

to clean up the country's largest nuclear waste site.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in thanking the Cold War patriots at Hanford for their important contributions to our country.

COMMENDING ATLANTIC CITY HIGH SCHOOL TRACK AND FIELD TEAM

(Mr. VAN DREW asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VAN DREW. Mr. Speaker, the Atlantic City High School track and field team is comprised of some incredibly driven athletes.

Claudine Smith and Isaiah Whaley, both graduating seniors, were especially impressive contributors to their team's success.

During her time on the team, Claudine won three State, seven south Jersey, six Cape-Atlantic League, and six Atlantic County championships. It is unbelievable. With these accomplishments closing out her high school career, it is no wonder she was named the Press Girls Outdoor Track and Field Athlete of the Year.

Isaiah, too, surpassed many records during his time. He broke his school's 26-year-old record in the 400-meter dash and ranked number five in the State of New Jersey for the event.

These students are incredibly talented, and their head coaches, Roy Wesley, Jr., and Jonathan P. Parker, undoubtedly helped them develop and grow in their sport.

To all the members of the Atlantic County track and field team, we are immensely proud of your hard work and determination, and we can't wait to see what you all achieve in the future.

We are proud of you in Atlantic County. We are proud of you in south Jersey. We are proud of you in New Jersey. And we are proud of you in the United States of America.

FINANCIAL SERVICES ARBITRATION IS BETTER FOR CONSUMERS

(Mr. BARR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BARR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to explain my opposition and vote against the bill that was on the floor earlier today, H.R. 1423, the Forced Arbitration Injustice Repeal Act. I would like to highlight its negative impact on financial services.

Financial services providers and their customers use arbitration to settle disputes because it is easier, faster, and less costly for consumers than litigation. Forcing parties into litigation would dramatically extend the time before a customer is made whole and would significantly increase legal fees for all parties.

These increased costs are ultimately passed along to consumers through higher fees and fewer options, and they would negatively impact any American who has a bank account, credit card, or retirement plan. We have had that debate before.

Dodd-Frank directed that the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau promulgate a rule on mandatory arbitration. While Congress overturned that rule in 2017 because it would adversely impact consumers, the Obama administration's own study found that the average consumer receives approximately $5,400 through arbitration and only $32 through a class action lawsuit. That means the average customer who prevailed in arbitration received 166 times more than the average class member in class action settlements.

Mr. Speaker, my time has expired, but I would urge opposition to this wrongheaded idea in the United States Senate.

RECOGNIZING BURMA BEAL'S 100TH BIRTHDAY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2019, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FLORES) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. FLORES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Burma Beal of Bryan, Texas, who turned 100 years old on September 15, 2019.

Burma Faye Ellis Beal was born September 15, 1919, in Jewett, Texas, to Wade and Susan Ellis. She grew up in Jewett and was known as the girl who climbed to the top of the water tower when she was just 12 years old. She graduated from Jewett High School as salutatorian in 1936, where she played tennis and participated in the Texas State tournament for this sport.

In 1937, Burma graduated from the Austin Beauty School. Just a year later, she married Oren Beal. Together, they would have 3 children, 6 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren.

After moving to Bryan, Texas, Burma owned and operated Burma's Beauty Shop for 46 years. In that time, she forged many strong friendships. Burma was deeply involved in her community and her church, Central Church in Bryan-College Station.

Burma and Oren also loved supporting the Texas A&M Aggies and were season ticket holders for football and basketball games for more than 35 years.

Through their church, Burma and Oren took part in the Adoptive Grandparent Program, in which they befriended students at Texas A&M. They formed such a strong bond with one young Aggie that she asked Burma and Oren to be a bridesmaid and groomsman in her wedding.

