work with her.

As proof of Sheryl's standing in our community, "The Sheryl Young Community Impact Award" has been established to pay tribute to persons, businesses and organizations who make an impact in their community by helping people with disabilities.

Sheryl is a graduate of the Stanford University Graduate School of Business Executive Program for Non-Profit Leaders. She also earned a Masters of Public Health from the University of California at Berkeley, a Masters Degree in Special Education from Ball State University and a Bachelors Degree in Political Science from Purdue University.

Madam Speaker, I first met Sheryl while she worked for San Mateo County and I was a County Supervisor. A member of my staff had a sister who gave birth to a child with Down Syndrome, named Heidi. The new mother was grief-stricken because she had been told by doctors that she would be unable to raise Heidi by herself and should turn her daughter over to a residential treatment center. I reached out to Sheryl and she did not disappoint. She called numerous community agencies, eventually contacting Poplar Center, which was the predecessor to Community Gatepath, and asked if there was any other alternative to giving up the child. Not only was the organization able to help Heidi, but they nabbed a remarkable volunteer, too. Sheryl was so impressed with the program at Poplar Center that she stayed involved. Shortly thereafter, Sheryl's heart and her head convinced her to leave county government and accept an offer to lead the Poplar Center.

By the way, Madam Speaker, I am pleased to note that this year, Heidi will graduate from high school after having lived with her family since she was born.

Madam Speaker, I have known Sheryl Young in many capacities. She has been my constituent, my colleague, my boss and, more significantly, my dear friend. Sheryl has been a loving role model to her daughter, Megan Viera, who, with Sheryl's support, has graduated from college and is ready to begin a life of her own.

Sheryl is at once kind, fun-loving and intensely driven. When you work with Sheryl, you work hard, but you also enjoy every minute of it.

Madam Speaker, please join me in thanking Sheryl Young for being a tenacious, spirited, inspired leader who, no doubt, lifts us all.

IN MEMORY OF MARSHALL
PARKER

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, November 20, 2008

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, on Saturday, November 15th, South Carolina lost a distinguished statesman with the death of former State Senator Marshall Parker of Oconee County.

A thoughtful tribute to his courageous service was published November 18, 2008, in The State newspaper of Columbia, South Carolina, professionally authored by John O'Connor.

[From The State, Nov. 18, 2008]

ONE OF FIRST ELECTED DEMOCRATS WHO LATER RAN AS A REPUBLICAN DIES

(By John O'Connor)

Marshall Parker, who helped blaze a path for state Republicans in the 1960s, died at his Oconee County home Saturday. He was 86.

Parker was among the first elected Democrats to run later as a Republican, twice losing U.S. Senate contests against Ernest "Fritz" Hollings in 1966 and 1968.

Parker was born in Seaboard, N.C., but was first elected to the Seneca City Council and Oconee County Board of School Trustees before winning a state Senate seat in 1955. Parker served a decade in the S.C. House.

"He taught me about working hard," said grandson Burl Williams, who frequently mended fences at Parker's farm. "He had a presence...you could see people looked up to him."

In 1966, Parker decided to become a Republican and challenge friend and former colleague Hollings for the U.S. Senate seat left vacant by Olin Johnston's death. The race was decided by several thousand votes, with some of Parker's supporters believing he had won.

"If that race had gone another few weeks, (Parker) might have won it," said Crawford Cook, who worked on both Parker's and Hollings' campaigns. "There were none any tougher than that first one."

Parker believed his role in creating the state technical college system was his most important accomplishment, friends said. Others also credited him as an example for those switching to the Republican Party.

Williams believed that Parker, as a dairy farm owner, understood early that the Republican Party better matched his ideals.

"There were people who stood up and were candidates even though they couldn't win,"
