

greatest state in the greatest nation on earth.

My debt to those Kansans can never be repaid. But it can be honored—every time I try, in some small way, to emulate the compassion and generosity of my friends and neighbors in Russell, multiplied over the years by countless acts of kindness, and culminating today in this ceremony. A long time ago, long before anyone could remotely imagine Bob Dole in a Walk of Honor, I took inspiration from a song called “You’ll Never Walk Alone.” My whole life, up to and including today, has been a validation of that song. And the greatest honor of my life has been to share that walk with my fellow Kansans—the most honorable people I know.

TRIBUTE TO BRUCE AKERS

Mr. PORTMAN. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize Bruce H. Akers, mayor of Pepper Pike, OH, for many years of outstanding leadership and service to the Greater Cleveland community. Mayor Akers has done remarkable work during his distinguished career as a leader in the business and civic community to improve the quality of life for his fellow citizens. On Thursday, October 20, 2011 the Cuyahoga County Mayors and Managers Association will honor Mayor Akers with the George V. Voinovich Public Service Award.

Mayor Akers’ work as a civic leader started more than 50 years ago when he began his career in banking with National City Bank. Although Mayor Akers retired in 2000 as senior vice president for civic affairs at KeyBank, he has continued his vigorous efforts to serve his community as a civic volunteer and local elected officeholder. Throughout the years, Mayor Akers has held leadership positions in organizations such as City Year of Cleveland, Park Works, the Chagrin Valley Inter-Governmental Council, The Salvation Army of Greater Cleveland, and United Way Services. He was also one of the founders of Business Volunteers Unlimited. In June of 2000 he completed 30 years as a member of the National Board of Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America and is currently a member of its National Advisory Council.

Mayor Akers has had a distinguished political career, beginning with his work as a precinct committeeman in 1960. Since that time, he has served on the staff of Cleveland mayor Ralph J. Perk, as a Pepper Pike councilman, and as president of the Cuyahoga County Mayors of Managers Association. He was appointed in 2008 to serve on the nine-member Commission on Cuyahoga County Government Reform and has been integral in recent years to the reform and transformation of the new charter form of government in Cuyahoga County. This year, Bruce Akers will retire from elected office after serving five terms as Mayor of Pepper Pike, OH.

For his commitment to public service and the many contributions he has made to Pepper Pike and the Greater Cleveland community, I would like to recognize and thank Mayor Bruce H.

Akers for his years of service and wish him well as he continues his many civic endeavors.

REMEMBERING ROLLIN POST

• Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I take this opportunity to honor the life of Rollin Post, an award-winning Bay Area journalist, who passed away on October 3, 2011, following complications from Alzheimer’s disease. Throughout his career, Rollin made extraordinary contributions to journalism, public affairs, and the Bay Area community he so passionately served. I extend my deepest sympathy to his wife Diane Post and their three children and five grandchildren.

Born in New York City in May 1930, Mr. Post was the son of New York State Assemblyman Langdon Post and Janet Kirby Post; and grandson to Pulitzer Prize-winning editorial cartoonist Rollin Kirby. After a childhood in New York, Tucson, and southern California, Rollin briefly attended San Francisco State College before enlisting in the U.S. Army. He later enrolled at the University of California, Berkeley, where he graduated in 1952 with a bachelor of arts in political science. Following graduation, Rollin returned to southern California to work at CBS radio and then as a writer at the local CBS television affiliate.

Rollin Post’s passion for broadcast journalism brought him back to the Bay Area, where he took a job at KPIX in 1961. Over the course of nearly 40 years, he remained a staple on local news broadcasts, focusing exclusively on matters relating to politics and public affairs and establishing himself as a highly respected and engaging reporter, commentator, and interviewer. Together with his long-time colleague and cohost, Belva Davis, Mr. Post developed several enduring television programs such as “A Closer Look” and “California This Week.”

During his storied career, Rollin Post covered nine Presidential elections and interviewed many important figures in local, State, and national politics. He was so well known as a journalist that Robert Redford cast him to play himself in the 1972 film “The Candidate.” He also received many well-deserved honors and awards for his work, including recognitions from the Society of Professional Journalists and the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences.