Burma is well-known among her loved ones for two things: her love for Coca-Cola and her world-famous peanut brittle. She has collected many pieces of Coca-Cola memorabilia and still drinks a Coke every day. Also, every year, from October until Christmas, Burma is known for making delicious peanut brittle to give to friends and family, as well as her doctor, the postman, the staff at her HEB store, bankers, pharmacists, and many more. Her recipe is so good that, when her son-in-law took it to the Texas State Fair, it won third prize.

Burma has a giving spirit and aspires to bring joy to others. During her nineties, she made regular trips to nursing homes to visit with their residents and went grocery shopping for a home-bound neighbor. Even now, as a resident of Crestview Retirement Home in Bryan, she spreads cheer to her friends. She prays for a long list of people every night and spends her time showing Jesus' love to others.

Mr. Speaker, Burma Beal has lived a long life filled with love, joy, and service to others. I am proud to recognize her on this joyous occasion, and I know that her family and friends love her and are proud of her. I wish Burma many more years of health and happiness.

I have requested that a United States flag be flown over our Nation's Capitol to recognize Burma Beal's 100th birthday.

As I close today, I urge all Americans to continue to pray for our country, for our veterans, for our military men and women who protect us, and for our first responders who keep us safe at home.

HONORING SERGEANT MAJOR JAMES SARTOR

Mr. FLORES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Sergeant Major James Gregory "Ryan" Sartor of Teague, Texas.

Sergeant Major Sartor was killed on July 13, 2019, after he sustained injuries from enemy fire in Faryab province, Afghanistan.

Sergeant Major Sartor was born September 23, 1978, in Teague, Texas, to James Sartor and Mary Teresa "Terri" Pryor. He was an excellent football player and graduated from Teague High School in 1997.

After graduation, he moved to College Station to work, where, in the fall of 2000, he met the love of his life and future spouse, Deanna Unger. They married in 2002 and were blessed with three children: Stryder, Grace, and Garrett.

Shortly after Sergeant Major Sartor and Deanna started dating, he joined the United States Army. He was deployed to Iraq for the first time in 2002 as an infantryman assigned to the 3rd Infantry Division. In 2005, Sergeant Major Sartor became a Green Beret and was assigned to A Company, 2nd Battalion, 10th Special Forces Group, Airborne, in Fort Carson, Colorado. He was stationed there with his family for the last 14 years.

During his career, Sergeant Major Sartor was deployed several times, returning to Iraq in 2006, 2007, 2009, and from 2010 to 2011. He also deployed to Germany and Israel in 2008, to Africa in 2012 and 2013, and to Afghanistan in 2017 and 2019. Sergeant Major Sartor's service made him a highly decorated soldier.

Sergeant Major Sartor received more than 20 awards and decorations for his bravery during his service to our country. His awards include the following: the Bronze Star Medal with three oak leaf clusters, the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Joint Service Commendation Medal, the Army Commendation Medal with three oak leaf clusters, the Army Achievement Medal, the Presidential Unit Citation Award, the Joint Meritorious Unit Award, the Valorous Unit Award with two oak leaf clusters, the Meritorious Unit Citation with one oak leaf cluster, and the National Defense Service Medal.

He also earned the Special Forces Tab, the Ranger Tab with the title of Honor Grad, the Combat Infantryman Badge, the Senior Parachutist Badge, the Special Operations Diver Badge, and the Dive Supervisor Badge.

Posthumously, Sergeant Major Sartor has also received a Purple Heart and a Bronze Star.

Sergeant Major Sartor was described as a "beloved warrior who epitomized the quiet professional. He led his soldiers from the front, and his presence will be terribly missed."

Mr. Speaker, Sergeant Major Sartor was a fearless leader and a decorated soldier. His selfless devotion to protect our country will be forever remembered. Furthermore, he will be forever remembered as a devoted husband, a father, a son, a soldier, a selfless servant, and a loyal friend to many.

