

soil from 28 nations was deposited by ambassadors of those nations into a marble crypt into the Garden of Nations. Soil from historic shrines of the United States was also deposited into the adjacent Garden of the United States. In both ceremonies, the intermingling of the soils symbolized a united effort by people of all nationalities toward mutual understanding, harmony, peace, and brotherhood throughout the world.

The Gardens are an important part of the city's history and reflects the diverse ethnicities and cultures that have been instrumental in the city's development. The symbolic meaning of the gardens is that people of diverse backgrounds, traditions, and religions can exist side by side in peace and harmony with the freedom to exercise their beliefs and cultures.

With the addition of the Azerbaijani Garden, the Cleveland Cultural Gardens now consists of 27 individual gardens, with new gardens having been recently designated and even more under proposal. Recently, I proudly noted the dedication of the Indian and Latvian gardens. In addition to these and the Azerbaijani Garden, various stages of planning are underway for African-American, Native American, Serbian, Hispanic, Syrian, Croatian, Scottish, Nordic, Philippine, and Vietnamese gardens.

I welcome not only the symbolism of so many great nations represented in these gardens, but the actual joining of the people of these nations in Cleveland. The Cleveland Cultural Gardens is frequently visited diplomatic, educational, or trade delegations when they are visiting Cleveland. I am proud that the people of Azerbaijan now have a place in Cleveland to celebrate their culture.

Madam Speaker and distinguished colleagues, it is my hope that Azerbaijan's participation will help to fulfill our vision of the Cleveland Cultural Gardens as an international park for the people of all nations to come together in cooperation and peace. Please join me in celebrating the dedication of the Azerbaijani Cultural Garden and to welcome the Azerbaijani people to the family of nations represented at the Cleveland Cultural Gardens.

RECOGNIZING THE 2008 RECIPIENTS OF THE MCGOWAN COURAGE AWARD

HON. JIM JORDAN

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. JORDAN of Ohio. Madam Speaker, I enjoy sharing positive stories about young people from our district who overcome adversity. Today, I am pleased to introduce you to eight such individuals.

Michael ("Mick") Benson, Clear Fork High School—Though autistic, this young man maintains a positive attitude as he volunteers in the community and participates in athletics, including many Special Olympics events.

Kati Jo Walters, Crestview High School—This athlete became wheelchair-bound due to an auto-immune medical condition, but through fierce determination and persistence, she remains both a great student and an inspiration to all.

Corey Sayer, Lexington High School—Growing up in a family torn apart by drug abuse, he was taken in by the parents of a friend and now excels academically, hoping to attend Ohio State University—Mansfield upon graduation.

Jill Leiendecker, Lucas High School—A leader in and outside the classroom, she serves as student council president, crediting the love and support of her father after losing her mother in an auto accident.

Curtis Alan Remy, Madison Comprehensive High School—Impaired with nerve deafness, he earned the starting point guard position and was named captain of his high school basketball team—all in addition to his academic achievements.

Daniel Porter, Mansfield Christian High School—Through self-motivation, he overcame dyslexia to become proficient in computers, power equipment, and small engines, and has secured a job with a landscaping company after graduation.

Jessica White, Mansfield Senior High School—This courageous young lady overcame obstacles associated with hearing impairment to perform at the highest levels in both school and extracurricular activities, including basketball and track.

Penelope Mitman, Ontario High School—Despite her hearing problems, she remains an active and inspirational student, participating in student council, band, and basketball, and volunteering in the guidance office.

I am pleased to join the Rotary Club of Mansfield, Ohio, in honoring the achievements of these recipients of the McGowan Courage Award, which will be presented on May 13.

HONORING ERIE CANALWAY NATIONAL HERITAGE CORRIDOR COMMISSIONER ERIC MOWER

HON. JAMES T. WALSH

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. WALSH of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise today in tribute to my friend, a dedicated public servant in his own right, Eric Mower. Eric has an outstanding record of dedicated service and contributions to the betterment of communities across upstate New York.

A highly successful civic and business leader, Eric is the chairman and CEO of Eric Mower and Associates, one of our Nation's largest public relations firms. He is also a member of numerous community boards and organizations, including United Way of Central New York, the Boy Scouts of America, and the Greater Syracuse Chamber of Commerce.

Eric was the initial chair of the highly successful Syracuse Neighborhood Initiative, a private-public non-profit collaboration that I launched in 1999 to revitalize neighborhoods and increase home ownership in the city of Syracuse. He capably led efforts to develop partnerships and garner support from the private sector to leverage federal resources.

