Green (TN) Suozzi

□ 0045

So the bill was passed.
The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.
A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AUTHORIZING THE CLERK TO MAKE CORRECTIONS IN ENGROSSMENT OF H.R. 4016, DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2026

Mr. CALVERT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that, in the engrossment of H.R. 4016, the Clerk will be authorized to correct section numbers, punctuation, cross-references, and to make such other technical and conforming changes as may be necessary to reflect the actions of the House in amending the bill, and that the second instruction in amendment No. 40 printed in House Report 119-199 be changed from page 39, line 19 to page 40, line 19.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

MOMENT OF SILENCE FOR CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM CLAY

(Mr. BELL asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, today our country lost a true trailblazer. Congressman William Clay passed away after a lifetime of service that reshaped St. Louis and our Nation.

Already a civil rights icon before he was elected, he didn't come to Washington to play politics. He came to fight for working people, Black families, union members, and those too often left out and unheard. He carried their voices into this Chamber and made sure they echoed.

Bill Clay was a founding member of the Congressional Black Caucus. I and so many others would not be here without the doors he opened and the example he set.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. CLEAVER).

Mr. CLEAVER. Mr. Speaker, as I sat on the bed this morning, trying to get up, I received a phone call to tell me that Congressman Bill Clay had just passed. I sat there for a few minutes, feeling sad.

Then it occurred to me that death is not the greatest loss in life. The greatest loss in life is to die with a life not lived and still inside a man.

Bill Clay did not die with hope for his country inside him. He did not die with his brilliant writing inside him. He did not die with creativity. Bill Clay did not die without working every day he walked into this place for the people of St. Louis.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I hold his son, my friend and predecessor, Lacy Clay; the entire Clay family; and the St. Louis community in my prayers.

Mr. Speaker, on behalf of myself, the entire CBC, which he helped found, and the Missouri delegation, I ask for a moment of silence in memory of the Honorable William Lacy Clay, Sr.

RECOGNIZING TARQUIN BENNION

(Mr. DOWNING asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DOWNING. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize an extraordinary young Montanan, Tarquin Bennion, who will make his Carnegie Hall debut on July 20.

Tarquin hails from Sidney, Montana, and is one of the 28 violinists from around the country headed to the Big Apple to perform with the National Youth Orchestra of the United States.

Not only will he debut in New York, he will also represent our Nation and our State as he tours internationally in Japan, Hong Kong, China, and South Korea.

Tarquin's journey began at the age of 5 when his mother, who taught herself to play the violin at age 34, inspired him to pursue music. Since then, his passion has taken him to venues like the Montana Senate Chamber where he performed a piece from Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 4 during his time as a page.

Mr. Speaker, Tarquin's remarkable talent and dedication are an inspiration to his peers and to his State. I congratulate him on this incredible accomplishment and wish him the best of luck in his bright future. I know this is just the beginning.

AMERICA FACES A HOUSING CRISIS

(Mr. LICCARDO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. LICCARDO. Mr. Speaker, America faces a housing crisis. One part of the solution to that crisis, though, lies right in our backyards. The solution has many names: granny flats, backyard cottages, or accessory dwelling units, but all expand our affordable housing supply.

When I was mayor of San Jose, we made building backyard apartments easier by enabling thousands of homeowners to be able to get their permits online in a single day. The problem, though, is that many homeowners of modest means could never get a shovel in the ground because they couldn't get financing.

We talked to the banks and the banks said they would lend if homeowners could get FHA insurance, or if Fannie or Freddie would backstop the loans.

Today, along with my Republican colleague ANDREW GABBARINO, I have introduced a bill to do just that. The bipartisan SUPPLY Act will empower homeowners to become home providers.

Mr. Speaker, together we can make affordable housing a reality for thousands more Americans.

ADJOURNMENT FROM FRIDAY, JULY 18, 2025, TO MONDAY, JULY 21, 2025

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at noon on Monday next for morning-hour debate and 2 p.m. for legislative business.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. OBERNOLTE). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Georgia?

