FREEDOM IS A GIFT OF GOD

(Ms. JACKSON LEE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, yesterday was a magnificent day: the coming together for the second inauguration of Barack Obama and the honoring of Dr. Martin Luther King. In his speech, President Obama said something potent and powerful, and that is that freedom is a gift from God, but it is one that is not self-executing. A gentleman that I know very well, Dr. Reverend Samuel Smith of the Mount Horeb Baptist Church, knows about fighting for freedom.

Today, I rise to again affirm Roe v. Wade, which speaks about individual freedom, and to indicate that even as we discuss budget talks and the debt ceiling, we must recognize the freedom of the vulnerable to be safe and secure and to have the support to be able to have food and clothing and a home. That is freedom as well, my friends.

And so as we debate the questions of the debt ceiling and whether we have a budget, let us be reminded that freedom is a gift of God and that it should not be denied to those who are most vulnerable, those who are the weak, those who cannot stand for themselves. And the President made it very clear that freedom is not to the powerful. It is for all of us. We all are created equal, with certain unalienable rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

40TH ANNIVERSARY OF ROE V. WADE

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Today marks the 40th anniversary of Roe v. Wade. Ultimately decisions about whether to choose adoption, end a pregnancy, or raise a child must be left to a woman, her family, and her faith, with the counsel of her doctor or health care provider.

Roe v. Wade prevents politicians from interfering with a woman's personal decision. Were Roe ever to be overturned, it could have ripple effects. Our laws and traditions afford constitutional protections to personal decisions relating to, among other things, marriage, procreation, contraception, family relationships, childrearing, and intimacy. The right to privacy, strengthened by Roe, supports each of these areas.

Overturning Roe could thus potentially erode the ability of individuals to make highly personal decisions free from intrusive government regulations and harm the overall right to privacy. 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF ROE V. WADE

(Mr. FARR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FARR. It was a very historic time in Washington, D.C., yesterday, with not only the swearing in of the President of the United States, but doing it on the occasion that marks Martin Luther King's birthday holiday here in the United States. What a day for hundreds of thousands of youth from around this country to see their Capital in action and today visiting the Congress itself.

Today, we also celebrate the historic enactment of Roe v. Wade. What an absolute honor and privilege it is to live in a country that does not deny access to health care. I was a Peace Corps volunteer in Latin America, and my sister died on the operating table because there was not adequate health care. When you don't have it, you can't get it, no matter what. And so this country protects women's rights to see a doctor in their own privacy and discuss what their needs may be. No Congress should stand in the way of denying people access to health care, including the right to an abortion.

So let's protect what the Supreme Court has honored and celebrate on this historic day all kinds of great things in this great country, including Roe v. Wade, America's anniversary of the right to health care for women.

NO BUDGET, NO PAY

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. LAMALFA. For almost 4 years. the Democrat-controlled Senate has failed to pass a budget—the most basic responsibility of governing. This shameful record must end this year. We must set up a broader debate about spending that forces the Senate to finally join the House in confronting the government's spending problem. The House and Senate must each pass a budget. If they fail, Member pay should be withheld. The principle is as simple as the bill: no budget, no pay.

I'm a California legislator, having served in our State legislature for 8 years. The people of California finally got tired of late, ineffective budgets and passed legislation on their own via the initiative process to force the State legislature to get the job done. The first time that happened, right after that election, the budget got done on time. Amazing.

Therefore, I hope the American people will join the effort the U.S. House Republicans are taking up and force the United States Senate to get the job done to get a budget, as is their responsibility.

There was no objection.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 307, the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act of 2013, introduced by my colleague, MIKE ROGERS, from Michigan, would reauthorize programs designed to foster the development of chemical, biological, radioactive, and nuclear medical countermeasures and strengthen the Nation's preparedness infrastructure. It reauthorizes programs for 5 years at the fiscal year 2012 appropriated level and does not create a new program nor increase the authorization for appropriations for an existing program.

Congress originally enacted the programs reauthorized in PAHPRA through the Project BioShield Act of 2004 and Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Act of 2006. Project BioShield authorized funds for the purchase of medical countermeasures through the Special Reserve Fund and enabled the Secretary of Health and Human Services to authorize the emergency use of medical products.

