

After serving twenty years in the U.S. Air Force, where he earned the Air Force Commendation Medal and the Humanitarian Service Medal, Mr. Wilkerson began working for the National Park Service in 1994 as a branch chief for contracting, property, and financial management at the Natchez Trace Parkway.

In 2010, Mr. Wilkerson was temporarily assigned to the NPS Southeast Regional Office in Atlanta to serve as the acting regional comptroller. In that role he directed the annual fiscal year closing process for more than sixty park units in the region, with the execution of obligations totaling more than $245 million.

From August 2012 through December 2013, he served as the Acting Superintendent of the Natchez Trace Parkway, Tupelo National Battlefield, Brices Cross Roads National Battlefield Site, and the Natchez Trace National Scenic Trail, where he was responsible for leading and managing the eighth most visited NPS unit in the country.

In 2015, Mr. Wilkerson was appointed as the Superintendent of the Shiloh National Military Park. Over the last four years, he has performed a remarkable job of managing and overseeing all aspects of the Shiloh National Military Park.

I ask my colleagues in the United States House of Representatives to join me in congratulating Mr. Wilkerson on his retirement from the National Park Service as Superintendent of Shiloh National Battlefield and his forty-six years of service in our nation's military and in the National Park Service.

ANTI-CORRUPTION DAY

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Madam Speaker, today is International Anti-Corruption Day, recognizing the need for governments and civil societies around the world to be vigilant in the fight against bribes and abuse of power for personal gain.

According to the United Nations, every year $1 trillion is paid in bribes while an estimated $2.6 trillion are stolen through corruption, more than five percent of global GDP.

No more is this on clearer display today than across the Middle East, which is witnessing a revival of the 2011 Arab Spring protests in places like Lebanon, Iraq, Iran and in towns and cities across Syria. Peaceful protesters are demanding an end to abusive policies and practices by government officials who seek little else than their own profit—always at the expense of the peoples' fundamental rights. The persistence of protestors today despite increasingly violent government responses indicates a point of no return. The brazen willingness to sacrifice their lives signals just how precarious these citizens' lives have become under their governments.

Syria is ground zero for what happens when corrupt governments refuse reform and respond to peaceful demands with violence. The Assad regime continues to leech Syrians of their basic human rights, uprooting their lives, indiscriminately bombing his own people, and deliberately starving them while blaming the United States and other Western states for the dismal conditions of his country and the Syrian people. And all for the sake of protecting the power and interests of corrupt officials who are part of the Assad network, including Fahd Darwish, Samer Al-Debbes, Samir Anis Hassan, Samer Awees, Kanaan Kanaan, Tamim Badr, Mahran Khonda, Osama Ali Zayoud, Iyad Habib Baytnaneh, Tarif Akhras, and Fares Shehabi, among others. The United States must target these individuals for exposure and sanctions for their corruption and theft from the Syrian people.

And in response to these widespread cries for change, the United States must continue to pursue a relentless campaign against corruption everywhere. Without such accountability, perpetrators within and partners of corrupt governments will boldly continue, extending the suffering of innocent civilians around the world. If the United States does not demonstrate its commitment with action, nefarious actors and businessmen around the world will feel emboldened to engage in corrupt practices. On International Anti-Corruption Day, we must stand with those calling out for change.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. TOM EMMER

OF MINNESOTA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Mr. EMMER. Madam Speaker, on December 6th, I was unable to cast my vote on two pieces of legislation. If present, I would have voted NAY on H. Res. 326 (RC No. 652), YEA on the Motion to Recommit H.R. 4 (RC No. 653), and NAY on passage of H.R. 4 (RC No. 654).

KAZAKHSTAN FOREIGN MINISTER'S VISIT TO WASHINGTON

HON. STEVE CHABOT

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Mr. CHABOT. Madam Speaker, as co-chair of the U.S.-Kazakhstan Congressional Caucus, I am pleased to rise today to welcome Kazakhstan's newly-appointed Foreign Minister, Mukhtar Tileuberdi, to the U.S. Capitol during his inaugural visit to Washington, D.C. this week. Minister Tileuberdi is an experienced Kazakh diplomat and statesman.

Throughout his career, he was posted in Kazakhstan's diplomatic missions in South Korea, Israel, and served as Ambassador to Malaysia with concurrent accreditation to Indonesia, Brunei Darussalam, and the Philippines. He also served as Ambassador of Kazakhstan to the Swiss Confederation and with concurrent accreditation to the Principality of Liechtenstein and the Vatican. Additionally, he served as the Permanent Representative of Kazakhstan to the United Nations Office and other international organizations in Geneva. I look forward to working with the Minister in his new role, as we continue to grow the important bilateral relationship between Kazakhstan and the United States.