Eric currently serves as chair of the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor Commission, a position he will be vacating in June. His leadership on the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor Commission has been integral. The Corridor, founded in 2000, encompasses 80 percent of upstate New York's population, including 234 communities. Since 2002 when Eric was named chair of the commission, he has led the fledgling National Heritage Corridor through much growth and success. Under his direction the Corridor Commission has leveraged millions of dollars in support and has helped multiple canal communities fund projects to enhance and showcase the canal. The successful Trails and Rails program continues to grow, and last year the Commission hosted an historic 1,000-mile Grand Canal Journey of a replica schooner visiting 28 cities and towns along the Erie Canal.

On behalf of the people of the entire 25th Congressional District of New York, I thank him for his distinguished service. I am very proud to have worked with Eric over the years. He is an extraordinary individual and brings his considerable talents to every endeavor he undertakes. While he will no longer be chair of the Commission, I'm confident that his presence as a member will continue be a great benefit to the Erie Canalway National Heritage Corridor Commission.

HONORING DR. BRENDA DEEN SCHILDGEN OF DAVIS, CALIFORNIA, RECIPIENT OF THE 2008 UC DAVIS PRIZE FOR UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING AND SCHOLARLY ACHIEVEMENT

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize Dr. Brenda Deen Schildgen, the 2008 recipient of the University of California, Davis Prize for Undergraduate Teaching and Scholarly Achievement. The prize is awarded to recognize scholars who are successful not only in their research, but convey their excitement and love of scholarship to students they teach. Dr. Schildgen is an eminent scholar of medieval European literature and biblical studies, but her hallmark at UC Davis is imparting her knowledge and passion for these subjects to students.

Born in London to a Russian mother and Indian father, Dr. Schildgen was the first in her family to go to college. Her Jewish mother and Muslim father sent her to a French convent in England through high school. Crossing the Atlantic for college, she earned a bachelor's degree in English and French at the University of Wisconsin—Madison, a master's and Ph.D. in comparative literature at Indiana University and a second master's, in religious studies, at the University of San Francisco.

Her path to an academic career was also unconventional. Dr. Schildgen served for 8 years as a lecturer at UC Davis before she was hired in 2002 as a full professor of comparative literature—an almost unheard-of jump in academia, where faculty typically climb, rung by rung, from assistant professor to associate professor to professor. In addition to her research and teaching, Dr. Schildgen has been instrumental in building UC Davis' highly praised University Writing Program and has been a staunch advocate for the development of writing skills not just in English courses but across all disciplines.

A scholar who works with literature in English, Italian, French, Spanish, Greek and Latin—she describes herself as "dabbling" in Sanskrit as well—Dr. Schildgen has written five critically acclaimed books and edited four others, as well as authoring some three dozen scholarly articles and more than a dozen invited book or article reviews. An internationally respected authority on Dante, Chaucer and the gospel of Mark, especially in the context of Islam and Judaism, she has lectured throughout the United States, in India, the Middle East and Europe, and received numerous fellowships, grants and awards from the National Endowment for the Humanities and other prestigious organizations.

Madam Speaker and colleagues, it is appropriate at this time for us to acknowledge and thank Dr. Schildgen for her years of exemplary work as a scholar and educator, and congratulate her on receiving this well deserved award. Her commitment to inspiring and educating students has been unwavering, and she deserves our collective recognition and thanks.

TRIBUTE TO KENNETH E. STREET

HON. JIM SAXTON

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. SAXTON. Madam Speaker, I rise today in recognition of Committeeman Kenneth E. Street. On May 13, 2008, Mr. Street will be celebrated for his contributions as a member of the Hainesport Township Committee as he retires after more than forty years of faithful service to the citizens of South Jersey.

Kenneth has dedicated his life to serving the residents of Hainesport Township. First elected to the township committee in 1950, Kenneth was then appointed mayor in 1953. He served in that position for an impressive twenty-one years. During his time as an elected official, his contributions helped to shape the township into what it is today. Most notably, he worked on developing the township's zoning and property maintenance, as well as the master plan.

In addition to his responsibilities within Hainesport, Kenneth became involved in the League of Municipalities, a statewide organization dedicated to the cooperation of neighboring communities. He served as the league's president, along with various other positions, and remains active in the group today.

Madam Speaker, I would like to extend my sincere gratitude for his leadership, commitment, and service as Kenneth celebrates his retirement.

ONE YEAR AFTER PASSAGE OF
H. RES. 376

HON. LYNN C. WOOLSEY

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Ms. WOOLSEY. Madam Speaker, I rise today on the anniversary of the passage of H. Res. 376, a resolution recognizing the work of our Nation's classified school employees and their continuing contributions to education and to the students of our Nation.

By passing H. Res. 376, the House recognized the National Classified School Employee of the Year and urged the Department of Education, all States, State education agencies, local education agencies, community colleges, and members of the public to join in this observance. H. Res. 376 congratulated all classified school employees across the Nation for their ongoing contributions to education, and for the key role they play in promoting and ensuring student achievement, student safety, and well-being.

I look forward to working with the National Association of Classified School Employees and other education groups to continue to honor the important work of school classified employees.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. JOHN BARROW

OF GEORGIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. BARROW. Madam Speaker, on May 1, 2008, I was unavoidably detained and missed roll No. 234, H.R. 493, The Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008. Had I been present, I would have voted "yea."

CONGRATULATING CHARTER

SPEECH OF

HON. JOHN J. HALL

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, May 5, 2008

Mr. HALL of New York. Madam Speaker, I have no doubt that the faculty and staff employed in America's charter schools are working hard to educate their students and give them the tools needed to succeed, I respect their efforts, as well as the overall goal of charter schools to pursue innovative approaches to education that will allow children throughout our Nation to reach their potential. However, in an era when the funding shortfalls under No Child Left Behind have created a burdensome unfunded mandate on public schools and property taxpayers, I am extremely concerned about any diversion of funds, to charter schools or otherwise, from public schools across the country that are already struggling to maintain a diverse curriculum and serve their students. I voted present on H. Res. 1168 in order to make sure that this concern was acknowledged.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. ROBERT E. ANDREWS

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. ANDREWS. Madam Speaker, I was not present on May 5, 2008. Had I been present, I would have voted "yea" on the following rollcall votes: rollcall No. 240; rollcall No. 241; rollcall No. 242; rollcall No. 243; rollcall No. 244.

WORLD AIDS ORPHANS DAY

HON. ROBERT WEXLER

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, May 7, 2008

Mr. WEXLER. Madam Speaker, I want to join my colleagues in Congress as well as the entire international community in recognizing World AIDS Orphans Day. This is a critically important day because we are reminded of our collective responsibility to address the needs of the world's most vulnerable population—millions of orphans and vulnerable children who need desperately need our support, care, attention and resources.

According to the U.S. Agency for International Development, highly vulnerable children include those who receive inadequate adult support because of abandonment, economic distress, or chronic illness; have HIV/AIDS or are suspected of having HIV; are directly affected by armed conflict; live outside of family care; or in some other way have suffered from a collapse of traditional social safety nets in their communities. Disease, conflict, violence, natural disaster, and severe economic strife leave millions of the world's youngest people orphaned or otherwise vulnerable. Globally, an estimated 132 million children in the developing world have lost one or both parents, while an additional, larger number of children are highly vulnerable, facing serious risks to their survival and wellbeing. According to UNAIDS, by 2010, 20–25 million children could be orphaned by HIV/AIDS alone.

These children face a number of challenges, including finding money for school fees, food, clothing, and access to basic healthcare. Their desperate plight makes them more vulnerable to abuse and exploitation, ultimately making them more susceptible to contracting HIV. To that end, Congress along with the international community and non-governmental organizations must be prepared to assist those communities where these orphans live and receive most of their assistance. Today less than 10 percent of orphaned and vulnerable children (OVC) receive any kind of international support—the majority of the support they receive comes from their own communities. I support the sentiments of such organizations as Global Action for Children and other leading NGO's who believe that an effective response to the challenges facing these children must be to strengthen the capacity of families and communities to continue to provide care, protection, and assistance to them in, at a minimum, meeting their basic needs.

According to UNAIDS, an $800 million U.S. investment in 2009 is needed to provide universal HIV treatment, care, support and prevention services by 2015 to 19 million orphans and vulnerable children. Under the United States leadership against HIV/AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria Act of 2003, 10 percent of all resources devoted to HIV/AIDS have been designated for programs to meet the needs of orphans and vulnerable children. While the U.S. contribution over the past several years has been significant, it will only be successful if we continue to provide the necessary assistance and renew our commitment to pass the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR) reauthorization bill.

It is clear that Congress must do its part to meet America's international commitment to