PAHPRA created the Biodefense Advanced Research and Development Authority within HHS to help with the development of medical countermeasures and ensure communications between HHS and the developers of medical countermeasures. Reauthorizing these programs would help the Nation respond to a CBRN attack and is essential to addressing gaps in the Nation's flu preparedness.

H.R. 307 is essentially the same as H.R. 6672, the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act of 2012, which passed the House in December by a vote of 383–16.

I would urge all Members to support this critical piece of legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to rise in support of H.R. 307, the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act of 2013. Unfortunately, last month, before the end of the Congress, we were unable to get this final bill over the finish line, so I am grateful to Chairman UPTON and Ranking Member WAXMAN for agreeing to move quickly to get this bill passed and sent over to the Senate without further delay.

This bill is virtually identical to the House-passed bill last December. It reflects bipartisan work that took place between the House and Senate over several months late last year to resolve differences between the House- and Senate-passed PAHPRA reauthorization bills.

We all know very well that our Nation continues to face threats that require an ongoing commitment to public health and emergency preparedness. Of course, I think to my own district and State of New Jersey after we experienced a devastating storm that destroyed entire communities. The Federal Government's support, including through programs authorized by PAHPRA, was critical in the wake of this hurricane disaster.

The legislation before us today reauthorizes programs and activities first established as part of the Public Health Security and Bioterrorism Preparedness and Response Act of 2002, the 2004 Project BioShield Act, and the 2006 Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Act. Over the past decade, these programs have represented comprehensive efforts to prepare for and respond to public health emergencies. As a result of the investments that followed, our Nation is better equipped to respond to public health emergencies.

I just want to take a few moments to highlight ways that H.R. 307 will continue the progress we've made over the past decade:

First, the bill further facilitates the development of medical countermeasures through emphasizing medical countermeasure advancement in the National Health Security Strategy, requiring the development of a 5-year budget analysis of the countermeasure enterprise, and calling for the development of a countermeasure strategy and implementation plan:

Second, it bolsters the Nation's medical and public health preparedness and response infrastructure, including through a new authority that would allow States to deploy personnel funded through Federal programs to the areas within their State where they are most needed in the aftermath of a disaster:

Third, it strengthens and clarifies the position of Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response as the lead for HHS on emergency preparedness and response and calls for streamlining and better coordinating HHS preparedness grants with those of other Departments:

Finally, it places even greater emphasis on the special needs of pediatric and other at-risk populations in preparing for and responding to public health emergencies.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 307 improves FDA's emergency response capabilities. It will enable FDA to authorize the distribution and use of medical countermeasures in preparation for an emergency and to take actions during an emergency that will allow for the most effective use of medical countermeasures.

I just wanted to thank the Congressmen. First, I want to thank my colleague, who is about to speak, Congresswoman ANNA ESHOO, for all her work on this legislation over the years; also, obviously, MIKE ROGERS and Congressman GENE GREEN. These are different people who have authored the legislation over the years.

I would also like to recognize the contributions of Chairman UPTON, Chairman PITTS, Ranking Member WAXMAN, and Congressman MARKEY in strengthening the legislation as it moved through the committee process and in discussions with the Senate. They have all worked in a bipartisan fashion over the past 1½ years to accomplish the goals of our Members, and they should be commended for their work.

I urge Members to join me in supporting passage of H.R. 307. I am hopeful that our Senate colleagues will move forward on this bill's passage so we can get it to the President's desk as quickly as possible.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. ROGERS), the prime sponsor of this legislation.

Mr. ROGERS of Michigan. Thank you, Mr. Speaker and Ranking Member PALLONE. I want to thank ANNA ESHOO for being such a great partner in what is truly a collaborative effort to get this bill passed and protect our ability to protect so many Americans.

It's been about 10 years, Mr. Speaker, since September 11 and the anthrax attacks that followed. The threat of bioterrorism remains a very real danger, indeed, to the American people. As we have seen in events across northern Africa, our adversaries in al Qaeda and others are still hell-bent on their terrorism acts, and we know that they are interested in chemical and radiological and biological elements to further their political gains.

