

are having people's jobs jeopardized because we haven't done the research that would allow us to have a good test.

The MORE Act, in the form that it is here, besides having the provisions that allow the testing to take place, would strip away the Federal Government interference with the research so that we can have a test that takes place.

It is important for employers to be able to have this test. Employers want to be able to deal with their employees fairly, and they don't have a good test now. So people are losing their jobs. They can't fill other jobs because applicants fail drug tests.

It is not that we don't test, the fact is we don't have a good test. And the Federal prohibition on research stands in the way of this. It is yet another example of the failed prohibition on cannabis and its unintended consequences. It prevents being able to make progress to be able to have effective tests and use them where they are needed.

My friends talk about people having traces of marijuana in their system in terms of driving stops. There is no indication that just because there is a trace that that impaired their operation. We don't have the tests.

That is why we need the MORE Act. That is why we need to reject the motion to recommit. Unless and until we do the research to be able to have effective tests to be able to deal with impairment, we are just chasing our tails. It doesn't solve the problem, and it avoids being able to take care of it.

I strongly urge rejecting this motion to recommit, passing the MORE Act so we can do the research, have the tests that employers and employees want and deserve so we get out of this never-never land of speculation and be able to actually tell the circumstances and give people a guidance to be able to get the result that I think we all want.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the previous question is ordered on the motion to recommit.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion to recommit.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the noes appeared to have it.

Mrs. LESKO. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to section 3 of House Resolution 965, the yeas and nays are ordered.

Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this question are postponed.
