for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HARIDOPOLOS. Mr. Speaker, on May 10, 2025, the Fourteenth Annual Footsteps in the Sand Kidney Walk took place in Cocoa Beach.

This event this year raised $22,000 for kidney patients in need.

Today, I rise to honor the memory of those individuals whose lives were tragically cut short and to recognize the courage of their family members who gave the gift of life on their behalf: Chase Agudelo, Seth Anthony Beyrooti, Michael Robert Brown, Shawn Carpenter, Jose Collins, Linda Marie Couch, Giovanni Cruz, Brooke Dawkins, Andrew Dorsey, Blake Eden, "CJ" Jordan-Michael Grey, Melissa Houser, Kory Humphrey, Jacob Monroe, Tribhawan Anand Persaud, Dylan Rowe, Decobe Esters, Deja Thompson, Donald Walker, Nathan Walker, and Geoffrey Wasden.

Mr. Speaker, I thank them for their sacrifice.

HONORING LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS IN CALIFORNIA'S 25th DISTRICT

(Mr. RUIZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. RUIZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today during National Police Week to honor the bravery, sacrifice, and service of law enforcement officers across California's 25th District and our Nation.

I thank every officer in my district, from city departments to county and Federal agencies, for putting their lives on the line to keep our communities safe.

On May 2, the 17th Annual Imperial Valley Law Enforcement Memorial Ceremony brought our community together in El Centro to remember the 49 officers who made the ultimate sacrifice in their service to the Imperial Valley.

This week, the Riverside County Sheriff's Office held its own memorial, recommitting to their mission to protect and serve. This is a sad reminder that each day police and first responders make the ultimate sacrifice for their communities.

That is why Congress needs to do more to support officers and their surviving families. We must pass my legislation, the Heroes Lesley Zerebny and Gilbert Vega First Responders Survivors Support Act, which increases and improves access to financial and educational benefits for the families of the fallen or disabled officers.

Let's honor our officers not just with words but with meaningful actions that support their well-being and their family's well-being and safety.

CONGRESSIONAL STOCK TRADING BAN

(Mr. NUNN of Iowa asked and was given permission to address the House his remarks.)

Mr. NUNN of Iowa. Mr. Speaker, in 2023, dozens of Members of Congress beat the S&P 500, while only 40 percent of Wall Street pros were able to pull that off. I think that has got Americans asking: What does Congress have, a secret strategy?

The sad part is, they did. It is called insider trading.

Members of this body are so good at investing that apps like the Pelosi Tracker exist as a stock tip machine. It has given investors a 45 percent return in the last year alone simply by copying the former Speaker's stock trades.

Now, this isn't a partisan issue. Republicans and Democrats together have made over $200 million in the market last year, while Americans got hammered by inflation and rising interest rates.

Mr. Speaker, I am a farm kid from Iowa. When I came to Washington, I didn't have many stocks to sell, but I sold them all because it is the right thing to do. It is ridiculous that anyone would commit insider trading while being here.

President Trump agrees and Speaker Johnson agrees that now is the time to pass my bill, the No Corruption in Government Act to finally ban Members of Congress from stock trading, stop government pay raises, and extend the lobbying ban.

Mr. Speaker, let's pass this bill and get it to the President's desk. Let's give the American people back their faith in democracy.

EDESIA NUTRITION

(Mr. MAGAZINER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MAGAZINER. Mr. Speaker, I rise for the 10th time to call on the Trump administration to restore funding for lifesaving food aid for malnourished children across the globe.

Mr. Speaker, $50 is all it takes to save the life of a child. Edesia Nutrition in Rhode Island makes a lifesaving paste called Plumpy'Nut that for just 30 cents a packet over 8 weeks can save the life of a child suffering from malnutrition. That is $50, 30 cents a packet, one packet a day. $50 over 8 weeks and you can save a life.

This product was shipped to millions of children around the world before the Trump administration cut off funding.

Now, Secretary Rubio and Elon Musk have both said that this funding will be restored, but they have yet to actually do it.

