

Mr. CAMP's amendment. If Mr. CAMP's amendment is enacted, middle-income families, including 49,000 in my friend's, Mr. CAMP's, district will not see the lower 5 percent rate or the 10 percent rate that he promises. Twenty-six million families will pay higher taxes this year under the Camp proposal because of alternative minimum tax.

We will enact a patch this year so that those 26 million families will be protected from higher taxes. I guarantee you that. In fact, the Senate has already added it to their stimulus bill. But let's not fool ourselves today by voting for an AMT fig leaf and even steeper rate cuts which will leave the middle-income worker holding the bag.

I urge opposition to the Republican amendment.

I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CAMP. I yield myself the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The gentleman from Michigan is recognized for 3 minutes.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Chairman, I would commend Mr. NEAL for his work on the AMT. I just wish you had included it in your underlying bill. But let me just say, look, the CBO, the Congressional Budget Office, is nonpartisan. It has said that, and economists alike have said that tax cuts impact the economy more quickly than government spending. And what we need to do is act quickly and effectively.

We even have an analysis by the senior adviser to the new President who says that tax cuts will actually have more immediate growth, more job creation and a bigger bang for the buck than we'll see with government spending. And when we use the same methods and economic models that they have used to analyze our legislation, we get twice as many jobs for half the cost because of the great generative power of tax relief. It is something that certainly both President Kennedy and President Reagan recognized to create economic growth.

Let's be clear about what tax relief actually does. The U.S. economy had significant job growth after the tax cuts in the early part of this decade. Between 2003 and 2008, the economy added almost 8 million jobs. As this chart shows, it's according to the Department of Labor Bureau of Labor Statistics, the U.S. economy added these jobs even after dealing with the impact of 9/11, two wars, rising energy prices and government spending.

Now everyone knows that over the last year, the U.S. economy has lost a significant number of jobs, but it took an unprecedented crisis in the housing and financial markets and a world economic slowdown to really knock the economy and the jobs that the economy creates off its feet.

So our estimate of the number of jobs that could be created by these tax relief measures, as we readily acknowledge, cannot fully account for all of the potential impacts on the economy, just as the President's senior advisers note in their analysis the same thing. But we do know the U.S. economy was in recession when Congress enacted the 2001 and 2003 tax relief measures. The U.S. economy responded by growing rapidly and adding almost 8 million jobs. And the families and the prosperity that was created from those 8 million jobs followed.

So the tax relief, the approach we have taken in our bill to emphasize more tax relief minimizes the wasteful government spending that we see in the Democrat, or the present majority's approach, and really shows that it's a proven formula for stimulating the economy, creating jobs and lifting this economy out of a recession.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Chair, I rise in opposition to this wrong-headed substitute amendment offered by my Republican colleagues.

The Camp/Cantor amendment eliminates two key health care provisions in the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act. First, it deletes the entire investment in health information technology. Second, it eliminates the provisions designed to temporarily provide health insurance for workers who've lost their jobs in this economic crisis.

For years, I've heard my Republican colleagues laud the need to invest in health information technology. Yet, when a bill comes before them that finally meets that goal, what do they do? They delete it.

According to the nonpartisan Congressional Budget Office, H.R. 1 will dramatically increase physician use of health IT from 5 percent today to 90 percent. It will also increase hospital adoption rates from about 10 percent today to 70 percent.

CBO further tells us that the steps this bill takes to increase adoption will reduce what both the public and private sectors pay for health care by lowering administrative overhead costs, reducing the number of unnecessary tests and procedures, and decreasing many avoidable medical errors.

Specifically, CBO says the federal government will save $12 billion across government health programs and consumers will save billions more via lower premiums for private insurance.

With regard to health care coverage, I've also listened to my Republican colleagues for decades as they insist that any effort toward expanding health coverage build on what works in the private sector. COBRA continuation coverage does just that.

