

health care for all, irrespective of pre-existing conditions.

Madam Speaker, I want to thank you on behalf of the millions of Americans who suffer from mental illness because health insurance companies do not acknowledge that the brain is part of the body, that there is such a thing as alcoholism and addiction in this country.

Madam Speaker, thanks to your leadership, we passed the Paul Wellstone-Pete Domenici Mental Health and Addiction Equity Act last session, and thanks to your leadership with this legislation, there is no discrimination against those with mental illness. And in each and every one of the health care plans, there is absolute parity in health care coverage for those with mental illness.

Thank you, Madam Speaker, for this historic legislation.

JUSTICE GINSBURG

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, last week's New York Times Magazine featured an interview with Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg. Some of her comments were absolutely astonishing coming from a sitting Supreme Court Justice, but the most disturbing comment came in reference to abortion.

In reference to Roe v. Wade, the infamous Supreme Court case, she said this: "Frankly, I had thought at the time Roe was decided, there was concern about population growth, and particularly growth in populations that we don't want to have too many of."

I cannot imagine any acceptable context where a serious person could refer to "populations that we don't want too many of." This eugenic way of thinking debases the value of all human life. All people are created equal and deserve the most fundamental right to life no matter what race, religion, or socioeconomic background.

I am shocked that a member of the Supreme Court believes that a compelling reason for the legality of abortion is because our society wants to reduce the growth of specific populations. Justice Ginsburg's comments are an assault and insult to the values of the American people.

ENACT HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Mr. BUTTERFIELD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BUTTERFIELD. Mr. Speaker, last November the American voters demanded change, and one of the many changes that they demanded was health care reform.

Now Democrats are responding with comprehensive health care reform, and we are hoping that our Republican friends will join us as we overhaul the broken health care delivery system. Health care reform will control spiraling costs. Without reform, the cost of health care for the average family of four is projected to rise $1,800 each year, and insurance companies will continue to control health care decisions.

Under our legislation, families with health insurance will see lower costs; rate increases for preexisting conditions and gender or occupation would be eliminated; out-of-pocket expenses would be capped; children will be guaranteed affordable dental, hearing, and vision care; preexisting condition denials and insurance companies' lifetime payments limits would be eliminated.

We must answer the call of the American people by enacting health care reform. Let's do it for the American people, and let's do it for the American economy.

WHERE HAVE ALL THE DOCTORS GONE?

(Mr. POE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, half of the primary care physicians say they would like to leave the practice of medicine in 3 years. There is just too much cost and time involved from red tape by insurance companies and the government agencies. And that's before government bureaucrats nationalize the whole system. Also, their costs for malpractice insurance has skyrocketed.

The American Medical Association said more doctors are leaving the profession than being replaced by new doctors. Doctors are just hanging up their stethoscopes and choosing a different line of work. It's just not worth it.

It costs about $200,000 to get through medical school. The government keeps bailing out its special interest buddies, but not one cent goes to help pay off these college loans. And the administration wants doctors to shoulder even more of the costs of practicing medicine. It's no wonder they're choosing other professions and moving off to Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

To make matters worse, many doctors are no longer accepting Medicare or Medicaid patients because government reimbursement doesn't even cover the cost of the treatment. Now, isn't that lovely? No doctors and more patients.

Mr. Speaker, when we run out of doctors, what will we do? Turn our health care system over to government snake oil salesmen?

And that's just the way it is.

GROUNDBREAKING HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Ms. EDWARDS of Maryland asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. EDWARDS of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, I rise today because we're on the verge of groundbreaking health care reform legislation that will benefit generations to come and signal to the world and all of America that we are no longer a Nation that tolerates 46 million uninsured and many millions of workers, people who work every day, uninsured and facing huge out-of-pocket costs.

Now, today, I want to emphasize the importance of including a robust public health insurance option, with an established Medicare provider network, in the final health care reform bill. An established network will allow the public plan to give Americans a real choice among insurance plans and doctors from the start, from the beginning. A public provider network will place the public plan on a level playing field with private plans establishing real competition, real reform, and lowering costs for Americans.

Look, we have one chance to do health care reform, and it's today. And we have to ensure that we establish the strongest infrastructure to give success for the American people and to give them coverage and care and lower costs.

Further, the Congressional Budget Office says that a robust plan will save $91 billion for our country. We know the system is broken, and now we have a chance for a truly American solution to health care reform.

CONGRESS' NEVER-ENDING SPENDING SPREE

(Mr. ROGERS of Alabama asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ROGERS of Alabama. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss my strong concerns over this never-ending spending by this Congress. In tough economic times when folks across Alabama and our Nation are tightening their belts, Congress is doing the exact opposite.

Just this week, House Democrats unveiled their new health reform plan which rings up a mind-boggling $1 trillion in spending over 10 years. While I agree that health insurance reform is important and Congress should pay close attention to affordable, accessible health care, spending another trillion dollars of taxpayer dollars on a possible government takeover is not the answer.

Folks in my home State of Alabama tell me Congress is spending like drunken sailors, and I agree. It's time for Congress to sober up and stop borrowing and spending money we don't have.

AMERICA NEEDS HEALTH CARE REFORM TODAY

(Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON-LEE of Texas. Madam Speaker, thank you for your leadership.

Just as we thought, when we began to make a historic march towards the civil rights of all Americans for health care reform, we begin to hear noises, wrong noises, about how much we're spending. Well, I will tell you what we're doing, because we're not ashamed of addressing the concerns of Americans: $100 billion a year to fix a $2 trillion problem; the fact that Texas children are uninsured, they will be able to be insured as other children around America.