All Americans thank him and his family for their service and their sacrifice for our country. His sacrifice truly reflects the words of Jesus in John 15:13: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

The loss of Sergeant Major Sartor serves as a reminder of the sacrifices the men and women of our Armed Forces make each day to preserve the freedom for this great Nation. We are forever in debt to these committed individuals who serve our country.

My wife, Gina, and I offer our deepest and heartfelt condolences to the Sartor family. We also lift up the family and friends of Ryan Sartor in our prayers.

I have requested that a United States flag be flown over our Nation's Capitol to honor his life and legacy.

As I close today, I urge all Americans to continue praying for our country, for our veterans, for our military men and women who protect us, and for our first responders who keep us safe here at home.

HONORING MATTHEW RANDELL GURULE

Mr. FLORES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Matthew Randell Gurule of Belen, New Mexico, who passed away on August 17, 2019.

Matthew was born on January 12, 1987, in Albuquerque, New Mexico, to Matthew and Sandra Gurule. In 1996, Matthew moved to central Texas with his mom and his sister. He graduated from China Spring High School in 2004 and joined the United States Marine Corps on November 7, 2005.

Matthew served many tours of duty during his time in the Marine Corps. He deployed to Iraq in 2006, 2007, and 2008 and to Afghanistan in 2009. He was highly decorated and received many awards, including: the Combat Action Ribbon, the Marine Corps Good Conduct Medal, the Sea Service Deployment Ribbon with two stars, the Afghanistan Campaign Medal with one star, the Global War on Terrorism Expeditionary Medal, the Iraq Campaign with one star, the Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, the NATO Medal International Security Assistance Force Afghanistan, a Certificate of Appreciation, a Letter of Appreciation, and Rifle Marksman Badge.

After his time in the Marine Corps, Matthew wanted to work alongside his father at Albuquerque Downs. He attended the Lookout Mountain School of Horseshoeing in 2012 and obtained his certification as a horse farrier. Looking to expand his skills, Matthew changed career fields and most recently was a mason at Cameron's Custom Homes.

Matthew had a number of interests and hobbies, which included singing, dancing, and cooking. He was noted for making a good batch of salsa, steak, baked potatoes, and green chile spaghetti. Matthew also enjoyed reading, especially about historical subjects such as the Knights Templar and the Mongol Empire.

Matthew was taken from this Earth too soon. He was last seen on July 27, 2019, leaving the Isleta Casino in Albuquerque. His car was later discovered burned and abandoned in the desert. After not hearing from Matthew for several days, his mother, Sandra Miller, traveled to New Mexico to look for her son. She discovered that his credit cards were fraudulently being used, and she was able to obtain video surveillance of the criminals who were using them. Her work led to the eventual arrest of the two people charged with Matthew's murder. His body was later found in the New Mexico desert on August 16, 2019.

Through their senseless act of violence, these criminals have caused an enormous amount of pain for all those who knew and loved Matthew. In this time of tragedy, I am deeply moved by Sandra's love for her son. As a father and grandfather, I can only imagine the grief felt by Sandra. I am in awe of her extraordinary efforts to find her son and bring his killers to justice. I commend her for her work and the example she gave of the eternal love a parent has for their children.

Mr. Speaker, Matthew Gurule's life was defined by his service to our country. He will be forever remembered as a loyal son, a brother, a veteran, a selfless servant, and a friend to many.

My wife, Gina, and I offer our deepest and heartfelt condolences to the Gurule family. We also lift up the family and friends of Matthew Gurule in our prayers.

I have requested that a United States flag be flown over the Nation's Capitol to honor his life and legacy.

As I close today, I urge all Americans to continue praying for our country, for our veterans, and for our first responders who keep us safe and secure.

HONORING DR. JOHN JOSEPH KOLDUS III

Mr. FLORES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Dr. John Joseph Koldus III of College Station, Texas, who passed away on August 12, 2019.

Before continuing with my recognition of Dr. Koldus, I would like to provide background on Texas A&M University in College Station and its core values.

