

throughout the school, teachers and staff recognize students who demonstrate those values, instilling a sense of individual and school pride.

In addition to a rigorous core curriculum and a focus on world languages, the school is known for its extensive extracurricular activities in academics, athletics, and the arts, and students are encouraged to pursue their interests. A comprehensive health and wellness program emphasizes good nutrition, physical activity, and stress management. The schoolwide peacemakers curriculum helps students develop the skills to work collaboratively and to respect others. Students learn the value of community service through a variety of opportunities, such as supporting the local food pantry and connecting with senior citizens.

Family and community support is one of the school's greatest assets. The Pond Cove Parents Association and other community organizations provide supplemental funding and resources. Just last year, parents, staff members, and local businesses joined together to create a new playground and outdoor learning center with outdoor classrooms, vegetable gardens, and nature observation areas.

This Blue Ribbon Award is a tribute not only to the students, but also to the administrators, teachers, staff, and parents of Pond Cove Elementary School. Together, they are succeeding in their mission to generate excitement and momentum for learning. They are making a difference in the lives of their students, helping them reach their full potential as independent, responsible learners and citizens. I congratulate the entire Cape Elizabeth community for this well-deserved recognition.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING ADVANCED CERAMIC FIBERS

• Mr. RISCH. Mr. President, as a member and former chairman of the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship, each month I recognize and celebrate the American entrepreneurial spirit by highlighting the success of a small business in my home State of Idaho. Today, I am pleased to honor Advanced Ceramic Fibers in Idaho Falls as the Idaho Small Business of the Month for October 2020.

Prior to founding Advanced Ceramic Fibers, Dr. John Garnier enjoyed 6 successful years as the armor program lead for the National and Homeland Security Directorate at the Idaho National Lab, INL. As part of his work, Dr. Garnier co-invented a process for converting carbon fibers into an alpha silicon carbide for military use and found that the product could have numerous applications in the infrastructure, energy, and aerospace industries. Recognizing its potential, Dr. Garnier retired from INL and teamed up with businessmen Ken Koller, Shawn Perkins, and David Harrell to commercialize his invention and establish Advanced Ceramic Fibers. With the help of the INL technology transfer program, the Idaho Small Business Development Center, and 3 years of self-funding, the startup was able to expand operations, hire additional employees for research and development, and secure contracts with several government agencies.

Since its founding, Advanced Ceramic Fibers has become a leading example of small business driven innovation in Idaho. Its clients, including the Department of Energy, U.S. Navy, and NASA, have utilized its production of heat and abrasion resistant fibers in the development of aerospace and stationary power generation turbines and nuclear propulsion engines. They have expanded their innovations to include 34 different kinds of novel metallic carbides in both fiber and nano-particle forms. It is no surprise that the company was awarded the Early Stage Innovation of the Year award for 2015 by the Idaho Technology Council and the 2016 Excellence in Business Award from the Idaho Small Business Development Center.

With the slogan "Transforming the Reinforced Materials Marketplace," Advanced Ceramic Fibers continues to be a catalyst of innovation in the Gem State. Today, the company employs nearly a dozen employees and owns the rights to nine different patents. With its continued growth, the business is now expanding into a larger facility and expects to provide more than two dozen jobs to the local community. Advanced Ceramic Fiber's ingenuity and cutting-edge product designs exemplify how Idaho small businesses continue to lead the country in technological development.

Congratulations to John, Ken, Shawn, Dave, and all of the employees of Advanced Ceramic Fibers on being selected as the Idaho Small Business of the Month for October 2020. You make our great State proud, and I look forward to your continued growth and success. •
