

My solution for the halfway house situation is for the addiction centers that currently treat these individuals to also build housing within the zoned business area where they are located.

LINDA HICKS,
Huntington Beach, California.

The presence of unregulated Sober Living Homes in our city has negatively impacted our residential communities. These unregulated businesses recruit and attract addicts requiring professional treatment for their issues and have no accountability for adequately providing necessary care for their clients. Residential areas, such as my neighborhood in Huntington Beach, are overrun with multiple such "homes" that bring additional crime, traffic, noise and nuisance to our peaceful communities. One of my neighbors, whom lives next door to a SLH, has reported active drug dealing on the front lawn of the house, in the presence of his minor children. These SLH are businesses profiting from loopholes in government oversight regulations that have robbed our communities and our citizens of our peace, in our own homes. Law abiding citizens and neighbors living in our residential communities should not have to co-exist and tolerate "businesses" that are operating under the radar of the law, in our own homes. Business should be located in areas zoned for business operations, not in residential neighborhoods. Please restore the peace and tranquility of our communities by eliminating SLH from our residential communities.

KRISTINE KOCH,
Huntington Beach, California.

Dear Congressman Rohrabacher, my family and I have seen the negative impact from influx of unlicensed sober living homes in our neighborhood. Common effects are loitering transients, public intoxication, public drug use and littering of used paraphernalia, prostitution, petty theft including stealing of packages on doorsteps, breaking into cars and at times residents homes.

I have been a resident of Orange County, California since 1979 and a resident of Costa Mesa since 1999. I can say firsthand the deterioration of Costa Mesa is evident the past 19 years. As a father three children and homeowner I strongly encourage action by our government to resolve and/or prevent of unlicensed sober living homes in our city and county. If this does not occur, then I like other similar families will look to relocate and raise our children in a safer, crimeless environment.

GRAHAM SHUTE,
Costa Mesa, California.

There is Sober Living home that opened on my street. I don't know why they're pretending to be a sober living home because they've already found a bag of heroin not far from the house. This house is located two doors down from a public middle school. Hundreds of kids walked by the house and or are dropped off in front of this house daily. This such facility has no business in a family community. Neighbors complain that there has been strange people coming in and out of the house. Two of those strange people were knocking on resident doors and even jumped the fence and went into one of their backyards and walked into their house when they were being chased by the police. I believe sober living homes have no business in residential neighborhoods because they are bringing down the quality of life and safety for the residences around them.

GINA WALTERS,
Huntington Beach, California.

We have lived in our current residence on [REDACTED] for the past 16 years. It has been an outstanding neighborhood to live in and raise our 3 children. Unfortunately, our peaceful little neighborhood has experienced a drastic change in recent months with the unwelcome addition of a sober living house right down the street. Since the arrival of the occupants, we have experienced a few notable incidents with the most recent being a few individuals that apparently were doing drugs around the corner and were quickly pursued by the Huntington Beach Police Department. This led to the individuals fleeing through multiple backyards and actually entering a residence in an attempt to hide from the police. The individuals were caught on video at one of our neighbor's houses which showed them moving around the perimeter of the residence as they were attempting to hide from the authorities. During that evening, the residents right next door to the sober living house were holding a sleepover for 8 young girls in their backyard. This is a little too close for comfort. In addition, there is a middle school located less than 100 yards from the sober living home and is in the direct foot travel path of children walking home from school. It is our understanding that the transient nature of these sober living houses will introduce new residents every 8 weeks. This means a whole new set of problems will rotate through every 2 months. For the safety of our children, the children at our local schools, and the safety of our own properties I am requesting action to be taken to place stricter oversight on the introduction of sober living houses allowed in residential neighborhoods and if possible limit the number of them being implemented. We have a serious problem here in California with criminals being released early due to budget reductions being placed on our correctional facilities and the good tax paying citizens of this state have to deal with that fallout. We need effective changes that protect our neighborhoods and our kids.

STEVE TRESKES,
Huntington Beach, California.

I grew up in a State Legislator's home, growing up as a Wolcott (Raymond Oliver Wolcott was my Grandfather, John B. Wolcott, his son, raised me). I had a decent upbringing. Later in life, I was ill prepared for my daughter's death from S.I.D.S. or crib death. She was 4.5 months old. My drinking and marijuana usage escalated to a point where I simply could not contain it. Mercifully, I discovered sobriety. So did the mother of our daughter. We were told by numerous doctors that getting pregnant again was improbable (as she had three living kids and previous problematic pregnancies before I met her) yet imagine our surprise to the birth of fraternal twin girls. No in vitro or otherwise modern birth science, just a sobriety miracle in our eyes. My twins are 19 and currently they're enrolled at a junior college in the Texas A&M School System. I am very certain sobriety and sober living assisted them in their development. Although I am divorced and have had three relapses, I also have had twenty two years of sober time in my life.