In the front of the academic building on the campus of the university, there is a statue of Lawrence Sullivan Ross, the sixth president of the university. That statue contains the following inscription: "Lawrence Sullivan Ross, 1838-1898, Soldier, Statesman, and Knightly Gentleman; Brigadier General C.S.A., Governor of Texas, President of the A&M College."

The key words in this inscription are "soldier, statesman, and knightly gentleman." They reflect some of the key ways that Texas Aggies live the Texas A&M core values of excellence, integrity, leadership, loyalty, respect, and selfless service.

Moving on to my recognition of Dr. Koldus, John was born February 10, 1930, in Gary, Indiana, to John Joseph Koldus II and Helen Kukoy Koldus. He was an outstanding athlete and lettered in football, basketball, baseball, and track. He was named the Most Athletic Boy in the Gary School District.

After graduation, he worked at U.S. Steel on Lake Michigan, just as his father had done. John then realized that higher education was a way to improve himself, and he attended Arkansas State University. At Arkansas State, he was a middleweight Golden Gloves champion and lettered 2 years in baseball and 3 years in football, capturing many individual records for the school.

In 1953, John graduated from ASU and was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the United States Army. John served in the Army until 1955.

Following his military service, he began teaching at Blytheville High School in Blytheville, Arkansas. John taught from 1955 to 1959, and during the summers he attended the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville to complete his master's degree and to begin his doctorate studies.

During his time as a teacher, John met Mary Dell Hooker. Their first date was a tennis match, and their competitive athletic spirits fostered a strong relationship. They married on May 31, 1958.

In 1973, John began his 20-year career at Texas A&M University in College Station, Texas, as vice president of student services. John was instrumental in guiding the university through an era of incredible growth and change, as tens of thousands of women began attending the university, and by creating a unique culture which provided Aggie students with extensive leadership opportunities. In his role as vice president of student services, John had a deep and impactful relationship with the students of Texas A&M.

He had oversight of a number of organizations, including the Corps of Cadets, Recreational Sports, the Memorial Student Center, Student Activities, Student Affairs, Student Health Services, and Student Legal Services. During his time at Texas A&M, the number of student organizations doubled to more than 700. John also taught classes and served on many academic committees for graduate students.

In his 20 years at Texas A&M, John was a recipient of 15 significant awards, including the Association of College and University Student Personnel Administrators' Distinguished Service Award, The Association of Former Students' Distinguished Achievement Award for Student Relations, the Buck Weirus Spirit Award, and the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Region III Outstanding Service to NASPA Award in 1984.

In 1985, this latter award was named in his honor as a reflection of his impact on student services all across this Nation. John's impact on the university was so meaningful, that when he retired in 1993, he was the recipient of the President's Medallion of Achievement, and he was named Vice President Emeritus of Texas A&M University.

The Student Services Building was also renamed the John J. Koldus Building, and the Texas A&M Foundation also created the John J. Koldus Quality of Student Life Endowment. Although neither he nor Mary Dell were graduates of Texas A&M, in 2006 they were bestowed by proclamation the title of "Texas Aggies."

In the beginning of this recognition, I discussed the attributes—soldier, statesman, knightly gentleman, and the core values of Texas A&M University: Excellence, integrity, leadership, loyalty, respect and selfless service. The reason I discussed these attributes and these values is this:

Dr. Koldus was a soldier, a statesman, a knightly gentleman, and he personified A&M's core values of excellence, integrity, leadership, loyalty, respect, and selfless service. More importantly, he helped share and model those attributes and values to the Texas A&M student body through his mentoring capabilities. His skills in this regard were noteworthy as he mentored thousands of Aggies who started their education at A&M as, what I would call, "diamonds in the rough."

I want to continue discussing this subject, because I was one of those persons who arrived at A&M pretty rough around the edges. Early on, as an Aggie student, Dr. Koldus identified me as a person who might have some promise, and he invested his time and leadership skills into my education. His mentoring and friendship had an indelible impact on me as he tried to mold me to be a soldier, statesman, knightly gentleman, and he helped me live and adopt those significant Aggie core values.