COBRA coverage enables people who have lost their jobs to maintain their private health insurance coverage through their former employer for a limited period of time—at their own cost—until they get a new job with health benefits.

All we do in H.R. 1 is provide a temporary 65 percent subsidy for up to 12 months for workers who have been involuntarily terminated in this recession. Many of these people are surviving on unemployment compensation—the monthly value of which is often less than the standard monthly family COBRA premium of more than $1000.

The Joint Committee on Taxation estimates that some 7 million Americans will be able to maintain their health coverage if this provision is enacted.

What does the Republican substitute do to this provision? It deletes it.

Clearly, my Republican colleagues are turning their back on this historic opportunity to modernize America's health IT system and reduce overall health spending. They are also telling America's workers that their health care needs are their own problem—even though this recession is a direct result of the lax oversight they and President Bush proceeded over for the past decade.

I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on this mean spirited substitute amendment.

Mr. CAMP. I yield back the balance of my time.

The CHAIR. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP).

The question was taken; and the Chair announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Chairman, I demand a recorded vote.

The CHAIR. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XVIII, further proceedings on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Michigan will be postponed.

The CHAIR. The Committee will rise informally.

Mr. LEWIS of California (during the reading). I ask unanimous consent that the motion be considered as read.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. OBEY. I reserve a point of order on the amendment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. A point of order is reserved.

The gentleman from California is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. LEWIS of California. The motion that I have is a very simple motion to invest an additional $36 billion in highways and an additional $24 billion in the Army Corps of Engineers construction, and reduce the overall costs of the bill by almost $104 billion.

My friends, the more that people learn about this bill, the more they are questioning the price tag and its effectiveness. Not just our political leaders, but our colleagues on both sides of the aisle, our newspapers, and our constituents.

This motion funds high-priority, immediate job-producing activities like highway construction and the Army Corps of Engineers water projects. These are absolutely "shovel-ready" infrastructure investments that will put Americans back to work now.

The Corps of Engineers projects have been vetted, authorized, studied, planned and, in many cases, started. The added $24 billion in that motion will put people to work right away and will result in much needed improvement to our Nation's ports, levees, dams, and flood control measures. The same can be said for the additional $34 billion in highway funds in this motion.

Our objective, Madam Speaker, is to put people to work right away. The additional $34 billion in highway funds in this motion begin to play that role. We are not pulling a number out of the sky, but responding to our States.

About 6 months ago, our States were asked, and I quote, "What can you do in 180 days if you had the funds? Our States responded, We can do at least $64 billion worth of work that will yield greater safety, plus additional economic opportunity for our communities.

In addition to redirecting $60 billion into immediate job-creating programs, this motion will save taxpayers by reducing the overall cost of the bill by almost $104 billion.

This motion does not strike all funds in the bill, but only strikes the untested, newly authorized or newly funded programs, but all funding that will not be available until fiscal year 2010, and later. It will also strike the most questionable job-creating programs in the underlying bill.

This is our chance to make a wise decision to step back and give a hard look and make sure that the package we want to send to the President is really going to make a positive impact on the economy and not do more harm to the American people. This is our chance to send a more balanced bill forward, a bill with tax cuts, with relief for States, and with some purposeful, targeted spending guaranteed to put Americans back to work.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the T&I ranking member and the coauthor of this motion, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. MICA), the remaining time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is recognized for 1½ minutes.

Mr. MICA. Madam Speaker and my colleagues, in the last few hours, our new President reached out across the aisle and he came to the Republican conference and he asked us not to be Republicans, he asked us not to be Democrats, but he asked us to be Americans. He cited the urgency of the time and the challenge that we face. And that is why I am over on this side right now. I have done this one other time. It may have been after 9/11.

My colleagues, we face an economic 9/11. My side gave me the opportunity to offer a motion to recommit. I didn't want to play any games with that because I know that there are men and women out there, fathers and mothers, people who want a job and deserve a job and need a job, and what are we going to offer them?

