TITLE ____—EAGLES ACT OF 2022

SEC. ____01. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the ''EAGLES Act of 2022''.

SEC. ____02. FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) On February 14, 2018, 17 individuals lost their lives in a senseless and violent attack on Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland Florida, a school whose mascot is the eagle.

(2) These individuals lived lives of warmth, joy, determination, service, and love, and their loss is mourned by the Nation.

(3) The shooter in that attack exhibited patterns of behavior that were alarming and that should have alerted law enforcement and other Federal, State, and local officials.

(4) The attack on Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School was preventable.

(5) Lives were saved because of the brave and exemplary conduct of many students, teachers, and staff at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School, including several of the victims of the attack.

(6) The National Threat Assessment Center (referred to in this title as the ''Center'') was established in 1998 to conduct research on various types of targeted violence.

(7) Studies conducted by the Center on targeted school violence, in particular, have shown that—

(A) most incidents were planned in advance;

(B) the attackers' behavior gave some indication that the individual was planning, or at least contemplating, an attack;

(C) most attackers had already exhibited a pattern of behavior that was of concern to other people in their lives; and

(D) prior to the attack, someone associated with the attacker, such as a family member or peer, knew the attack was to likely to occur.

(8) Through their research, the Center developed the threat assessment model for responding to indicators of targeted violence, which includes a 3-step process—

(A) identifying individuals who are exhibiting behaviors that indicate they are planning an attack on a school;

(B) assessing whether the individual poses a threat to the school, based on articulable facts; and

(C) managing the threat the individual may pose to the school.

(9) The threat assessment model works most effectively when all the relevant parties, including school officials, local law enforcement, and members of the community, are part of a comprehensive protocol to identify, assess, and manage a potential threat to the school.

(10) The primary goal of threat assessment programs in schools should be to prevent violent conduct, with an emphasis on early intervention, treatment, and care of individuals exhibiting behaviors associated with targeted violence.

(11) Early intervention, treatment, and prevention of violent behavior is an effective way to prevent violent conduct that would harm others and necessitate disciplinary action, including criminal penalties.

(12) The parties involved need the appropriate training and tools to establish the appropriate mechanisms for implementing this type of approach.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that a fact-based threat assessment approach, involving school officials, local law enforcement, and members of the community, is one of the most effective ways to prevent targeted violence in schools, and is a fitting memorial to those who lost their lives in the February 14, 2018, attack on Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School and those who heroically acted to preserve the lives of their friends, students, and colleagues.

(3) The work of public safety officers puts them at risk for developing post-traumatic stress disorder and acute stress disorder.

(4) It is estimated that 30 percent of public safety officers develop behavioral health conditions at some point in their lifetimes, including depression and post-traumatic stress disorder, in comparison to 20 percent of the general population that develops such conditions.

(5) Victims of post-traumatic stress disorder and acute stress disorder are at a higher risk of dying by suicide.

(6) Firefighters have been reported to have higher suicide attempt and ideation rates than the general population.

(7) It is estimated that between 125 and 300 police officers die by suicide every year.

(8) In 2019, pursuant to section 2(b) of the Law Enforcement Mental Health and Wellness Act of 2017 (Public Law 115–113; 131 Stat. 2276), the Director of the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services of the Department of Justice developed a report (referred to in this subsection as the ''LEMHWA report'') that expressed that many law enforcement agencies do not have the capacity or local access to the mental health professionals necessary for treating their law enforcement officers.

(9) The LEMHWA report recommended methods for establishing remote access or regional mental health check programs at the State or Federal level.

(10) Individual police and fire departments generally do not have the resources to employ full-time mental health experts who are able to treat public safety officers with state-of-the-art techniques for the purpose of treating job-related post-traumatic stress disorder and acute stress disorder.

Subtitle H—Reporting Suspicious Transmissions

SEC. 1081. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the ''See Something, Say Something Online Act of 2022''.