Outside of his work in journalism, Rollin served as a volunteer for several organizations, including Common Cause and the Institute of Governmental Studies at his alma mater, UC Berkeley. He was also a lifelong baseball fan and an avid outdoorsman, relishing opportunities to take his family camping and hiking.

I extend my heartfelt condolences to Rollin’s family, friends, and former colleagues. He will be sorely missed.●

RECOGNIZING THE JEWISH FEDERATION’S NEW HOME

• Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, today I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating the Jewish Federation of the Desert as the organization prepares to move into its new home in Rancho Mirage, CA.

The Jewish Federation of the Desert embraces the core Jewish values of compassion, charity, generosity, and responsibility to care for those in need including the elderly, the homeless, the undereducated, and victims of abuse and violence. In addition, the federation is dedicated to supporting child and youth education, with afterschool activities, day schools, and childhood centers.

On November 1, the Jewish Federation of the Desert will open its doors in Rancho Mirage. This new home will allow the federation to dedicate more of its resources to helping people in the Coachella Valley and create a vibrant new center for Jewish community life.

I congratulate the Jewish Federation of the Desert and wish its staff, volunteers, and supporters continued success in carrying out its noble mission.●

NORTHAMPTON COMMUNITY COLLEGE

• Mr. CASEY. Mr. President, today I commend Northampton Community College on the groundbreaking of its new $72 million Monroe County Campus. This undertaking will expand and improve educational opportunities for countless students for generations to come. It is a notable achievement that has been made possible through the persistence, dedication, and cooperation of a committed group of faculty, staff, and administrators at Northampton Community College.

Northampton’s newest campus, which impressively spans over 200,000 square feet, includes a workforce development training center, an enrollment center building, and a student life building. Given our country’s current economic climate and staggering unemployment rate, what Northampton Community College has managed to accomplish today is nothing short of remarkable.

Northampton Community College is a public, comprehensive community college that serves more than 36,000 students per year with its main campus in Bethlehem, PA. Currently, there are more than 16,000 students enrolled in their credit programs and an additional 21,000 who are involved in workforce training, adult literacy, or youth classes.

This new campus in Monroe County highlights Northampton’s dedication to Pennsylvania and higher education in America. Northampton’s strong commitment to preparing its students for the demands of today’s economy is reflected in the new campus. Their new workforce training center is forecasted to train 1,000 new, incumbent, and displaced workers in the first 5 years of its existence. Northampton also offers many degree programs specifically designed to meet the needs of industries in the region. In 2012 it is estimated to create 541 new jobs, $15.9 million in new economic revenue activity, and $2.8 million in tax revenue.

Northampton continues to lead the pack in higher education and has proven to be a model for community colleges across the country. The faculty, staff, and administration, under the leadership of President Art Scott, put students first. This new campus is evidence of this institution's steadfast commitment to preparing students for the 21st century economy. I could not be more pleased and honored to recognize such an exceptional educational accomplishment and ask that you would join me today in celebrating along with Northampton Community College.●

TRIBUTE TO NOBEL PEACE PRIZE WINNERS

● Mr. KERRY. Mr. President, on Friday, October 7, the Nobel Peace Prize for 2011 was awarded to three distinguished women for their courageous efforts to promote peace and democracy. President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf of Liberia, her compatriot and peace activist Leymah Gbowee, and prodemocracy campaigner Tawakkol Karman of Yemen join the ranks of the chosen few whose dedication to peace is acknowledged by the international community.

President Johnson Sirleaf, Africa's first democratically elected female head of state, has helped Liberia recover from 14 brutal years of civil war. Taking office in 2006 after a lengthy exile, she led her nation to greater peace and security, while transforming Liberia in the eyes of the world.

Ms. Gbowee, a founding member of the Women in Peacebuilding Network, mobilized over 3,000 Muslim and Christian women to hold nonviolent protests that helped bring an end to Liberia's civil war. Her efforts demonstrate that the desire for peace and the power to effect change transcend ethnic, religious, and gender divides.

Ms. Karman has for years been a vocal champion of human rights in Yemen. In 2005, she founded a group called Women Journalists Without Chains. Since then, she has braved physical threats and harassment to advance the cause of freedom in her country. And this year, she has emerged as one of the leaders of Yemen's nonviolent democratic uprising. As the first Arab woman to receive a Nobel prize, her selection honors all of the mothers, daughters, and sisters across the Middle East who have been standing for their rights alongside their fathers, sons and brothers.