Madam Speaker, as you may know, the United States and Kazakhstan held first meeting of the U.S.-Kazakhstan Enhanced Strategic Partnership Dialogue in January 2018, following former President Nazarbayev's visit to Washington. The most recent series of these bilateral talks took place last week and focused heavily on continued cooperation on issues of aviation, counterterrorism, and information sharing, among other topics.

Along with my fellow co-chair of the U.S.-Kazakhstan Caucus, we look forward to our meeting with Minister Tileuberdi to discuss how the United States and Kazakhstan can continue to promote security and stability across Central Asia through Kazakhstan's strong support for nuclear non-proliferation as well the U.S.-Kazakhstan Enhanced Strategic Partnership Dialogue, military cooperation, and C5+1 multilateral meetings.

Cooperation between the United States and Kazakhstan has never been stronger. Kazakhstan has been a strategic partner in Afghanistan and in the fight against violent extremism, and has been a leader in repatriating foreign fighters and their families from Syria and Iraq. On behalf of my fellow U.S.-Kazakhstan Caucus members, we welcome the opportunity to deepen the bilateral partnership, and we look forward to hosting future presidential and high-level delegation visits on Capitol Hill.

HONORING THE REV. DR. JACQUELINE A. THOMPSON

HON. BARBARA LEE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Ms. LEE of California. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the Rev. Dr. Jacqueline A. Thompson in celebration of her installation as the Senior Pastor of the Allen Temple Baptist Church in Oakland, California.

Rev. Thompson was raised by a mother who believed in the importance of church. In her own words at the age of 12, Dr. Thompson realized that church was "not to be just about singing and having a good time in the Lord. But rather there was a purpose and a mandate with a measurable objective".

After graduating from College with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1993, Dr. Thompson began teaching history and politics. While teaching allowed her to positively impact lives in her community and while she loved teaching, she felt called to impact lives in a different way.

In 1995, Dr. Thompson followed her calling and returned to her church family and was licensed to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. She was later ordained in 1998 by the Reverend Dr. J. Alfred Smith, Sr. at Allen Temple Baptist Church.

Later she attended Howard University School of Divinity where she excelled in academic scholarship, preaching and ministry. As a result, she received several awards including The Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, The Ford Foundation Fellowship, and The Nannie Helen Burroughs Award.

During her time at Howard University, she served as the Minister of Youth at the Shiloh Baptist Church of Washington, D.C. Her love for teaching and affinity with youth allowed the young people in the Ministry to flourish under her leadership.

Dr. Thompson graduated from Howard University in 1998 earning a Master of Divinity Degree with honors.

In 2001, she was appointed Executive Director of the Shiloh Family Life Center Foundation, Inc. In this leadership position Dr. Thompson raised over 5 million dollars for non-profit outreach. This money allowed the church to grow and foster their Afterschool program, Senior Center, Day Care Center, HIV/AIDS program, Human Services Program, Community Computer Center, Debutante Program and Teen Mothers' Empowerment Program.

In 2010, Dr. Thompson was installed as the Assistant Pastor of the Allen Temple Baptist Church—the first woman to ever serve in this capacity. In 2013, Dr. Thompson became a Doctor of Ministry in African American Church Leadership at Fuller Theological Seminary in Pasadena, California.

Dr. Thompson has demonstrated that she is the right woman, for the right time, who has come “for such a time as this” to lead such a spirit filled congregation. Her sense of justice to serve the “least of these, our brothers and sisters” in the manner described by our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, will continue to be a hallmark of this historic church.

Today, I join the Allen Temple Church Family and the greater East Bay community in celebrating her installation, as the first female Senior Pastor in the Church’s 100-year history. As we look ahead to this new season in our church history, let us continue as Micah 6:8 reminds us “to do justice, love mercy and walk humbly with your God.”

On behalf of California’s 13th Congressional District, we congratulate Rev. Dr. Jacqueline A. Thompson, as she is installed as the next pastor of the historic Allen Temple Baptist Church.

COMMEMORATING YAYA CLUB’S FASHION SHOW BENEFITING FAMILIES WITH ACTIVE-DUTY PARENTS

HON. PETE OLSON

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Mr. OLSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to salute the Katy Boutique YaYa Club for their first annual “Runway for Heroes” fashion show and the mission behind it.

As the holiday season approaches, many families with military parents deployed far from home will not be able to celebrate with them. This is hard on everyone in the family, especially the children. That’s why this Veterans Day, the YaYa Club Boutique put on a fashion show with volunteer models to raise money to buy toys for the children of our military families. In their efforts, they raised over $8,000. Additionally, YaYa Club will be delivering the gifts in person to the children.

