

Its members have shown continued dedication to their faith by ministering through music over the last 50 years. Founding member Sister McQueen and original member Sister Mabel Deveraux continue to travel and perform with the group.

On behalf of the constituents of the 26th Congressional District of Texas, it is my honor to join the Denton City Council in celebrating October 12, 2018 as “Effie Ruth Webb McQueen Day.” I congratulate Sister McQueen and the Denton Gospelairens on reaching this momentous milestone, and I hope they continue to share the gospel through their music for many years to come.

TRIBUTE TO ROXANA DE LA RIVA

HON. DARREN SOTO

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 5, 2018

Mr. SOTO. Mr. Speaker, I want to honor Roxana de la Riva as a distinguished leader in Central Florida for Hispanic Heritage Month. Roxana de la Riva is a Mexican-American journalist covering information about Hispanic Community in Central Florida. She has over 18 years of experience in Hispanic journalism and professional writing. Recently, de la Riva returned to La Prensa, the oldest Hispanic Media in Central Florida, the outlet when she started her journalism career in the United States.

De la Riva was recently a volunteer in the aftermath of Hurricane Maria, with CASA as Coordinator of Support Solidarity and Help, where she assisted distributing donation items and covering stories of the efforts. She is also a past member of AIPEH (The International Association of Hispanic Arts and Culture) a group of artists, poets and writers from Central Florida.

De la Riva was a vocational training mentor in journalism for youth female students, whose parents are immigrants and part of the Hope Community Center.

Although a reporter educated in traditional journalism, she has now adapted to the new way of mass communication and used her platform to reach a new audience through social media platforms.

De la Riva was a freelance writer with El Sentinel for 7 years, where she wrote for the website El Sentinel.com as well as the print edition. During her time at El Sentinel, she covered and researched a wide range of issues and assignments pertaining to the Central Florida community.

Prior to this experience of that she covered Breaking News for El Sol de la Florida. Most notably, she focused on the case of George Zimmerman and Trayvon Martin.

Educated in Mexico City School of Journalism Carlos Septién García, the first Mexican educational institution of journalism, de la Riva arrived in the United States in 2002 and has since made Central Florida home.

GUN VIOLENCE VICTIMS FROM OHIO

HON. ROBIN L. KELLY

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 5, 2018

Ms. KELLY of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise today because Americans continue to die from gun violence while this House is on vacation.

For more than a year, I've been coming to the House Floor to read the names of gun violence victims that this House—the People's House—has failed by our inability to act and save lives.

To date, I've read 2,213 names. Each one of them, an American whose life and family have been immeasurably changed forever.

And what has the response from this House been? Silence. Nothing but cold silence.

Do these names make my colleagues uncomfortable?

Do they remind them that real people are impacted by gun violence on a daily basis?

Do these names give them a moment of pause before they gleefully accept that next NRA check?

Mr. Speaker, today, I want to recognize gun violence victims from Ohio, a state that the NRA has poured tens of thousands of dollars into over this cycle.

These are the names of 163 Ohioans, from just four Congressional Districts, who've been impacted by gun violence.

These people have been shot, many have lost their lives, and still this House majority does nothing to prevention gun violence. The Majority only offers ‘thoughts and prayers’ while families continue to be torn apart. That's just wrong.

Mr. Speaker, here are the names of those 163 Ohioans that this House has failed:

INTRODUCTION OF THE FAIRNESS IN FEDERAL BUREAU OF PRIS- ONS MEDICAL CARE ACT OF 2018

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 5, 2018

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, today, I introduce the Fairness in Federal Bureau of Prisons Medical Care Act of 2018. This bill would remove the current copay Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP) inmates are required to pay to visit a BOP-provided doctor.

Under current BOP rules, inmates are required to "pay a fee for health services of $2.00 per health care visit." While $2.00 may seem insignificant, when inmates earn only twelve to forty cents per hour on their work assignments, $2.00 can be substantial. That money could better be used to pay child support or for the cost of necessities. Moreover, while copays can discourage unnecessary appointments, we should be encouraging inmates to seek medical care before conditions become worse and more expensive for taxpayers. Preventative care is much less expensive for the federal government than costly treatment that could have been avoided by a simple doctor's visit earlier in the process.

Under current BOP rules, if an inmate is found responsible through the Disciplinary Hearing Process of having caused another inmate's injury that required a medical visit, the offending inmate is required to pay the $2.00 copay for the injured inmate's visit. That rule would not change under my bill.

Removing this unnecessary copay would allow inmates to see a doctor and receive the medical treatment they need, and will likely save the federal government money in the long run.

