COMMEMORATING THE LIFE-SAVING ACTIONS OF 7-YEAR-OLD LILLIE DAVIS

HON. JASON SMITH

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 20, 2020

Mr. SMITH of Missouri. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Lillie Davis of Willow Springs, Missouri for her heroic actions that helped save the life of her father, Seth.

Lillie's father has suffered from epilepsy since he was a child. Because of this, Lillie was trained for emergency situations at a young age. When her father went into an epileptic seizure one spring morning, 7-year-old Lillie knew just what to do to help him. She acted with poise and bravery and went through the proper motions to save her dad. She calmly called her mother, who called 9-1-1, and then helped talk Lillie through the motions. Lillie made sure her dad was still breathing, then turned his head to make sure he wasn't holding his breath. She even opened the back door so the first responders could quickly enter upon arrival.

First responders stated that they have never seen a young child know just what to do in an emergency like this. I commend Lillie for her acts of bravery that helped save her father's life. She is a true hero.

For her heroic actions, it is my great pleasure to celebrate Miss Lillie Davis today before the U.S. House of Representatives.

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 20, 2020

Mr. BUCK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Ms. Kathryn Jansky, MHS, CRNA, APRN, USA LTC (ret). A resident of Lone Tree, Colorado, Ms. Jansky will soon complete her tenure as national president of the American Association of Nurse Anesthetists (AANA). I commend Ms. Jansky for her service to our community and our country during her time as president of this important organization.

During her AANA presidency, Ms. Jansky advocated for advancing patient care and expanding nurse anesthetists' scope of practice before federal agencies and members of Congress. She has worked tirelessly to eliminate burdensome regulations on CRNAs, to have CRNAs recognized as full practice providers in the Veterans Health Administration (VHA), to maintain provider non-discrimination, and to achieve full scope of practice for CRNAs. Ms. Jansky graduated from the U.S. Army School of Anesthesia for Nurse Corps Officers, obtained her master's degree from Texas Wesleyan University, Fort Worth; and a bachelor's degree in nursing from the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

HONORING MAUREEN STOVER AS THE 2020 BURROUGHS WELLCOME FUND NORIH CAROLINA TEACHER OF THE YEAR

HON. RICHARD HUDSON

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 20, 2020

Mr. HUDSON. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor and congratulate Maureen Stover for being named the 2020 Burroughs Wellcome Fund North Carolina Teacher of the Year. Mrs. Stover is a science teacher at Cumberland International Early College High School in Fayetteville, North Carolina.

A former intelligence officer with the United States Air Force, Mrs. Stover began teaching in 2009 through the Troops to Teachers program. For over a decade, her tireless commitment has exemplified the important contributions educators make each day in service to our children and community.

Known in the classroom as the Science Mom, Mrs. Stover's dedication to students extends far beyond brief lectures in biology or environmental science. Her leadership has provided countless students with not only the resources needed to develop academically, but socially and emotionally as well.

The title of North Carolina Teacher of the Year is awarded by the Department of Public Instruction to dedicated and highly skilled educators who inspire students of all backgrounds and abilities to learn. I am proud that Mrs. Stover will travel the state as an ambassador for the teaching profession, serve as an advisor to the State Board of Education, and serve as a board member for the Public School Forum.

As the son of a retired public school teacher, I extend my most sincere appreciation to Mrs. Stover for her extraordinary service to our nation, state, and community. She is more than deserving of this honor and I look forward to all she will accomplish on behalf of our children in the years to come.

Madam Speaker, please join me today in honoring Maureen Stover for being named the 2020 Burroughs Wellcome Fund North Carolina Teacher of the Year.

HONORING RACHELLE LONG AS IOWAN OF THE WEEK

HON. CYNTHIA AXNE

OF IOWA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 20, 2020

Mrs. AXNE. Madam Speaker, I rise today to ask the House of Representatives to join me in recognizing Rachelle Long, the owner of Chellie's Sugar Shack in Des Moines, as this week's Iowan of the Week.

Whether it's cakes, cookies, cobblers, or pies, Chellie's Sugar Shack has been satisfying sweet tooths in Des Moines for nearly a decade. After a thirty-year career—one she began straight out of high school—Rachelle took the leap and opened her own home bakery at the suggestion of her children. Chellie's Sugar Shack was the result of years of baking sugar cookies for her kids and family, including sugar cookie trays that became a much-anticipated present each year at Christmas.

Chellie's Sugar Shack opened for business on April Fool's Day in 2011—with Rachelle clarifying on Facebook that the business was indeed no joke. For the first two years, sugar cookies were the only thing on the menu. After requests from satisfied customers, however, the menu has since grown to include best sellers like the southern caramel cake and strawberry cake. And yesterday, on National Sugar Cookie Day, Rachelle found a way to reward one loyal customer with a gift of a dozen sugar cookies.

I am deeply impressed by Rachelle's strong entrepreneurial spirit, dedication, and engagement with the local community—like baking dozens of mini southern caramel cakes as a sweet treat for students. I know the community appreciates her hard work. I know Rachelle and other small business owners have been working hard during this global pandemic. Like all small business owners, Rachelle must have been worried about what might happen to her business. But Iowans have a proud tradition of supporting our small businesses and Chellie's Sugar Shack has seen an uptick in orders. With 8 to 10 orders to bake each day now, Rachelle's been busy giving Iowans delicious cakes, cookies, and other treats to brighten their day.

Like many small businesses, including my own, Chellie's Sugar Shack is a family business. A grandmother of 9, Rachelle recounted her early days as a business owner of having her grandchildren—then ages 1 to 10—help her with baking, decorating, and packaging orders. As they helped, Rachelle sought to instill in them the value of being an entrepreneur—in her words, to be an "employer and not an employee." With Chellie's Sugar Shack, Rachelle says that she's planted a seed that she hopes her grandchildren will continue to nourish and grow across generations.

As a mom myself, I know the importance of providing our children with experiences that will build not just lifelong skills, but also lifelong memories. I am proud to know that we have family business owners like Rachelle in our community fostering tomorrow's entrepreneurs. It is my honor to share Rachelle's story, and recognize her as the Iowan of the Week.

LYNN SHELTON

HON. PRAMILA JAYAPAL

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 20, 2020

Ms. JAYAPAL. Madam Speaker, on Saturday, May 16, 2020, Seattle unexpectedly lost the kind-hearted, luminous filmmaker Lynn Shelton. Shelton made her first film in 2006—We Go Way Back—adding seven more films to her oeuvre in the ensuing years, including Your Sister's Sister and Sword of Trust. All but the last film showcased the essence of the Pacific Northwest in environment and feeling, but the themes and directorial treatments were always uniquely her own.

Most recently, she focused her directing skills on episodes of well-known television series, living in Los Angeles to be close to this work. However, she remained tied to the northwest, notably participating in The Stranger's daily "Message to the City" column. In her video, she shared how she discovered that singing out loud lifted her mood and to illustrate the point, she produced a medley of friends singing songs, having learned how to edit the video on her phone along the way.

Ms. Shelton leaves behind a deep impression on the local artistic community. Even beyond the success of her films, she will be remembered for the kindness with which she treated those around her, for her enjoyment of life, and for her prodigious talent.

Ms. Shelton is survived by her son Milo Seal, her husband of many years Kevin Seal, her parents, three siblings, as well as Marc Maron, with whom she spent the last year of her life.
