The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will notify the Senate of the change in conferees.

RECOGNIZING DAL CANNADY

(Mr. CARTER of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Dal Cannady as he steps away from the WTOC news network for a new role as communications director for Bulloch County.

Mr. Cannady worked 27 years at WTOC, providing fair and accurate coverage as WTOC's bureau chief. During his time at WTOC, he covered very important stories, such as Fort Stewart/Hinesville helping fight the war on terror, the tomato patch murder in Long County, the Santa Claus mini-mart murder in Toombs County, and many other stories.

His work at WTOC was defined by compassion, intelligence, and kindness.

WTOC labeled him as the person who knew things before everyone else, the person who knows who to call, and the person who knew how to ask tough questions respectfully.

I know WTOC and their viewers will miss Dal's expertise, but we are thrilled to see him move on to a new role in the Bulloch community.

IMPENDING GOVERNMENT SHUTDOWN

(Mr. PAYNE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss the impending government shutdown.

Since 1980, there have been at least 14 times when the government was shut down. All of them were initiated by the Republicans. The last major one in 2018 cost our country $3 billion in lost economic activity.

Now, Speaker MCCARTHY has the country on a collision course with another one. Even the Senate Republicans have a bipartisan bill to help prevent a shutdown, but Speaker MCCARTHY will not even consider it.

This shutdown will stop paychecks for millions of Americans. It will stop law enforcement from preventing fentanyl from entering our communities, and it will make our borders weaker.

I do not know what the Republicans think that they will win with a government shutdown, but I do know that it is American people who will lose, and voters will remember this action in the future.

ENERGY IS CRITICAL TO ECONOMY

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, America's energy is critical toward our economy, toward people of all income levels. Energy is the cornerstone of either a strong economy or a hyperinflation one like we are seeing now. Either government spending or the cost of energy or both are the reasons why we are where we are these days.

Important things we could be doing are building more nuclear power plants and offering more hydroelectric power as well as natural gas, which we have so abundantly in this country.

Now, there are a lot of people worried about CO₂, which is only 0.04 percent of our atmosphere, but let's play along for a moment: nuclear energy, zero CO₂; hydroelectric power, zero CO₂.

What do we have happening? They are trying to, and successfully in my district, get rid of hydroelectric dams that are already built and make low-cost, 24/7 power.

They are after nuclear power plants until recently. California just got a 5-year extension on its nuclear power plant. Otherwise, it was slated to close in 2024 and 2025 its two reactors.

We can't afford to lose energy that is 24/7 available power for our economy, for our sustenance. We need to build more.

STOLEN CHILDREN OF UKRAINE

(Ms. JACKSON LEE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, in my meeting last week with the President of Ukraine, we spoke about the devastation of stolen children from Ukraine by the Russian fighters, children now that have been taken, reprogrammed, and not returned to their families.

Today, we voted to continue to support Ukraine in its democratic fight for freedom and democracy against the tyranny of Russia.

I now stand here today introducing the Oleksandr Ivanov Act. This bill, on which I am joined by Representative JOE WILSON and other Members, is a bill to address the stolen children of Ukraine that have been taken to Russia. This act is dedicated to Oleksandr, a young boy who was shot dead in the car with his grandmother.

This unjust and brutal war has put millions of Ukrainian women and children at risk of trafficking. Millions of children have been deprived of their education and are experiencing trauma.

More than 6,000 children are in custody in Russia, and there are at least 43 camps and facilities where the Russian Government has interned Ukrainian children.

This legislation will provide sanctions against Russia and demand that the children of Ukraine be returned to Ukraine.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to announce the introduction of my bill, the Oleksandr Ivanov Act.

On February 26, 2022, Lilia Vasylyvna Kolesnyk was driving from Kyiv, Ukraine to the suburb of Bucha with her grandson, Oleksandr Ivanov when Russian forces opened fire on their car, killing Oleksandr.

Although wounded herself, Ms. Kolesnyk was able to drive to a medical clinic, where her grandson was formally declared dead.

This act is dedicated to Oleksandr Ivanov, his family, and all the children and families of Ukraine who are suffering serious injury and trauma due to Russia's unjustified, brutal, and genocidal war on Ukraine.