These are the headlines: Top Companies Slash 70,000; Job Cuts Deepen Across America. You have seen them. You have seen them in your own State, in your own district.

Now you're going to have to go back tomorrow or this week and look those people in the face and say, I had an opportunity to vote for more jobs. And that is exactly what this motion does.

I didn't play games picking out or I haven't criticized any project. In fact, I came here and I spoke for two Democrat amendments and against one Republican amendment so far on this legislation, because this is about creating jobs. Whether we are going to create—we are going to take $825 million.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. MICA. I ask unanimous consent for 1 additional minute.

Mr. OBEY. I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman be given 1 additional minute.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Wisconsin?

There was no objection.

Mr. MICA. We are going to be asked the question, What did we do? And I wanted to have the opportunity. I have worked my heart out with Mr. OBERSTAR. You all should thank Mr. OBERSTAR for what he has done in a bipartisan fashion.

But, again, we have got to go back and say there is 7 percent of this on infrastructure out of $825 billion. We have an opportunity to double the amount of infrastructure money. No games being played. I didn't single out or deride any program. I just said any new or unauthorized project or program in this would be eliminated. You have the votes to do those later on if you want to do them. Right now, we have got to get the most people we can to work as soon as possible. And I know you believe that in your heart too.

So this isn't some game, some political charade. I came across the aisle, asking you to support a measure that will put our people—your people and my people—to work sooner rather than later. Thank you.

Mr. OBEY. Madam Speaker, I withdraw my reservation and rise in opposition to the motion to recommit.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Wisconsin is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. OBEY. Madam Speaker, this amendment is a perfect example of how people can fall off both sides of the same horse at the same time. If you take a look at what the criticism has been of this bill all week long, you will remember that the other side has constantly said that we are just throwing money at the problem. That it can't possibly be spent.

Yet, they would add some $25 billion to the Corps budget, despite the fact that the Corps has told us that they can only push out the door about $4 billion in new projects. They have told us for days now. They have criticized us and lacerated us with criticism because they said that we had money in here for infrastructure that couldn't possibly be spent out in the next 2 years. And now they are adding $36 billion more.

What this amendment does, as we understand it, is to add $36 billion for highways and $25 billion to the Corps. And if they were standing alone, I might not object. But they pay for it with $160 billion in cuts in other parts of the bill.

They crush broadband, for instance; something which is essential if every community in this country is going to compete for jobs and for an economic future. They cut the science programs in the National Science Foundation that will put hundreds of thousands of people to work in the scientific area. They eliminate the Federal Buildings Energy Retrofit Program. Those jobs are all gone.

They have attacked us for putting things in a bill that don't belong in a jobs bill. Yet, they cut job training funds in half and they cut displaced workers by half a billion dollars. We should be doubling those funds, not cutting them.

□ 1745

They eliminate the green jobs initiatives in this bill. They take one-half billion dollars out of community health centers. They cut in half the amount of money that we are devoting to try to develop the added primary care physicians and nurses that we will need given what is happening to the health care crisis in this country. They take $750 million out of the National Institutes of Health, wiping out the jobs of thousands of scientists who right now are not being put to good use because we only fund 20 percent of approved science at NIH. And, lastly, they guarantee that there will be substantial tax increases at the State level because they gut the State stabilization fund which is designed to help States so that they wind up not having to raise taxes, so that they don't wind up having to cut key education services.

How many of us have gone home and cried for years about the fact that the Federal Government has not met its promises on special education? And yet they wipe out the advances we have made in special education. This is an unbalanced approach to a serious problem. I urge a "no" vote.

I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the motion to recommit.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to recommit.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

RECORDED VOTE

Mr. LEWIS of California. Madam Speaker, I demand a recorded vote.

A recorded vote was ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, the Chair will reduce to 5 minutes the minimum time for any electronic vote on the question of passage.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—ayes 159, noes 270, not voting 3, as follows:
