

Greek War of Independence became adoptees and were brought to America, ultimately becoming prominent American citizens, scholars, and members of the armed services.

And James Williams, an African American slave from Baltimore, joined the Greek revolutionaries and fought for Greece's freedom during the Battle of Navarino and was buried there in honor of his efforts.

Trailblazers like Bouboulina, Willard, and Miller—who toppled their oppressors, demanded equality, and fought to enact change to benefit future generations of women—inspire my work in Congress every day.

The example set by Hellenic and American Philhellenic women during the Greek War of Independence exemplifies the U.S.-Greece relationship that thrives to this day. It is because of our historic friendship, and shared commitment to liberal democratic values, that the U.S. and Greece continue to work on so many issues that have a profound effect on the world.

After generations of oppression, Greece's freedom was hard-fought, and the Republic of Greece has become a shining example of democracy to the world. Greece and the Greek people are such critical allies and dear friends of the United States and I'm very proud to rise today in honor of the brave Hellenic and American Philhellenic women who played a pivotal role in securing the independence that Greece and her people celebrate to this day.

HONORING THE LIFE OF FAIV
NTAJ MUAS (DANG MOUA)

HON. JIM COSTA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 28, 2020

Mr. COSTA. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Mr. Faiv Ntaj Muas (Dang Moua), who passed away on October 13, 2020 at the age of 71. Dang was a longtime Merced County business owner and an active member of the Hmong community.

Dang was born on April 12, 1949 in the war-torn country of Laos to Muas Paj Cai and Ntxhais Lauj. Dang was the second of three sons, and had an elder half-brother, five sisters, four half-brothers, and two half-sisters. Although Dang faced a difficult childhood, he always had a heart for service and helping others. After completing grade school, he attended college near a hospital that treated injured soldiers. Over time, Dang's soft-spoken demeanor was recognized by his peers and he was hand-picked as a leader by the Hmong community to provide guidance to fellow students.

As the war continued, Dang and his fellow students were no longer safe at their school. His quick thinking allowed opportunity for him to save nine people out of Samthong, where the enemy soldiers were approaching. Their journey led them through the mountains, and numerous towns to seek shelter until they were finally safe.

In 1971, Dang married the love of his life, Paj Lis and began training with the United States Agency for International Development (USAID) and was recruited by the United States Embassy to work in USAID until 1975. In April of 1975, part of Dang's family moved to a refugee camp in Thailand for safety, after it became clear the situation was unsafe for anyone aiding the United States. Eventually, Dang and part of his family, were sponsored by Hatcher Memorial Baptist Church and moved to Richmond, Virginia in 1977, before settling in Merced, California. Once they settled in Merced, Dang attended college, and worked at Del Monte Farms.

Dang and his wife opened their first business, the first Hmong grocery store in Merced, Moua Oriental Market, followed by the first Hmong farm and slaughterhouse, Moua's Hog Slaughter Farm and Moua's Cattle Farm in Livingston, California. His success and influence in the community reached political figures, Hmong community, and many individuals.

Dang will be remembered in the community for helping others, his work in establishing the nonprofit organization Merced Lao Family Inc., filling a void for Hmong businesses in Merced County, and being a role model to so many. He was a leader and a caring individual that will be remembered by all who had the pleasure to work with him.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring the life of Dang Moua. His commitment to the community of Merced County has left a lasting impact on many. I join his family and friends in honoring his great life.

HONORING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF BERNARD "BERNIE" MCKINNON

HON. ROSA L. DeLAURO

OF CONNECTICUT

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 28, 2020

Ms. DELAURO. Madam Speaker, it is with a heavy heart that I rise today to pay tribute to a dear friend and labor leader, Bernard "Bernie" McKinnon, who we recently lost unexpectedly. Bernie was a wonderful friend, colleague, and mentor to many, and he will be deeply missed by all of those fortunate enough to have known him.

Bernie grew up in Caribou, Maine, along with his five siblings, before the family moved to Connecticut. Upon his graduation from high school, he joined his parents, as well as the United Autoworkers of America, when he began working at Fafnir Bearing. From the very beginning, Bernie was a dedicated member of UAW, and it was his passion for fairness and justice that led to his eventual career with the labor organization. He worked his way through the ranks of his local union, eventually becoming a long-time Local 133 President. He was later elected UAW Region 9A CAP President and then CAP Director, where he took on the responsibility of ensuring that the voices of UAW members were heard throughout the hall of state legislatures throughout New England.

Bernie was also a mentor to many in Connecticut's labor movement, often sought after for advice and guidance in navigating the nuances of the state's General Assembly and the best ways in which to ensure that their legislative agendas were heard. He was also at the forefront of mobilizing UAW political activity in local, state, and federal elections, organizing volunteers and the activities in which they would participate.

