

and his strong desire to be a catalyst for positive change propelled him on his remarkable journey.

In 1972, Rudy was elected to the Indiana State Senate in the third district. While in this position, the focus of his work included working for better treatment and training programs for prison inmates, creating a victim's compensation fund, and establishing a Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday. Subsequently, Rudy was elected to the Lake County Council in 1978 and then re-elected in 1982. During this time he fought against the unfairness in hiring practices at the Lake County Government Center and the raising of utility rates. In 1984, Rudy Clay was elected as Lake County Recorder. Three years later, he was elected Lake County Commissioner and served four elected terms in this capacity.

In 2005, Rudy became the first African American elected to serve as the Lake County Democratic Chairman, a position he held until 2009.

The Gary Precinct Organization appointed Rudy mayor of Gary in 2006, and he was elected mayor the following year. Mayor Clay's extraordinary energy, his profound empathy for people and his lifelong commitment to leave a better world for following generations have led to preeminent achievements. They have positively impacted the lives of countless individuals as well as the progress and future of Indiana.

Throughout his illustrious career, Mayor Clay has been recognized with many distinguished awards. Rudy was honored by Governor Evan Bayh with the Outstanding Hoosier Award in 1994, and in 2005, Governor Joseph Kernan honored the Mayor with the prestigious Sagamore of the Wabash Award, to name a few.

Although Rudy has received many esteemed honors for his commitment to the residents of Indiana, his greatest source of pride is his family. Rudy and his amazing wife, Christine, have been married for 54 years this November. They have one beloved son, Rudy Clay, Jr.

On a more personal note, I also want to thank Rudy for his graciousness and warm friendship over the years. I also would be remiss if I did not thank him for the deep respect he has always shown to my father, John Visclosky.

Mr. Speaker, I respectfully ask that you and my other distinguished colleagues join me in honoring Mayor Rudy Clay for his staunch devotion to the people of Gary as well as all of Northwest Indiana. Rudy's unselfish and lifelong dedication to serving the people of Northwest Indiana is worthy of the highest commendation, and he serves as an inspiration to us all. I am proud to call him my friend.

HON. TODD C. YOUNG

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2011

Mr. YOUNG of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, I rise along with Congressman MIKE PENCE to honor the life and legacy of Professor Harve Rawson.

Harve Rawson was greatly talented and abundantly generous. He earned a bachelor of arts in psychology from Antioch College, and went on to earn a master of arts and doctorate in research psychology at Ohio State University. For thirty-two years Dr. Rawson served as a professor of psychology at Hanover College, and later served as dean of faculty at Franklin College. He was the first two-time winner of the Baynham Teaching Award, and he was named the Mary E. Hamilton Distinguished Professor of Psychology at Hanover College.

Dr. Rawson was a two-time Fulbright Scholar in psychology and also spent a year teaching at the College of Health Sciences in Bahrain. His great passion for traveling also took him to more than 100 countries and all seven continents. Dr. Rawson was also awarded the Golden Quill Award for Outstanding Research and the Outstanding Community Service Award for Psychologists.

But beyond his many academic achievements, Harve Rawson was known as a generous leader who truly possessed a servant's heart. NATIONAL WORK AND FAMILY
MONTH

HON. CAROLYN B. MALONEY

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2011

Mrs. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of October as National Work and Family Month. Each and every day American families make choices about how to best care for their family and to fulfill work obligations.

Over the last 50 years, the demographics of the U.S. workforce have changed significantly and with that, so have our needs. With more women in the workforce, fewer households have at least one parent at home. According to Census data, 70 percent of children are raised in families headed by either a working single parent or two working parents. In addition, more households are caring for older relatives as medical advances continue to extend life expectancy. It's important that as my colleagues and I work to create and grow jobs, we also ensure that these jobs afford all Americans the chance to take care of their families and maintain a paycheck.

In an effort to acknowledge the realities of our modern workforce I have reintroduced the Family and Medical Leave Enhancement Act (H.R. 1440) to expand the number of workplaces required to comply with the original 1993 Family and Medical Leave Act, FMLA, and the Family and Medical Leave Inclusion Act to add same-sex spouses, grandparents, and grandchildren (H.R. 2364) as leave beneficiaries under FMLA. In addition, I will soon reintroduce the Working Families Flexibility Act, legislation that gives employees the right to request flexible work arrangements.

Strong work and family policies help attract, motivate, and retain a talented workforce and businesses should be encouraged to think strategically about the flexibility and family-friendly benefits they offer to their workers.

HONORING PHIL BLAZER

HON. JOHN GARAMENDI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2011

Mr. GARAMENDI. Mr. Speaker, I offer my highest congratulations today to Mr. Phil Blazer of California on the 5th anniversary of his founding of Jewish Life Television (JLTV).

In 2006, Mr. Blazer initiated America's first full-time Jewish television network, which is now seen in all 50 states through DIRECTV, along with cable distribution on Comcast, Time Warner and other systems.

Jewish Life Television (JLTV) originates from its headquarters in Encino, California and reaches over 36 million households in America and over 80 million households across Europe, North Africa, and the Middle East. The network's ratings show an audience of 3-4 million different households during any given month. Over 160,000 homes watched the Kol Nidre-Yom Kippur Service on JLTV.