SEC. 1082. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) section 230 of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 230) (commonly known as the ''Communications Decency Act of 1996'') was never intended to provide legal protection for websites or interactive computer service providers that do nothing after becoming aware of instances of individuals or groups planning, committing, promoting, and facilitating terrorism, serious drug offenses, and violent crimes;

(2) it is not the intent of this subtitle to remove or strip all liability protection from websites or interactive computer service providers that are proactively working to resolve these issues; and

(3) should websites or interactive computer service providers fail to exercise due care in the implementation, filing of the suspicious transmission activity reports, and reporting of major crimes, Congress intends to look at removing liability protections under the Communications Decency Act of 1996 in its entirety.

SEC. 1083. DEFINITIONS.

In this subtitle:

(1) DEPARTMENT.—The term ''Department'' means the Department of Justice.

(2) INTERACTIVE COMPUTER SERVICE.—The term ''interactive computer service'' has the meaning given the term in section 230 of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 230).

(3) KNOWN SUSPICIOUS TRANSMISSION.—The term ''known suspicious transmission'' means any suspicious transmission that a provider of an interactive computer service—

(A) should have reasonably known to have occurred; or

(B) was notified of by a director, officer, employee, agent, interactive computer service user, or State or Federal law enforcement agency.

(C) that is a serious drug offense (as defined in section 924(e) of title 18, United States Code).

(5) STAR.—The term ''STAR'' means a suspicious transmission activity report required to be submitted under section 1084.

(6) SUSPICIOUS TRANSMISSION.—The term ''suspicious transmission'' means any public or private post, message, comment, tag, transaction, or any other user-generated content or transmission that commits, facilitates, incites, promotes, or otherwise assists the commission of a major crime.

SEC. 1084. REPORTING OF SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY.

(B) make all supporting documentation available to the Department and any appropriate law enforcement agencies upon request; and

(C) not later than 30 days after the date on which the provider submits a STAR under this section, take action against the website or account reported unless the provider receives a notification from a law enforcement agency that the website or account should remain open.

(2) NONDISCLOSURE.—Except as otherwise prescribed by the Attorney General, no provider of an interactive computer service, or officer, director, employee, or agent of such a provider, subject to an order under subsection (a) may disclose the existence of, or terms of, the order to any person.

(e) DISCLOSURE TO OTHER AGENCIES.—

DIVISION E—TAIWAN POLICY ACT OF 2022

SEC. 5001. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

This division may be cited as the ''Taiwan Policy Act of 2022''.

SEC. 5002. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) Since 1949, the close relationship between the United States and Taiwan has been of enormous benefit to both parties and to the Indo-Pacific region as a whole.

(2) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96–8; 22 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.) has enabled the people of the United States and the people of Taiwan to maintain a strong and important relationship that promotes regional security, prosperity, and shared democratic values.

(3) The security of Taiwan and the ability for the people of Taiwan to determine their own future are fundamental to United States interests and values.

(4) The Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States and the American Institute in Taiwan facilitate critical consular relations that—

(A) protect the interests of the people of the United States and the people of Taiwan; and

(B) strengthen people-to-people ties.

(5) Increased engagement between public officials, commercial interests, civil society leaders, and others enhances United States-Taiwan relations and its economic, security, and democratic dimensions.

(6) Taiwan serves as a critical partner on regional and transnational issues, such as public health, climate change, critical and emerging technologies, cybersecurity, trade, and freedom of navigation.

(7) Taiwan exemplifies a thriving democracy consisting of more than 23,000,000 people who value their suffrage, free markets, right to due process, freedom of expression, and other individual liberties.

(8) President Xi Jinping of the People's Republic of China (referred to in this division as the ''PRC'') continues to repeat his desire to stifle the freedom of Taiwan, as evidenced by his July 2021 proclamation, in which he stated, ''All sons and daughters of China, including compatriots on both sides of the Taiwan Strait, must work together and move forward in solidarity, resolutely smashing any Taiwan independence plots.''.