I have a brief attached for a "Christian-sober living" that may appear rather convoluted, however its main highlights are: have events scheduled to keep residents away from the home (so as to minimize riffraff from visitors), cash and carry instead of billable to insurance (No cash on site method of payment), and a giving back mentality with nurses or doctors that are on call with on staff managers and graduates who need their hours tallied before accreditation. Thank You.

Huntington Beach, California.

HONORING THE 100 YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF THE OHIO CONTRACTORS ASSOCIATION

HON. JAMES B. RENACCI

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 19, 2018

Mr. RENACCI. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to the Ohio Contractors Association, an organization of more than 500 members involved in Ohio's heavy, highway and utility industry, which turned 100 years on October 10, 2018. Headquartered in Columbus, Ohio, OCA is a recognized voice for needed transportation funding, rational regulatory and legislative accountability, workforce development, improving construction practices and relationship building within the industry.

While OCA has grown in membership, its mission, although expanded, can be traced to its origin when 50 contractors across the state signed an agreement to form the association. The first meeting of the "Ohio Road Contractors' Association" was October 10, 1918 in Columbus, Ohio. That initial meeting not only adopted a resolution to drop "Road" from its name and become the Ohio Contractors Association, it also created and individually voted upon the acceptances of 10 sections of its constitution.

Today, more than 200 Contractor Members and 300 Associate Members provide support, unity and leadership to Ohio's heavy, highway and utility industry. OCA maintains its statewide relevance through its nine, Ohio local chapters. Chapter events in combination with statewide committees, events and publications assure that members have the opportunity to provide input and interact with OCA staff so the association remains aware of the issues and concerns of its members and can represent them in a meaningful way. Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to recognize an organization that has and continues to lead the heavy-highway and utility construction industry in Ohio.

HONORING IRMALEE SCHUMACHER WITH CALIFORNIA'S THIRD DISTRICT WOMAN OF THE YEAR AWARD

HON. JOHN GARAMENDI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 19, 2018

Mr. GARAMENDI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Irmalee Schumacher as a woman of the year. She is a sensational educator and dedicated volunteer who has long devoted herself to the betterment of Colusa County. As a teacher for Williams Elementary School and Colusa Preschool, Ms. Schumacher's passion for shaping young minds has been an inspiration to her students and fellow educators. Over the past 21 years, she has led and coordinated the Super Seven Awards Program which recognizes the top seven 11th and 12th grade students from Colusa High School for their outstanding scholastic achievement. Ms. Schumacher takes the time to write each student a highly individualized biography to present to them at their awards dinner where her attention to detail and light-hearted touch always manage to bring the event to life. Furthermore, Ms. Schumacher has been instrumental in coordinating and executing the Colusa County Office of Education's Scholastic Appreciation Day, known as the 3+ Club. This year alone, she awarded over 275 children from across the county while also securing donations, promoting the event, and organizing a vast cohort of volunteers. Ms. Schumacher also generously co-funds a scholarship for Williams High School graduates who might otherwise not be able to move into higher education. In short, her cheerful personality, encouraging words, and leadership skills are of endless value to the students and residents affected by her work.

IN MEMORY OF TIM JOHNSON

HON. JIM JORDAN

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 19, 2018

Mr. JORDAN. Mr. Speaker, I am honored to commend to the House the memory of a former staffer who served the people of Ohio's Fourth Congressional District for more than twelve years: Timothy Mills Johnson. Tim died on Sunday after a lengthy battle against multiple myeloma.

Tim was a native of Jamestown, New York, and took great pride in his hometown and his alma mater, Syracuse University. While at Syracuse, where he graduated with a double major in journalism and political science, he started working in radio. After graduation, he returned to Jamestown, where he anchored local radio and television broadcasts for many years.

A fellowship from the American Political Science Association brought him to Washington in 1994, where he began working for my predecessor, the late Congressman Michael G. Oxley. Tim handled a wide range of legislative issues for Mr. Oxley through the years, earning a reputation for professionalism in dealing with members, fellow staffers, outside groups, and constituents. He also put his communication skills to good use, working for several years as both legislative director and communications director.

Tim developed a solid grasp of finance issues during his time in Congressman Oxley's office, serving as liaison between the office and the House Financial Services Committee. Following Mr. Oxley's retirement, Tim moved to the staff of former Congressman Spencer Bachus of Alabama, Mr. Oxley's successor as the top Republican on that committee.

Tim was known all over the Capitol for his tireless work in support of the annual Congressional Baseball Game alongside Congressman Oxley, who played for and managed the Republican team throughout his congressional career. For two decades, Tim attended every practice, kept statistics, helped set lineups, and served as bench coach, in addition to working behind the scenes to coordinate press coverage and solicit donations for this exceptional charity event. He was a board member of the Washington Literacy Center, one of the many beneficiaries of the game's proceeds.