In the history of the Nobel Peace Prize, very few women have received this high honor. The choice of the selection committee this year is more than a recognition of the strength and courage of these women; it is a clear and resounding testament to the idea that women's rights are important, that it is smart policy to promote gender equality, and that societies are better off when all of their members—women included—can safely exercise their fundamental rights and become drivers of economic security and political opportunity.

Let's take this moment to remember another Nobel Peace Prize winner, Dr. Wangari Maathai, who passed away just days before this year's announcement. Dr. Maathai led the Green Belt Movement with tenacity and vision, transforming Kenya's landscape and women's lives. She and the women who are honored this year leave an indelible mark on our social consciousness. I want to congratulate President John Sirleaf, Ms. Gbowee, and Ms. Karman on their selection and to thank them for their service to their communities and commitment to uphold global standards of human rights.●

TRIBUTE TO WARRANT OFFICER JAY T. LANE

● Mr. LEE. Mr. President, today we honor WO Jay T. Lane as a hero for an act of incredible bravery and courage. He has earned the Silver Star and I am humbled and honored to submit these words of deep gratitude and appreciation.

In 1971, Jay was the pilot of a lift helicopter that was struck by two rocket-propelled grenades, the incredibly deadly weapon of choice for our enemies in Vietnam. It is a miracle that wasn't the end of Jay right then and there.

Known as an extraordinarily skillful and talented pilot by his peers, Jay somehow safely landed what was left of the helicopter. Relatively speaking, Jay was OK, but one of the infantrymen on the vehicle was badly wounded.

After removing his fellow soldier from the wreckage, Jay then went back into a burning helicopter under intense fire from the enemy to retrieve the first aid kit and began to care for his wounded friend.

Knowing he needed to get to a safer area, Jay carried the wounded soldier on his back through the jungle and waited until help arrived.

After the episode, Jay's superior officer wrote, "His gallant actions and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Military."

I couldn't agree more. Jay's bravery stands as a fine example of the character of our men and women who have fought for and defended this country. Those who wear the uniform today still display that same courage in far away places, just as Jay did that day in Vietnam.

Without their sense of duty to our country, we would not enjoy the freedoms we have today. It is of the highest calling to provide for the common defense, as the preamble of our Constitution makes clear. I am awed by their sacrifice.

Today, I am honored to congratulate Jay T. Lane for earning the Silver Star. It is well deserved.●

REMEMBERING MAYOR JERRY WASHBURN

● Mr. LEE. Mr. President, the city of Orem recently lost a great leader and public servant—Mayor Jerry C. Washburn.

Mayor Washburn called Orem his home for over 50 years and acted as the longest-serving mayor in the city's history. He was known as a natural leader who took the time to listen to all opinions, and created an environment that encouraged an open exchange of ideas.

As mayor he focused on enriching the quality of life in Orem, and dedicated his time to projects that will benefit generations to come. Citywide streetlights, the swimming pools at SCERA Park, Lakeside Sports Park, and Nielsen's Grove Park are just a few that residents today and in the future will enjoy.

Mayor Washburn also served as chairman of the Utah County Transportation Planning Organization, chairman of the Utah County Board of Health, and was a founding board member of the Utah Lake Commission. His life was truly devoted to serving his community, his church, and his family. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.●

TRIBUTE TO NICHOLAS CORVINO

● Mr. RUBIO. Mr. President, today I recognize Nicholas Corvino, a summer intern in my Washington, DC office for all of the hard work he has done for me, my staff, and the people of the State of Florida.

Nicholas is a rising senior pursuing a major in political science and a minor in history at the University of Central Florida. He is a dedicated and diligent worker who has been devoted to getting the most out of his internship experience.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to Nicholas for all the fine work he has done and wish him continued success in the years to come.●

TRIBUTE TO TIMOTHY COSTA

● Mr. RUBIO. Mr. President, today I recognize Timothy Costa, a summer intern in my Washington, DC office for all of the hard work he has done for me, my staff, and the people of the State of Florida.

Timothy is a rising senior pursuing a major in philosophy and a minor in political science at Temple University. He is a dedicated and diligent worker who has been devoted to getting the most out of his internship experience.