The bottom line is that John Koldus had a huge impact on tens of thousands of Texas Aggies, and upon me. He was a great friend, and I miss him dearly.

Mr. Speaker, John Koldus' life was defined by his service to his family, to our country, and to Texas A&M University. He will be forever remembered as a husband, a father, a grandfather, a great-grandfather, a veteran, a mentor, a selfless servant, and a friend to thousands, if not tens of thousands.

My wife, Gina, and I offer deepest and heartfelt condolences to the Koldus family. We also lift up the family and friends of John Koldus in our prayers. I have requested the United States flag be flown over our Nation's Capitol to honor his life and legacy.

As I close today, I urge all Americans to continue to pray for our country during these difficult times, for our military who protects us abroad, and for our first responders who keep us safe at home.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

RETRACTIONS OF NEW YORK TIMES' ARTICLES

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2019, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. KING) for 30 minutes.

Mr. KING of Iowa. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the privilege to be recognized to address you here on the floor of the United States House of Representatives.

And I come to this floor to talk a little bit today about what is happening to our Nation, our society, our culture, our Constitution. And these are topics that have been debated in this Chamber for a long time, but some things have happened that never happened before.

And so I would start first with: It seems to me our leader seems to be a high respecter of the credibility of the New York Times. So I put together a document here that I thought might be interesting to him, and I would go through just a few of them, the articles that have come up in the New York Times, that have had to be retracted.

Let's see: There are the articles about Russian meddling in the election that had to be retracted.

They had to apologize for ruining Wen Ho Lee's career and life.

And the New York Times admits that one of the reporters engaged in frequent acts of journalistic fraud, widespread fabrication and plagiarism, and found problems in at least 36 of the 73 articles written by a single individual since he had started.

Further, the Times admits—that is the New York Times—that Judith Miller took journalistic shortcuts, and that New York Times' editors, "failed to dig into problems before they became a mess."

They did become a tremendous mess. Remember, that was the allegation that Saddam Hussein possessed weapons of mass destruction. Well, we got into a war over that one, didn't we, over the New York Times—at least in part.

Most of us will remember in 2006, when the New York Times covered an alleged rape by Duke—or multiple rapes, I should say, by the Duke University Lacrosse team. The Times coverage was biased towards the accuser, despite the fact that it ended up being a hoax and there was little evidence supporting the accuser's case.

And those young men on the Duke Lacrosse team were run through the wringer. They were excoriated; they were pounded on by the national media, not only the New York Times, but that is one of the things that triggers it.

Then, again, there is a New York Times article that questioned John McCain's relationship with a lobbyist. And that faced widespread criticism to the article implying that McCain had a romantic relationship with a lobbyist. They had to issue a correction, that they did not intend for the article to imply a romantic relationship. Well, they did imply that. They just said they didn't "intend" that.

And so somehow, the Times thinks they should have a pass for their own definition of intent, even though time after time after time, the Times has been found to be less than credible.

The President of the United States has poured forth his ire against the New York Times, and called them the "lying New York Times," "the fake news New York Times," "the failing New York Times," and probably a number of descriptions that I haven't uncovered here, Mr. Speaker.

But in 2009, the New York Times' appraisal on Walter Cronkite had to have eight different corrections due to just factual inaccuracies. And this is a newspaper, of course, that America used to depend upon.

And then in 2015, the New York Times published an article claiming that new figures surrounding China's rate of coal usage could affect U.N. climate talks when, in fact, those figures were so outdated that the U.N. was already aware of that particular uptick. So, again, distorted information.

But what is consistent with this? What are the common denominators? And that is, their misinformation in the New York Times almost always fits their narrative.

And then in 2017, the New York Times incorrectly stated that China