On February 24, 2022, Russia, under the leadership of Vladimir Putin, launched a premeditated war against Ukraine in an attack on democracy and a grave violation of international law, global peace, and security.

According to the United Nations Refugee Agency, as of July 2023, there are a recorded 5.1 million internally displaced people in Ukraine, 6.2 million refugees from Ukraine globally, and 17.6 million Ukrainian people in need of humanitarian assistance.

The unjust and brutal war has put millions of Ukrainian women and children at risk of trafficking, millions of children have been deprived of their education and are experiencing trauma, and according to a report by Yale University, more than 6,000 children are in Russians custody.

According to a report by Yale University Humanitarian Research Lab (Yale HRL), at least 6,000 children from Ukraine ages four months to 17 years have been held at camps and other facilities within Russia-occupied Crimea and mainland Russia since Russia's full-scale invasion began.

There are at least 43 camps and facilities where the Russian government has interned Ukrainian children.

Among the camps identified by Yale HRL, at least 32 (78 percent) of the camps seem to be engaged in organized re-education initiatives that subject Ukrainian children to Russia-focused educational, cultural, patriotic, and/or military teachings.

And numerous Ukrainian children have been placed into Russian foster families.

These Ukrainian children have had their names and birthdates changed when adopted, making them difficult to trace.

Russian propaganda cynically portrays its adoption of Ukrainian children as an act of generosity that gives new homes to helpless orphans.

Russian state media shows local officials hugging and kissing newly arrived Ukrainian children and handing them Russian passports.

These children are not happy, they are being ripped away from their families and their homes.

Forcibly transferring children of one group to another group is a violation of Article II(e) of the Convention on the Prevention and Punishment of the Crime of Genocide 1948 and the Geneva Convention IV, including articles 24, 25, 50, 78 and 82.

The International Criminal Court has indicted Russian President Vladimir Putin and Russian Commissioner for Children's Rights

Maria Lvova-Belova for the war crime of unlawful deportation of population (children) and that of unlawful transfer of population (children) from occupied areas of Ukraine to the Russian Federation under articles 8(2)(a)(vii) and 8(2)(b)(viii) of the Rome Statute.

As reported by the Ukrainian Ministry of Education, over 400 schools have been destroyed and an additional 2,600 schools are damaged across Ukraine.

The war has also caused Ukrainian women and children to become more vulnerable to being trafficked.

The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees reports that 90 percent of the 5.8 million refugees who have fled Ukraine for Europe are women and children.

Reports have stated that traffickers patrol border entry points, train stations, and refugee centers with the purpose of attracting, exploiting, and targeting refugees.

Specifically, traffickers lure in refugees with promises of accommodation, transportation, and employment, sometimes disguising themselves as volunteers providing humanitarian assistance.

To hold accountable those who have committed these atrocities and have put the lives of thousands of Ukrainian women and children at risk, my bill:

Supports programs specifically for trauma treatment and healing, rehabilitation and where necessary prostheses, for Ukrainian children affected by the war including nationwide educational programs of psychological support to address trauma and stress for all of Ukraine's children, integrated into school curriculum and offered through clinical and social services;

Supports programs to rebuild the education system in Ukraine and education for Ukrainian child refugees, in cooperation with other countries, international organizations, and civil society;

Supports the development of a unified and consolidated searchable registry of missing Ukrainian children in order to facilitate identification of children and family reunification. The registry should ensure strict data protection and availability in the Ukrainian, Russian, and English languages. In addition, the public should be made aware of its existence and use;

Supports the creation of a unified central emergency call center hub linked to law enforcement in Ukraine and in other countries to enable reporting on and interventions on behalf of missing children originally from Ukraine and suspected cases of human trafficking and sexual exploitation, including online, of children originally from Ukraine.

Supports the creation of an international mechanism to facilitate vetting of volunteers and other non-governmental front-line responders working with refugees or with victims of other major crises or natural disasters by government authorities or law enforcement. Such an international vetting system could include internationally recognized certifications verifying individuals who have been recently cleared to work with refugees;

Supports efforts to only allow appropriately vetted and credentialed individuals (such as described in the above section) access to refugees;

Continues to support efforts by the Ukrainian government to increase collaboration with their European counterparts on anti-trafficking