Fortunately, we have spent the last decade preparing for those chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear threats by developing and stockpiling numerous medical countermeasures to protect Americans in the event of attack. As a result of these efforts, we now have numerous vaccines and treatments in the Strategic National Stockpile that will save thousands of lives if we're attacked. However, the work to protect Americans against bioterrorism is not finished, and we must pass this bill or the future of America's public health preparedness infrastructure will be in jeopardy.

The Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act is a fiscally responsible bill that represents common ground between the bipartisan House-and Senate-passed preparedness bills in the 112th Congress.

I'd like to take this opportunity again to thank the bipartisan cosponsors—first, Anna Eshoo for her long-term commitment and partnership in this, certainly Mr. Pallone from New Jersey as well, Chairman Upton and Ranking Member Waxman, and all of our great partners in the Senate—for their support in what has been a very productive process to ensure the health preparedness of our States and hospitals for the next flu outbreak or pandemic.

$\sqcap$ 1240

This bill will reauthorize critically important biodefense programs designed to promote the continued development of medical countermeasures against chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear threats, and would strengthen the Nation's public health preparedness infrastructure. Reauthorizing these programs is essential to how the Nation would respond to these types of attacks.

The bill would also reauthorize programs for 5 years at the fiscal year 2012 appropriated level. The bill would not create a new program nor increase authorization for appropriations for an existing program. This bill would reauthorize and improve certain provisions of Project Bioshield and something we call PAHPA.

Again, I want to thank you, Mr. Speaker. I wish this bill Godspeed for the safety of all of our first responders and those who might be exposed to what we know is a real threat when it comes to the safety, health, and national security of the United States.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Eshoo). She is a longtime advocate and sponsor of this legislation.

Ms. ESHOO. Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member, Mr. Pallone, for his leadership and legislative courtesies along the way. I'm very proud that as we begin a new year and a new Congress that this bill is on the floor. I think it's fitting that we begin a new Congress with this bill, the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization. It is very important legislation, as you have already heard from those that have spoken.

I first introduced this legislation with Congressman MIKE ROGERS, my friend, my colleague, at the committee, and we've done other bills together very successfully, as well. We began that particular effort in 2006 to better help our country prepare for a chemical, biological, radiological, or nuclear attack—all words that none of us really wish to utter. But we need to be prepared.

Developing and stockpiling appropriate countermeasures is essential for public safety. And these programs encourage American companies to invest in areas of critical need because we need the partnership of the private sector in this as well

The bill before us today includes new provisions that highlight the important needs of our Nation's children. Children are not just little adults. They need special care and medical attention. They're especially vulnerable to biological or chemical agents because of their size, their limited capacity to flush toxins out of their bodies, their underdeveloped motor skills, and their total reliance on their parents or other caregivers. And certainly the role of the Congress in this is to make sure that we have laws that really speak specifically to them.

While the hope is that we will never need to use these countermeasures to combat an attack on our country, I'm proud that we've strengthened these programs for everyone in our country, especially children.

This legislation is supported by the American Public Health Association, the Association of State and Territorial Health Officials, the National Association of County and City Health Officials, and Trust for America's Health, as well as, very importantly, the American Academy of Pediatrics.

I'm very pleased that we're, once again, voting to pass the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act, just as we did a month before the end of the last Congress, and I strongly urge my colleagues in the Senate to do the same. This is a bipartisan effort, and it's critical to our national preparedness and security strategies. We very often come to the floor about strategies relative to our military and strategies relative to our national intelligence community. This is about the public health element of that national security for our country.

We need to move forward with this and bring the legislation to the President's desk for his signature.

I thank Chairman UPTON, the ranking member of the full Energy and Commerce Committee, Mr. WAXMAN, and certainly the distinguished chairman of the Health Subcommittee and, again, my wonderful partner, Congressman MIKE ROGERS.

Mr. PITTS. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to include for the RECORD a joint letter from four public health organizations: the American Public Health Association, the Association of State and Territorial Health Officials, the National Association of County and City Health Officials, and Trust for America's Health.