I strongly urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

IN RECOGNITION OF UNT STUDENT HEALTH AND WELLNESS CENTER

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 5, 2018

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the University of North Texas Student Health and Wellness Center on the 100th Anniversary of its founding on October 3, 1918. Since 2007, the health center has operated from Chestnut Hall, a state-of-the-art facility that serves current student health needs. Its home at Chestnut Hall reflects both the improvements in care and the growth of the UNT community that have occurred over the past 100 years.

The health center has a long history. It first opened in 1918 as the sanitarium for the Student Army Training Corps students, constructed by the federal government as an emergency hospital for student soldiers training for World War I during the 1918 Spanish Influenza Pandemic. It served five patients on its opening day, and was only able to provide care for eight patients at a time at its initial W. Mulberry Street location. Although the hospital closed November 11, 1918, North Texas State Normal College purchased the equipment through a $1 fee from all students and staff, relocating the hospital in September 1919 to the corner of Avenue B and Sycamore Street under the supervision of a nurse, Adolphine Grabbe.

Dr. L.O. Hayes was hired as head of the hospital in August 1930 and became the first full-time physician on staff. Facility improvements were also made that year, including a steam pressure sterilizer and clinical laboratory. In 1933, the hospital was relocated to a new fifty-bed building on campus that was equipped with an x-ray machine and allowed treatment of first-aid, surgery and care for both contagious and non-contagious diseases. A new hospital with air conditioning was constructed in 1957, allowing for space on the 2nd floor to be closed-off for an isolation ward. A remodel in 1975 converted the hospital from an inpatient facility to an outpatient facility, and added additional capacity to provide critical health services.

The groundbreaking for Chestnut Hall, approved by a student referendum on the 35,000 student campus, was held in 2005. The 74,000 square foot building currently boasts a digital x-ray machine, extensive laboratory, treatment rooms, immunization rooms, urgent care rooms, twenty-nine exam rooms, wellness resources center, pharmacy and space for administrative staff.

In August 2018, the center received re-accreditation through the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care (AAAHC). This is a prestigious honor that serves as a reminder of the high quality of care provided to meet the health needs of a 38,000 student campus.

As a physician, I understand the dedication of those called to a medical career, as well as the satisfaction that comes from helping patients. I offer my sincere appreciation to Dr. Herschel Voorhees and the center's dedicated team for their efforts to provide outstanding care each day. Thank you for all you do to enhance the lives of students, faculty, and staff at UNT. I join you in celebration of the accomplishments of the center's first 100 years, and the standard you have set for those who follow in the next 100 years.

CITY OF HUMBLE FIRST RESPOND- ERS—TEXANS SERVING TEXANS

HON. TED POE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 5, 2018

Mr. POE of Texas. Mr. Speaker, last year, Humble, Texas suffered a historic flood, one that devastated the entire town. At the height of the flood, the San Jacinto River Bridge was completely submerged, cutting off passage between Humble and Kingwood. To put it in perspective, 27 trillion gallons of rain fell over Texas. That is enough water to fill the Houston Astrodome 85,000 times. Folks had anywhere between 36 and 52 inches of rain. The Humble area recorded around 40 inches of rain. Humble was hammered by this flood.

On Friday, August 25, 2017, Hurricane Harvey made landfall on the Texas Gulf Coast as a Category 4 hurricane. The Texas air just felt different that Friday, ominous. Those of you who have been through a hurricane will understand what I am saying. The air pressure dropped and a breeze out of nowhere appeared. In August we don't get a breeze! This was the first evident sign that the storm was headed our way.

As I left a meeting in downtown Houston, I decided I better call my staff and check in. I encouraged them to leave early, grab some supplies, and hunker down for the weekend. As I began my commute back to Humble, I called my friend, Merle Aaron. Mayor Aaron could tell me what I needed to hear about preparations in and around the city as the storm approaches. We talked a long time; he mentioned that the police and fire were prepared for extended weekend shifts. Little did we know about the nightmare that was coming for Humble later that weekend.

The rains and floods ravaged the city. By Sunday night, Humble's first responders were evacuating folks from their homes and transporting them to shelters. Roads were shut down due to high water and some homes were knocked off their foundations. First responders began search and rescue missions. They worked with other agencies in boats in the high water areas. They also maintained a presence in order to keep looters out of the flooded businesses. During the weeks following, there were no serious incidents from looters.

The first responders proved crucial during the aftermath of Hurricane Harvey. I cannot stress enough its role in providing a swift response during the immediate aftermath and a strong presence during the cleanup phases.

Later that week, I witnessed the devastation first hand as I rode with Mayor Aaron in his pickup truck through a neighborhood behind