There was no objection.

SUSAN MASON: SAVANNAH'S STYLE AND SERVICE ICON

(Mr. CARTER of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Ms. Susan Mason, a resident of Savannah, Georgia, who has dedicated 40 years of her life to bringing elegance, excellence, and warmth to thousands of life's most meaningful celebrations.

When Susan Mason founded her catering company in 1985, she was recently divorced, living rent-free in a friend's home, and inspired by a then-up-and-coming Martha Stewart.

What she lacked in resources, she made up for with resolve, talent, and a sparkling sense of humor. Over the next four decades, Susan Mason Catering became synonymous with silver service, culinary perfection, and timeless Southern style. Whether planning wrap parties for A-list celebrities or elegant weddings for local families, she made sure every detail was flawless.

She is now 85 years young and still very much at the center of the party. With her signature wit and stylish presence, she has become both a cultural fixture and a business force in Savannah.

Mr. Speaker, Susan Mason represents the very best of resilience, charm, and entrepreneurial spirit. It is an honor to recognize her today for 40 years of extraordinary service.

EDESIA PRODUCT STILL IN WAREHOUSE

(Mr. MAGAZINER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MAGAZINER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today for the 30th time to call on the Trump administration to restore life-saving food aid for starving children.

When children are starving, their organs shut down. At a certain point, they are not able to eat traditional food anymore. Ready-to-use therapeutic food is the only chance they have to survive and to get back to health.

Right now in Rhode Island, there are 87,000 boxes of ready-to-use therapeutic foods, already bought and paid for, but sitting in a warehouse because the Trump administration has frozen this aid.

It is time for the administration to honor the will of Congress, to honor its own commitment, and to do the right thing and get this food to the kids around the world who need it. I will keep speaking out every day until they do.

NO MORE MILITARY AID TO ISRAEL

(Mr. GREEN of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GREEN of Texas. Mr. Speaker, tonight, I voted against sending more military aid to Israel. I voted against it because I saw it as I currently see it, as a vote against collective punishment, a vote against ethnic cleansing, and a vote against genocide appearing before my very eyes.

I refuse to have my fingerprints, my imprimatur on the killing of innocent people, including children. I voted "no." I will not become a "yes" because Mr. Netanyahu doesn't want peace. He wants all of Palestine. My imprimatur will not be on it.

SAIF MUSALLET KILLING

(Mr. TAKANO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my shock and outrage over the killing of Saif Musallet, a 20-year-old Palestinian American from Florida who was visiting his family in the West Bank.

He was beaten on his own family's land by settlers. We have grown too used to this kind of violence. We have grown weary of news reports detailing the onslaught of deaths, but we should never accept the killing of innocence, let alone the killing of an innocent American citizen.

In an unusual and forceful statement, Ambassador Huckabee called the killing a "criminal and terrorist act" and urged Israeli authorities to conduct a full investigation and bring those responsible to justice.

I echo the call of the ambassador for an investigation and ask my colleagues to do the same. The United States Congress cannot allow silence to reign and complicity to creep in. Instead, we must demand justice.

DON'T GIVE AWAY CHARITY TOO EASILY

(Mr. GROTHMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GROTHMAN. Mr. Speaker, as we leave the Capitol for the weekend, I want to leave the body here with a little bit of thought. I am going to quote from a book called "The Tragedy of American Compassion," by Marvin Olasky. It is now a 30-year-old book.

It is an interesting book in that it deals with what we have today called welfare. At the time that was all privatized. I am going to quote from the Society for the Prevention of Pauperism of the City of New York on what they felt was the cause of pauperism at the time and what had to be done to end it.

It listed 10 causes of pauperism. People in the 1820s were brighter than the people today. They listed ignorance, idleness, intemperance, which I take to mean drunkenness, want of economy, imprudent and hasty marriages—you don't hear that one anymore, but they
