IRAN REFINED PETROLEUM SANCTIONS ACT

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, in the coming weeks, the Senate will consider S. 908, the Iran Refined Petroleum Sanctions Act. Passing this bill should not be difficult 76 Members of this body are registered as cosponsors—but it is vital that we do.

I support strong sanctions to build pressure on Iran to end its illegal nuclear weapons program, which, in light of the recent disclosure of the Qom uranium enrichment facility, may be far more advanced than we realize.

However, China and Russia continue to thwart meaningful action in the United Nations Security Council. As Bob Robb, a columnist for the Arizona Republic notes, both nations have commercial ties to the Iranian regime and are unlikely to abandon their interests and assist the United States in building pressure on the Iran.

Mr. Robb also emphasizes that U.S. efforts to halt Iran's nuclear program have taken on a new urgency after the President cancelled the deployments of the ground-based interceptors to Poland and the Czech Republic.

Had the President managed to get support from Russia for more sanctions on Iran in exchange for sacrificing missile defense, things might look different. However, as shown by Secretary Clinton's recent visit to Moscow, Russia's position has not changed, and the U.S. has nothing to show for breaking its strategic commitments with two important allies.

Time is not on the administration's side. Every day the Iranians stockpile more uranium and get closer to having long-range missiles capable of delivering the world's most dangerous weapons against our allies, our deployed forces, and our homeland. The time to act is now.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the op-ed by Mr. Robb be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

IRAN A TEST OF OBAMA'S NEW DIPLOMACY (By Robert Robb)

Iran is providing a premature and very high-risk test of President Barack Obama's new approach to American diplomacy.

Simplified, the thesis of the new Obama approach is that if the United States plays nicer with others, others will play nicer with us and be more willing to help do tough things.

I've never held out much hope for the Obama approach. I believe that nations generally act in their self-interest without regard to sentiments about other countries.

On the other hand, the Bush administration's blustery approach only made the rest of the world more hostile and resentful, which wasn't in our self-interest. So, it was worth giving the Obama approach a whirl.

The Obama approach, however, was intended to generate good will over time. The United States would cooperate more on international issues such as climate change and in international organizations such as the U.N. We would engage in direct diplomacy with troublesome regimes such as in Iran, North Korea, Syria, Venezuela and Cuba, all of which Obama said would receive presidential meetings in his first year in office.

After showing good will and willingness to engage in direct diplomacy, the rest of the world would be more willing to support the United States if tougher efforts to rein in dangerous rogue behavior nevertheless proved necessary, went the theory.

Iran has spoiled and short-circuited the rollout of the new Obama diplomacy. The disputed Iranian election made it difficult to engage in direct diplomacy with the current government without appearing to give the back of the hand to those risking their lives to protest its illegitimacy. Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad stepped up his attacks on Israel's right to exist. And Iran remains unflinching and deceitful about its rapidly-developing nuclear program.

So, the Obama administration is going to have to test its new diplomatic approach before laying all the prerequisites by trying to organize strong sanctions against Iran. It increased the stakes for such diplomacy greatly by abandoning the missile defense complex in Poland at least in part, it seems clear, to induce greater cooperation on Iran by Russia.

Sanctions would have to be crippling to have any hope of forcing Iran to abandon its nuclear ambitions. Only the equivalent of a non-military embargo on gasoline imports is thought to have sufficient effect to possibly get the job done.

To be effective, a ban on Iranian gasoline imports would require extraordinary international cooperation. Western powers might adopt them, and indeed Western suppliers have already been cutting ties to Iran. But gasoline is transportable and tradable, so masking its origins is difficult but doable.

The national interest calculations would suggest that Russia and China are unlikely to go along with potentially effective sanctions against Iran, officially or unofficially. Iran is a client of Russia's on nuclear technology and military apparatus. China is a client for Iranian oil, which provides 15 percent of China's crude supplies.

They also have the interest Robert Kagan has cited that all autocratic regimes have in thwarting efforts to pressure and delegitimize other autocratic regimes.

The need to very quickly cobble together an effective sanctions regimen against Iran is an unfair test of Obama's new approach. But it's the test that has to be taken.

If the effort to impose effective sanctions fails, as it is likely to do, the Russian gambit will prove very costly.

If sanctions fail and Israel doesn't act, the world may have to live with an Iran capable of producing a nuclear weapon. In that world, the Poland missile defense complex would have been very valuable.

The Obama administration said that it was abandoning the Poland complex designed to shoot down long-range missiles because the intelligence suggested Iran has slowed down the development of its long-range capability. It's hard to credit that. Iran has successfully tested a two-stage rocket and put a satellite in space.

Theater missile defense, which the Obama administration says it will emphasize more, is important. But in a world with a nuclear-capable Iran, so is the European missile defense against long-range threats the Obama administration just abandoned.

TRIBUTE TO LOUISIANA WWII VETERANS

● Ms. LANDRIEU. Mr. President, I am proud to honor a group of 92 World War II veterans from all over Louisiana who travelled to Washington, DC, on October 10 to visit the various memorials and monuments that recognize the sacrifices of our Nation's invaluable servicemembers.

Louisiana HonorAir, a group based in Lafayette, LA, sponsored this trip to the Nation's Capital. The organization is honoring surviving World War II Louisiana veterans by giving them an opportunity to see the memorials dedicated to their service. The veterans visited the World War II, Korea, Vietnam, and Iwo Jima Memorials. They also traveled to Arlington National Cemetery.