His passion for the sport of tennis rivaled his devotion to baseball. As president of the Capitol Hill Tennis Club, he introduced hundreds of congressional staffers to the game and encouraged them as they honed their skills. He helped coordinate the annual Multiple Myeloma Charity Classic, a tennis and golf tournament for members of Congress and others that has raised more than $1.2 million in support of multiple myeloma research.

Tim was widely praised as a mentor to younger staffers, always taking time to advise newcomers to Washington on how to be effective at their jobs and navigate the legislative process.

Tim's good humor, professionalism, and devotion to others will long be remembered. We are grateful that good people like Tim Johnson commit themselves to public service and actively inspire so many others to follow in their footsteps.

CONGRATULATING THE PICKFORD
COMMUNITY LIBRARY FOR WIN-NING THE 2018 SCHOLASTIC SUM-MER READING CHALLENGE

HON. JACK BERGMAN

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 19, 2018

Mr. BERGMAN. Mr. Speaker, it's my honor to recognize the Pickford Community Library for winning the 2018 Scholastic Summer Reading Challenge. Through its trusted service and dedication to its local community, the Pickford Library has become an indispensable part of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

The Scholastic Summer Reading Challenge is a free online reading program designed to help students turn the "summer slide" learning loss over the summer months into a "summer leap" by encouraging reading for fun. Schools, libraries, and local communities across the country participate in this 18-week challenge. Working with Pickford Public Schools, home school students, and readers throughout the eastern U.P., the Pickford Community Library helped a total of 152 local students read 338,057 minutes—making it the top library in the country. This success was thanks in part to the support of the local community, which helped the library operate its "piggyback rewards program" to incentivize reading and reward students for their efforts. Its dedication to this challenge and efforts to encourage summer reading are just the most recent examples of the Pickford Library's unwavering commitment to the growth and enrichment of the residents of the U.P. In total, the Summer Reading Challenge helped encourage more than 135 million minutes of reading by American students.

Mr. Speaker, it's my honor to congratulate the Pickford Community Library, its staff, and its readers for winning the Scholastic Summer Reading Challenge. Day after day, they continue to set a positive example of what can be achieved when the people of a community work together for the common good. On behalf of my constituents, I wish the Pickford Library all the best in its future endeavors.

IN HONOR OF FORT BRAGG'S XVIII
AIRBORNE CORPS DEPLOYMENT TO IRAQ

HON. GEORGE HOLDING

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 19, 2018

Mr. HOLDING. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the brave members of the XVIII Airborne Corps from Fort Bragg, North Carolina, who deployed September 13, 2018 to Iraq in support of Operation Inherent Resolve.

Established in 2014, Operation Inherent Resolve continues to play an essential role on the front lines of the fight against ISIS in Iraq and Syria. This Combined Joint Task Force is comprised of elite soldiers who have supported many successful efforts, from rescuing Yazidi victims to defending strategic territories in Iraq and Syria, such as Baghdad and Mosul. These troops work closely with partner forces, such as Iraqi Security Forces and Syrian opposition fighters, delivering strategic blows to ISIS. Notable successes include Operation Tidal Wave II, which destroyed nearly 80% of ISIS oil collection infrastructure and the successful liberation of Ramadi, Iraq and Shaddadi, Syria. Today, Operation Inherent Resolve continues to execute successful operations and uphold its mission to defeat the threat of ISIS and to increase regional stability.

I am immensely proud of the members of the XVIII Airborne Corps of Ft. Bragg who will be deployed to support this mission and grateful for their tireless service. These brave men and women represent the best our nation has to offer and their bravery and dedication to our nation deserves the utmost respect. I would also like to acknowledge the sacrifice of their families, and commend them for their support throughout deployment.

HONORING JAYNE WILLIAMS WITH CALIFORNIA'S THIRD DISTRICT
WOMAN OF THE YEAR AWARD

HON. JOHN GARAMENDI

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, October 19, 2018

Mr. GARAMENDI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Jayne Williams as a woman of the year. She has dedicated her life to mentoring others and is an outstanding example of service to the community. Over the years she has given her time and talent to organizations aimed at helping people get through tough times, such as after-school programs for low-income children and families, a recovery group for those battling addiction, and Shoulder to Shoulder, a mentoring organization serving young men lacking positive male role-models. She also worked as a Sacramento Court Appointed Special Advocate, Sacramento County Sheriff's Chaplain for Grant High School, and consultant to Northern California teachers for the Anti-Defamation League. Since moving to her current community of Esparto, Ms. Williams has used her mentoring expertise in co-founding All Leaders Must Serve, a non-profit organization helping young adults pursue fulfilling careers. As Executive Director of All Leaders Must Serve, she has helped young
