TRIBUTE TO TIMOTHY P. WHITE

● Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize and pay tribute to the honorable service of Dr. Timothy P. White, who will be retiring as chancellor of the California State University, CSU.

Chancellor Timothy P. White has served as the California State University's seventh chancellor since December 2012. His leadership of the Nation's largest and most diverse university system—23 campuses, 482,000 students, 53,000 faculty and staff, and 3.8 million alumni—has been characterized by his heartfelt and unwavering dedication to the students.

In fact, it was that commitment to student success that led Chancellor White in 2015 to launch the "Graduation Initiative 2025," an ambitious systemwide effort to increase graduation rates and to eliminate equity and opportunity gaps between underserved students and their peers. The initiative has already resulted in record numbers of baccalaureate degrees earned.

Further, Chancellor White has been a strong advocate for diversity and gender equity, ensuring campus leaders, faculty, and staff reflect the communities they serve. In July 2018, CSU achieved national recognition for having 12 female campus presidents—representing more than half of the CSU's campuses—quadrupling the number of female presidents from the time Chancellor White assumed office and far surpassing the national average of 30 percent female leadership at higher education institutions.

A caring and forward-thinking leader, he has been committed to compassionate action on behalf of Dreamers and has spearheaded efforts to support title IX rights and to prevent sexual assault on campus. Chancellor White commissioned the first-ever study of homelessness and hunger among university students and has instituted innovative programs to help students meet their basic needs. He has also worked to ensure that the CSU shines as a leader on environmental sustainability and climate change education and policy.

The COVID-19 pandemic has proven to be a difficult challenge for higher education, but Chancellor White has displayed bold leadership, delaying his planned retirement to ensure steady decision making that has not only allowed the CSU to sustain its high-quality instruction and operations but also helped the university to thrive, with record-setting numbers of degrees awarded in spring 2020 and the university's largest ever student body enrolled in the fall.

A clarity of vision, a heartfelt and relentless focus on student success, and an emphasis on collaborative leadership, combined with a ready sense of humor and a warmth and generosity of spirit, have defined Chancellor White's tenure.

I applaud Dr. White's lifetime of service to the betterment of our State and its students, and I wish him the best as he begins this next chapter of his life.●

REMEMBERING DENNIS RUSSELL WEDDLE

● Ms. ROSEN. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the life and service of my friend and a great Nevadan, Dennis "Denny" Russell Weddle, who passed away on August 2, 2020. Denny served our country in the U.S. Air Force for over 20 years and retired as lieutenant colonel with a distinguished military career, serving in Vietnam and as the information officer on the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds Demonstration Team from 1969 to 1971.

In 1969 Denny was first stationed at Nellis Air Force Base in Nevada—the proud home of the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds Demonstration Team—and after retiring from the Air Force, he stayed in Las Vegas and became the director of corporate public affairs at Summa Corporation, which is where I had the pleasure of working with him. Later, Denny founded his own full-service marketing, public relations, and government affairs agency, called Denny Weddle & Associates.

Denny was a dedicated public servant with an exceptional history of community engagement, serving as the president of the Military Officers Association, a member of the Vietnam Veterans Association and the American Legion, and the founder of the Nellis Support Team. Denny also was the chair of the board of the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce and served as the president or the chair of over 30 major nonprofits in our community.

I am so pleased to have known Denny Weddle, and I am so thankful for his engagement and commitment to Nevadans. Denny's contributions to both the Las Vegas and the Nellis Air Force Base communities will be missed.●
