

By those who knew him best, he is remembered as a dedicated husband and father with a clever wit, a strong sense of work ethic, and a kindness toward those in need.

My thoughts and prayers are with Commander Wolfe and his family and friends during this heartbreaking time, as well as the families of all of our military personnel serving as they do in such danger and with such bravery. We owe our brave men and women serving in the Armed Forces and their families nothing but our full support and gratitude for their tremendous sacrifice.

CAP-AND-TRADE'S NEGATIVE IMPACT ON RURAL AMERICA

(Mr. SMITH of Nebraska asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SMITH of Nebraska. Mr. Speaker, I have serious concerns about cap-and-trade legislation and its impact on the American people, especially rural communities. This, at its core, is a national energy tax which will be passed on to the American people. The stakes are even higher for our Nation's agriculture industry.

Agriculture is an energy-intensive industry, relying on fuel for the pickup truck, fertilizer for the crops, and generators to keep heaters on during the winter.

The Third District of Nebraska is one of the largest agricultural districts in the country, home to more than 30,000 farmers and ranchers. And everyone knows that even a small increase in the operating costs would have dire results.

As higher energy prices hit other areas of our economy, farmers and ranchers will pay more for seed, equipment, steel and other supplies. As the cost of production increases, so will the price of food on the shelves in urban areas.

This national energy tax is the wrong way to go, and certainly my colleagues know that.

COMPREHENSIVE IMMIGRATION REFORM

(Mr. BACA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BACA. For over a year now, I have been coming to the floor to continue to advocate for the need to pass comprehensive immigration reform. While we debate health care and energy legislation, which are important, let us not forget about another urgent situation that is getting worse in America.

To those who say that comprehensive immigration must wait, I ask, how do we humanely deal with the 14 million undocumented immigrants in this country whose lives are being affected every day? How should we respond to thousands of innocent children that increasingly are left to fend for themselves as bureaucratic and outdated immigration laws keep them from their parents?

Our immigration system does not fit the current immigration reality. We need comprehensive immigration reform that respects families and protects our borders and makes America safer.

I urge my colleagues to do the right thing. Look past politics and work with the CHC and pass comprehensive immigration reform.

CAP-AND-TAX, AN OVERDOSE OF NEW TAXES

(Mr. BROUN of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BROUN of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, all the symptoms are clear. As a medical doctor, I rise today to diagnose the Obama administration and the majority leadership in this Congress with an addiction to raising taxes.

According to the Wall Street Journal, the Obama budget calls for more than $1.1 trillion in new taxes over the course of the next decade, including $646 billion in new taxes for their cap-and-tax scheme alone.

Cap-and-tax will raise the American family's energy costs by more than $3,100 each year. That amounts to the largest tax increase in the history of our Nation.

Cap-and-tax is an overdose of new taxes. And mark my words, it will lead to catastrophic consequences. Experts almost unanimously agree that the cap-and-tax will destroy millions of jobs and devastate our economy, all of this while having marginal, if any, impact on global emissions.

I urge my colleagues and the American people to stand up against these tax increases and oppose this legislation.

CLEAN ENERGY JOBS

(Ms. RICHARDSON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. RICHARDSON. Last week, the House Energy and Commerce Committee reached an agreement on the framework for transforming our economy for decades to come while saving the planet in the process, which should be all of our goal. Before the end of the year, we hope to pass comprehensive energy and job-creating legislation to make clean, American energy available for all of us. The clean energy jobs plan is the next step to create millions of American jobs in clean energy, efficiency, modernization, and a smart electrical grid.

Energy, as a matter, is critical to our own national security and to our self-determination to stop our overarching dependence on foreign oil. And in terms of our environment with the same successful bipartisan American solution that we use to fight acid rain, we can crack down on the persistent polluters who damage our air and water.

The time for clean energy legislation is now. It will create millions of jobs, reduce our dependency on foreign oil, and it will retool America's industries.

FRANK LARISON: ONCE A MARINE, ALWAYS A MARINE

(Mr. POE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, there is no such thing as a former marine. Once marines leave the military, they are still marines at heart, soul, and patriotic zeal.

One such marine is Frank Larison, who served in Vietnam—14 years in the military.

The 58-year-old combat veteran lives in Lake Highlands in Dallas, Texas. Like many marines, he has Marine bumper stickers and decals on his vehicle. But the homeowners' association claims the stickers are advertising, which is prohibited under deed restrictions.

Marine Larison has been told to remove the stickers or face fines or towing. Larison is not retreating from this battle. Marine Larison has, in the unique Marine vocabulary, "politely" refused to peel off any of the red and gold Marine decals. Larison told a Dallas reporter, "I'm not advertising. I'm just proud to have served my country."

Marine Larison will win his fight with the association because freedom of speech is still sacred in America whether the association likes it or not. There is nothing like a U.S. Marine. They are a breed of their own. They are truly unique, proud Americans. The association picked the wrong person to do battle with, a U.S. Marine. Semper fi, Frank Larison. Semper fi.

And that's just the way it is.

ASIAN PACIFIC AMERICAN HERITAGE MONTH

(Ms. TITUS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. TITUS. Mr. Speaker, this past Saturday, I had the honor and pleasure of participating in a wonderful Asian Pacific American Heritage Month celebration. It featured native songs and dances, beautiful flowers and costumes and excellent food from around Asia. The event was sponsored by the Clark County Asian American Democratic Caucus under the able leadership of Sanje Sedera and Raheela Haq. Community advocates were honored and scholarships were awarded.

Asian Americans are the fastest growing minority group in Nevada and are becoming an increasingly powerful and positive force in our society, our economics, and our political scene. We welcome their valuable contributions and honor their delightfully rich cultural traditions.

