MOMENT OF SILENCE IN REMEMBRANCE OF THE VICTIMS OF THE SACRAMENTO GUN VIOLENCE

(Ms. MATSUI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. MATSUI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today heartbroken, full of pain and sadness for my district, my hometown of Sacramento.

Very early yesterday morning, I got an alert that there was a mass shooting; and I wondered, "Now where?" Then I read the words: Sacramento. This terrible violence has come home to my home in Sacramento.

Sacramento experienced the deadliest mass shooting in the city's history. Six members of our community were killed and 12 were sent to local hospitals.

Our Sacramento community is hurting. This tragedy has touched every single one of us, and I really deeply appreciate the outpouring of support for the lives lost from all of you and across the Nation.

Sacramento is truly a special place. We deeply care for each other; we work together; we are resilient; and we show compassion when our neighbors are in pain. Our entire community has come together in the wake of this tragedy to pray for the victims and their loved ones and to support the efforts of our community responders and law enforcement officers who are still hard at work.

As Sacramentans, we are still in the early hours and first day of our grief. These were our neighbors, our friends, and our family members. While we will never be able to fill the space of a lost loved one, we can all reach out, embrace them, and make sure that the love they hold for those lost endures in us all.

I want to name the ones we lost:
Sergio Harris, 38 years old;
Melinda Davis, 57 years old;
Yamile Martinez-Andrade, 21 years old;

Johnntaya Alexander, 21 years old;
Devazia Turner, 29 years old; and Joshua Hoyer-Lucchesi, 32 years old.

Right now we are bound in grief and love, but also in our resolve to do better. We cannot go on accepting that shootings like this are inevitable. If we can prevent even one more tragedy like this, spare other families and communities from feeling this pain, then we have to come together and act. We cannot and will not be passive in the face of such senseless violence.

I now ask my colleagues and all Americans to join me in a moment of silence for the victims of this terrible tragedy, for their loved ones, for those still fighting to recover, and for our entire Sacramento community. Let us together mourn and pray for them during this difficult time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. BERA). The Chair asks that all Members in the Chamber, as well as Members and staff throughout the Capitol, rise for a moment of silence in remembrance of the victims of the recent shooting in Sacramento, California.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER
AS COSPONSOR OF H.R. 3807

Mr. RUTHERFORD. Madam Speaker, I hereby remove my name as cosponsor of H.R. 3807.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's request is accepted.

SUPPORTING COVERAGE FOR NEC-ESSARY CONGENITAL ANOMA-
LIES SERVICES

(Mr. LANGEVIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LANGEVIN. Madam Speaker, this evening, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 1916, the Ensuring Lasting Smiles Act, a bill which would require health plans to cover medically necessary services related to congenital anomalies.

I would like to share the story of one of my constituents, Caleb Locke, a young man from Ashaway, Rhode Island, who was born with ectodermal dysplasia. As a result of his condition, Caleb's lower jaw is both thin and short with no ridge, and his posterior upper jaw lacks sufficient bone structure.

Caleb is missing teeth, and he needs dental implants, but this process will require multiple surgeries, including bone grafts from his hip to reconstruct his jaw and sinuses.

Unfortunately, and unbelievably, Caleb's health insurance has deemed these procedures as "cosmetic" and has consequently denied coverage.

Madam Speaker, Caleb needs these surgeries, and they are clearly not cosmetic. It is wholly unacceptable that coverage can be denied on those grounds.

Caleb, and anyone else with a congenital anomaly, should never be denied coverage for medically necessary services related to their conditions.

That is why I was proud to support the passage of H.R. 1916 this evening, and I urge our colleagues in the Senate to promptly do the same.

REDUCING POVERTY ACROSS THE NATION

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Madam Speaker, I rise today to announce we are one step closer to reducing poverty across the Nation.

In March, the House Committee on Education and Labor passed H.R. 5129, the Community Services Block Grant Modernization Act, on a bipartisan vote.

I was proud to introduce this bill with the gentlewoman from Oregon (Ms. BONAMICI). The bill would fund the community action agencies that help address the root causes of poverty in our communities.

These agencies are largely comprised of business and industry leaders. They provide a safety net for low-income families and individuals, but even more importantly, they help create opportunities for people to move from poverty to independence.

Despite the good these agencies do for our communities, the Community Services Block Grant program has not been reauthorized for 25 years. My bill will modernize CSBG to provide agencies the ability to tap their full potential.

Madam Speaker, this program has a long history of bipartisan support due to the great work it enables. It is my hope that this righteous bill is brought to the floor in a timely manner.

It is time for Congress to renew our Nation's commitment and further reduce poverty by reauthorizing CSBG.

STANDING FOR JUDGE KETANJI
BROWN JACKSON

(Ms. JACKSON LEE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Madam Speaker, today, I sat in the Senate Judiciary Committee as a historic vote was taken.

Since the appointment of Sandra Day O'Connor, only four women have ascended to the United States Supreme Court.

In particular, longer than any other demographic group, African-American women have been subjected to coercive laws, yet they have been excluded from the political and judicial positions to impact those laws.

I am glad that President Biden saw fit to nominate one of the most—and probably the most—qualified judge ever to be nominated to the United States Supreme Court—not my words; the words of many others.

So this day that Dr. King died, we know that the dreamer may have been killed, but the dream still lives.

They voted today. Eleven Democrats voted yes. Unfortunately, 11 Republicans voted no.

I hope, as this goes to the floor, we will stand as Americans, and Democrats and Republicans will ascend to the United States Supreme Court this African-American woman, more qualified than ever, again, to take a rightful place on the United States Supreme Court. I pray that that will happen.

REMEMBERING THE LIFE OF LIEUTENANT WILLIAM LEO

(Mr. MEUSER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MEUSER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Lieutenant William Lebo of the Lebanon City, Pennsylvania, Police Department. Lieutenant Lebo was shot and killed in the line of duty last week.

Lieutenant Lebo was a dedicated, 40-year veteran of the Lebanon City Police Department and planned to retire on May 1 of this year.

Lieutenant Lebo and two other officers, Ryan Adams and Derek Underkoffler, were responding to a domestic disturbance last Thursday when the offender immediately opened fire on them. All three officers were shot, and tragically, Lieutenant Lebo was fatally wounded.

Lieutenant Lebo has been remembered by his colleagues and those he served as a calm, kind, and ethical police officer who was deeply devoted to protecting the Lebanon community.

This tragedy serves as a devastating reminder that every day law enforcement officers put on their uniforms and go to work, as my father did, to protect and serve, always knowing full well that they may not return home.

Today and always, we owe our continued support to our police officers and their families in Pennsylvania and across America.

We all send our deepest condolences to Lieutenant Lebo's wife, Lora; his daughter, Corrine; and his entire family, as well as the Lebanon City Police