Hon. Mike Rogers,
House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMEN UPTON AND PITTS, RANKING MEMBERS WAXMAN AND PALLONE, AND REPRESENTATIVE ROGERS: On behalf of the undersigned organizations, dedicated to protecting the public health of our nation, we write to express our support for the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act of 2013 (PAHPRA, H.R. 307). We urge swift passage in the House as this legislation is critical to the safety of our nation. We thank you for your leadership in moving PAHPRA though the House in the 112th Congress and are eager to work with both the House and Senate to ensure final passage in this session.

PAHPRA is vital to state and local health and other public health practitioners who are a critical part of any community's first response to disease outbreaks, emergencies, and acts of terrorism. The following provisions in particular are essential to keeping communities healthy and safe:

Temporary Redeployment of Federally Funded Personnel During a Public Health Emergency (Section 201): The provision allows states and tribes to request from the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) the authority to temporarily reassign public health personnel from other HHS-funded grant programs to respond to a major emergency. The authority would allow state and local governments to meet the tremendous staffing needs required by a disaster.

Reauthorization of the Public Health and Emergency Preparedness Grants (PHEP) (Section 202): The PHEP cooperative agreement program provides funding to local and state public health departments to strengthen their capacity and capability to effectively respond to public health emergencies including terrorist threats, infectious disease outbreaks, natural disasters, and biological, chemical, nuclear, and radiological emergencies. State and local health departments work with federal government officials, law enforcement, emergency management, health care, business, education, and religious groups to plan, train, and prepare for emergencies so that when disaster strikes, communities are prepared.

Reauthorization of the Hospital Preparedness Program (HPP) (Section 203): HPP provides funding to state and local health departments to enhance hospital preparedness and improve overall surge capacity in the case of public health emergencies. The preparedness activities carried out under this program strengthen the capabilities of hospitals throughout the country to respond to floods, hurricanes, or wildfires, and also include training for a potential influenza pandemic or terrorist attack.

Carryover of Grant Use, Coordination (Sec-

Carryover of Grant Use, Coordination (Section 202 and 203): The bill updates the preparedness grant programs at HHS giving grantees limited ability to carry over funds encouraging flexibility and efficiency. The provisions promote long-term planning currently impossible in an unpredictable fiscal environment.

Children's Preparedness (Sections 103, 307 and throughout): The bill establishes the National Advisory Committee on Children and Disasters to bring together federal and nonfederal partners to provide guidance and recommendations on medical and public health preparedness for children before, during and after a disaster or public health emergency. The bill takes significant steps to consider the particular needs of pediatric populations in Medical Countermeasure (MCM) research and development. The bill also calls for consideration of the needs of children, as an atrisk population, in the Public Health Emergency Medical Countermeasures Enterprise Strategy and Implementation Plan, PHEP, HPP, and Medical Reserve Corps.

Enhancing Situational Awareness and Biosurveillance (Section 204): The bill calls for planning and integration of the current biosurveillance systems to strengthen the nation's bioterrorism and disease outbreak response capabilities. The bill also requires coordination with the National Biodefense Science Board. HHS is required to provide a report to Congress on their implementation plans and progress.

Individuals with Disabilities (Section 101): The bill calls for the consideration of the needs individuals with disabilities in the National Health Security Strategy.

Thank you again for your work to reauthorize this important legislation. We look forward to working with you and your staff to move this bill to the President's desk.

Sincerely,

GEORGES C. BENJAMIN, MD, FACP, FACEP (E), ExecutiveDirector, PublicAmericanHealth Association. PAUL E. JARRIS, MD, MBA, Executive Director, Association of State Territorial andHealth Officials. ROBERT M. PESTRONK, ExecutiveDirector. National Association of County and City Health Officials. JEFF LEVI, PH.D., Director. ExecutiveTrust For America's Health.

Mr. PALLONE. I now would like to yield 3 minutes to another sponsor of the legislation, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. Green).

Mr. GENE GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act which will reauthorize certain provisions of the Project Bioshield Act of 2004 and the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Act of 2006.

This legislation was initially passed by Congress to help the U.S. develop medical countermeasures against chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear terrorism agents, to provide a mechanism for Federal acquisition of these newly developed countermeasures.

Our Nation remains vulnerable to these threats because many of the vaccines and medicines to protect our citizens do not exist. Developing and stockpiling these medical countermeasures require time, resources, and research, all of which will be provided under the legislation before us today. I'm pleased that the language I supported during the committee process aimed at increasing emphasis on regional trauma care centers was included.