Sixty years Americans have been waiting and waiting and waiting for health care reform. Family costs are going up $1,800 a year. How many Americans want to continue that? And every single President, including Candidate MCCAIN, wanted health care reform.

We're doing it the right way. We're going to provide for primary care doctors. We're going to invest $1 in fighting for it and save $1.75.

I want you to know this, Mr. and Mrs. America, we're going to take the big step, not for ourselves but for you. Health care reform, not yesterday but today and forever, because America needs it, and they need it now.

HEALTH CARE

(Mr. TIM MURPHY of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. TIM MURPHY of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, as work begins today on the 1,000-page and $1 trillion health care bill, the Congressional Budget Office provided Members with some troubling points yesterday.

For example, supporters of this plan argue it's necessary to bring down costs. We need to do that. However, the CBO admitted that the public plan would have essentially no impact on the long-term growth of health care costs, the legislation's purported goal.

A few other issues: the $1 trillion score was not produced on the actual bill, but a summary provided days before the text was introduced. And more questions.

What impact will the health care bill and its taxes have on job losses? What will the big tax increase do to small business? What is the cost of the government plan? And what happens if it doesn't let private plans play by the same rules?

Let's make sure we don't replace the bureaucracy of insurance with barriers, burdens, and bureaucracy of government. Neither one is good medicine. Real reform is good medicine. Let's do it right. Let's take the time to work together as a team and solve this problem once and for all.

SURFACE TRANSPORTATION REAUTHORIZATION

(Mr. SIRES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. SIRES. Madam Speaker, currently, highway connections are worsening, ports are clogged, rail lines are plagued with choke points, and our communities are suffering with increased congestion, ever-worsening air pollution, and a struggling economy. We must act now to address these critical infrastructure issues and bring aid to our communities.

Our communities are struggling right now, not only with an inefficient and underperforming transportation system, but also with high unemployment rates and a sluggish economy.

The Surface Transportation Authorization Act produced by Chairman OBERSTAR is a bold step forward on transportation policy that will address our aging infrastructure and create or sustain 6 million family-wage jobs.

We need to continue the work we did with the Recovery Act and move forward with this legislation now to boost the economy, aid our communities, and transform our transportation system.

MEDIA IGNORE PRESIDENT'S DISAPPROVAL RATING

(Mr. SMITH of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SMITH of Texas. Madam Speaker, a recent Washington Post editorial listed among President Obama's assets "a steady affection from a large majority of the country." The national media frequently claim that the President is overwhelmingly popular.

A new poll by Rasmussen tells a different story. The poll shows that just 28 percent of voters strongly approve of the way that the President is doing his job. Thirty-six percent strongly disapprove, giving President Obama an approval index rating of a negative 8 percent. And that's before the American people find out about his plans to ration health care.

A negative approval rating is hardly steady affection from a large majority of the country. The national media should tell Americans the whole story, not tell them what to think.

SUPPORTIVE OF THE IDEAS CONTAINED IN THE HEALTH CARE REFORM LEGISLATION

(Mr. KAGEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. KAGEN. Madam Speaker, I rise this morning to strongly support the ideas contained within our health care reform legislation.

The idea is very simple. It's about equality. It's about no discrimination against any citizen due to preexisting medical conditions. And isn't it about time? You know, it was a little over 50 years ago that this Congress in a bipartisan way guaranteed the equality at the lunch counter; and now working together we're going to guarantee that every citizen has equality at the pharmacy counter, at the physician's office, and at the hospitals that they need to go to to guarantee the health that they require just to survive.

This is our time in Congress to work together to fashion a health care system that works for everybody, not just those who were chosen at the top of the feeding chain.

I stand in support of health care reform that is meaningful, that guarantees no discrimination against any citizen anywhere in this land.

ECONOMIC IMPACT OF HIGHWAY INVESTMENT

(Mr. BROWN of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BROWN of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, the unemployment rate in South Carolina is over 12 percent. This is the third worst in the Nation, but only $400,000 in stimulus highway dollars have been spent. Instead of creating jobs, red tape is slowing projects down and forcing millions to be spent on painting road lines and pouring sidewalks, instead of going towards job-creating jobs like I-73.

Infrastructure investment is a proven job creator, but instead of workers constructing miles of new and badly needed highways, we have miles of red tape.

And we are at risk of seeing even more job losses as the Obama administration and the Senate stand against a new highway bill. Instead of setting a path of 6 years of needed investment in highways and transit, the other body and President Obama want us to wait another 18 months. They want us to go down the same path as the last highway bill, where 12 extensions led to hundreds of millions of dollars in reduced investments and tens of thousands of jobs lost.

Madam Speaker, we can do better. We must move forward with a new highway bill, but we also must ensure that we give States the tools they need to cut through the red tape preventing these dollars from creating jobs and building new infrastructure.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT ON HEALTH CARE REFORM

(Ms. SCHWARTZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. SCHWARTZ. The introduction of health care reform legislation marks tremendous progress toward meaningful health care reform for all Americans. As a member of the Committee on Ways and Means and a centrist Democrat, I worked to ensure that this legislation is built on American assets of innovation, competition, private-public choices, and shared responsibility.

I authored core provisions to increase access to primary care and strengthen consumer protections in the private market, both of which are key to improving the quality, efficiency, and reducing the cost of care, while improving health outcomes.