A THREE-PRONGED APPROACH TO HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Mrs. McMORRIS RODGERS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. McMORRIS RODGERS. Mr. Speaker, I know that we deal with a lot of important issues here in Congress, but there is probably no issue that is more personal and important to millions of moms across the country than health care. When your son or daughter is sick, there is nothing more important than making sure that they get better. And many women all across this country who are taking care of their elderly parents or in-laws are often consumed with countless tests and doctors' appointments and wrestling with insurance companies and Medicare.

As we address health care, what does every American deserve? What does every mom demand?

First is to have access to doctors and nurses you know and trust. The doctor-patient relationship is one of the most important relationships in our country, and it is really the foundation of our health care system.

Second is to protect the high quality of health care that we have enjoyed. We have been the innovators. We have been the ones that have been doing the research to cure new diseases, and we really have been the envy of the world.

Third is to reduce health care costs. This must be at the heart of reform.

Mr. Speaker, I look forward to working with Republicans and Democrats to address this issue.

THE HUMAN RIGHTS CONDITION IN VIETNAM

(Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. LORETTA SANCHEZ of California. Mr. Speaker, as the co-chair of the Congressional Caucus on Vietnam, I continue to be concerned about the human rights condition in Vietnam. Despite their membership in the World Trade Organization and being granted permanent normal trade relation status, Vietnam continues to deny their citizens their fundamental human rights and political liberties.

The Government of Vietnam continues to restrict Internet access and goes as far as to imprison those who would use the Internet to challenge the Communist Party.

The United States must be a leading advocate for human rights. And we must make it clear to governments like those of Vietnam that it is unacceptable to deny people their basic human rights. I hope, especially under this new administration, that Congress will be able to work together and to recommit itself to fighting for the rights of the Vietnamese people.

This weekend, our Orange County delegation will have the honor of welcoming the United States Ambassador to Vietnam to our community. And the delegation looks forward to continuing to work with the Department of State to make human rights a priority.

THE NATIONAL ENERGY TAX PLAN

(Ms. FOXX asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. FOXX. Mr. Speaker, despite rising gas prices across the country, Democrats in Washington continue to push for a national energy tax that will make the pain at the pump even worse. Just 1 year ago, gas prices made their steady rise to over $4 a gallon. A return to record gas prices would be especially harmful during the current economic recession. But that is not deterring Democrats from moving forward with their national energy tax plan.

Representative JOHN DINGELL, a Democrat from Michigan, said it best when he said, "nobody in this country realizes that cap-and-trade is a tax, and a great big one." Republicans in Congress realized this startling reality, and the American people are beginning to as well.

Over the past week, Republicans held energy summits in Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, and San Luis Obispo in California. These summits provide an important opportunity to explain to the American people the devastating consequences of the Democrats' national energy tax plan and to craft better energy solutions. The American people don't want the Democrats' national energy tax. They want and deserve energy independence.

CONGRATULATING THE 2009 GRADUATES OF NORTH FOREST HIGH SCHOOL IN HOUSTON, TEXAS

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning to support the graduating class of North Forest High School in Houston, Texas, the 2009 graduating class, a school district, the North Forest Independent School District, that suffered the ravages of Hurricane Rita, and then right on the heels of Hurricane Rita came Hurricane Ike and destroyed many of the buildings of that particular school district. Then Forestbrook High School suffered heinous acts by vandals who destroyed the school and caused the school district to have to close one of its high schools. So today the graduating class will be the merger of those two high schools, and boy have they united.

I'm honored to be their guest speaker. And because of that, Mr. Speaker, I will miss some legislative initiatives. But I rise to support the Federal Employees Paid Parental Leave Act. I would have voted "aye" on the rule, "aye" on final passage, and I would have voted "aye" on two amendments, Mr. GREEN and Mr. BRIGHT of Alabama. And then, as well, I would have voted "no" on the gentleman's amendment from California, Mr. ISSA.

But the main point is to recognize that I am going to salute these students because they deserve it. They've overcome adversity. Congratulations to the North Forest High School Class of 2009.

AMERICAN RECOVERY AND REINVESTMENT ACT

(Mrs. DAHLKEMPER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mrs. DAHLKEMPER. Mr. Speaker, one of the first acts of the 111th Congress was to enact the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, historic legislation to jump start our economy and create good-paying jobs.

The Recovery Act money is being allocated at a pace of almost $1 billion a week. And I'm pleased to say that we're already seeing positive effects of the Recovery Act in my district, Pennsylvania's Third.

While times are still very difficult for many families struggling to make ends meet, we have seen a glimmer of some encouraging news in recent days. During the month of April, Erie County's unemployment rate stabilized for the first time in months. And in neighboring Crawford County, the unemployment rate actually fell. This is the result of the targeted, job-creating investments in our Nation's science, clean energy, education, health care and transportation infrastructure through the Recovery Act.

Certainly there is more work to be done. And as the Recovery Act continues to take effect, we must renew our commitment to continue to create the good-paying jobs that will stay here in the United States.

PRIVILEGED REPORT ON RESOLUTION OF INQUIRY REGARDING DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY

Mr. THOMPSON of Mississippi, from the Committee on Homeland Security, submitted a privileged report (Rept. No. 111-134) on the resolution (H. Res. 404) of inquiry directing the Secretary of Homeland Security to transmit to the House of Representatives, not later than 14 days after the date of the adoption of this resolution, copies of documents relating to the Department of Homeland Security Intelligence Assessment titled, "Rightwing Extremism: Current Economic and Political Climate Fueling Resurgence in Radicalization and Recruitment," which was referred to the House Calendar and ordered to be printed.