(9) As President Xi Jinping concentrates his power in the Chinese Communist Party (referred to in this division as the ''CCP''), he is escalating the PRC's campaign of coercion and intimidation against Taiwan, as evidenced by—

(A) the accelerated preparations made by the PRC and its People's Liberation Army (referred to in this division as the ''PLA'') for an offensive attack against Taiwan, such as the PLA's January 2022 incursion of nearly 40 fighters, bombers, and other warplanes into Taiwan's air defense identification zone;

(B) the PLA's growing offensive preparations in the Taiwan Strait, such as amphibious assault and live-fire exercises and record-scale incursions into Taiwanese air space;

(C) the Foreign Ministry's diplomatic efforts to isolate Taiwan, such as abusing its position in international institutions and multilateral fora to exclude Taiwanese participation despite Taiwan's demonstrated expertise in relevant subjects, such as public health;

(D) threats and actions to compromise Taiwan's economy and critical suppliers, such as draconian export controls and the ''31 Measures'' intended to lure Taiwanese talent to mainland China and away from Taiwan;

(E) persistent and targeted cyberattacks, numbering nearly 20,000,000 per month, which are intended to compromise Taiwan's critical infrastructure and inflict civilian harm;

(F) political and economic pressure on other countries who seek closer ties with Taiwan, such as recent export controls related to Lithuania after Lithuania announced a permanent Taiwanese Representative Office in Lithuania.

(10) On multiple occasions, through both formal and informal channels, the United States has expressed its concern for the PRC's destabilizing activities in the Taiwan Strait and on the international stage that aim to subvert Taiwan's democratic institutions.

(11) The Indo-Pacific Strategy of the United States—

(A) identifies Taiwan as an important leading regional partner;

(B) seeks to bolster Taiwan's self-defense capabilities; and

(C) reaffirms that Taiwan's future must be determined peacefully and in accordance with the wishes and best interests of the people of Taiwan.

TITLE V—ENHANCED DEVELOPMENT AND ECONOMIC COOPERATION BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND TAIWAN

SEC. 5501. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Taiwan has been an important trading partner of the United States for many years, accounting for $114,000,000,000 in two-way trade in 2021.

(2) Taiwan has demonstrated the capacity to hold a strong economic partnership with the United States. Along with a robust trading profile of goods and services, Taiwan supports an estimated 208,000 American jobs and its cumulative investment in the United States is at least $13,700,000,000, numbers that will only increase with a comprehensive bilateral trade agreement.

(3) In addition to supplementing United States goods and services, Taiwan is a reliable partner in many United States' industries, which is not only critical for diversifying United States supply chains, but is also essential to reducing the United States' reliance on other countries, such as China, who seek to leverage supply chain inefficiencies in their path to regional and global dominance. Such diversification of United States supply chains is critical to our national security.

(4) The challenges to establishing an agreement with Taiwan, such as reaching an agreement on agricultural standards, must not prevent the completion of a bilateral trade agreement. Taiwan has already taken steps to further the progress towards such an agreement by announcing its intent to lift restrictions on United States pork and beef products, which will greatly increase the accessibility of American farmers and ranchers to Taiwan markets. In light of this important development, the United States should immediately move forward with substantial negotiations for a comprehensive bilateral trade agreement with Taiwan.

(5) A free and open Indo-Pacific is a goal that needs to be actively pursued to counter China's use of unfair trading practices and other policies to advance its economic dominance in the Indo-Pacific region. An agreement with Taiwan would—

(A) help the United States accomplish this goal by building a network of like-minded governments dedicated to fair competition and open markets that are free from government manipulation; and

(B) encourage other nations to deepen economic ties with Taiwan.

TITLE VI—SUPPORTING UNITED STATES EDUCATIONAL AND EXCHANGE PROGRAMS WITH TAIWAN

SEC. 5601. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the ''Taiwan Fellowship Act''.

SEC. 5602. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96–8; 22 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.) affirmed United States policy ''to preserve and promote extensive, close, and friendly commercial, cultural, and other relations between the people of the United States and the people on Taiwan, as well as the people on the China mainland and all other peoples of the Western Pacific area''.

(2) Consistent with the Asia Reassurance Initiative Act of 2018 (Public Law 115–409), the United States has grown its strategic partnership with Taiwan's vibrant democracy of 23,000,000 people.

