Whereas Walter Breuning is an outstanding citizen of, and an ambassador for, the State of Montana: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate congratulates Walter Breuning, the oldest living man in the world, on the occasion of his 114th birthday.

Mr. BAUCUS. Mr. President, today I am submitting a resolution honoring Walter Breuning, the oldest living man in the world. Walter is celebrating his 114th birthday today.

He was born in Melrose, MN on September 21, 1896, and moved to Great Falls, MT, in 1918 while working for the Great Northern Railway. Walter is still a proud resident of Great Falls and delights fellow residents, staff, and visitors at The Rainbow Senior Living home.

Despite all the honor and attention bestowed upon him for being the oldest living man in the world, Walter is very humble. He has worked hard all his life and advises others to do the same. When I called him last year to wish him a happy birthday, that is exactly what he said to me. Walter began working for the Great Northern Railway at the age of 16 and gave 50 years of service to the railway. When he retired in 1963, Walter didn't stop working; he began a second career, one that would last until he was 99, as the manager and secretary of the Great Falls Shriner's Club.

Community service has been a big part of Walter's life and when he visits with young people he always encourages them to give back to their communities. Walter is a 33rd degree Mason, the most advanced level for that fraternal organization.

Walter has practiced healthy habits all his life, and those have contributed greatly to his longevity. He has eaten only two meals a day for the past 30 years and says he is most grateful for his good health over the years. These healthy habits have helped Walter live life to the fullest. He enjoys visiting with the many folks that come from all over to hear the insights of the oldest living man in the world.

I am proud to join today with folks from around Montana and across the world in wishing Walter a very happy birthday. He is a great ambassador for our State and I thank him for all his community involvement and service over the years. He truly represents the best of Big Sky Country.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from California.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, 114 years old, your constituent? I guess Senator BAUCUS treats his constituents well.
