

endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Yet, as churches have been behind the movement to establish the Constitution, the movement to eliminate slavery, the movement to recognize civil rights so people are not judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character—as was the dream of Dr. Martin Luther King, Junior, an ordained Christian minister—now we have turned full circle, and now we are starting to persecute and reward those who abroad persecute the very churches that made America the freest country—the only country from which people have fought and died for the liberty of others—the most generous and giving Nation in the history of the world, where more freedoms, liberties, and assets have been attained by individuals than in any country in the history of the world.

It is exceptional, but we are losing our exceptionalism because we are refusing to stand up for the beliefs of Christians here and around the world.

If we want to extend this little experiment in democracy, as one of the Founders said—if we want to acknowledge Ben Franklin's comment “it is a Republic if you can keep it,” and we want to keep it—it is time to rise up, not through violence. Just stop rewarding those who persecute Christianity. Those who burn churches, those who kill Christians, quit rewarding them—quit providing them arms—because, if we don't, we will slip down the slide of history into the dustbin of history, and people will only be able to look back and say, “What an amazing country that once was.”

I am here in Congress because I believe we have the chance to salvage this great country and get back our international leadership we once had and stand for freedom of religion in the world and in America, but God help us if we don't.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.