(3) Despite a concerted campaign by the People's Republic of China to isolate Taiwan from its diplomatic partners and from international organizations, including the World Health Organization, Taiwan has emerged as a global leader in the coronavirus global pandemic response, including by donating more than 2,000,000 surgical masks and other medical equipment to the United States.

(4) The creation of a United States fellowship program with Taiwan would support—

(A) a key priority of expanding people-to-people exchanges, which was outlined in President Donald J. Trump's 2017 National Security Strategy;

(B) President Joseph R. Biden's commitment to Taiwan, ''a leading democracy and a critical economic and security partner'', as expressed in his March 2021 Interim National Security Strategic Guidance; and

(C) April 2021 guidance from the Department of State based on a review required under the Taiwan Assurance Act of 2020 (subtitle B of title III of division FF of Public Law 116–260) to ''encourage U.S. government engagement with Taiwan that reflects our deepening unofficial relationship''.

SEC. 5603. PURPOSES.

Subtitle G—Countering Economic Coercion Act of 2022

SEC. 1281. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the ''Countering Economic Coercion Act of 2022''.

SEC. 1282. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

The following is the sense of Congress:

(1) Foreign adversaries are increasingly using economic coercion to pressure, punish, and influence United States allies and partners.

(2) Economic coercion causes economic harm to United States allies and partners and creates malign influence on the sovereign political actions of such allies and partners.

(3) Economic coercion of United States allies and partners has negative effects on the national security of the United States.

(4) Economic coercion is often characterized by—

(A) arbitrary and discriminatory actions that seek to interfere with sovereign actions, violate international trade rules, and run counter to the rules-based international order;

(B) capricious and non-transparent actions taken without due process afforded;

(C) intimidation or threats of punitive actions; and

(D) informal actions that take place without explicit government action.

(5) Recent acts of economic coercion have included instances in which foreign adversaries have—

(A) acted in a capricious and non-transparent manner to prevent or dissuade consumers from purchasing imports from a foreign trading partner;

(B) enacted discriminatory administrative fees or technical barriers to trade in goods and services in response to sovereign political actions taken by a foreign trading partner;

(C) arbitrarily restricted market access or otherwise limited the import of goods or services from a foreign trading partner;

(D) arbitrarily restricted investment in or export of goods or services to a foreign trading partner; and

(E) acted in a non-transparent manner to manipulate a private entity with the intent of causing economic harm to or influencing sovereign political actions of a foreign trading partner.

(6) Existing mechanisms for trade dispute resolution and international arbitration are inadequate for responding to economic coercion in a timely and effective manner as foreign adversaries exploit plausible deniability and lengthy processes to evade accountability.

(7) The United States should provide material support to foreign trading partners affected by economic coercion.

(8) Supporting foreign trading partners affected by economic coercion can lead to opportunities for United States businesses, investors, and workers to reach new markets and customers.

(9) Responding to economic coercion will be most effective when the United States provides relief to affected foreign trading partners in coordination with allies and like-minded countries.

(10) Such coordination will further demonstrate broad resolve against economic coercion.

SEC. ____. ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING SAFEGUARDS REGARDING GATEKEEPERS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the ''Establishing New Authorities for Business Laundering and Enabling Risks to Security Act of 2022'' or the ''ENABLERS Act of 2022''.

(b) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Kleptocrats and other corrupt actors across the world are increasingly relying on non-bank professional service providers, including those operating in the United States, to move, hide, and grow their ill-gotten gains.

(2) In 2003, the Financial Action Task Force (referred to in this subsection as the ''FATF''), an intergovernmental body formed by the United States and other major industrial nations, determined that designated non-financial businesses and professions should be subject to the same anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing rules and regulations as financial institutions, including the requirement to know your customer or client and to perform due diligence, as well as to file suspicious transaction reports, referred to as suspicious activity reports or ''SARs'' in the United States.

