CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY STATEMENT

Pursuant to clause 7 of rule XII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the following statements are submitted regarding the specific powers granted to Congress in the Constitution to enact the accompanying bill or joint resolution.

By Mr. ISSA:

H.R. 6625.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article 1, Sec. 8: To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes; To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof. Article II, section 2, clause 2:

[The President] shall have the power, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, to make Treaties." For much of the Nation's history, Indian treaties, and legislation made pursuant to Indian treaties, governed the relations between the Federal Government and Indian tribes. The U.S. Supreme Court has acknowledged that these and other provisions of the Constitution of the United States grant Congress with broad plenary to legislate with regard to Indian affairs. The Court in Oliphant v. Suquamish Indian Tribes held in part that Congress' treaty and other dealings with tribes inherently divested tribes of criminal jurisdiction over persons who were not citizens of the host tribe. Similarly, the Court in U.S. v. Lara upheld Congress' restoration of tribal criminal authority over non-member Indians.

By Mr. HONDA:

H.R. 6626.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

section 8 of article I of the Constitution.

By Mr. LANGEVIN:

H.R. 6627.

Congress has the power to enact this legislation pursuant to the following:

Article I, Section 8, Clause 1 of the United States Constitution.
