

all on that most heroic of all nights Who stood strong, who stood long, ever so bright
 To see heaven's light
 Out of the Woods, and into the light
 The ones who chose to be in harm's way, standing up for what is right Indeed, it is but a special breed.
 who in the name of public service who will intercede and so fight Whether, an Ambassador, a Diplomat, or Brothers In Arms, who together chose to unite
STAND DOWN
HELL NO
 Against all odds as into that darkness they'd go Leave no brother behind was how they all lived and so died As their Mothers cried, with tears in their eyes As Heaven them chose, they'd rise
 In the moment of truth, only the bravest of all hearts so choose to fight While, against all odds, these heroes acted like gods bringing their light
 All in their creed, showing us what we all need to make this world right Courage and Faith, and unending Conviction to make it a far better place Because minutes are all that we have To make a difference, all in that fight of Good versus Bad It's better to live for something noble, than die for nothing at all As they went into the darkest of Woods, with Strength In Honor one and all Rest
 Rest, our four American Sons, your battle's over now, it's done, you're out of the Woods and into the light For Heaven holds a place, for all of those men and women of such splendid faith
 Who to this our world bring their most selfless light
 Amen

IN COMMEMORATION OF ARTHUR A. COLLINS' 106TH BIRTHDAY

HON. ROD BLUM

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 9, 2015

Mr. BLUM. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to celebrate the birthday of a true innovator and representative of American ingenuity: Arthur A. Collins. Fascinated and inspired by the invention of the radio, Collins tinkered with home-made antennas and transmitters from an early age at his home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. As a young adult, Arthur turned his hobby into a basement business where he sold the first complete radio transmitting equipment in the country.

Since its humble beginnings in Iowa in the thirties, the Collins Radio Company evolved and adapted to design and manufacture flight control instruments, first commercially successful data modems, and the communications equipment for the Apollo, Gemini, and Mercury space programs. Today, Rockwell Collins, the largest employer in the First District of Iowa, continues to create innovative technology for both the defense and civilian sectors. The company, still based in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, designs, engineers, and builds electronic communication systems, avionics, and in-flight entertainment systems worldwide.

Arthur A. Collins pioneered one of the greatest technological revolutions in history and left an enduring legacy in the business world. Today, on what would have been his 106th birthday, I honor the genius of this great Iowan and celebrate his American success story. Mr. Collins is an amazing example of the American Dream and a testament to the power of hard work, foresight, and perseverance.