(3) In 2016, an FATF evaluation of the United States rated the United States as noncompliant with 4 of the 40 recommendations of the FATF regarding combating money laundering and the financing of terrorism and proliferation. Of the 4 noncompliant ratings described in the preceding sentence, 3 of those ratings pertained to designated non-financial businesses and professions, including lawyers, accountants, and trust and company service providers, and the fourth such rating pertained to transparency and the beneficial ownership of legal entities. The United States also received the lowest mark from the FATF for the effectiveness of the United States in combating the misuse of legal entities. The FATF evaluation listed, as a priority action, applying appropriate anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism obligations ''to lawyers, accountants, trust and company service providers (other than trust companies which are already covered)'' to improve the anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing regime in the United States.

(4) In line with the procedures of the FATF, members of the FATF are expected to address deficiencies in the regimes of those members not later than 3 years after adopting their mutual evaluation. In March 2020, the FATF published the ''3rd Enhanced Follow-up Report & Technical Compliance Re-Rating'' with respect to the United States, which continued to score the United States noncompliant with respect to the 4 recommendations described in paragraph (3).

(5) On January 1, 2021, the United States took steps to address the non-compliant rating of the United States with respect to the beneficial ownership of legal entities through the enactment of the Corporate Transparency Act (title LXIV of Public Law 116–283), but, as of the date of enactment of this Act, Congress has yet to address the non-compliant rating of the United States with respect to designated non-financial businesses and professions.

(6) In October 2021, the ''Pandora Papers'', the largest exposé of global financial data in history, revealed to a global audience how the United States plays host to a highly specialized group of ''enablers'' that help the world's elite move, hide, and grow their money.

(7) The Pandora Papers described how an adviser to the former Prime Minister of Malaysia reportedly used affiliates of a United States law firm to assemble and consult a network of companies, despite the adviser fitting the ''textbook definition'' of a high-risk client. The adviser went on to use his companies to help steal $4,500,000,000 from Malaysia's public investment fund in one of ''the world's biggest-ever financial frauds'', known as 1MDB.

(8) Russian oligarchs have used gatekeepers to move their money into the United States. For example, a gatekeeper formed a company in Delaware that reportedly owns a $15,000,000 mansion in Washington, D.C., that is linked to one of Vladimir Putin's closest allies. Also reportedly connected to the oligarch is a $14,000,000 townhouse in New York City owned by a separate Delaware company.

(9) On May 8, 2022, the Office of Foreign Assets Control of the Department of the Treasury (referred to in this subsection as ''OFAC''), pursuant to Executive Order 14071 (87 Fed. Reg. 20999; relating to prohibiting new investment in and certain services to the Russian Federation in response to continued Russian Federation aggression), prohibited ''the exportation, reexportation, sale, or supply, directly or indirectly, from the United States, or by a United States person, wherever located, of accounting, trust and corporate formation, or management consulting services to any person located in the Russian Federation.''.

(10) On June 30, 2022, OFAC blocked a trust holding more than $1,000,000,000 linked to designated Russian oligarch Suleiman Kerimov. These efforts revealed that Kerimov used a complex series of legal structures and front persons to obscure his interest in Heritage Trust, the funds of which first entered the financial system of the United States through 2 foreign, Kerimov-controlled entities before the imposition of sanctions against him. The funds were subsequently invested in large public and private companies in the United States and managed by a series of investment firms and facilitators in the United States.

(11) The Pandora Papers uncovered more than 200 United States-based trusts across 15 States that held assets of more than $1,000,000,000, ''including nearly 30 trusts that held assets linked to people or companies accused of fraud, bribery, or human rights abuses''. In particular, South Dakota, Nevada, Delaware, Florida, Wyoming, and New Hampshire have emerged as global hotspots for those seeking to hide their assets and minimize their tax burdens.

(12) In 2016, an investigator with the nonprofit organization Global Witness posed as an adviser to a corrupt African official and set up meetings with 13 New York City law firms to discuss how to move suspect funds into the United States. Lawyers from all but 1 of the firms provided advice to the faux adviser, including advice on how to utilize anonymous companies to obscure the true owner of the assets. Other suggestions included naming the lawyer as a trustee of an offshore trust in order to open a bank account and using the law firm's escrow account to receive payments.

(13) The autocratic Prime Minister of Iraqi Kurdistan, reportedly known for torturing and killing journalists and critics, allegedly purchased a retail store valued at more than $18,000,000 in Miami, Florida, with the assistance of a Pennsylvania-based law firm.

