

diversified portfolio of farms, ranches, and feedlots, as well as businesses in the oil and gas and transportation sectors.

Together with his wife, Melanie, Dave works to make sure the family business endures for the next generation: their children, Shane and his wife JoAnn; Christy and her husband Quintin; Bryce and his wife Kelsey; Ashley, who interned in my office, and her husband Gene; and the many grandchildren.

Today, Dave manages the agricultural holdings and actively seeks out opportunities to serve the larger agricultural community. Dave has given his time to the Wyoming 4-H Foundation, the Casper Rotary Club, the Farm Bureau, and many other organizations who share his passions. As a member of the University of Wyoming's College of Agriculture advisory council and as the current president of the University of Wyoming board of trustees, Dave plays an active role in guiding students who make Wyoming's future so bright.

The scope of Dave's leadership is not limited to the borders of Wyoming. For many years, Dave served as treasurer of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association and has mentored countless members of the national agriculture sector. Never too busy to attend educational workshops, I remember when Dave shared his biggest successes and his biggest failure during a beef symposium. His willingness to share obstacles in his own enterprise and offer advice has made Dave an outstanding resource for the next generation of producers.

This year marks the 150th anniversary of Wyoming's status as a U.S. Territory and the 106th annual Wyoming State Fair. Although the Wyoming Agriculture Hall of Fame began only in 1992, Wyoming has a longstanding tradition of recognizing those who are integral to the success of our State's agricultural industry. Selection as a member of this outstanding group is one of many honors Dave has received, and it is one that is undoubtedly well-deserved. The members of this elite club grow crops and raise livestock while building a strong foundation for the next generation of successful producers. Together, they will make the next 150 years of Wyoming's history as rich as the last.

It is with great honor that I recognize my friend as an outstanding member of our Wyoming community. My wife, Bobbi, joins me in congratulating Dave True as one of the 2018 inductees into the Wyoming Agriculture Hall of Fame.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN JORGENSEN

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I rise today in celebration of John Jorgensen, the Boys and Girls Club of Central Wyoming's 2018 honoree.

Since 1978, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Central Wyoming has been working to make a positive difference in the lives of children. Their mission is to inspire all youth to reach their full potential as productive, responsible, and caring citizens. Their activities provide the children in our community with a sense of competence, usefulness, and belonging.

On August 29, 2018, the Boys and Girls Club of Central Wyoming will host the 20th Annual Awards and Recognition Breakfast. Every year at this event, the Boys and Girls Club honors a member of the community who has made outstanding contributions to their organization, Wyoming youth, and the city of Casper. It is an inspiring celebration. This year's honoree is John Jorgensen. He is an ideal choice to receive this honor because of his dedication to advancing childhood literacy and improving the lives of Wyoming's children. With this award, the Boys and Girls Club of Central Wyoming shows their gratitude for John's work, which mirrors the club's important mission.

John is a successful manager, generous philanthropist, and devoted family man. He is a native of Nebraska and attended the University of Nebraska, earning a bachelor's degree in Political Science. He served 3 years in the U.S. Army before pursuing his career in banking. His path lead him to California and the Midwest before finally calling Casper, WY, home for the past 31 years. He started in Casper as the president of the First Wyoming Bank and retired in 2015 as the president of Hilltop National Bank.

John's involvement in his community is immeasurable, and his positive impact is felt across Casper and Wyoming. He has been a Casper College Foundation Board Member since 1987 and has served as its President since 1990. John's leadership grew the foundation to one of the top five community college foundations nationwide, with assets of over $90 million. John was recently awarded the 2018 Casper College Alumni Association's Commitment to Excellence Award for his exemplary service. He was also awarded the prestigious Benefactor Award in 2014 from the Council for Resource Development. In addition, John has served on the Natrona County Public Library Foundation, the Nicolaysen Art Museum Board, the Wyoming Community Foundation, and the Sue Jorgensen Library Foundation. He was instrumental in the completion of the David Street Station project and is a member of the Casper Rotary Club.