Once again, I am calling, along with many of my colleagues, for this funding to be restored. The administration needs to live up to its word. The lives of children depend on it.

for 1 minute and to revise and extend ELIMINATING FRAUD, WASTE, AND ABUSE IN MEDICAID

> (Mr. HARRIS of Maryland asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

> Mr. HARRIS of Maryland. Mr. Speaker, this week, the Energy and Commerce Committee finally attacked fraud, waste, and abuse in the Medicaid system.

> I think every American knows that when government runs a program, there is fraud, waste, and abuse, and that is exactly what the Committee dealt with.

> For instance, 1 million people have committed fraud against the Medicaid system by being enrolled in two States. My colleagues across the aisle think it is a bad idea to eliminate that fraud. waste, and abuse because they all voted against it.

> This chart shows what actually happens when you eliminate fraud, waste, and abuse, and the Republicans increase spending in Medicaid by 25 percent over the next 10 years for the people who really need it: the pregnant women, the children, the disabled, the blind, the elderly, and we did it eliminating fraud, waste, and abuse.

HONORING LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS IN NORTHWEST OHIO

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today during National Police Week to honor the courage, sacrifice, and unwavering service of our law enforcement officers.

In communities I represent across northwest Ohio, I have stood beside the families of heroes like Officer Anthony Dia and Officer Brandon Stalker who gave their lives protecting Toledo's citizenry.

I have witnessed the strength of mothers like Larraine Dressel, who lost her son, Detective Keith Dressel, in the line of duty. Now, I have seen that same strength in his son, Noah, who wears the badge in his father's honor.

Mr. Speaker, it is time to honor these heroes not just in words but in deed. I have recently introduced a bipartisan Law Enforcement Training for Mental Health Crisis Response Act. It will give our officers the tools they need to safely respond to behavioral health crises. Our officers are not just enforcers of the law, they are often the first to meet people in their most broken state.

They deserve training that protects both the public and themselves. Our responsibility is to ensure that no officer's sacrifice is forgotten. Let us stand together always for those who serve and for those who, in blue, gave the ultimate sacrifice to protect our northwest Ohio communities. Salute them when you see them. They are heroes.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today during National Police Week to honor the courage, sacrifice, and steadfast commitment of our law enforcement officers. Those across the nation and especially those serving across NW Ohio.

Each day, these brave men and women answer the call, often putting their lives on the line to protect our families, neighborhoods, and freedoms.

We owe them more than thanks.

That's why I've worked hard to bring meaningful support to those who wear the badge in every county of the eight I represent. In Defiance County, nearly $290,000 in funding helped hire a new school resource officer, equip the police with body-worn cameras, and strengthen the local 911 center and fire and rescue divisions.

In Erie County, over $1.3 Million was directed to sheriff's operations, victim services, local police departments, and enhanced school security across multiple districts.

Fulton County departments, from Archbold to Wauseon, received over $1.3 Million to fund school safety, body-worn cameras, and fire and EMS support.

Lucas County's first responders benefited from major investments like $2 Million for Toledo's Community-Based Violence Intervention grant, and over $76 Million in ARPA funding for police and fire recruitment, ShotSpotter technology, and the Real-Time Crime Center. From Oregon's rebuilt K-9 unit to Sylvania Township's upgraded equipment and Toledo's forensic crime lab, these resources are making a real difference on the ground.

In Ottawa County where we had previously funded construction of the largest Customs and Border Patrol facility on the entire northern border, police departments received hundreds of thousands in funding for police, fire, EMS, and school safety upgrades. And the Ottawa County Court and Prosecutor's Office also secured over $450,000 in federal justice grants to enhance public safety and reduce recidivism.

In Sandusky County, law enforcement agencies in Fremont, Gibsonburg, and Woodville received body-worn cameras and equipment. Sandusky County EMS and school districts received critical safety upgrades as well.

Williams County's departments secured nearly $400,000 for retention incentives, body cameras, and juvenile court services to improve both public safety and the administration of justice.

Northern Wood County also benefited as school districts from Rossford to Eastwood and North Baltimore gained enhanced security infrastructure. These improvements keep both students and officers safe.

These investments reflect a simple truth: If we ask law enforcement to meet the evolving demands of public safety, we must give them the tools, training, and support to succeed.