Jewish Life Television programming features news, talk shows, cooking, comedy, and entertainment. JLTV also broadcasts live events including the American Israel Public Affairs Committee (AIPAC) Policy Conference, the Jewish Federation's General Assembly, the March of the Living, and the Maccabiah Games in Israel.

Mr. Blazer's award-winning weekly television program, Jewish Life, was established in 1977, and has featured interviews with prominent figures from all walks of life including Nobel Peace Prize winner Elie Weisel, Yitzak Rabin, Elizabeth Taylor, and Sandy Koufax. Blazer is the editor and publisher of the National Jewish News, which he founded in 1973. His radio program, Jewish Soul, began broadcasting in 1965 and continues to be heard weekly around the world and on the internet.

During his 46 years of working in Jewish media, Mr. Blazer has played a valuable role in numerous projects for the Jewish community and for America. He was a key catalyst in the rescue of nearly 1,000 Ethiopian Jews through U.S. Government Operation Joshua. Mr. Blazer championed California's Holocaust Education bill, led a counter-rally against Neo-Nazis in Skokie, Illinois, and started dialogue between Jews and Gentiles in post-war Berlin.

Mr. Blazer helps Israelis, the Jewish Diaspora, and America maintain strong ties. In addition to the aforementioned activities, he has led Hollywood celebrities and other leaders on trips to Israel. He attended the 1979 White House Peace Signing Ceremony between Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, Egyptian President Anwar al-Sadat, and U.S. President Jimmy Carter. Prime Minister Begin stated Blazer knows "Israel better than any American" the Israeli Prime Minister had ever met and was "rare" as a "true leader" of the Jewish people.

IN RECOGNITION OF CLYDE
MANN'S EFFORTS TO CREATE A NATIONAL SCIENCE DAY

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2011

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with my esteemed colleague, Congressman MIKE HONDA, to recognize Clyde Mann and celebrate his efforts to establish a National Science Day in the United States. Mr. Mann is a science instructor at Warm Springs Elementary School in Fremont, California. Recently he organized, almost single-handedly, a Science Alliance Day at the school.

During the Science Alliance Day a team of 40 Silicon Valley executives visited and made presentations to the 846 students at Warm Springs Elementary School. During this day-long, school-wide extravaganza students were able to get excited about science and learn about the ways that science shapes our future.

Mr. Mann recognizes the growing need for a trained workforce that is knowledgeable about science and technology and his goal is to establish a National Science Day throughout the country. If this goal is accomplished Mr. Mann is sure that our country's students will develop a passion for science by participating in science activities during National Science Day celebrations at their schools. Recently he said, "you're going to have a whole generation of kids across the country that are going to be very interested and engaged in science and to want to pursue science in the future. This is the Apollo moment acted upon."

The start of Warm Spring's science day was spectacular. There were demonstrations featuring robots, dry ice, DNA models, Maglev demonstrations, Mars rover facsimiles, and exploding balloons, and geysers of Coke powered by Mentos, not to mention the scientists and technology executives attending the event. To make sure that the students were not distracted by hunger there were even science themed snacks. According to an excited fourth-grader, "we made edible DNA with toothpaste and marshmallows and twisters". This sort of excitement is exactly what Clyde Mann envisions in his efforts to create a National Science Day.

Congressman HONDA and I applaud Clyde Mann for his accomplishments, commitment, and vision for a National Science Day. If established, National Science Day will excite students about science as well as provide them with a knowledge base to prepare for the future.

H.R. 2273, COAL RESIDUALS REUSE
AND MANAGEMENT ACT

HON. BETTY McCOLLUM

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 26, 2011

Ms. McCOLLUM. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to H.R. 2273, the Coal Residuals Reuse and Management Act. This bill represents yet another attempt by Republicans to put the interests of polluters ahead of public health and the well-being of our communities.

Despite the catastrophe of the Tennessee Valley coal ash spill in 2008, Republicans refuse to allow any meaningful oversight of coal companies. The Tennessee Valley disaster released more than one billion gallons of toxic sludge, flooding hundreds of acres of land and destroying numerous homes and farms. EPA needs the authority to require coal companies to have preventative measures that ensure we do not bury entire communities under toxic sludge. H.R. 2273 would prevent EPA from coming up with even minimal nationwide standards for toxic coal ash.

Minnesota has historically been highly dependent on coal. Thanks to one of the most stringent renewable energy standards in the country that requires 25% of our energy comes from renewable resources by 2025, we are beginning to transition to a clean energy economy. But we are still dealing with the legacy of coal ash.

Statewide, Minnesota has 15 coal ash ponds over 30 years old. One plant in St. Paul, the High Bridge Generating Plant, burned coal since 1923 before converting to natural gas in 2007. The ponds can contain high concentrations of arsenic, mercury, lead and other toxic chemicals. It is unimaginable that Republicans now want coal ash to have less stringent regulations than those required for our household disposable trash.

EPA has spent three years looking at how best to regulate coal ash working with citizens, local community officials and industry. EPA needs to now be allowed to do its job in determining how best to protect the public health. This bill is an unnecessary and harmful intrusion into that process. I urge my colleagues to learn from the Tennessee Valley tragedy and oppose this bill.
