TRIBUTE TO JORJA WHEMPNER

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I recognize Jorja Whempner, an intern in my Washington, DC, office, for all of the hard work she has done for me, my staff, and the State of South Dakota over the past several weeks.

Jorja is a graduate of Summit High School in Wilmot, SD. Currently, she is attending Northern State University in Aberdeen, SD, where she is pursuing degrees in history and secondary education. She is a hard worker who has been dedicated to getting the most out of her internship experience.

I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to Jorja for all of the fine work she has done and wish her continued success in the years to come.

100TH ANNIVERSARY OF FORT LARAMIE, WYOMING

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I rise today to celebrate the centennial of the town of Fort Laramie, WY.

The town of Fort Laramie has a remarkable history, serving as a gateway to the American West. Located in southeastern Wyoming in Goshen County, Fort Laramie sits at the convergence of the Laramie and North Platte Rivers. This vibrant Western community is home to 215 residents.

The history of the area truly highlights Wyoming's Western heritage. In 1834, William Sublette and Robert Campbell established Fort William, a trading post for fur traders. As the settlement grew in popularity, it expanded and attracted other travelers, including emigrants, missionaries, and homesteaders.

From 1841 to 1890, the area served as an important military outpost. Renamed Fort Laramie by the U.S. Army, the post played a pivotal role during the Westward expansion. The fort served as an integral resource for settlers, traders, and the U.S. military throughout the Western Territories. As an important stop for people traveling to Oregon, Utah, and California, it was the largest and best known military posts on the Northern Plains, earning the nickname the "Grand Old Post."

In 1890, the Army decommissioned the fort and sold the land and buildings to local residents. In its absence, the settled town of Fort Laramie continued to grow. With homesteaders continuing to move into the area and the addition of a railroad extension from Cheyenne, Fort Laramie became a bustling community. It was officially incorporated in 1925.

While the town of Fort Laramie developed independently of the military fort, the community recognized the historical significance of the site and pushed for its preservation. The State of Wyoming bought the land from local residents and donated it back to the Federal Government in 1937.

Today, it is recognized as the Fort Laramie National Historic Site. National Park Service employees and volunteers keep the site open year-round for visitors. Through displays and tours, they document and explain the incredible history of people in the area from the years of early American Indian inhabitants through the military era. One of its largest events, the old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, features costumed re-enactments, kids' activities, and artillery demonstrations.

Fort Laramie continues to be a small town with big character. Friends and neighbors pride themselves on caring for each other. Visitors are greeted with Wyoming hospitality while experiencing Main Street's authentic charm. The area also offers the opportunity to visit the Confluence Trail, the historic U.S. Army iron bridge where the Laramie and North Platte Rivers meet and Oregon Trail ruts.

Today, the Town of Fort Laramie is led by a distinguished group of officials, including:

Ryon Brown, Mayor
Alicia Tanner, Council Member
Chris Sachanandani, Council Member
Jason Curtsinger, Council Member
Jacob Ellis, Council Member
Tristica Short, Clerk
Wai Logan, Treasurer
Pete Howes, Volunteer Fire Department Chief

Michael Doan, Emergency Management Coordinator

Neal Stone, Municipal Judge
Michael Staiger, Chief of Police

On August 30, 2025, the town's officials, residents, and visitors will celebrate its 100th anniversary. The community festival will include a 5K walk/run, children's games and activities, as well as plenty of vendors in the heart of downtown. It is a fitting way to honor the town's impressive history while celebrating its bright future.

It is an honor to recognize this special anniversary. I applaud the community leaders and volunteers who dedicated their time and energy to celebrate Fort Laramie's rich Western heritage. What a terrific opportunity to share their town and centennial celebration with others. Congratulations to the town of Fort Laramie on its 100th anniversary.

BUDGETARY REVISIONS

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, section 3001 of H. Con. Res. 14, the fiscal year 2025 congressional budget resolution, allows the chairman of the Senate Budget Committee to revise committee allocations, budgetary aggregates, and the pay-as-you-go ledger for legislation considered under the resolution's reconciliation instructions.

I find that H.R. 1, as enacted on July 4, 2025, fulfills the conditions found in section 3001 of H. Con. Res. 14. Accordingly, I am revising the allocations for the reconciled committees and other enforceable budgetary levels to account for the budgetary effects of the legislation. This adjustment reflects the estimate of the law provided by the Congressional Budget Office on July 21, 2025.

This adjustment supersedes the adjustment I previously made for the processing of amendment No. 2848 to H.R. 1.

I ask unanimous consent that the accompanying tables providing details about the adjustments be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Section 4106 of H. Con. Res. 71, the FY 2018 budget resolution, specifies that the budgetary effects of a reconciliation bill with net deficit reduction “shall never be made available on the pay-as-you-go ledger and shall be dedicated only for deficit reduction.” Since the savings from H.R. 1 will not be entered on the PAYGO scorecard, no adjustment is necessary. The law will reduce on-budget deficits by $28.230 billion in 2025 and $378.440 billion over the 2025–2034, excluding savings from funds originally given an emergency designation.

