HONORING THE SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE KOREAN WAR AND THE BATTLE OF JANGJIN RESERVOIR

HON. BILL PASCRELL, JR.

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 28, 2020

Mr. PASCRELL. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Seventieth Anniversary of the Battle of Jangjin Reservoir. I am proud to join those who worked tirelessly to ensure this milestone is recognized and honor the service of those who fought during this crucial event.

In November of 1950, approximately 15,000 brave service men and women in the United States Marines and Army soldiers and another 15,000 United Nations troops fought under the leadership of General Douglas MacArthur against approximately 120,000. The brutal conditions of war these soldiers faced were compounded by being in a mountainous region of North Korea, where they endured below-freezing temperatures, severe losses, and an agonizing retreat.

Despite these trials and tribulations, enemy forces were stopped in the mountains. "The Chosin Few," named in honor of the Japanese pronunciation of the Jangjin Reservoir, helped evacuate 100,000 North Korean men, women, and children. This impressive rescue operation resulted in one of the most dramatic, large-scale humanitarian events of the war.

Those involved in the Battle of Jangjin Reservoir have rightfully been awarded a total of seventeen Medals of Honor, seventy Navy Crosses, twelve Distinguished Service Crosses, and 9,000 Purple Hearts for their actions. This represents the most awards of this nature for a single battle in United States military history.

The people of New Jersey's Ninth Congressional district and many across our nation are indebted to those courageous individuals who overcame great burdens and made tremendous sacrifices overseas. In a recognition of this service, my home state of New Jersey named a nearly forty-mile portion of Route 35 stretching from Brielle to Aberdeen the Chosin Few Memorial Highway. It is a small fraction of respect and honor these exceptional individuals deserve.

That is why I am proud to recognize the tenacious serving as members of the United States Armed Forces and the Memorial Committee of the Battle of Jangjin Reservoir for their strong character and notable determination.

While attending high school, he was on the football, basketball, and baseball teams. He served as Class President both in junior high and high school. Johnson competed in a high school invitational decathlon and won the event. He also won the 1953 and 1954 California state high school decathlon meets.

After graduating from Kingsburg High School, he attended the University of California, Los Angeles. He joined Pi Lambda Phi fraternity and served as Student Body President. He competed in his first decathlon in 1954 as a sophomore at UCLA. In 1955, he competed and won a gold medal at the Pan American Games in Mexico City. He was the first Black American to be the flag bearer for the U.S. Olympic team. He continued his athletic journey and eventually won a silver medal in the 1956 Olympic decathlon in Melbourne, Australia.

In 1960, he competed once again in the Olympics, held in Rome, Italy. He faced a unique challenge, as he competed against a fellow UCLA alumni and friend, Yang Chuan-Kwang. While both posed fierce challenges, Johnson won the gold medal. For his Olympic performance, Johnson received the James E. Sullivan Memorial Award, as the outstanding amateur athlete of 1960.

After graduating from UCLA and finishing his decathlon career, Johnson embarked into a new chapter and began his film and media career. He worked in motion pictures as a sportscaster and then as a sports anchor on the local NBC affiliate in Los Angeles.

Johnson also worked on the presidential election campaign of U.S. Senator Robert F. Kennedy and was there when he was assassinated. He was able to subdue the gunman. He later got involved in the Special Olympics, serving on the organizing committee. In 1979, he was asked to join the board of the committee working to bring the 1984 Summer Olympics to Los Angeles.

HONORING KACIA CAIN AS IOWAN OF THE WEEK

HON. CYNTHIA AXNE

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, December 28, 2020

Mrs. AXNE. Madam Speaker, I rise before the House to recognize Kacia Cain, an Iowan who has dedicated her life to teaching students about the importance of STEM. Kacia has devoted her life to encouraging Iowans to participate and foster a love and appreciation for STEM. She has inspired, motivated and provided a platform for so many students and individuals in Iowa to cultivate their appreciation for the sciences. That is why I want to honor Kacia as Iowan of the Week for the week of December 25th.

Kacia grew up in Ames, Iowa before she graduated from Iowa State University, and then moved on to get her master's degree in biology from Northwestern State in Louisiana. Kacia had always been interested in science and biology and worked as a veterinary assistant. While she was in grad school, however, she was able to teach as a part of an assistantship program. She claims she fell promptly in love with teaching and made the decision to get certified and come back to Iowa to teach. Kacia is currently a teacher at Winterset High School, but previously was teaching students from all five high schools at Des Moines Central Campus.

As a science teacher, her goal in the classroom has been to introduce her students to a varied group of subjects, such as anatomy, physiology, genetics, and microbiology. An important aspect to Kacia's curriculum is to use more than the resources that can be accessed in a classroom. Kacia and her students were able to learn from various people within the community. Pre-COVID-19, they were able to take trips and bring in individuals to allow a perspective of what STEM can look like in the real world. They traveled to colleges so that students could better visualize themselves as a college STEM student and see and understand the components of what a future in the sciences could look like.

One of Kacia's favorite parts of being a teacher is being able to take a difficult concept and bring it to a level that students can better comprehend. The ability to see and understand a concept that she helped morphed into a lesson that the student can take with them even after the year is over is not only rewarding for Kacia, but it also simply helps the sciences and opens the idea of STEM for more students.

Her role as a STEM teacher landed her a spot on the STEM Council and Executive Committee in September 2013 where she has since served on the Business Engagement Committee that built the "Guidelines for School+Business Partnerships in STEM" and contributed to the STEM Council's Seal of Approval. She has also since been honored as STEM MVP and received the Iowa STEM Teacher Award.

Now a teacher at Winterset High School, Kacia's goal remains the same. She wishes to work hard to ensure that all Iowans can access the same opportunities, materials, and resources that are available everywhere, whether you be in an urban or a rural setting.

Kacia said she has always believed that STEM is about building partnerships through links beyond school walls and is excited to be a part of a group in a state that puts that idea at the forefront. Kacia is an example of how dedicated, selfless, and incredible hard work teachers and Iowans are. I cannot thank Kacia Cain enough for all she's done to help the young people of our community, and I couldn't be happier to name her as Iowan of the Week.