(14) Teodoro Obiang, the Vice President of Equatorial Guinea and son of the country's authoritarian President, embezzled millions of dollars from his home country, which was then used to purchase luxury assets in the United States. Obiang relied on the assistance of 2 lawyers in the United States to move millions of dollars of suspect funds through United States banks. The lawyers incorporated 5 shell companies in California and opened bank accounts associated with the companies for Obiang's personal use. The suspect funds were first wired to the lawyers' attorney-client and firm accounts, then transferred to the accounts of the shell companies.

(15) A consulting company in the United States reportedly made millions of dollars working for companies owned or partly owned by Isabel dos Santos, the eldest child of a former President of Angola. This included working with Angola's state oil company when it was run by Isabel dos Santos and helping to ''run a failing jewelry business acquired with Angolan money''. In 2021, a Dutch tribunal found that Isabel dos Santos and her husband obtained a $500,000,000 stake in the oil company through ''grand corruption''.

(16) In December 2021, the United States Government issued a first-ever ''United States Strategy on Countering Corruption'', which includes ''Curbing Illicit Finance'' as a strategic pillar. An express line of effort to advance this strategic pillar states that: ''Deficiencies in the U.S. regulatory framework mean various professionals and service providers—including lawyers, accountants, trust and company service providers, incorporators, and others willing to be hired as registered agents or who act as nominees to open and move funds through bank accounts—are not required to understand the nature or source of income of their clients or prospective clients. . .While U.S. law enforcement has increased its focus on such facilitators, it is both difficult to prove 'intent and knowledge' that a facilitator was dealing with illicit funds or bad actors, or that they should have known the same. Cognizant of such constraints, the Administration will consider additional authorities to cover key gatekeepers, working with the Congress as necessary to secure additional authorities''.

(17) This section, and the amendments made by this section, provide the authorities needed to require that professional service providers that serve as key gatekeepers to the financial system of the United States adopt anti-money laundering procedures that can help detect and prevent the laundering of corrupt and other criminal funds into the United States. Absent such authorities, the United States Government will be unable to adequately protect the financial system of the United States, identify funds and assets that are the proceeds of corruption and other crimes, support foreign states in their efforts to combat corruption and promote good governance, or maintain the role of the United States as a leader in international bodies that are committed to combating money laundering and corruption.

Subtitle G—Additional Measures in Response to Invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation

SEC. 1280. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the ''Russian Elites, Proxies, and Oligarchs Act of 2022'' or the ''REPO Act of 2022''.

PART I—CONFISCATION AND REPURPOSING OF RUSSIAN ASSETS

SEC. 1281. FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) On February 24, 2022, the Government of the Russian Federation violated the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine by again engaging in a premeditated and illegal invasion of Ukraine.

(2) The international community has condemned the illegal invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation, as well as the commission of war crimes by the Russian Federation, including through the deliberate targeting of civilians and civilian infrastructure and the commission of sexual violence.

(3) The leaders of the Group of Seven (G7) have called the Russian Federation's ''unprovoked and completely unjustified attack on the democratic state of Ukraine'' a ''serious violation of international law and a grave breach of the United Nations Charter and all commitments Russia entered in the Helsinki Final Act and the Charter of Paris and its commitments in the Budapest Memorandum''.

(4) The United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution, by a vote of 141 to 5, that demanded that the Russian Federation ''immediately cease its use of force against Ukraine and immediately, completely, and unconditionally withdraw all of its military forces from the territory of Ukraine within its internationally recognized borders''.

(5) On March 16, 2022, the International Court of Justice issued provisional measures ordering the Russian Federation to ''immediately suspend the military operations that it commenced on 24 February 2022 in the territory of Ukraine''.

(6) Under international law, a country that is responsible for an internationally wrongful act is under an obligation to make restitution by reestablishing the situation that existed before the wrongful act was committed. The Russian Federation bears such responsibility to provide restitution to Ukraine.