This was the second of three flights Louisiana HonorAir made to Washington, DC, this fall. It is the 19th flight to depart from Louisiana, which has sent more HonorAir flights than any other State to the Nation's Capital.

World War II was one of America's greatest triumphs but was also a conflict rife with individual sacrifice and tragedy. More than 60 million people worldwide were killed, including 40 million civilians, and more than 400,000 American servicemembers were slain during the long war. The ultimate victory over enemies in the Pacific and in Europe is a testament to the valor of American soldiers, sailors, airmen, and marines. The years 1941 to 1945 also witnessed an unprecedented mobilization of domestic industry, which supplied our military on two distant fronts.

In Louisiana, there remain today about 30,000 living WWII veterans, and each one has a heroic tale of achieving the noble victory of freedom over tyranny. This group had 36 veterans who served in the U.S. Army, 14 in the Army Air Corps, 34 in the Navy, 4 in the Marine Corps, one in the Merchant Marines, one in the Coast Guard, and 2 were a part of Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Services, WAVES.

Our heroes, many of them from South Louisiana, trekked the world for their country. They fought in Germany, Holland, France, Italy, Africa, Guam, Bougainville, Guadalcanal, Iwo Jima, Okinawa, the Philippines, New Guinea, Japan, and Saipan. Their journeys included the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, and Normandy.

One of our Army Air Corps was held as a prisoner of war after his aircraft was shot down over Germany. Three other Army veterans fought bravely in the Battle of the Bulge, all three receiving a Purple Heart and one receiving three Bronze stars for his service.

One Navy veteran earned 10 medals for his service in the Pacific. An Army Air Corps veteran served in 20 combat missions in Europe between 1942 and 1955. Another Navy veteran was present for the surrender at Tokyo Bay in 1945.

One Navy veteran was serving in Pearl Harbor during the infamous Japanese attack in 1941. Eight veterans received Purple Hearts and five of them were held as prisoners of war.

I am also proud to acknowledge that of the 92 veterans who visited Washington this past weekend, 2 were women who served our country with honor and distinction during World War II.

I ask the Senate to join me in honoring these 92 veterans, all Louisiana heroes, who visited Washington, and Louisiana HonorAir for making these trips a reality.●

TRANSMITTING NOTIFICATION OF THE CONTINUATION OF THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY WITH RESPECT TO THE EMERGENCY DECLARED PERTAINING TO SIGNIFICANT NARCOTICS TRAFFICKERS CENTERED IN COLOMBIA TO CONTINUE IN EFFECT BEYOND OCTOBER 21, 2009, AS RECEIVED DURING ADJOURNMENT OF THE SENATE ON OCTOBER 16, 2009—PM 33

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act, 50 U.S.C. 1622(d), provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent to the Federal Register for publication the enclosed notice stating that the emergency declared with respect to significant narcotics traffickers centered in Colombia is to continue in effect beyond October 21, 2009.

The circumstances that led to the declaration on October 21, 1995, of a national emergency have not been resolved. The actions of significant narcotics traffickers centered in Colombia continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, and economy of the United States and to cause an extreme level of violence, corruption, and harm in the United States and abroad. For these reasons, I have determined that it is necessary to maintain economic pressure on significant narcotics traffickers centered in Colombia by blocking their property and interests in property that are in the United States or within the possession or control of United States persons and by depriving them of access to the U.S. market and financial system.

BARACK OBAMA.

THE WHITE HOUSE, October 16, 2009.

REPORT RELATIVE TO THE HAITIAN HEMISPHERIC OPPORTUNITY THROUGH PARTNERSHIP ENCOURAGEMENT ACT OF 2008 (HOPE II) (P.L. 110-246) THAT AMENDED THE CARIBBEAN BASIN ECONOMIC RECOVERY ACT (CBERA) MAKING CERTAIN ADDITIONAL PRODUCTS FROM HAITI ELIGIBLE FOR PREFERENTIAL TARIFF TREATMENT AFTER OCTOBER 18, 2009, AS RECEIVED DURING THE ADJOURNMENT OF THE SENATE ON OCTOBER 16, 2009—PM 34

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of The United States which was referred to the Committee on Finance:

To the Congress of the United States:

The Haitian Hemispheric Opportunity through Partnership Encouragement Act of 2008 (HOPE II) (the "Act") (Public Law 110-246), amended the Caribbean Basin Economic Recovery Act (CBERA) to make certain additional products from Haiti eligible for preferential tariff treatment. Under HOPE II, these imports from Haiti will continue to be eligible for preferential treatment after October 18, 2009, if I determine and certify that Haiti has met certain eligibility criteria set out in the Act.

Since enactment of HOPE II, Haiti has issued a decree establishing an independent labor ombudsman's office, and the President of Haiti has selected a labor ombudsman following consultation with unions and industry representatives. In addition, Haiti, in cooperation with the International Labor Organization, has established a Technical Assistance Improvement and Compliance Needs Assessment and Remediation (TAICNAR) Program. Haiti has also implemented an electronic visa system that acts as a registry of Haitian producers of articles eligible for duty-free treatment and has made participation in the TAICNAR Program a condition of using this visa system.

In light of these actions and in accordance with section 213A of CBERA, as amended, I have determined and hereby certify that Haiti: (i) has implemented the requirements set forth in sections 213A(e)(2) and (e)(3); and (ii) is requiring producers of articles for which duty-free treatment may be requested under section 213A(b) to participate in the TAICNAR Program and has developed a system to ensure participation in such program by such producers, including by developing and maintaining a registry of producers.

BARACK OBAMA.