Any mention of John would be incomplete without the acknowledgment of the Wyoming Reads program. Inspired by his wife Sue's love of reading, he founded the program in her memory after her passing in 1996. Sue was the director of the elementary education and graduate education programs for the University of Wyoming/Casper College Center in Casper and was the first coordinator of the UW elementary education teacher preparation program. Each year, the Governor of Wyoming proclaims the date of the Wyoming Reads program as Wyoming Literacy Day. The event started as "Casper Cares, Casper Reads" 20 years ago. Since then, the program has grown to include thousands of children across Wyoming and delivered more than 180,000 personalized books. John's work has inspired similar programs in other States, with communities in California, Oregon, and Minnesota following his lead. John even takes the time to travel to many of these locations to provide leadership and encouragement.

John devotes his time to instilling the value of reading in Wyoming youth. He wrote a fairy tale that he acts out as a play for the first graders, feeding their excitement to learn as well as honoring Sue. He quotes her saying that, "Until someone can read, they can't really do anything else." This is his vision for helping children succeed and grow. His devotion to childhood literacy ensures the youth of Wyoming are educated and inspired.

John Jorgensen and his family truly represent the Wyoming values of courage, generosity, and selflessness. John with his late wife, Sue, have five children, Matt Jorgensen, Chris Jorgensen, Marty Jorgensen, Sarah Olsen, and Lindsay Lawton, as well as loving grandchildren. Children in Casper, WY, and across the country have a bright future thanks to the efforts of this incredible family.

It is with great honor that I recognize this exceptional member of our Wyoming community. My wife, Bobbi, joins me in extending our congratulations to John Jorgensen for receiving this special acknowledgement from the Boys and Girls Club of Central Wyoming.

TRIBUTE TO DEL McOMIE

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I rise today in celebration of Del McOmie, mayor of Lander, WY, and one of our State's true leaders.

Born and raised in Lander, Del has worked continually to make the community and Wyoming better for future generations.

Del married his sweetheart, Patty, in 1975. They welcomed five children, Delbert, Jr., Alan, Kathleen, Pamela, and Craig. The McOmie family has since grown to include 14 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren. In his everyday words and deeds, Del has passed on his tradition of excellence and love of Wyoming. Governor Matt Mead appointed Delbert as the director of the state construction department. Alan gives back to their community, serving as an officer in the Lander Police Department. Working for the Wyoming Department of Environmental Quality, Craig embodies his father's passion for the beauty of our State.

Del has committed his life to serving those around him. When he finishes his current term as mayor of Lander, he will have served as an elected official for 30 years, along with providing leadership and expertise to the Wyoming Department of Transportation for over 39 years. Alongside this public service, Del has been a small business owner and a champion for local economic development.

As the cofounder of LEADER Corp., a private economic development group committed to expanding the economic base of Lander, Del helps transform his vision of a prosperous community into reality. Known for his dedication and determination, Del brings all the players to the table and works to make things happen. Del is a problem-solver, and Lander and the State of Wyoming are better for it.

Del's neighbors and friends know they can rely on him to get the job done. They have elected him as mayor four times and sent him to represent their interests in the State legislature seven times. He has rewarded their faith in him by finding the funds necessary to build the new Lander Valley High School.

Del and I served in the Wyoming State Legislature together for 5 years. His opinions and advice carried great weight in both chambers and across the aisle. Del was known for his integrity and devotion to Wyoming. He served on the education committee when we passed the Hathaway Scholarship that ensures every Wyoming High School graduate has access to higher education. Together, we cosponsored legislation to fund critical emergency telephone services in our rural State. Del's legacy will always be working to meet the needs of our State and her people.

In Wyoming, we have adopted the Code of the West as our guiding ethical principles. No one embodies these commitments more than Del McOmie. Throughout his impressive career of service, Del has always "done what has to be done" and embraced that "when you make a promise, [you must] keep it." Even before Wyoming had an official code of ethics, Del has always been one to "ride for the brand".

It is with great honor that I recognize this exceptional member of our Wyoming community. My wife, Bobbi, joins me in extending our appreciations to Del McOmie for his service.

75TH ANNIVERSARY OF QUEEN CITY AIRPORT

Mr. TOOMEY. Mr. President, I would like to recognize the 75th anniversary of Queen City Airport, located in Allentown, PA.

Dedicated in October 1943, Queen City Airport was originally known as Convair Field and consisted of an airstrip and several production facilities leased from Mack Truck. During the Second World War, Consolidated Vultec, a local aircraft manufacturer, produced the TBY-2 Sea Wolf torpedo bomber for the U.S. Navy at the airport and employed several thousand workers. After the war ended, aircraft production shut down and the leased facilities were returned to Mack Truck.