DISCLOSURE OF CONGRESSIONALLY DIRECTED SPENDING ITEMS UNDER RULE XLIV OF THE STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, the information required by rule XLIV of the Standing Rules of the Senate related to congressionally directed spending items is included in the Committee reports (Senate Reports 119–37 and 119–43) that are referenced in Senate amendment No. 3411 to H.R. 3944. I hereby incorporate that information into this disclosure by reference.

AWDAH HATHALEEN

Mr. WELCH. Mr. President, I am horrified and outraged by the assassination of Awdah Hathaleen, a Palestinian teacher, community leader, father, and peace activist in the West Bank town of Umm Al-Khair.

Awdah was a nonviolent activist, respected advocate for his community, and a voice for freedom in the West Bank.

Awdah was shot by a settler terrorist Yinon Levi, who has been sanctioned by the UK, Canada, and the European Union and previously sanctioned by the United States under the Biden administration for perpetrating violence against Palestinians. The world knows how dangerous and reckless he is. Yet, on the first day of President Trump’s second term, his administration removed the sanctions on Levi and other violent settlers.

We need to call these actions what they are: terrorism—part of a violent, systematic effort, supported by the Israeli military, to forcibly remove Palestinians from their land.

Awdah worked with film directors Basel Adra and Yuval Abraham on their Oscar-winning documentary “No Other Land,” which heroically showcased the violence in the West Bank, enabled by Israeli forces.

I call on the White House to immediately reinstate the sanctions on those who disrupt the peace, security, and stability of the West Bank. I also urge Israel to hold Yinon Levi accountable for his crime. He should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Israeli officials often speak of their independent system of justice. Impunity for Mr. Levi’s crime and the crimes of other settlers must end. We cannot be complacent in the face of this deadly violence and injustice.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

RECOGNIZING THE FLYING RAZORBACKS

• Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. President, I rise today to celebrate an exceptional achievement of the 184th Attack Squadron, based out of Ebbing Air National Guard Base in Fort Smith, AR, which was honored with the 2024 General Atomics Remotely Piloted Aircraft, RPA, Trophy.

Known as the “Flying Razorbacks,” the 184th is part of the 188th Wing and merited recognition for its outstanding performance contributing to our national defense and providing cutting-edge, resilient air capabilities.

Awarded to the top RPA squadron across all U.S. Air Force Active-Duty, Reserve, and Guard units, the servicemembers of the 184th Attack Squadron consistently demonstrate their critical skills and effectiveness. The squadron completed 314 combat sorties, providing nearly 6,000 hours of intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance—ISR—missions. This footage is extremely important for monitoring and identifying threats, protecting civilians and ground forces, and can provide real-time updates that enable immediate response. These efforts are crucial to achieve mission success and protect our Nation and interests.

The squadron has fostered a reputation for excellence. In 2024, it became the first Presidentially selected unit to ensure the security of humanitarian airdrops by protecting cargo and units delivering aid, as well as ensuring safe and precise delivery. This distinction represented confidence in the 184th as a hallmark of mission readiness and professionalism.

Additionally, the Flying Razorbacks led the U.S. Air Force in conducting MQ-9 Reaper operations, utilizing the remotely piloted aircraft to complete 66 percent of all nontraditional defense counter-air and counter-small unmanned aerial system engagements.

I am proud to recognize the men and women of the 184th Attack Squadron for earning this prestigious award and the trust of our national security leaders. Arkansas is proud to commend their dedication and hard work and congratulate them on their world-class commitment to bolstering our national defense.●

RECOGNIZING THE PIERRE DE MANDEVILLE CHAPTER OF THE NATIONAL SOCIETY OF THE DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

• Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize the remarkable patriotism of the Pierre de Mandeville Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The Daughters of the American Revolution was founded in 1890 for women who can trace their lineage back to the patriots who fought in the American War for Independence. Today, the organization boasts approximately 190,000 members and 3,000 chapters across the country.

Since the chapter’s founding in 2008, the Pierre de Mandeville Chapter has dedicated itself to service, historic preservation, and community initiatives. Its members devote thousands of hours each year to reading books to schoolchildren and organizing care packages for troops overseas. Next year, the Pierre de Mandeville Chapter will gather to celebrate the 250th anniversary of the United States of America.

On behalf of the people of Louisiana and all Americans, I applaud the patriotism and selfless service of the Pierre de Mandeville Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. These women exemplify what it means to be an American. May their celebration marking the 250th anniversary of the United States be a joyous one.●

TRIBUTE TO CORPORAL FRANK S. WRIGHT

• Mr. PADILLA. Mr. President, I rise today to celebrate the 100th birthday of Corporal Frank S. Wright, a U.S. Marine Corps veteran who served in the Second World War with the 4th Marine Raider Battalion, one of WWII’s most elite fighting units.

Frank Wright was born on July 5, 1925, in Arkadelphia, AR, and grew up as a child of the Great Depression. Following the attack on Pearl Harbor, Frank felt called to serve his country and decided to enlist in the U.S. Marine Corps on January 21, 1942. But at only 16 years old and well below the weight requirement to serve, Frank was initially turned away. Undeterred, Frank found himself lying about his age and even filling his pockets with bananas to meet the minimum weight