It was in 1991 that Bernie was recruited to work as a legislative activist for the UAW in Washington, D.C. and that was where I had the opportunity to really get to know Bernie. I can distinctly remember the first part of our exchange when he visited the office. I would say "how are you doing Bernie" and his reply, without fail, was "terrible, Rosa . . . just terrible"—but his slight smile gave him away every time. In the near decade that he spent on the Hill, Bernie earned the respect of Members from both sides of the aisle, because he was straight-forward and genuine—when he spoke, he just gave you the plain truth about how an issue would impact working people.

Bernie's contributions also extended far beyond his work on behalf of the UAW and its members. In his lifetime, he was a cub scout master, a Southington Band Backer, a trustee for the Southington Elks, a member of the Southington Democratic Town Committee, and a board member of several organizations including Catholic Family Services, the United Labor Agency, and the New Britain United Way. In his retirement, he served as President of the UAW Local 133 retiree chapter as well as an active member of the Connecticut Alliance of Retired Americans. He helped to establish the Connecticut Citizens Action Group and served on its Board of Directors for many years. His good work and compassion touched countless lives and his commitment to community and service should serve as a model for us all.

I, like so many others, consider myself fortunate to not only have known Bernard "Bernie" McKinnon, but to have called him my friend. I extend my deepest sympathies to his wife, Judie; his children, Ken, Lisa, and Jill; his grandchildren, and great-granddaughter as well as his many family, friends and colleagues at this difficult time. Though he was taken suddenly and much too soon, his is a life and legacy that will most certainly serve as an inspiration to many.

HONORING THE SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE KOREAN WAR AND THE BATTLE OF JANGJIN RESERVOIR

HON. BILL PASCRELL, JR.

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 28, 2020

Mr. PASCRELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Seventieth Anniversary of the Battle of Jangjin Reservoir. I am proud to join those who worked tirelessly to ensure this milestone is recognized and honor the service of those who fought during this crucial event.

In November of 1950, approximately 15,000 brave service men and women in the United States Marines and Army soldiers and another 15,000 United Nations troops fought under the leadership of General Douglas MacArthur against approximately 120,000. The brutal conditions of war these soldiers faced were compounded by being in a mountainous region of North Korea, where they endured below-freezing temperatures, severe losses, and an agonizing retreat.

Despite these trials and tribulations, enemy forces were stopped in the mountains. "The Chosin Few," named in honor of the Japanese pronunciation of the Jangjin Reservoir, helped evacuate 100,000 North Korean men, women, and children. This impressive rescue operation resulted in one of the most dramatic, large-scale humanitarian events of the war.

Those involved in the Battle of Jangjin Reservoir have rightfully been awarded a total of seventeen Medals of Honor, seventy Navy Crosses, twelve Distinguished Service Crosses, and 9,000 Purple Hearts for their actions. This represents the most awards of this nature for a single battle in United States military history.

The people of New Jersey's Ninth Congressional district and many across our nation are indebted to those courageous individuals who overcame great burdens and made tremendous sacrifices overseas. In a recognition of this service, my home state of New Jersey named a nearly forty-mile portion of Route 35 stretching from Brielle to Aberdeen the Chosin Few Memorial Highway. It is a small fraction of respect and honor these exceptional individuals deserve.

That is why I am proud to recognize the tenacious serving as members of the United States Armed Forces and the Memorial Committee of the Battle of Jangjin Reservoir for their strong character and notable determination.

HONORING KACIA CAIN AS IOWAN OF THE WEEK

HON. CYNTHIA AXNE

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 28, 2020

Mrs. AXNE. Madam Speaker, I rise before the House to recognize Kacia Cain, an Iowan who has dedicated her life to teaching students about the importance of STEM. Kacia has devoted her life to encouraging Iowans to participate and foster a love and appreciation for STEM. She has inspired, motivated and provided a platform for so many students and individuals in Iowa to cultivate their appreciation for the sciences. That is why I want to honor Kacia as Iowan of the Week for the week of December 25th.

Kacia grew up in Ames, Iowa before she graduated from Iowa State University, and then moved on to get her master's degree in biology from Northwestern State in Louisiana. Kacia had always been interested in science and biology and worked as a veterinary assistant. While she was in grad school, however, she was able to teach as a part of an assistantship program. She claims she fell promptly in love with teaching and made the decision to get certified and come back to Iowa to teach. Kacia is currently a teacher at Winterset High School, but previously was teaching students from all five high schools at Des Moines Central Campus.

As a science teacher, her goal in the classroom has been to introduce her students to a varied group of subjects, such as anatomy, physiology, genetics, and microbiology. An important aspect to Kacia's curriculum is to use more than the resources that can be accessed in a classroom. Kacia and her students were able to learn from various people within the community. Pre-COVID-19, they were able to take trips and bring in individuals to allow a perspective of what STEM can look like in the real world. They traveled to colleges so that students could better visualize themselves as a college STEM student and see and understand the components of what a future in the sciences could look like.

One of Kacia's favorite parts of being a teacher is being able to take a difficult concept and bring it to a level that students can better comprehend. The ability to see and understand a concept that she helped morphed into a lesson that the student can take with them even after the year is over is not only rewarding for Kacia, but it also simply helps the sciences and opens the idea of STEM for more students.