Let us remember those we've lost in the line of duty and recommit to building a future where every officer returns home.

Your courage does not go unnoticed. Your service is deeply appreciated. May you be blessed in your patriotic service.

RECOGNIZING THE LIFE AND SERVICE OF DEPUTY SHERIFF BRADLEY J. RECKLING

(Mrs. McCLAIN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. McCLAIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with a heavy heart to recognize the life and service of Deputy Sheriff Bradley J. Reckling.

Deputy Reckling served faithfully for 9 years with the Oakland County Sheriff's Office. He was from Michigan's Ninth District.

Sadly, Deputy Reckling was killed in the line of duty on June 22, 2024. He was only 29 years old. When he was killed, he was a proud husband and father to three beautiful daughters, with a fourth one on the way.

As we mark National Police Week, we pause to honor the courage of those who wear the badge, the ones who run toward danger, and far too often those who pay the ultimate sacrifice like Deputy Reckling.

Every day, brave men and women put on their uniform and go to work and they know they may not come home. We owe these people a lot more than just a thank you. We owe them respect, admiration, and our unwavering supnort.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to do the same and to honor the life of Deputy Sheriff Brad Reckling. May we always appreciate the men and women in blue.

THANKING OUR LAW ENFORCE-MENT OFFICERS AND THEIR FAMILIES

(Mr. SORENSEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SORENSEN. Mr. Speaker, this is National Police Week when we honor the brave men and women who serve and protect us every day, but it is also a good reminder that they deserve our thanks every day. We also need to thank the spouses and the children of our law enforcement who deal with the risk of their loved ones who may not come home.

Finally, we remember the family members who made the ultimate sacrifice for our safety. Serving in the people's House means we support law enforcement. I am proud to have secured funding for police training and safety.

From Rockford to the Quad Cities, Peoria to Bloomington-Normal, our officers go above and beyond every day to keep us safe, many days without the support that they need to deal with the stress.

That is why I am so proud of the Invest to Protect Act, my bipartisan legislation that gives small and midsized police departments the funding that they need for training, recruitment, and mental health resources.

Mr. Speaker, happy National Police Week. My hope is that everyone wearing a badge right now stays protected, safe, and feels their Nation's thanks.

CONGRATULATIONS TO RORY McILROY

(Mr. ALLEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise to offer my sincerest congratulations to the 2025 Masters champion, Rory McIlroy.

Since 1934, amidst blooming azaleas, towering pines, and flowering dogwoods, the first full week of April brings the world's greatest golfers to my hometown of Augusta, Georgia, to experience sport's most unique and rewarding challenge: the Masters golf tournament, the first major of the year.

As golf fans know, the iconic green jacket never comes easily, but for Rory McIlroy, his years-long quest for glory at Augusta was far more than just a victory. In clinching the green jacket, Rory snapped an 11-year major championship drought and completed the long-awaited career grand slam, joining just five other prestigious players in doing so. Augusta made history as one of the greatest moments in golf.

Mr. Speaker, Rory made a comment at the trophy presentation that I think exemplifies this country. He said to his daughter, Poppy, "Never give up on your dreams. Keep coming back, keep working hard. If you put your mind to it, you can do anything." What an example to the next generation of athletes, leaders, and to the American people.

Congratulations, Rory. It is championship week again in the world of golf, and we are pulling for him to achieve the season's grand slam now.

I STAND WITH THE DISABILITY COMMUNITY

(Mr. AMO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. AMO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today on behalf of my constituent Pranoy, a remarkable young adult and lifelong learner from Barrington, Rhode Island.

Pranoy is driven by his dream of attending college, but that dream is at great risk. It can only be realized if he receives support. Pranoy lives with Down syndrome and uses an adaptive communication device with specialized software to communicate, paid for by Medicaid.

Yet, Republicans are trying to ram through their disastrous budget poised to gut Medicaid and threaten healthcare for one in four Rhode Islanders.

I recently met with Pranoy. He said simply: "I am only getting started." That sentence sums it up. It is what keeps his family and myself up at night. These Republican Medicaid cuts would hinder Pranoy's potential.

I am standing here today because I stand with Pranoy. I stand with the
