

Take Mary in my district, for example. Mary made $48,000 in the first 6 months of 2009 but then got laid off with the downturn in the economy. As an unemployed individual who had gone through all of her savings since losing her job through no fault of her own, she called to receive help in filing her taxes. Or take George—again, a resident of the 21st Congressional District—a senior who suffers from seizures who called because he couldn't afford Medicaid deductibles for his seizure medication. He was in danger of running out of medication the following week. United Way 211 was able to assist George with his finances and get him back on track to managing his own health.

Mr. Speaker, these are the benefits of the United Way 211 Northeast Region.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO PUBLIC BROADCASTING?

(Mr. BLUMENAUER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, this next week we are going to have a very interesting conversation here in Washington, D.C., where the zeal that some of our friends have for both an ideological agenda and an effort at trying to cut government spending wherever they can, will put public broadcasting in the crosshairs.

I think it's an unfortunate development, one that's going to be a disappointment to the 170 million Americans who rely on public broadcasting every month. It's going to be particularly unfortunate if this agenda succeeds because it's not going to punish people in New York, or Portland, Oregon, or Seattle, or San Francisco. They will always have public broadcasting, although it will be diminished because of what some of my friends on the other side of the aisle hope to accomplish. But the real losers are going to be people in small-town and rural America. It costs 11 times as much to broadcast a signal to the far reaches of eastern Oregon than it does in the metropolitan Portland area. People should watch this discussion carefully. A lot depends on it.

LOST PUBLIC SECTOR JOBS

(Mr. MORAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, both sides of the aisle agree that the top three priorities for this Congress are jobs, jobs, jobs. But when you look at what the new majority wants to do with the Federal budget, you really have to wonder, are they serious?

Now in the private sector, we've actually seen job growth for the last 12 months, 36,000 more jobs last month. But we've lost hundreds of thousands of public sector jobs. And what should be of most concern to all Americans is that since 2008, more than 200,000 public sector jobs in the education arena—primarily teachers—have been lost; and at that very same time, student enrollment has gone up by 750,000 students. So you lose 200,000 educators while student enrollment goes up 750,000? That's our seed corn for our future. And what's going to happen with this new budget that we will be debating next week is that it is going to be far worse than anything we could have imagined, and that will hurt the future of this great country.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

COMMITTEE ON THE BUDGET,

Washington, DC, February 11, 2011.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE BUDGET REGARDING INTERIM BUDGET ALLOCATIONS AND AGGREGATES FOR FISCAL YEARS 2011–2015

MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to Section 3 of House Resolution 5, I submit for printing in the Congressional Record budget aggregates and allocations for fiscal year 2011. This submission includes allocation of budget authority and outlays for fiscal year 2011 and the period of fiscal years 2011 through 2015.

These interim levels will be used to enforce sections 302(f), 303(a) and 311(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974. Sections 302(f) and 311(a) prohibit the consideration of legislation inconsistent with the budgetary levels set forth in the budget resolution and the accompanying report. Section 303(a) prohibits the consideration of legislation providing new budget authority or changing revenue until Congress adopts a budget resolution for a fiscal year.

For House authorizing committees, the interim allocations and aggregates are set for fiscal year 2011, and the period of fiscal years 2011 through 2015, at the levels included in the “Budget and Economic Outlook: Fiscal Years 2011 Through 2021” published by the Congressional Budget Office (the CBO baseline). They reflect legislation enacted through the end of the 111th Congress. A separate 302(a) allocation to the Committee on Appropriations for fiscal year 2011 was inserted in the Congressional Record on February 8, 2011.

The aggregates serve as a ceiling on spending and a floor for revenue. These levels serve as the budget for fiscal year 2011, a year for which Congress did not adopt a budget resolution. They are temporary and will be effective until they are superseded by the adoption of a concurrent budget resolution for fiscal year 2012.

For questions, please contact Paul Restuccia, Chief Counsel of the Budget Committee.

Sincerely,

PAUL RYAN,
Chairman.