I was incredibly heartwarming to see YaYa Club doing such a great service for the TX-22 community. I thank them for helping spread more love this holiday season across Katy. On behalf of the Twenty-Second Congressional District of Texas, their actions embody the spirit of giving and the spirit of Texas.

HONORING GARY FRUGOLI

HON. JARED HUFFMAN

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Mr. HUFFMAN. Madam Speaker, I rise today in memory of Gary Frugoli, who passed away on November 19, 2019, at the age of 72 after a lifetime of exemplary public service to his community.

Born in 1947, Mr. Frugoli moved with his family as a toddler to Marin where his parents owned and operated Marin Produce. He attended San Rafael High school where he was a star football player and continued to play football at Chico State University. He graduated in 1969 with a degree in Political Science and Recreation. After college, Mr. Frugoli worked for the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department, but soon joined the San Rafael Police Department where he worked his way up the ranks from motorcycle officer to detective with the Major Crimes Task Force and the San Rafael SWAT team. During his time at the San Rafael Police Department, Mr. Frugoli met and fell in love with his wife, Lori who was working as a meter maid at the time. The couple was married in 1980 and later had a daughter named Amy.

Mr. Frugoli’s passion for public service grew, and in 1981, he was elected to the San Rafael City Council where he served with distinction. During his tenure on the San Rafael City Council, Mr. Frugoli developed a reputation for supporting business and housing growth which were not popular issues at the time. In 1989, after losing his re-election bid, the Frugoli family moved to Novato where he continued to perform community service through a variety of activities and where the family enjoyed time recreating outdoors. Professionally, he worked for Pacific Coast Title while he was on the San Rafael City Council and then for Cal Title when he moved to Novato.

Active in many aspects of Marin County, one of Mr. Frugoli’s favorite causes was the San Francisco-Marin Food Bank, where he consistently raised funds to help feed local families. He also served as president of the San Rafael Rotary Club and was an active member of the Sonoma County Trailblazers. He was a Little League coach and a founding member of the Marin Athletic Foundation, which focused on the importance of combining sports and educational opportunities. He served on the Marin Builder’s Association Board of Directors, the Marin County Services Area No. 20, the Fish and Wildlife Commission, and his homeowner’s association. In 2010, Mr. Frugoli was named the Marin County Italian American Citizen of the Year.

Mr. Frugoli was a well-respected community leader who will be remembered for his ebullience and willingness to always step up to help people out. He is survived by his wife Lori, his daughter Amy, his brother Victor, his sister Virginia Kerbs, and many nieces and nephews. While he will be greatly missed, Mr. Frugoli’s legacy will live on through the indelible positive impact he had on his friends and family and the community at large.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. KATIE PORTER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 9, 2019

Ms. PORTER. Madam Speaker, I was unable to be present for votes on December 6, 2019. Had I been present, I would have voted YEA on Roll Call No. 652, NAY on Roll Call No. 653, and YEA on Roll Call No. 654.

GOOD CONDUCT TIME CREDITS FOR CERTAIN ELDERLY NON-VIOLENT OFFENDERS

SPEECH OF

HON. SHEILA JACKSON LEE

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, December 3, 2019

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 4018, the legislation which provides that the amount of time that an elderly offender must serve before being eligible for placement in home detention is to be reduced by the amount of Good Time Credits earned by the prisoner, and for other purposes.

This legislation would ensure that elderly offenders become eligible for the pilot program at a point in time that takes into account any good conduct time credits they may have accumulated in the course of their time in prison under the Second Chance Act.

This change is important for at least three reasons:

(1) the elderly offender pilot program should be consistent with the way the Bureau of Prisons (BOP) calculates other transfers, which includes credit for good conduct time,

(2) offenders who otherwise have satisfactory behavior should not lose good conduct time solely due to their elderly status, and

(3) one of the goals of the pilot program is to save taxpayer dollars, and older inmates tend to be more costly for BOP to house.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation because it is long overdue and provides much needed relief to persons who no longer warrant incarceration.

To promote prisoner reentry and improve community reintegration, I co-sponsored and advocated for passage of the Second Chance Act, which Congress enacted in April 2008.

The Second Chance Act expanded existing offender reentry grant programs at DOJ and created a wide array of targeted grant-funded pilot programs.

The Second Chance Act reauthorization improved programs by:

broadening programs to cover reentry courts, expanding grant eligibility to nonprofits, bolstering support for programs targeting offenders with histories of homelessness, substance abuse, or mental illness, and makes the existing elder release pilot program permanent and broadens eligibility.

The Second Chance Act also established an elderly offender release program for those individuals over the age of 65 who have served the greater of ten years or 75 percent of their sentence.

The Act has been consistently funded by Congress since its enactment.
