

in our interest to work together and coordinate our efforts to help the South Sudanese meet the many challenges in front of them.

Finally, as we do this, we should not turn our backs on the other conflicts within Sudan, particularly the situation in Darfur. We have seen in the past how the National Congress Party can effectively manipulate the international community's narrow focus on one region or conflict at the expense of another. Despite some small successes, the situation in Darfur is unresolved and the events of recent weeks have shown that a peace deal remains elusive. The situation could become more difficult and complex to resolve over time, especially if the CPA collapses and the north-south war is reignited.

The Obama administration must maintain its focus on building a credible peace process for Darfur at the same time that it seeks to shore up the CPA. We need to keep the pressure on to ensure there is a cessation of attacks and to begin seriously addressing the legitimate grievances of Darfurians.

Mr. President, in the critical months ahead, we need to have a bold, comprehensive approach toward all of Sudan that brings resources to bear and ensures consistent, high-level engagement from the White House as well as here in Congress. To that end, I will continue to do my part, and I encourage my colleagues to do the same.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING THE HARRISON PUBLIC SCHOOL DISTRICT

• Mrs. LINCOLN. Mr. President, I wish to congratulate Harrison Public School District for being named to the national "GreatSchools" list by Forbes magazine. Under the leadership of superintendent Jerry Moody, Harrison was named the top public school district in the country for markets of median home price under $100,000. Harrison was the only Arkansas school district to make Forbes' top 10 list.

Harrison received this designation based on criteria including quality of education, affordable housing, and the unemployment rate. Calling Harrison a "rural gem," the magazine commented that "with its well-developed gifted and talented program and an intimate 12.5-to-1 student-teacher ratio, Harrison offers serious book learning in a mountain idyll."

Forbes has found out what Harrison residents have known for years: that hard work, dedication, and a commitment to education are integral to a community's success. When students, teachers, administrators and parents work together, great things can be achieved.

Along with all Arkansans, I extend my congratulations to each member of the Harrison community.●

2010 NATIONAL DRUG CONTROL STRATEGY—PM 54

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

To the Congress of the United States:

I am pleased to transmit the 2010 National Drug Control Strategy, a blueprint for reducing illicit drug use and its harmful consequences in America. I am committed to restoring balance in our efforts to combat the drug problems that plague our communities. While I remain steadfast in my commitment to continue our strong enforcement efforts, especially along the southwest border, I directed the Office of National Drug Control Policy to re-engage in efforts to prevent drug use and addiction and to make treatment available for those who seek recovery. This new, balanced approach will expand efforts for the three critical ways that we can address the drug problem: prevention, treatment, and law enforcement.

Drug use endangers the health and safety of every American, depletes financial and human resources, and deadens the spirit of many of our communities. Whether struggling with an addiction, worrying about a loved one's substance abuse, or being a victim of drug-related crime, millions of people in this country live with the devastating impact of illicit drug use every day. This stark reality demands a new direction in drug policy—one based on common sense, sound science, and practical experience. That is why my new Strategy includes efforts to educate young people who are the most at-risk about the dangers of substance abuse, allocates unprecedented funding for treatment efforts in federally qualified health centers, reinvigorates drug courts and other criminal justice innovations, and strengthens our enforcement efforts to rid our streets of the drug dealers who infect our communities.

I am confident that if we take these needed steps, we will make our country stronger, our people healthier, and our streets safer. If we boost community-based prevention efforts, expand treatment opportunities, strengthen law enforcement capabilities, and work collaboratively with our global partners, we will reduce drug use and its resulting damage.

While I am proud of the new direction described here, a well-crafted strategy is only as successful as its implementation. To succeed, we will need to rely on the hard work, dedication, and perseverance of every concerned American. I look forward to working with the Congress, Federal, State, and local officials, tribal leaders, and citizens across the country as we implement this Strategy and make our communities better places to live, work, and raise our families.

BARACK OBAMA,
THE WHITE HOUSE, May 11, 2010.