This bill is very important to me because the University of Texas Medical Branch's Galveston National Laboratory is near our district. The Galveston National Lab is the only BSL-4 lab located on a university campus. At the lab, scientists conduct research to develop therapies, vaccines, and diagnostic tests for naturally occurring emerging diseases such as SARS and avian influenza, as well as for microbes that might be employed by terrorists.

This is exactly the type of research we hope to encourage under the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act.

As an original cosponsor of this bill with Mr. ROGERS, I'm very pleased at how quickly we have moved this rare bipartisan piece of legislation. I would like to thank Chairman ROGERS, Chairman UPTON, Chairman PITTS, Ranking Member WAXMAN, Ranking Member PALLONE, Mrs. Myrick and Ms. Eshoo for their work on this important legislation. The House passed this bill twice last year, and I hope the Senate acts quickly, and we will send it to the President.

I strongly urge my colleagues to vote "ves" on this legislation.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I have no additional colleagues to speak, and I would simply urge Members to join me in supporting passage of H.R. 307 and hope that our Senate colleagues will move forward on the bill's passage so we can get the bill to the President's desk.

I yield back the balance of my time. Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, I have no other speakers.

I urge my colleagues to support this legislation. It has strong bipartisan support. I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 307, the Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Reauthorization Act of 2013, and urge my colleagues to support this bill as well.

Mr. Speaker, this bill has been a long time coming. In fact, it's the same one we passed just last month at the end of the 112th Congress. H.R. 307 reflects a lengthy, but extremely productive process with our Senate colleagues and their staff to come together to bridge the differences between earlier House and Senate bills. H.R. 307 is the product of that effort. It is our hope that this time around, the Senate will pass the bill as soon as possible after the House acts on the legislation today.

Toward that end, H.R. 307 reauthorizes and makes minor—but important—improvements to various programs and activities first established in the 2002 Public Health Security and Bioterrorism Preparedness and Response Act; 2004 Project Bioshield Act; and the 2006 Pandemic and All-Hazards Preparedness Act, or as it is commonly referred to, "PAHPA." These programs and activities are key in helping to ensure that our nation is well prepared to successfully manage the effects of natural disasters, infectious disease outbreaks, and acts of bioterrorism.

H.R. 307 includes dozens of changes to these underlying authorities. Let me highlight just three provisions that deserve special attention:

First, the bill will ensure that the Food and Drug Administration focuses on medical countermeasures of the highest importance. Medical countermeasures are products designed to combat chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear agents. H.R. 307 will facilitate communication between the FDA and product sponsors—particularly on high priority countermeasures for which sponsors have developed regulatory management plans—to resolve scientific and regulatory questions and help make these products available more quickly. Just last month, FDA approved the first drug developed and procured under Project BioShield.

The FDA provisions in H.R. 307 will also facilitate the rapid provision of existing medicines to people in need during an emergency. Taken together, these FDA provisions—along with the renewed emphasis in our countermeasure enterprise through other parts of the legislation—will make it possible for a greater number of drugs and devices to move from early development to procurement.

Second, the legislation makes improvements to the nation's blueprint for public health preparedness and response activities that will enhance the ability of our diverse health care system to respond to mass casualty emergencies. Among such improvements are clarifying the role of the Assistant Secretary of Preparedness and Response as the lead office within the Department of Health and Human Services for emergency preparedness and response. H.R. 307 also establishes a new authority to permit the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services to approve a request of a state, territory, or an Indian tribe to redeploy certain federally-supported employees during the time of a national emergency to geographic areas where these employees are needed most.

Finally, H.R. 307 continues support for investments in state and local public health departments. Such investments are necessary to make certain that we have the requisite public health infrastructure in place to respond immediately and appropriately to any public health threat that may arise.

This legislation reflects the effort of a number of members—Democrats and Republicans alike. On our side of the aisle, Congressman GREEN, Congresswoman ESHOO, Congressman MARKEY, and our Health Subcommittee Ranking Member, Congressman PALLONE, have been deeply involved. I want to thank them and their staff for all the long and incredibly hard work they have put into this legislation and to the process of getting us here today.

I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of H.R.
