STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. CORKER (for himself and Mr. BENNET):

S. 1655. A bill to amend title XI of the Social Security Act to provide for the annual mailing of statements of Medicare beneficiary part A contributions and benefits in coordination with the annual mailing of Social Security account statements; to the Committee on finance.

Mr. CORKER. I am here today to say that Senator BENNET from Colorado and myself are introducing a bill that mirrors what has been introduced in the House by Representative COOPER from Tennessee and PAUL RYAN from Wisconsin.

I have tremendous faith in the American people. I believe when the American people are given facts and transparency, they make good decisions. They help us here in Washington make good decisions when I think they have the information they need.

A lot of Americans are very aware of some of the dilemmas we face here in Washington regarding Medicare. But I do not think many Americans are fully aware of the dilemma we face. I think they are aware that the trustees for Medicare have said that in the year 2024 Medicare is going to become insolvent. But I do not think they are aware of the math. Actually I was not aware of the math until we began to look at how we solve the problem.

According to a recent study, the average American couple each earning $43,500 a year will pay $119,000 into the Medicare Program over their lifetime. This contribution includes the portion that their employer pays on their behalf. In other words, the family pays in half, the employer pays in half. In 2011 dollars, that means if you paid in 30 years ago, and that money was inflated to today's dollars, that family would have paid in $119,000 over their lifetime.

What most Americans do not know is that over their lifetime, the average family takes $357,000 out of Medicare. So obviously the math does not work. I think most Americans did not fully realize this until we got into the situation we're in—I am not sure most people in the Senate understood how off the math is, if you will.

Over the next decade, 20 million more Americans are going to be on Medicare. The situation where the average family and their employer are paying in $119,000 into the program and taking out $357,000 is going to be further exacerbated by the fact that over the next 10 years, 20 million more Americans are going to be on Medicare.

Then, on top of that, we are going to have fewer people working per retiree than ever in the history of this country. For that reason, today, Senator BENNET and I are offering a bill that says when Americans receive their Social Security letter, which lays out how much they have paid in, they would also receive the information regarding Medicare, so that they will know how much they are paying into the program and, over time, how much they will have taken out.

I think this type of transparency allows Americans to fully understand how these programs work. To me, what that will do is help all of us in the Senate, and over in the House of Representatives, make better decisions. I think when Americans are informed they help us make better decisions.

A lot of Americans don't fully appreciate this, I think, sometimes. But Congress really does reflect more fully than they think the will of the American people. Again, I think transparency helps us represent the American people in even a more full way.

Today we introduce this bill, and I thank Senator BENNET from Colorado for joining me in this effort. I also thank Representatives COOPER and RYAN for their leadership in the House.

It is my hope that soon, either through unanimous consent or early action, that this bill will become law. I think as long as Americans understand where things stand, they help us in Congress make good and sound decisions. That is why I am introducing this bill today with the help of Senator BENNET from Colorado.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I congratulate the junior Senator from Tennessee for his usual good judgment and insight in working on a difficult problem. No Member of this body has done more in the last year to try to highlight the problem of the Federal debt. Through his cap plan, which has been a part of almost every discussion we have had seriously about it, through his effort—more recently to support efforts to try to achieve $4 trillion in debt reduction as a part of the select committee, and his suggestion today that allowing Americans to understand something that most of us hadn't focused on—that during our lifetimes we are paying in $110,000, $120,000 into Medicare and taking out, during our lifetimes, $350,000 or so, and that is a problem that has to be solved.

I have been doing research lately on our debt situation. Fundamentally speaking, our problem lies with health care costs. It lies with families, businesses, and with the U.S. Government. Our discretionary spending—the kind we appropriate every year—on everything from national parks and national defense to roads and bridges, that is about 39 percent of the budget. If we stick to our guns on the agreement we made in early August, that will only grow at a little less than the rate of inflation. But it would go over to the mandatory spending, which is about 55 percent of our spending. It is going to go up three times the rate of inflation, and the fastest growing part of that mandatory spending is Medicare and Medicaid.

So we need to save our Medicare and Medicaid system so Americans can rely on them. I think Senator CORKER shows respect for the voters of Tennessee and for Americans by assuming that if they understand the problem, they will support a serious effort to deal with a solution. I compliment him for that leadership.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The junior Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. CORKER. Mr. President, while we are issuing compliments, I want to say that all of us want to see to it that Medicare is here for future generations. That will take sound judgment. We have a select committee that is working on, hopefully, the first step to make that happen.

I congratulate the senior Senator from Tennessee for this. More than anybody else recently, I think he has
