

rules that govern housing and keeping and care of the animals and are subject to unannounced inspections under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. And it is doing its job. It is doing its job effectively and efficiently.

Madam Speaker, this bill ignores all of that under the guise of animal welfare, denying responsible Federal license facilities and predicated these class E exemptions on animal rights ideology, not necessarily the policy of what has been taken during the past.

What happens now is that this particular bill has, special interest groups having drafted it, now amends the Lacey Act—not the Animal Welfare Act, but the Lacey Act—and now has the Department of the Interior being the ones who are responsible for what is going on here.

So what is illegal now under the Lacey Act changes would be legal under the Animal Welfare Act, which is still going to be on the books. If nothing else, we should actually ask those people who are responsible for this bill just to come clean and try and make sure that they write the bill so there is consistency so you don't have conflicting acts, because you have conflicting policy with this.

And this bill also provides some huge loopholes for big, well-funded zoos and will crush those small but well-regulated private facilities. That is not the way we should be running that particular policy.

Madam Speaker, the smaller facilities are well-regulated. It is done by the Department of Agriculture. There are specific rules and guidelines. The laws are specific and they are there.

What this bill will do is put conflicting guidelines, which means, pass this bill, if you wish, but—well, very little chance of it actually going all the way, but even if you want to pass this bill, you are going to have to come back and fix the two because you have, now, two bills that are still on the books that are in conflict. So at least do it the right way.

This bill was pushed by special interest groups. It is poor policy that is not backed by science but is backed by radical ideology, and it does not fit the reality of what is taking place. The Department of Agriculture is doing their functions properly and effectively and efficiently, and we should not pass this bill.

Madam Speaker, with all the significant things we could be doing in a lameduck session, with all the stuff we can do with the pandemic, with both Republicans and Democrats in both the House and the Senate agreeing on so many things, so much low-hanging fruit, we could easily pass something that would have a major impact, something that would be real, or actually put the NDAA on here and do something that is real, or actually come to an agreement on a CR, at least, if not the resolutions of all our appropriations. That would be big. That would be sufficient. That would be worthy of us actually coming back here to the floor today.

But instead, we are coming here closer to 8 o'clock at night dealing with the small stuff, the insignificant stuff that is not going to go further throughout the process, which I guess is one of the reasons I think we should be happy. At least we know this will be the last time that this will be discussed here in the Capitol building at any time.

Madam Speaker, as a Congress, we can do much better. We ought to do much better. We ought not to spend our time coming up here dealing with the kleinigkeiten.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CASE. Madam Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

I appreciate, again, the comments from the ranking member, but I think he is out of step with the majority in this House, given the bipartisan nature of this particular legislation.

A couple of quick points to answer some of his objections.

First of all, as I mentioned earlier, the Zoological Association of America has withdrawn its opposition to this bill. The Zoological Association of America, contrary to the statement, is not opposed to this bill.

Second, he talks about the guidelines by the USDA being sufficient. They are obviously not sufficient when the status quo across this country still has such a tremendous and deleterious impact on animal welfare, as well as presents a continued risk for public safety. As was noted in some of the comments earlier, in fact, we have a patchwork of regulation across this country; whereas, it is time for us to have one uniform standard across this country that would apply everywhere.

He complains that this bill is a matter of special interest. I would submit, if the special interests are those special interests that are concerned about the welfare of animals and are concerned about public safety, then those are good special interests to be aligned with.

Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Hawaii (Mr. CASE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1380, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to section 3 of House Resolution 965, the yeas and nays are ordered.

Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.