In 1947, ownership of the airport was transferred from the Federal Government to the city of Allentown, which agreed to maintain the land as an airport and emergency landing field. Shortly thereafter, the Pennsylvania Air National Guard began leasing a facility at the airport for flight training exercises. It was not until 1961 that the airport was renamed Queen City Municipal and the city assumed full ownership and operation of the airport. In addition to general aviation services, the airport began hosting events and exhibitions for members of the Allentown community, including airshows, hot-air balloon events, and fireworks on the Fourth of July.

Today Queen City Airport is owned and operated by the Lehigh-Northampton Airport Authority, LNAA. Nearly 80 individual aircraft are now based at the airport, a majority of which are used for local general aviation. As a result of LNAA's support for general aviation, the Federal Aviation Administration's Eastern Region recognized Queen City Airport as the General Aviation Airport of the Year in 2006.

Again, I wish to congratulate Queen City Airport as it celebrates its 75th anniversary later this year. The airport serves as the home base for many general aviation pilots throughout the Lehigh Valley, and during State work periods, I often start my day at Queen City, using the airport as a home base before flying to various parts of Pennsylvania to meet with constituents and business leaders. I hope the airport will continue to support the Allentown community well into the future.

TRIBUTE TO GREG BOLLARD

• Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize Greg Bollard, who will be honored at the 15th anniversary celebration for Friends of the Lake on August 9, 2018. His numerous accomplishments on behalf of Lake Lillintonah have made a great impact on the health of Connecticut's environment.

Mr. Bollard is the cofounder of Friends of the Lake, a nonprofit organization created to improve the water quality of Lake Lillintonah in Connecticut, enhance the enjoyment of the lake's pristine and stunning surroundings and protect that portion of the Housatonic River and its watershed.

Friends of the Lake works alongside an array of community and environmental organizations, Federal, State and local officials, and residents in order to acquire vital funding to improve the lake, raise awareness of the project and its importance, and bring together the community around Lake Lillintonah. Mr. Bollard has worked tirelessly over the past decade and a half to obtain and deploy a monitoring buoy. This buoy uses the Global Lake Observatory Network GLEON, to share data about the lake with scientists and other lake organizations worldwide, in order to facilitate more thorough monitoring and study of lake ecology.

In order to ensure Lake Lillintonah is clean, safe, and accessible to the community, Mr. Bollard has led tireless efforts to learn more about invasive species and control their populations, along with chairing the water quality committee. He is known as an incredibly dependable man, who is able to fix any problem by spearheading key efforts to develop a solution and bring the right group of people together to see it through successfully.

Mr. Bollard's desire to help his community extends beyond his work with Friends of the Lake, as well. For 16 years, he served on the Bridgewater Inland Wetlands Commission, and he continues to dedicate his time to his community through his role as an EMT and ambulance coordinator for the Bridgewater Fire Department, a firefighter and EMT for the Morris Volunteer Fire Department, and as a member of the Shepaug parent council.

Through his devotion to helping our State with Friends of the Lake and his great work as a public servant, Mr. Bollard has left a lasting, positive impression upon Connecticut and laid a profoundly strong foundation for improving our State's environment in the years to come.

I applaud Greg Bollard's dedicated commitment to improve and protect Lake Lillintonah, and I hope my colleagues will join me in congratulating Mr. Bollard on his well-deserved honor. •

TRIBUTE TO OLIVIA MITCHELL

• Mr. DAINES. Mr. President, this week, I have the distinct honor of recognizing Olivia Mitchell of Wheatland County.

At just 11 years old, Olivia took third place on her Americanism essay at the Montana Department of the American Legion Auxiliary convention. She wrote on a topic that is far beyond her years, serving as a testament to her exemplary work. Olivia said she loves to write and even finds it relaxing.

Olivia lives in Judith Gap and will soon be a sixth grader at Judith Gap School. She is able to balance her school work and extracurricular activities, including hunting, fishing, and sports with ease. Olivia loves to hunt. She already has a mule deer under her belt and has a goal to bag an elk and antelope next. She loves being outdoors and hopes to visit Yellowstone National Park soon. Her values and work ethic can be attributed to her loving parents, Lane and Christie Mitchell, and her two younger sisters. Olivia is a compassionate leader and loves to help her community.