(7) As of April 21, 2022, the World Bank estimated that the invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation had led to at least $60,000,000,000 in damage to the physical infrastructure of Ukraine.

(8) According the President of Ukraine, Volodymyr Zelenskyy, as of May 3, 2022, it could cost an estimated $600,000,000,000 to rebuild Ukraine as a result of the illegal invasion by the Russian Federation.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the extreme illegal actions taken by the Russian Federation present a unique situation, justifying the establishment of a legal authority. In this case, that authority is the authority of the United States Government or other countries to confiscate sovereign assets of the Russian Federation for the purpose of assisting Ukraine.

SEC. 1282. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING IMPORTANCE OF THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION PROVIDING DUE REPARATIONS TO UKRAINE.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the Russian Federation bears responsibility for the financial burden of the reconstruction of Ukraine and for countless other costs associated with the illegal invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation that began on February 24, 2022;

(2) the full cost of the Russian Federation's unlawful war against Ukraine and the amount of money the Russian Federation must pay Ukraine should be assessed by a bona fide independent, international arbitral body or claims commission;

(3) the Russian Federation should participate in any international process to assess the full cost of the Russian Federation's unlawful war on Ukraine, and if it fails to do so, the United States should explore other avenues for providing reparations to Ukraine, including confiscation and repurposing of frozen assets;

(4) the Secretary of State should lead robust engagement on all bilateral and multilateral aspects of the United States response to the efforts of the Russian Federation to undermine the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine, including on any policy coordination and alignment regarding the disposition of sovereign assets of the Russian Federation in the context of restitution;

(5) the confiscation and repurposing of sovereign assets of the Russian Federation by the United States is in the vital national security interests of the United States and consistent with United States and international law; and

(6) the United States should work with international allies and partners on the confiscation and repurposing of sovereign assets of the Russian Federation as part of a coordinated, multilateral effort, including with G7 countries and other countries in which assets of the Central Bank of the Russian Federation are located.

''(4) FACTORS.—In determining whether to grant or continue providing the waiver under this subsection to nationals of any country, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of State, shall consider all factors that the Secretary of Homeland Security deems relevant, including electronic travel authorizations, procedures for reporting lost and stolen passports, repatriation of aliens, rates of refusal for nonimmigrant visitor visas, overstays, exit systems, and information exchange.

TITLE _____—JUDICIAL SECURITY AND PRIVACY

SEC. ___01. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the ''Daniel Anderl Judicial Security and Privacy Act of 2021''.

SEC. ___02. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Members of the Federal judiciary perform the important function of interpreting the Constitution of the United States and administering justice in a fair and impartial manner.

(2) In recent years, partially as a result of the rise in the use of social media and online access to information, members of the Federal judiciary have been exposed to an increased number of personal threats in connection to their role. The ease of access to free or inexpensive sources of covered information has considerably lowered the effort required for malicious actors to discover where individuals live and where they spend leisure hours and to find information about their family members. Such threats have included calling a judge a traitor with references to mass shootings and serial killings, a murder attempt on a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, calling for an ''angry mob'' to gather outside a home of a judge and, in reference to a judge on the court of appeals of the United States, stating how easy it would be to ''get them''.

(3) Between 2015 and 2019, threats and other inappropriate communications against Federal judges and other judiciary personnel increased from 926 in 2015 to approximately 4,449 in 2019.

(4) Over the past decade, several members of the Federal judiciary have experienced acts of violence against themselves or a family member in connection to their Federal judiciary role, including the murder in 2005 of the family of Joan Lefkow, a judge for the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

(5) On Sunday July 19, 2020, an assailant went to the home of Esther Salas, a judge for the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey, impersonating a package delivery driver, opening fire upon arrival, and killing Daniel Anderl, the 20-year-old only son of Judge Salas, and seriously wounding Mark Anderl, her husband.

(6) In the aftermath of the recent tragedy that occurred to Judge Salas and in response to the continuous rise of threats against members of the Federal judiciary, there is an immediate need for enhanced security procedures and increased availability of tools to protect Federal judges and their families.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this title is to improve the safety and security of Federal judges, including senior, recalled, or retired Federal judges, and their immediate family members to ensure Federal judges are able to administer justice fairly without fear of personal reprisal from individuals affected by the decisions they make in the course of carrying out their public duties.

SEC. 1214. SUSPENSION OF UNITED STATES' CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION UNTIL TAIWAN IS GRANTED OBSERVER STATUS AT THE WORLD HEALTH ASSEMBLY.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Congress has repeatedly supported Taiwan's participation in the World Health Assembly, as evidenced by Public Law 106–137, Public Law 107–10, Public Law 108–235, and the recent enactment of Public Law 117–124.

(2) In advance of the 75th World Health Assembly, Secretary of State Antony J Blinken stated: ''Taiwan and its distinct capabilities and approaches——including its significant public health expertise, democratic governance, resilience to COVID–19, and robust economy—offer considerable value to inform the [World Health Assembly's] deliberations. There is no reasonable justification to exclude its participation, which will benefit the world. As we continue to fight COVID–19 and other emerging health threats, Taiwan's isolation from the preeminent global health forum is unwarranted and undermines inclusive global public health cooperation.''.

(c) PROHIBITION.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no funds appropriated or otherwise made available to any Federal agency may be obligated or expended to provide assessed or voluntary contributions to the World Health Organization until the President certifies to Congress that Taiwan has been granted observer status at the World Health Assembly.

TITLE LIII—REGIONAL OCEAN PARTNERSHIPS

SEC. 5301. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the ''Regional Ocean Partnership Act''.

SEC. 5302. FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS; PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The ocean and coastal waters and the Great Lakes of the United States are foundational to the economy, security, global competitiveness, and well-being of the United States and continuously serve the people of the United States and other countries as an important source of food, energy, economic productivity, recreation, beauty, and enjoyment.

(2) Over many years, the resource productivity and water quality of the ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes areas of the United States have been diminished by pollution, increasing population demands, economic development, and natural and man-made hazard events, both acute and chronic.

(3) The ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes areas of the United States are managed by State and Federal resource agencies and Indian Tribes and regulated on an interstate and regional scale by various overlapping Federal authorities, thereby creating a significant need for interstate coordination to enhance regional priorities, including the ecological and economic health of those areas.

(4) Indian Tribes have unique expertise and knowledge important for the stewardship of the ocean and coastal waters and the Great Lakes of the United States.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States should seek to support interstate coordination of shared regional priorities relating to the management, conservation, resilience, and restoration of ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes areas to maximize efficiencies through collaborative regional efforts by Regional Ocean Partnerships, in coordination with Federal and State agencies, Indian Tribes, and local authorities;

(2) such efforts would enhance existing and effective ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes management efforts of States and Indian Tribes based on shared regional priorities; and

(3) Regional Ocean Partnerships should coordinate with Indian Tribes.

(c) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this title are as follows:

(1) To complement and expand cooperative voluntary efforts intended to manage, conserve, and restore ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes areas spanning across multiple State and Indian Tribe jurisdictions.

(2) To expand Federal support for monitoring, data management, restoration, research, and conservation activities in ocean, coastal, and Great Lakes areas.

(3) To commit the United States to a comprehensive cooperative program to achieve improved water quality in, and improvements in the productivity of living resources of, oceans, coastal, and Great Lakes ecosystems.

(4) To authorize Regional Ocean Partnerships as intergovernmental coordinators for shared regional priorities among States and Indian Tribes relating to the collaborative management of the large marine ecosystems, thereby reducing duplication of efforts and maximizing opportunities to leverage support in the ocean and coastal regions.

(5) To empower States to take a lead role in managing oceans, coastal, and Great Lakes areas.

(6) To incorporate rights of Indian Tribes in the management of oceans, coasts, and Great Lakes resources and provide resources to support Indian Tribe participation in and engagement with Regional Ocean Partnerships.

(7) To enable Regional Ocean Partnerships, or designated fiscal management entities of such partnerships, to receive Federal funding to conduct the scientific research, conservation and restoration activities, and priority coordination on shared regional priorities necessary to achieve the purposes described in paragraphs (1) through (6).
